ANDREW ESSENBURG, Charlevoix's most controversial mayor since the days of Johnny Knight, has elected not to file for a second term "for personal reasons." One the ballot for the Feb. 21 primary will be Nathan J. Boss, Second Ward alderman, and Edward P. Hansen, former Third Ward alderman, both Republicans.

Mayor Andrew Essenburg did not file for re-election prior to the 4 p.m. deadline Monday — but there will still be a race for the mayor's office in the Feb. 21 city primary.

Second Ward Alderman Nathan J. Boss will oppose former Third Ward Alderman Edward P. Hansen, who filed his petition only minutes before the deadline. Both are Republicans.

Mayor Essenburg told the Courier Sunday that he did not intend to file for a second one-year term "for personal reasons."

Essenburg's year in office has been marked by stormy council sessions and frequent run-ins with city employees, including City Superintendent Thomas G. Hanna.

Boss, who has served three terms on the council (six years), is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Hansen served as Third Ward alderman from 1957 to 1963. He owns the Zephyr gasoline station on S. Bridge-st.

Races also have developed for council seats in the First and Second Wards.

In the First Ward, incumbent Alderman Samuel C. Supernaw will face Ralph A. McRae, a newcomer to city politics.

In December, Supernaw opened his own tax and accounting business in Charlevoix. McRae is owner of the McRae Lumber Co. in Pellston and is a Charlevoix building contractor.

In the Second Ward, both a Democrat and a Republican are vying for the council seat being vacated by Boss. With two parties involved, this race won't be decided until the general election in April.

Howard D. Horton, Democrat, is a chemist for Medusa Portland Cement Co. Robert N. Timms, Republican, is a television repairman. Neither has run before for city office.

In the Third Ward, incumbent Alderman Conrad Klooster, an implement dealer, will run unopposed. Klooster has served on the council for two years.

Also running unopposed will be City Clerk Ida A. Heise and City Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham.

Mrs. Heise is seeking her second full term, although she has served as deputy clerk since 1965. Miss Cunningham has served as treasurer since 1961 and is seeking her 11th term.

HERMAN HEUVELHORST of Petoskey waits on customer in new Secretary of State's office in the Elzinga-Redeker Building, 720 Bridge St. The office opened Monday.

Pinch to Close Bells Bay Park

Four State Forest Campgrounds in the Charlevoix area, including the Bells Bay Campground south of Charlevoix, will be closed next year because of a shortage of funds to operate them, according to Area Forester Jack Lockwood.

Lockwood said the closing will amount to capping the two wells and locking the box toilets at Bells Bay.

Other area campgrounds to be shut down are at Graves Crossing on the Jordan River, Deadman's Hill and on the Jordan Valley Drive.

Lockwood said that Clarence Reinhardt, former custodian for all four parks, has been laid off by the state.

He also said the State Forest Campground on Beaver Island may be closed, although he hopes it can remain open under the care of the fire officer on the island.

Lockwood said he is among 80 in the northern Lower Peninsula to be shut down by the Department of Natural Resources because of a shortage of funds. Nine will remain open, including the Maple Bay Campground on Burt Lake near Brutus.

The Bells Bay Campground

offers about 40 campsites, including 20 cleared in 1970 by Charlevoix Township volunteer workers.

Lockwood said the cost of keeping the parks open is "peanuts," but pointed out that State Forest Campgrounds are the first to get cut in an economy drive. He said Youngs State Park and other state parks throughout the state will not be affected.

Coast Guard Seamanship Course Slated

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 16-2, will start a series of lessons in Basic Seamanship beginning Wednesday, Jan. 5, at 7:30 p.m. in Petoskey Senior High School, Room 210.

All persons interested in seamanship are invited to attend the five-week course. A registration fee will be charged to cover cost of materials.

For additional information, contact Flotilla Commander Harry Miller at 347-4695 after 6 p.m.

Michael Charges:

'Political Atmosphere' Prolonged Shaw Lawsuit

Special City Attorney John Michael told the City Council Monday night that the "political atmosphere" in Charlevoix during the past year might have been responsible for prolonging the Shaw-Henderson lawsuit against the city into federal appeals court.

Michael said that stories circulated in the pubs to the effect that the city was "spending $20,000 to save $255" only served to encourage Shaw-Henderson Construction Co., of Cheboygan in its efforts to win the contract for construction of the waste water treatment plant.

Although Michael didn't name names, he said he was sorry that Mayor Andrew Essenburg wasn't on hand to hear his remarks. Mayor Pro Tem Robert Gill presided at the meeting.

Two weeks ago, Essenburg balked at paying a $1,600 bill for legal services submitted by the law firm Michael and Berlage and asked City Attorney Robert Hoffman to take over the case.

However, the following day the U.S. Appeals Court in Cincinnati upheld an earlier decision by Federal District Judge Albert Engels of Grand Rapids favoring the city.

Shaw-Henderson contended that it should have been awarded the construction contract instead of Clark Construction of Lansing because of alleged irregularities in the Clark bid. The two bids were only $255 apart, with Clark low.

The deadline for Shaw-Henderson to appeal the Appeals Court decision passed on Jan. 4.

In other business the council:

—Passed a resolution concerning the making of Michael for his work on the Shaw-Henderson litigation.

—Agreed to meet with the school board at the request of Richard Donaldson to discuss mutual problems, including public library financing, a year-round sports program and juvenile problems.

—OK'd taxi licenses for Mrs. Betty McDougall and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ward.

—Learned that a marine radio tower atop Mt. McSamba would not interfere with cable TV operations.

—Cancelled the Kroger Co. beer and wine take-out license at the request of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. The store has closed.

—Sent to committee a request by Willflow for the city to remove deed restrictions covering the removal of stone and gravel from Willflow Corp. property in the Industrial Park.

—Decided to stop removing snow for private property owners starting next winter.

The practice will continue this winter at the same rates. The major businesses affected are Charlevoix Oil Co. and the Lodge.

—Paid bills totaling $93,346

FISH Still Needs More Volunteers

More volunteers are needed to make the FISH program a success, according to Rev. Duane Imig of Charlevoix.

FISH is an organization of volunteer workers who stand ready to assist others in need. Services provided by FISH workers range from providing emergency transportation, temporary care of the young or the aged, housework, meal preparation or just about any other service imaginable.

Rev. Imig says that only 30 people have offered their services to date in the Charlevoix area, but that a cadre of at least 100 is needed before the local FISH program goes into operation.

Persons needing assistance contact FISH by telephone — any hour of the day or night — and help is shortly on the way.

Some of the volunteers will be asked for stand-by telephone duty to put those in need in touch with FISH volunteers.

"No special talent is required," Rev. Imig said. "We don't ask you to give a sermon. All we need is people who are interested in the well being of their fellowmen."

"The tasks you might be asked to perform are varied," he continued. "You might be asked to provide transportation to the doctor's office, hospital, or grocery store for someone who has no means of getting around. It

Fire Levels A-Frame at Evergreen Pt.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an A-frame cottage on Evergreen Point about 12:30 a.m. Dec. 30.

The frame building was past saving by the time the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department arrived on the scene.

Owned by Martin Kopitz of Southfield, the cottage was located on the Lake Charlevoix shore, about one and one-half miles from M-66.

The fire was reported by a Pine Point resident who noticed the flames from across the lake.

No one had stayed at the cottage for at least a week, according to neighbors.

Branch Office Opens

The Michigan Department of State opened its latest license plate-driver licensing combination office in Charlevoix on Monday, Jan. 3, according to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin.

The new office is located at 720 Bridge-st. and will be managed by Herman Heuvelhorst.

The Charlevoix Branch replaces the former office in East Jordan, Austin said.

"The City of Charlevoix was selected to serve Charlevoix County mainly because it is the largest populated area," Austin said.

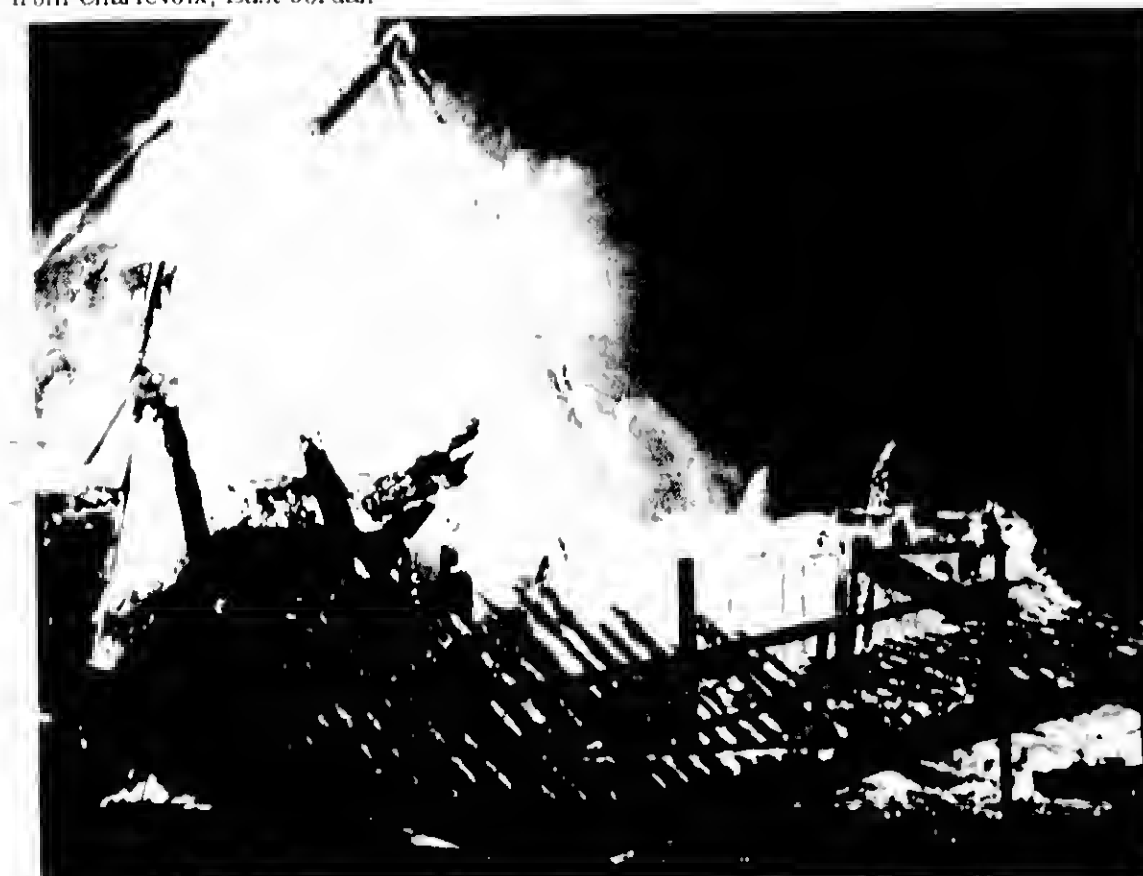

"We want to conveniently and efficiently serve as many citizens as possible," he continued, "and Charlevoix appears to be the fastest growing area and is easily accessible."

"As much as we would like to retain the East Jordan Branch, studies have indicated that at this time there is not enough business volume to keep it in operation in Charlevoix County," Austin said.

The new Charlevoix Branch will be open from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., Monday, and from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Fridays.

CHARLEVOIX'S foreign exchange students will discuss their homelands at the next meeting of the Parent Teacher Organization Wednesday, Jan. 5, at 8 p.m. in the Elementary School gymnasium. From left are Anneke Leenen, Holland; Ed Bouma, Holland; Martina Blume, West Germany; Juan Porta, Uruguay; and Klaus Burmeister, West Germany. Porta has moved to Kalkaska since picture was taken and will not take part in program.

W. Michigan Tourist Trade Up 10 Per Cent

Michigan's tourist business is not on the wane. Quite the contrary. Recent surveys conducted by the four regional tourist associations and local Chambers of Commerce, in both the upper and lower peninsulas, show that Michigan made another impressive gain in '71, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Surveys conducted by the four associations were directed primarily to tourist-oriented businesses such as motels, hotels, resorts and recreational attractions. The results reveal gains in all areas between June 1 and Sept. 30, 1971. Tourist business in the Upper Peninsula was up 9.9 percent over 1970. West Michigan registered an overall average increase of 10 percent with some businesses and resorts in the area reporting a whopping 30 percent jump. East Michigan increased their tourist trade by 6.5 percent and Southeast Michigan showed a 6 percent average increase.

The surveys conducted by the local Chambers for the same period show even more optimistic figures. This is due to the fact that they covered businesses in all categories including industry and non-tourist oriented establishments.

The tally, compiled from reports received by the Michigan Tourist Council from approximately 70 communities, shows an overall average increase in Michigan tourist business of 12.4 percent. Individually, the Upper Peninsula pulled ahead 10 percent over 1970. West Michigan was up 13.5 percent. East Michigan showed a 13.9 percent increase and Southeast Michigan scored 12.5 percent on the plus side.

At the tip of the Lower Peninsula, Mackinac Bridge crossings were up 6.1 percent. At Sault Ste. Marie, in the eastern Upper Peninsula, the International Bridge station recorded a 3.5 percent increase.

On the camping side of the picture, State Park authorities show a total attendance increase for the four months of 6.73 percent with 4.25 percent more camp permits being issued than in 1970.

Of course, not every business included in any of the surveys reported an increase. Some fell below their 1970 trade, some remained static. Regardless, anyway you look at it, all the results show that Michigan is attracting more visitors each year and its tourist business is continuing to rise.

Moose Jaw
Safari Set.

For Jan. 8

The seventh annual Moose Jaw Snowmobile Safari will be held at Harbor Springs, Saturday, Jan. 8.

Jim Miles, trainer for the event, stated today that 300 machines are expected to make the forty (40) mile run.

Registration will be at the West Tawas Motor Hotel starting at 8 a.m. with free coffee and rolls being served. The safari will start at 9 a.m.

A coffee break will be staged at Twigg's at Lark Lake at 11 a.m.

Under the guidance of the trailmaster, the Safari will explore the Wapigo Lake area and then return to Johnston Park for lunch at noon.

The famous Moose Jaw "bean pot" will be stirred by Joe Parrow and his crew and bean soup and hot dogs will be served free to all snowmobilers.

Several optional trails will be offered this year so that participants may enjoy either a long or short safari.

The Moose Jaw Safari, started in 1963, is recognized as the "granddaddy" of them all and his grown from its start of 16 snowmobilers to the expected 300 this year.

A free-shoulder patch will be given to the driver of each machine. This event is a project of the Harbor Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Income Tax Woes? IRS Ready to Help

Taxpayers in the Charlevoix area will be able to obtain assistance with their 1971 Federal income tax returns Monday of each week at the IRS office in Petoskey, according to Robert Moore, local District Director's Representative for the Internal Revenue.

Moore pointed out that Internal Revenue does not actually prepare returns for taxpayers, but rather provides whatever answers, instructions or information individuals need to prepare their own returns.

He also discussed under what circumstances the IRS will compile the tax for individuals in accordance with a change in procedures introduced last year.

Taxpayers must fill in specified portions of their returns to have the IRS compute the tax. The information required is explained in the Form 1040 instruction booklet. These returns should then be sent to

Mr. and Mrs. William Peck Stuart, Fla.

The candle-light service at the church Sunday evening was well attended and was followed by the children's hour of Christmas music and Christmas pageant.

The program ended with the Pec Wee Choir singing "Jesus Loves Me" and "Jingle Bells," followed by a visit from Santa Claus, with candy and nuts for each one. Gift awards for attendance also were presented. Fruit baskets were given the older members with best wishes for everyone in the New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. James White are in Miami, Fla., for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barman in Charlevoix Christmas Eve. On Christmas Day they were guests at the home of their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Richard Friend in Petoskey.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Blanton and family have moved and will be making their home near Los Angeles, Calif.

Our community is shining bright this Christmas. The hope of Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Christensen is outstanding with the manger scene, carolers and many colored lights. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner on the North Beach rd., the William Vandervalls, Thomas Neilsens, the William Crowns and others each send a message of good cheer for the holidays.

What beautiful weather we had for our Christmas holiday, but it really changed for New Years. Thursday we had an old fashioned blizzard with snow and wind and cold (12 degrees) but this is just what the Winter Sports Fans have been waiting for. The Snowmobilers have been having great fun and many have arrived for the holiday to ski.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams had their family home for Christmas, 22, including grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs.

Friske Within Rights On JBS Propaganda

(Following is a letter from Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley in response to an inquiry by the editor of the Charlevoix Courier relative to the legality of JBS monies to promote the John Birch Society. Rep. Friske strongly endorsed the John Birch Society in a recent letter to his constituents, paid for at state expense.)

Dec. 27, 1971

Mr. Bob Clock, Editor
 Charlevoix Courier,
 111 Bridge Street,
 Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Mr. Clock:

I received your letter referring to Representative Friske's year-end report sent to his constituents at state expense lauding activities of the John Birch Society and recommending their support of this organization. I fully recognize that this action by Representative Friske constitutes a misguiding use of public funds and that support of this organization is totally at odds with the concepts of freedom and democracy that have made our way of life the envy and object of emulation throughout the world.

However, I must view such use of public funds in light of legal principles and it appears that Representative Friske has not violated any law by forwarding this material to his constituents at state expense. I recently ruled that the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States protects the right of public officials to express their views on controversial subjects and that, absent a state law to the contrary, they may use state-supplied stationery and other materials for this purpose. (See enclosed copy of OAG 1969-70, No. 4647, p. 87.) These principles would naturally apply to the matter at hand.

I would emphasize that the legislature has control over the use of public funds by state officials and can limit such abuse by appropriate action. But, in the absence of statutory limitations on such use of public funds, I must accept the legality of Representative Friske's action in expressing his views through this media.

Very truly yours,
 FRANK J. KELLEY
 Attorney General

(The opinion referred to by the Attorney General upholds the right of elected and appointed officials "to use stationery provided by the state to communicate with other elected and appointed officials as well as citizens generally on matters of governmental concern.")

Elsewhere on this page appears Attorney General Frank Kelley's answer to an inquiry by the editor of the Courier relative to the legality of State Rep. Richard Friske's promoting the John Birch Society with public funds.

As you'll remember, Rep. Friske sent a newsletter to his constituents in December, hailing the John Birch Society as the one organization capable of wresting control of the United States away from liberal minorities.

In his reply, Mr. Kelley does not hesitate to call such an expenditure by Rep. Friske "a misguided use of public funds." He also condemns the John Birch Society as an "organization...totally at odds with the concepts of freedom and democracy that have made our way of life the envy and object of emulation throughout the world."

However, Mr. Kelley says that under present Michigan laws such an expenditure of funds is not illegal, but that the legislature has it within its Viewpoint!

Wonders Why City Ignored Job Funds

The purpose of this letter is to inquire why the City of Charlevoix did not apply for and participate in the funds received by the County of Charlevoix under the Federal Emergency Employment Act. The Federal program was instituted for the purpose of providing funds for the hiring and training of people in communities where unemployment is a problem.

Dec. 28, 1971

Dear Mr. Editor:

The County of Charlevoix recently received in excess of $160,000.00 under the above program and most cities and school systems in the county applied for and received funds under the program, except the City of Charlevoix.

I appears that the Charlevoix City Administrator, Mr. Thomas Hanna, was notified on several occasions to file an application for Charlevoix's share of the allocated funds, but for some unknown reason he was opposed to the program and so advised the City Mayor and Councilmen.

It is my understanding that the City of Charlevoix could have hired three and possibly four new employees and the program would have paid 90 percent of their first year's salaries and possibly the same portion of the second year's salaries. This amounts to approximately $20,000.00 dollars per year or $40,000.00 dollars in total.

As a tax paying citizen in this community and in view of the substantial property tax increases over the past few years, I would like to know who was responsible for the loss of the above referenced funds.

I am certain there are citizens in our community that would appreciate the opportunity to be gainfully employed, citizens who will be heard on election day.

Sincerely,
 Arthur R. Reibel

Senator Bob Davis

BY SEN. ROBERT W. DAVIS
 Q. I read the other day that a new drug law had passed both houses and was on its way to the governor. Would it be possible for you to explain briefly some of the reasons for the new law and the new penalties? C.P., Sault Ste. Marie.

A. A bill that will remove some drastic penalties from the present drug law and, hopefully, give Michigan law enforcement officials better tools with which to combat the problem has passed the Senate and is now before the Governor, who has indicated he will sign it.

The bill which changes possession of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor, brings the Michigan drug law into closer conformity with those of other states and federal guidelines.

In the place of sale, it provides penalties for "delivery or possession with intent to deliver" drugs which should make it easier for law enforcement officials to win convictions because they will not have to prove transfer of money.

The measure empowers police to make arrests on "reasonable cause" for misdemeanors punishable by more than 90 days, something they cannot do now.

Passage of the bill, which actually is a compromise between a more stringent one passed earlier by the Senate and the milder one passed by the House, climaxes nearly 20 years of conflict over the harsh penalties - such as mandatory 20-year minimum prison terms for sale of narcotics - in Michigan's present laws.

As adopted by both the Senate and the House of representatives, the bill calls for the following maximum penalties: Delivery or possession with intent to deliver narcotics - 20 years in prison and $25,000 fine.

Delivery or possession with intent to deliver non-narcotics, including hallucinogens - 7 years and $5,000 fine. Delivery or possession with intent to deliver marijuana - four years and $2,000.

Possession of narcotics - 4 years and $2,000. Possession of non-narcotics (amphetamines) - felony, 2 years and $2,000.

Clockwise

 Disturbing news came from down below as the year 1971 drew to a close. The city of Detroit experienced 690 homicides during the year just ended - more than five times the number recorded as recently as 1963, when police reports showed there were only 125 such crimes.

And, mind you, these are killings only, persons who were shot, stabbed, strangled, clubbed or otherwise disposed of at the hands of street thugs in 12 short months. The figure does not include the thousands who were similarly assaulted but somehow managed to survive.

The increase averages out to 70 additional deaths for every year since the base year 1963. And unless something is done to halt the trend, Detroit police can expect to handle about 2,650 such crimes by the year 2000 - just 28 short years away.

As for 1971 itself, Detroit police handed out two hundred and a day for every day of the year, Saturdays and Sundays included. The figure is a record for the city since it was founded in 1822. The police department is now free to pursue their own particular brand of happiness, just as long as they don't interfere with the happiness of any one else.

In 1971, minority groups enjoyed a greater degree of freedom than ever before.

By JIM FITZGERALD
 1971 wasn't a bad year, it's probably all on tape, so why not skip 1972 and run 1971 again? Bleeped.

I got this brilliant idea while suffering through one of those late Christmas parades on TV. "I'll swear I've seen all this a hundred times before," I said to the cat. I'd have talked to my kids but there was no one there to introduce us.

Then the TV voice said, "Because we're so close to home can you guess at what's so funny. Miss Priscilla Goodbody, the NBC censor, has edited Johnny's tape. Her job is to keep out everything blue except Blue Ribbon."

Everyone would have his favorite candidates for bleeping, of course. There are the obvious things, such as war, peace, love, death, day and night.

There are the more personal things, closer to home. Each of you probably had a relative in 1971 that you'd like to bleep out of 1972. For instance, I have a rich brother-in-law with a swimming pool. The last time we visited there, my kids kicked me in the wallet all the way back home. I also have a brother-in-law who cooks and dusts all over the house and is a positive joy to have around the house.

Which would be OK except there wouldn't be time for all the football games. In which case someone better have bleeped Howard Cosell.

Onward and Upward.

Should Aged Be Allowed The Dignity of Death?

Medical advances have been a mixed blessing for the aged.

New drugs and treatments may prolong life, but for many elderly patients they prolong physical deterioration, dependency, pain and mental anguish as well, states Prof. Emeritus Clark K. Hopkins of the University of Michigan College of Literature, Science, and the Arts (LS&A).

"Faced with these indignities," he contends, "an individual has as much of a right to die as a right to live."

Hopkins, who taught archeology and classical art for 31 years at Michigan before retiring in 1966, is currently compiling reports of the U-M's archeological excavations from Selsey on the Tigris River.

Although "euthanasia," the Greek term for "good death," does not yet have a legal right to choose to die naturally and in dignity, avoiding prolonged illness, pain, confinement and degradation.

The principal opponents of euthanasia are physicians and clergymen, who insist that no one has the right to take away the constitutional right to life, Hopkins notes.

But he argues that "liberty and the pursuit of happiness" guarantees an individual the freedom to decide when his own life should be terminated.

"It's relatively easy to justify the right in theory, but in practice it's much more complex," he concedes. "For example, I refer to oxygen tents and intravenous feeding as 'artificial means' of prolonging life, but what about drugs and transplants? And who is to draw a line defining the beginning of 'old age'?"

"Is a death wish expressed under circumstances of extreme pain or despondency really credible? It's like extracting a confession under torture."

"Finally, doctors won't recognize any illness as necessarily being terminal, because each of them can point to miracle instances in which a patient's condition has been reversed."

Hopkins' main concern is that the patient, not the doctor, be given the final vote power over the treatment he receives, and that if the treatment is suspended and death occurs, it should be attributed to "natural causes."

"It used to be said that pneumonia was the friend of the aging," he muses, "because it brought on a high fever, unconsciousness and death."

"What that really meant was that death is the friend of the aging, and pneumonia is an easy path."

before in history. We still haven't achieved the goal of total equality, but we're getting there hell bent for election.

Those women feel the need for "liberation" are rapidly being liberated on all sides, with vast strides being made every day in the arena of equal pay/natural job opportunities. Before another year passes, Michigan undoubtedly will have reformed its abortion laws, liberating women, if they choose, from the bonds of motherhood.

There's no quicker way to get yourself elated over the head with an unbroken train to mention in mixed company that "a woman's place is in the home." "Liberated" women just aren't buying that old canard any longer.

Youngsters also view a full measure of "liberation" in 1971, with the legislature conferring upon 18-year-olds right to vote, the right to drink, the right to borrow money and a whole package of other rights that have complicated the lives of adults since time began.

With all of our new rights - guaranteed by law and reinforced by legal decisions - what in the world has gone by in the city of Detroit where 690 people came routinely ends in 1971 at the hands of assassins?

Has the right to kill somehow crept into the laws of Michigan and the United States along with so many other new rights? Of course it hasn't, but somehow the idea has gained currency that murder is a swift and satisfactory house. Every time his name is mentioned my wife giggles. These guys are disgusting and should certainly be bleeped.

How about an entire year without even one dumb or stupid act around the supermarket, refusing to trade her soap for another well known brand? Or how about that aspirin learner moving his lips but making no sound? That smirking, any has caused more headaches than Bayer could cure in 10 years. Bleep to him.

Spinnobles and motorcycles! Those are two marvelous candidates for bleeping. Man spent thousands of years working his way out of the cave and into hardships with heaters. Now some clowns blow the wind and snow with their bare skin and call it adventure. Except you can't hear what they call it because of the lousy noise. Bleep, bleep and all hail to Henry Ford. He should send Christmas cards to thank me.

There are a lot more things that should be bleeped out of 1972. But I've probably edited too much already. Once the gaps are spliced together, we'll end up with a 5-month year, sort of a Readers Digest calendar.

Which would be OK except there wouldn't be time for all the football games. In which case someone better have bleeped Howard Cosell.

Onward and Upward.

Charlevoix Home of Biggest A & W Restaurant

WAITRESSES Bonnie Finch and Evelyn Herrington pose near new indoor waitress station. Come summer, the A&W's outdoor drive-in will reopen for business. Meanwhile, a crackling fireplace awaits patrons inside.

Former Drive-In Now Seats 96

The world's largest indoor A&W restaurant is now open on U.S. 31 south in Charlevoix, serving all of the old A&W drive-in favorites plus other "specialties of the house."

The restaurant, one of 2,300 A&W's around the world, is managed by Jim Withers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Withers who opened the A&W drive-in in Charlevoix in 1960.

The drive-in portion of the restaurant is closed for the season, but new indoor dining facilities will seat 96 persons, making it the largest A&W sit-down restaurant in the world.

General contractor for the new addition was Ray Wood of Charlevoix. Construction got off to a rocky start when it was learned that the framed-in building was located on the U.S. 31 right-of-way. But the building was moved back several feet to the satisfaction of the state Highway Department.

The building follows the traditional A&W motif, with a pagoda roof. The interior was designed by Manager Jim and his mother, Dorothy, with burnt orange and browns predominating.

Traverse City where Withers is a school teacher. Jim Withers, 26, attended Kellogg Community College in Battle Creek and Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City before entering the Navy's Submarine Service for four years.

While in service, he attended the Navy cook school at Newport, R.I., and later served as chef at the Red Vest Cocktail Lounge in the Hawaiian Islands.

Among his specialties are vegetable soup and broiled New York strip steak. Headquartered in Santa Monica, Calif., the A&W franchise restaurant chain has been in business 53 years.

And in case you're wondering, A&W stands for Allen and Wright, the founders.

Hot Lunch

Following is the hot lunch menu at the Elementary School for the coming week:

Wednesday, Jan. 12: Chili, crackers and cheese, peanut butter sandwich, apple crisp. Thursday, Jan. 13: Turkey in gravy, mashed potatoes, peas, peaches, muffins. Friday, Jan. 14: Tuna-noodle casserole, salad, jello, cake. Monday, Jan. 17: Barbecue-on-a-bun, potato chips, buttered corn, peaches, cookies. Tuesday, Jan. 18: Soufflé, cranberry and weiners, baked potatoes, fruit. Wednesday, Jan. 19: Chicken-noodle soup, crackers and cheese, celery and carrot sticks, cherry cobbler. Thursday, Jan. 20: Hamburger-noodle casserole, green beans, jello, rolls. Friday, Jan. 21: Fish sticks, potatoes, salad, fruit. Bread and butter and milk are served with all meals.

A&W MANAGER Jim Withers stirs up a batch of his famous homemade vegetable soup while cook Gail Smith tends to the hamburgers. Mrs. Smith has been with the Charlevoix A&W since it opened 12 years ago.

THROUGH A series of errors and misunderstandings, the new A&W dining room was constructed on the U.S. 31 right-of-way. But the building has been moved back to the satisfaction of the state Highway Department and the City Council.

Aliens Must Register

Thomas M. Pederson, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, says aliens in the United States must report their addresses to the Attorney General in January.

Only two classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: accredited diplomats and persons accredited to certain international organizations.

Forms with which to make the report can be obtained from any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office during the month of January.

Pederson said that the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

4th Quarter Spree Puts Rayders Ahead

After a long holiday layoff, Charlevoix's varsity cagers pulled a close one out of the fire Friday night, defeating Cheboygan 62 to 56.

Until the fourth quarter, it looked like Cheboygan's game with quarter scores of 20-10, 32-27 and 48-39.

Then in the final stanza, the Rayders caught fire, ringing up 23 points to only 8 for the Strait's team.

High man for the Rayders was Bill Carey, credited with 30 points on 12 fieldgoals and six freethrows. Fifteen of Carey's points came in the final period on six fieldgoals and three freethrows.

Following Carey were Roger Crain with 11 on five fieldgoals and one freethrow; Larry Potter, nine points on three fieldgoals and three freethrows; Ned Henley, six points on two fieldgoals and two freethrows; Jerry Pease, four points on two fieldgoals; and Dave Swanson, two points on a field goal.

High men for Cheboygan were Martin and Watkins with 18 each, followed by Sandborn and Bruner, six each; and Herzog and Clark, three each.

The Rayders were scheduled to play a make-up game with Gaylord Jan. 11. On Friday, the Rayders will meet Grayling in Charlevoix.

Charlevoix's JV cagers bowed to their Cheboygan counterparts Friday night 30 to 43.

The Junior Rayders came on strong in the first quarter with 13 points to Cheboygan's 10. However, at the half they trailed by five points as Cheboygan scored 18 points to only 10 for Charlevoix.

The third quarter was a stand-off, with each team scoring only six points. However, in the finale, Cheboygan scored 16 points to 14 for Charlevoix, giving the Strait's team a seven point edge.

High man for Charlevoix was Clayton Jones with 10 points on five fieldgoals. Close behind were Jerry Skippergosh with eight points on four fieldgoals and Steve McClellan with eight points on three fieldgoals and two freethrows.

Also scoring were Randy Faust, seven points on three fieldgoals and one freethrow; Jim Potter with six points on one fieldgoal and four freethrows; and Pat Plimman with four points on two fieldgoals.

Scoring for Cheboygan were Seligmiller and Towe, 11 each; Panosso and Marlin, nine each; Lafriniere, seven; and Wenger, three.

CHS Wrestlers Wallop Glen Lake 35 to 25

By CHARLEY BORTHS

Last Thursday the Charlevoix Wrestling Team traveled to Glen Lake High School in Maple City and posted another victory by the score of 35-25.

For the night, Charlevoix had four pins, and three decisions compared to three pins and two decisions for Glen Lake.

Charlevoix had a twelve point lead with two matches to go and Philip Christ blanked his opponent 13-0 to finish the high scoring match between these two teams.

There were also two exhibition matches which resulted in a decision and a pin. Jeff Himebaugh decided his opponent 10-4 and Greg Stevens got pinned in the second period.

Following is the individual scoring of both teams in their weight classes:

98-Jim Marshall (C) was pinned by Dave Elmers (GL) in 1:19 seconds.

105-Terry Mol (C) pinned John Stanz (GL) at 3:49.

132-John Onga (C) was pinned by Paul Sutherland (GL) in the first period.

145-Paul Klooster (C) pinned Jack Savage (GL) at 3:52.

167-Hill Thorp (C) pinned Tom Gillen (GL) at 4:51.

185-Gordon Skeel (C) was pinned by Rod Runwan (GL).

Heavyweight-Philip Christ decided Dave Gillen (GL) 13-0 to make the final score 35-25.

Area Nurses Meet Jan. 13

The Northern Tri-County District Nurses Association will meet on Thursday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m., at Lockwood-MacDonald Hospital.

The life of the Bells Bay camper is basic, idyllic and uncomplicated.

Now along comes the DNR and tells us it is closing down the Bells Bay campground this summer because — catch this — it doesn't have enough money to keep it open.

Holy Moses! If the DNR doesn't have enough money to meet the minimal financial demands of the Bells Bay campground, then the whole state of Michigan should declare bankruptcy and throw itself on the mercy of the courts.

Bells Bay will not be the only victim of the DNR's economy drive. Eighty other State Forest Campgrounds in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula also will be closed for financial reasons, eliminating literally thousands of badly needed rustic campsites.

Charlevoix Courier, Wednesday, January 12, 1972 Page 9

Maybe Time Has Come To Abolish the DNR

It looks as though the time has come for a massive reshuffling in the hierarchy of the Department of Natural Resources from Director Ralph MacMullan on down.

On second thought, it might be better to abolish the whole department and turn its functions over to local Sierra Clubs and Audubon Societies, composed of people genuinely interested in conservation and enjoyment of the outdoors.

For our money, the DNR does a magnificent job of botching almost every job it undertakes. Take the State Forest Campground at Bells Bay, for example. Situated on a picturesque stretch of Lake Michigan shoreline south of Charlevoix, Bells Bay is the nicest little campground imaginable for folks who like their camping plain and simple.

Camping at Bells Bay reduces life to its bare essentials. There is no electricity to feed television sets and air conditioners. (In truth, the air at Bells Bay never needs conditioning.) Flush toilets belong to another age. Most cooking is done over open campfires.

The life of the Bells Bay camper is basic, idyllic and uncomplicated.

Now along comes the DNR and tells us it is closing down the Bells Bay campground this summer because — catch this — it doesn't have enough money to keep it open.

Holy Moses! If the DNR doesn't have enough money to meet the minimal financial demands of the Bells Bay campground, then the whole state of Michigan should declare bankruptcy and throw itself on the mercy of the courts.

Bells Bay will not be the only victim of the DNR's economy drive. Eighty other State Forest Campgrounds in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula also will be closed for financial reasons, eliminating literally thousands of badly needed rustic campsites.

Mind you, the closing of Bells Bay and the other campgrounds comes at the crest of a camping-boom when Michigan needs every square inch of campground it can get. It is ironic that all of Michigan's post State Parks — the expensive ones with steam heated bath houses, indoor plumbing and miles of electrical wiring — will remain open next summer for the convenience of campers who can't bear to leave the comforts of urban living. Needless to say, the cost of operating such facilities is staggering compared to the upkeep of a simple State Forest Campground.

The closing of Bells Bay is also a kick-in-the-pants to all of the Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township residents who donated muscle power and equipment to improve and expand the park less than two years ago.

But the closing of Bells Bay alone would be scant reason for abolishing the DNR, or even shuffling department heads, if it weren't for other DNR policies that are beginning to gall most Michiganders interested in the outdoors.

Under the scientific management of college-trained game experts, the deer herd in northern Michigan is dwindling every year. Yet the DNR continues to permit and encourage the slaughter of does and fawns in many areas. The depletion has grown so severe that Rep. D.J. Jacobetti has asked county commissions in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula to ban the shooting of antlerless deer on their own in hopes that a concerted effort will drum some sense into the DNR.

Furthermore, vast tracts of irreplaceable wild land (without Monroe Creek) are being turned over to the land developers' look stock and condominium, despite the frightened protests of citizens living in the affected areas.

It is beginning to appear that Michigan's wild land, wild creatures, sportsmen and campers would be in better hands if Dr. MacMullan and his cohorts folded their tents like the Arabs and silently stole away.

But not to Bells Bay. It's not going to be open this summer.

The astronomical events of January will culminate in a total lunar eclipse, notes University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

The lunar eclipse, which occurs when the moon passes through the cone of the earth's shadow, will take place the morning of Jan. 30.

Prof. Losh says the eclipse will begin in the west, with the full moon at an altitude of about 30 degrees. At 4:12 a.m. that Sunday, she explains, the moon will first touch the earth's shadow. Soon after, its eastern edge will become dim, she continues, and the darkened area will gradually enlarge until total eclipse at 5:36.

The total phase will end at 6:12 a.m., Prof. Losh observes, but will require an additional hour or 24 minutes for the moon to leave the shadow completely.

The eclipse will be plainly visible throughout its three and one-half hour duration, Prof. Losh says. During the total phase, she points out, the moon will be illuminated by sunlight which filters through the earth's atmosphere and is bent and refracted into the earth's shadow. At this time, she adds, the moon will take on a dull reddish or copper hue because the earth's atmosphere will diffuse the blue rays while refracting the sunlight.

Another eclipse—the annual eclipse of the sun—will occur Jan. 16, Prof. Losh says. But this eclipse will not be viewable from the continental United States, she comments, because it takes place in the Antarctic region.

Says Kids Deprived Of Vote

Dear Editor:

Our State Senate in the tragedy of recent a lame-duck session, particularly the recently enfranchised 18-21 year olds who will be voting the first time this year. The GOP Senate leadership, with the blessing of Governor Milliken, blocked action which would provide for an April 3rd primary election at which either new or incumbent delegates would be elected.

On Dec. 14, the Senate Majority Whip Robert Davis (R-Gaylord) introduced a surprise motion to adjourn — a non-debatable motion which resulted in a straight party vote of 19-19, only to be carried with the Republican vote of our 14 Governor. This was done with their full knowledge, if not their intent, that their action would deprive some one million 18-21 year olds and new voters of the right of an opportunity to vote for precinct delegates who, in turn, will select delegates to the two national presidential nominating conventions in 1972.

One question before WHY Senator Davis and his Republican colleagues want to exclude the young voters from the elective process, but it goes without saying that, until now, they HAVE DONE JUST THAT. The only hope is that remedial action may be taken PROMPTLY when the Senate reconvenes on January 12. Should the Senate delay beyond January 21st will then, be too late for remedy in 1972.

The Republican Senators knew their ploy would be embarrassing to Michigan delegates to the Democratic national convention, possibly resulting from being seated, but who, in either party, can condone an action which deprives some million or so young voters from full participation in the elective processes of 1972? No one knows how many of those 18-21 year olds will vote Republican and how many will vote Democratic but, if the GOP Senators have their way the newly enfranchised will NOT VOTE AT ALL toward the selection of either Republican or Democratic presidential candidates in 1972. Politics at what price!

Isn't it about time that our Republican lawmakers stop playing games with our younger citizens and allow them full participation in their state's affairs? Why should a million citizens have to wait until 1976 to have a voice in selecting their president candidates?

The readers of your paper still have time to prevent this injustice being wrought. House Bill No. 5748 has been buried in Senator Milton Zaugg's Senate Committee on Municipalities and Elections since the first week in December. Your letter to him and your own Senator will let them know how you feel. But these letters (or telegrams) must reach them at once. Time is running out!

I believe all of us should heed the admonition of Ralph Nader who said, "I think the most important thing to be done in this country is to get citizens to realize they have to get to the polls and can be done." We are not being citizens in the fullest sense if we close our eyes to the shenanigans of our Republican Senators and decline to become involved. The price is too high. To deny democracy to some million young people is too high a price to pay for apathy and non-involvement.

Was Rep. Richard Friske (R-Charlevoix) expressing the attitudes of Senator Davis and Governor Milliken when he resorted to the cliché that it would cost too much to hold an April 3rd election?

For one, I do not believe that 50 cents a head is too much to pay to give our young voters and new residents of the state (since 1970) access to the ballot box regardless of which party they may support.

If you too are incensed at the callous disregard for the electorate being shown by our State Senators and our Governor why don't you write or wire your sentiments to one of the following:

Senator Robert Davis, Senator Milton Zaugg, Senator VanderLaan, State Capitol, Lansing, Michigan 48903, or to Governor Milliken in Lansing.

The Democratic Senators already support House Bill No. 5748, now buried in Senator Zaugg's committee. It must be brought out and passed unless Michigan is to take the low road in our democracy.

So, why not take a few minutes to exercise YOUR full citizenship. Let your voice be heard so that everyone's vote can be counted.

Sincerely,
Russell "Bob" Lee

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK
I don't know how it is at your house, but whenever I announce my intention to take a shower, our only shower-equipped bathroom becomes the most popular place in the house.

And it's not that we're short of bathrooms. We have seven wash basins with hot and cold running water, plus the kitchen sink; five showers, including one in the basement; and three bathtubs.

But only one of our assorted bathrooms has a shower. It's in a rather small room that can accommodate only one person comfortably.

But whenever I pull the curtain and turn on the shower it is a signal for everyone in the house to come visiting, including the dogs. And every time the door opens chilly blasts of air roar into the room turning me into an icicle.

I spend most of my time in the shower shouting at the kids to close the door and keep it closed and to use some bathroom other than the one that is currently occupied.

It's hard enough to have my own kids tramping in and out. But it is worse to hear unfamiliar voices coming from the other side of the shower curtain and realize that a number of neighborhood children have been invited in to freshen up while I am bathing.

The other day while I was showering, Jennifer and Allison paid me a call. After repeated supplications, they finally closed the door and proceeded to gild the air in the sink, an activity which creates startling water temperature variations for whoever is in the shower.

Finally I decided on a drastic course of action.

"You kids had better watch out," I called from behind the curtain. "A sea monster is coming up out of the drain and it looks like he means business."

The piddling stopped and I was answered by an ominous silence.

"Oh, he's terrible," I said. "Real mean looking. He has a green scaly body, bumpy little eyes and a forked tongue."

Then two frightened little girls huddled together next to the wash basin while daddy wrestled a ghastly sea monster on the other side of the shower curtain. There was a great deal of growling and snapping and the shower curtain wavered back and forth whenever the sea monster slapped it with his tail.

I don't know where they pick up such nonsense.

This morning I took a shower and I am happy to report my little ruse worked. I didn't have a single visitor, not even a dog. In fact I was a little lonesome in there all by myself.

But now the clocks have another problem. Judy reports that the girls are suddenly reluctant to take baths. She says they talk a lot of gibberish about sea monsters in the plumbing.

I don't know where they pick up such nonsense.

Chris is one of those kids who starts Christmas preparations in July. She's singing carols by October and has the inside of closets decorated by November. She buys everyone too many gifts and enjoys giving almost, but not quite, as much as getting. Now the big day was finally here and she couldn't even pretend to enjoy it.

And a surprising thing occurred to me. I felt worse about Chris being sick than I did about me being the sick. This is a remarkable thing for a selfish man to realize. In fact, if I could have made a deal with God and Blue Cross, I would have gladly taken over her illness. I couldn't stand not seeing that greedy kid count her loot on Christmas morning.

The point of all this is supposed to be that I feel sorry for billionaire hunt because the best thing he can remember about a Christmas is striking oil. I think it's better to remember a Christmas for a love heavier than flu.

Of course, I've never struck oil. Or have I?

political atmosphere arising out of the yubs' of Charlevoix made the owners of Shaw-Henderson feel that they might win a suit against the City of Charlevoix.

There is another theory around town in which it is believed that the suit could have been avoided, if the city manager of the city attorney at that time (Mr. Michael was the city attorney at the time of the suit) would have handled the problem more effectively.

And now we have the City Council of the City of Charlevoix passing a resolution commending Mr. Michael for sticking by the city to the end. I did like the choice of words used in this resolution, because it sounded a lot like commending Mr. Michael for sticking it out to the "last drop" or "last penny". I do believe that this is the first time that anyone who has rendered such a profitable service to the City of Charlevoix (legal costs amounting to more than $20,000) has ever been commended for his good fortune.

I have lived in Charlevoix all my life and I am asking my future and the future of my family on Charlevoix, but it is most disturbing to attend these City Council meetings and actually observe our local government in action.

There are answers to every problem and I think the answer for Charlevoix is for the citizens of this city to take a more active concern in the election of all of our city officials. Being a businessman in the City of Charlevoix, I am especially concerned that at this time, only the mayor of Charlevoix and one of the councilmen derive their livelihood from the City of Charlevoix. I do not believe that a man that has a business in another city or works in another city is truly in touch with the problems of the City of Charlevoix.

I realize that I may have stepped on some toes in writing this letter, however, these are the observations that I have made over the past two years and I feel that more people should be made aware of what is happening in our city government.

Yours very truly,
Tom LaBance

LEGAL NOTICES

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE
CHARLEVOIX-EMMET INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL DISTRICT
MICHIGAN ADMINISTRATION BUILDING AND SITE BONDS

Said bonds will be received by the undersigned at the Intermediate Office, County Building, Charlevoix, Michigan, until 8:00 o'clock, P.M., Eastern Standard Time, on the 24th day of January, 1972, at which time and place said bonds will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated January 1, 1972, will be two (2) coupon bonds, the denomination of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each and forty-three (43) coupon bonds of the denomination of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) each, will be numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 to 45, inclusive, will bear interest at the rate of one percent (1%) per annum, and all bonds maturing in one year must carry the same interest rate and each coupon period shall be represented by one interest coupon.

Said bonds will mature serially as follows:
 $17,000.00 on May 1 of the year 1973.
 $55,000.00 on May 1 of the year 1974.
 $55,000.00 on May 1 of the year 1975.
 $55,000.00 on May 1 of the year 1976.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan and to act as paying agent under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, subject to the approval of the School District. Bonds of this issue are not subject to prior redemption.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of the interest on the bonds from February 1, 1972, to the date of maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bond will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the Intermediate School District.

Each bidder shall state in his bid the interest cost to the Intermediate School District, computed in the manner above specified. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than 100 percent of their par value will be considered. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at time of delivery.

The bonds proceeds will be used to erect and equip a building to house the administrative offices and staff of Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District; and acquire, develop and improve a site therefor.

The said bonds are payable from ad valorem taxes which may be levied without limitation as to rate or amount as provided by Section 6, Article IX and Section 16, Article IX of the Constitution of Michigan of 1963.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $13,340.00 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest will be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by that the hot lunch program in all three schools showed a $700 deficit for December but that this would be offset by inventory thus keeping the program even. He said effective this month, higher and lower lunch prices will be forthcoming including a full six cents for milk and 40 cents on free and reduced lunches.

Approved the Anchor Test Study in which fourth, fifth and sixth grade students would participate in two of seven tests being sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education in order to establish a conversion table and new national norms. Condit Drury has been asked to handle the program.

Gave permission for the use of a bus and driver to transport handicapped children to the Shrine Center in Grand Rapids Jan. 24.

Advised that the board will meet Saturday beginning at 8:30 a.m. and continuing through the day, with representatives of four firms regarding long range planning for construction and curriculum, at some future date, to engage such a firm in order to establish such a program.

The board then adjourned to executive session to discuss teacher evaluations and probationary teacher preliminary evaluations.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds".

Cruiser Burns
 A 70-foot cabin cruiser owned by Maurice Taylor of Ellsworth burned to the waterline Saturday night. The boat was docked on the South Arm, about 4 miles north of Elletts Point.

The year's losses also rank as the lightest since 1967 when forest damage in Michigan was reported to a record low of 2,884 acres.

The Michigan State University Museum is looking for passenger pigeon feathers.

Hollis H. Baker, museum director, says the institution recently received a somewhat battered skin of one of these extinct birds which were so common in the early days of Michigan's settlement. The gift reminded Baker of the possibility that other such specimens may still exist somewhere in the state. "Over the years Michigan museums have acquired a few of these rarities," he says. "Most of them have been stored in the attics of pioneer homes."

Obituary

Gill

Arrangements are pending at the Winchester Funeral Home for Alfred "Bud" Gill, 63, who died Monday evening at Munson Hospital in Traverse City following surgery.

Mr. Gill was born in Charlevoix Jan. 23, 1909 and graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1928. He is survived by his widow, the former Lettie Higman; three daughters, Mrs. Fritz (Ann) Puffaff and Mrs. Richard (Katherine) Donaldson, both of Charlevoix; and Mrs. Robert (Sue) Breidenstein of Boyne City; five brothers, Glenn of Phoenix, Ariz.; Albert B. of Frederic, Wis.; Don R. of Sturgis and Benjamin S. and Robert L. of Charlevoix; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Duff of Elmira and Mrs. Vernon Snyder of Port Washington, Wis.

Funeral was held at St. Marys Church Jan. 6 for Elmer H. Barber, 66, the Rev. E. Francis Deny officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Barber died Jan. 3 at the home of his sister, Mrs.

John Ryder of Charlevoix, with whom he had lived since October.

He was born in Charlevoix May 22, 1905, and was a carpenter by trade.

Since 1953 he has made his home in Delray Beach, Fla. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frederick (Bonnie) Kele of Charlevoix; three sons, Eugene of San Antonio, Texas; William of Lansing and Bruce of Lompoc, Calif.; 14 grandchildren; one great grandchild; and two sisters, Mrs. Ryder and Mrs. Eva Smith of Charlevoix.

Word received by Mrs. Robert M. Morse, Burns St., of the death of her brother, Richard Finucan of Nashua, N.H., Jan. 3. Mr. Finucan 73, was a retired employee of the U.S. Bureau of Fisheries.

Funeral services and burial were held Thursday at Nashua where he had lived for several years. His wife, the former Margaret Carpenter, died in 1970.

Survivors include a son, two daughters, several grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Dan Walsh of Lowell and Mrs. Morse.

Advised that the board proposed to meet with the City Council at the City Hall at 8 p.m. Jan. 24 to discuss mutual interests and problems and at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 31 at the high school for a special session of the board.

MR. AND MRS. William Danton of Holly think it is a strange coincidence that the Martin Kupitz cottage at Evergreen Point burned under mysterious circumstances on Dec. 30. Just a year to the day after fire of 1971 destroyed the cottage across Lake Charlevoix on Pine Point. Both fires occurred shortly after midnight, according to Mrs. Danton.

In mid-meal, the young diner excused herself to go to the lavatory, only to return seconds later red-faced and flustered. "Which am I, Mom," she whispered in her mother's ear, "a hen or a rooster?"

A RECENT Courier carried a picture of Chief Jack Mol displaying "drugs and drug-administering equipment" confiscated in Charlevoix at a recent meeting of the PTO. Chief Mol assures us that very few drugs have actually been confiscated at PTO meetings.

Michigan's 1971 forest fire season, called off on account of winter weather, has gone down as the 8th best control year on state records dating back to 1928, reports the Department of Natural Resources. The state's final forest fire toll stands at 5,498 acres, marking a downturn of more than 1,000 acres from 1970. This year's losses also rank as the lightest since 1967 when forest damage in Michigan was reported to a record low of 2,884 acres.

The Michigan State University Museum is looking for passenger pigeon feathers.

Hollis H. Baker, museum director, says the institution recently received a somewhat battered skin of one of these extinct birds which were so common in the early days of Michigan's settlement. The gift reminded Baker of the possibility that other such specimens may still exist somewhere in the state. "Over the years Michigan museums have acquired a few of these rarities," he says. "Most of them have been stored in the attics of pioneer homes."

Plans Dinner
 E.J. Chamber

The East Jordan Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual dinner meeting Tuesday, Jan. 26, at 6 p.m. at Ed's Tavern. Swiss steak and ham are on the menu.

For reservations, contact Chamber Secretary Ginny Carey or any Chamber director.

GOP to Meet

Charlevoix County Republicans will hold their monthly meeting Thursday, Jan. 20, at 8 p.m. in the County Building.

FIFTH GRADERS in Miss Kathy Wagner's room at the Middle School got a taste of what it was like to attend school in colonial times last week. In connection with a unit on life in early America, the youngsters took a class lesson in old-fashioned garb and did their lessons for the day seated on backless benches. Miss Wagner also arranged such old-fashioned activities as a spelling-bee.

Clinton-st. Residents Fight Zoning Change

The City Council Monday night heard strenuous objections to the rezoning of the Priest property at 201 Clinton-st. from R-2 to office and professional.

The First State Bank will execute an option to buy the property for additional parking spaces, if the zoning is changed.

However, the council postponed action until the Jan. 31 meeting because of the absence of Aldermen Robert Gill and Roger Westbroek.

A zoning change must have the approval of 3/4ths of the council if neighbors object.

Mrs. Mildred Ochs, who lives across Clinton-st. from the Priest property presented a petition signed by most Clinton-st. residents objecting to the zoning change.

Mrs. Ochs said property values would be lowered and that the added parking spaces would attract more vehicles to the area. She also said youngsters on bicycles and tricycles would use the lot as a playground and she is afraid one of them is going to get hurt.

Mrs. Ochs' neighbor, Don Brown, also attended the meeting to object to the change. He said Clinton-st. already has enough traffic, with the Middle School, ice skating in winter and tennis in summer.

Miss Anne Harsha of Birmingham, who owns a home just north of the bank, said the city's tax base is decreasing with every home removed from the tax rolls.

However, the First Congressional Church to the north and the Christian Science Church to the west sent letters saying they would have no objection to the change. The proposed rezoning would lie between the bank and the Christian Science Church.

Jerrald Redeker, bank president, said Mrs. Rosell Priest offered to sell the bank her property. Arrangements would be made for Mrs. Priest to live in the bank.

Monroe Creek Lawsuit Moved To Charlevoix

Ingham County Circuit Judge Donald L. Reising Friday granted a motion to move the Monroe Creek lawsuit from Ingham County to Charlevoix County, on the request of attorneys for the state.

The unexpected move came at the initial hearing on the suit, which was filed in December by Dr. John Tanton of Petoskey against the Department of Natural Resources and its director, Dr. Ralph MacMullan. The suit seeks to block construction of a dam across the Monroe Creek in South Arm Township, thereby creating a 40-acre lake which eventually be the focal point of a 1,500-homesite development in what is now mostly wild land.

In early December, the Natural Resources Commission, on Dr. MacMullan's recommendation, gave developer Francis Sheldon the go-ahead to construct the dam, over the strenuous objections of conservationists who believe the development not only will destroy irreplaceable wild land, but also will place an untimely strain on the environment.

Judge Reising made several rulings in the case Friday: He denied a state challenge that the circuit court lacks jurisdiction in the matter.

He agreed to a change of venue at the request of the state, chiefly because the case load in Charlevoix County is lighter than it is in Ingham County.

He admitted Trout Unlimited as a co-plaintiff in the suit, along with Dr. Tanton.

He admitted Sheldon as a defendant, along with Dr. MacMullan and the DNR, since the Natural Resources Commission already had granted Sheldon the dam construction permit before the suit was filed.

Dr. Tanton initiated the suit under the state's Environmental Protection Act, charging that the dam and resulting impoundment will adversely affect the local ecology.

After Judge Reising ordered the change of venue, the temporary restraining order on the dam permit be lifted. However, the court ruled that any further action in the case would have to be made in Charlevoix County Circuit Court.

It is unknown at present when the suit will be heard in Charlevoix, or which of the county's two circuit judges, Charles Brown or James Fitzpatrick, will hear the case.

140 Pints Donated
 The Blood Bank Committee reports that 140 pints of blood were collected in Charlevoix Monday during the first visit of the mobile Red Cross unit.

Volunteers manned the bank from 2 until 8 p.m. in the Community Room of the First Congregational Church.

All Charlevoix residents have been covered by the Blood Bank since Dec. 1, 1971.

The mobile blood collection unit is tentatively scheduled to visit Boyne City in March, returning to Charlevoix later in the year.

Rabies Clinics Set
 Two half-day dog vaccination clinics for protection against rabies have been set up in Charlevoix County at the request of the County Board of Commissioners, according to Ed Reiman, county extension director.

The first clinic will be the afternoon of Saturday, Jan. 29, at the American Legion Hall in East Jordan.

The second clinic will be the afternoon of Saturday, Feb. 5, at the Sheriff's Department on Garfield-st. in Charlevoix.

Hours of hot clinics are noon until 4 p.m. All dogs are required to be vaccinated against rabies before they can be licensed, according to Reiman.

A private veterinarian practicing in Charlevoix County will administer the shots. The program is open to anyone who wishes to participate.

What Grads Are Doing

Dr. William O. Ratigan's annual year-end survey of Charlevoix High School graduates shows that twice as many girls as boys from the 1971 graduating class are attending college.

Dr. Ratigan, the high school counselor, reports that 36 disaffili members of the class of '71 are enrolled in colleges and universities, compared to only 18 boys.

However, the percentage of graduates continuing their education remains at 50 percent, the norm for CHS graduates since the annual survey was started 12 years ago.

The wide variation in the number of girls attending college compared to boys is attributed in part to the fact that of the 108 graduates, 64 were girls and only 44 boys.

Of the 36 girls continuing their education, 15 are enrolled in junior or community colleges and 21 at senior colleges.

Of the 18 boys furthering their education, nine are enrolled in junior or community colleges and nine in senior colleges.

Dr. Ratigan reports that the number of CHS grads attending North Central Michigan College in Petoskey is down sharply from other years, with only 16 enrolled compared to an average of 25.

On the other hand, senior college and university entries are up about 20 percent, largely because of the record number of 14 new grads enrolled at Michigan State University.

The 1971 survey reveals other trends which Dr. Ratigan feels bear watching: More female graduates are becoming housewives.

Recruiters Invite Seniors to Drop In

The U.S. Navy Recruiting Station, newly-relocated on the ground level of the Barn Chiropractic Center at the W. Mitchell-ave., will be open from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

Chief Floyd Honeysett and Petty Officer Earl Kalliojaari, local Navy recruiters, extend an invitation to all high school seniors and graduates to drop by the office to discuss what the modern Navy has to offer.

The recruiters urged seniors to get their high school diplomas first, "then go Navy."

Due to a recently instituted plan, the Navy will guarantee qualified applicants their choice of either East or West Coast stations upon completion of recruit training.

Jerome Castle, chairman of the board of Penn-Dixie Cement Corp. and Robert W. Furt, president of Medusa Portland Cement Co. jointly announced the consummation of the purchase by Medusa of the Penn-Dixie cement mill, inventory and related facilities, located at Clinchfield, Ga., for approximately $13,700,000, consisting of $12,200,000 cash and a one-year note for $1,500,000.

SCOTT PAUL Stephan celebrated his third birthday Jan. 12. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Stephan of Charlevoix. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Cross Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stephan of Buffalo, N.Y.

Regent, Sport Chief To Welcome Alumni

University of Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham and Regent Paul Brown will greet Michigan alumni of Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Charlevoix and Cheboygan at a meeting to be held at the Flying Dutchman Restaurant, Petoskey-Harbor Springs Road, Wednesday, Jan. 19.

Parents of students attending the U-M and friends of the University in Northern Michigan are also invited to the dinner which will begin at 6:30 with a social hour.

Long active in both the sports and business world, Canham succeeded H.O. "Fritz" Chrysler three years ago. Under his direction, two artificial grass fields have been installed at the U of M.

One is in Michigan Stadium, the largest college-owned stadium in the world and the other in a lighted practice field used for football practice and other sports activities. A new service building for football and physical education classes opened this fall, while new lighting for Wines Field has made possible expanded intramural and club sports activities.

Paul Brown, a Petoskey attorney, has degrees in political science and law from the U of M. He was elected to the Board of Regents in 1970. Reservations for the dinner meeting may be made by contacting Dr. John Lipell, 123 Michigan-ave., Charlevoix.

Straits Lighthouse Tourist Attraction

The Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse in Mackinac Island is undergoing $60,000-70,000 worth of restoration work this winter which will make it the focal point of a new maritime park complex to be opened at Fort Michilimackinac next season.

The landmark, originally built in 1822 and recently listed on the National Register of Historic Places, is being looked up with a closed circuit television which will give visitors a panoramic view of the Straits of Mackinac as seen through a camera to be mounted at the top of the lighthouse tower.

On the downstairs floor of the lighthouse, work centers upon developing a mock-up of the lighthouse's lower room and upon creating a mural which will dramatize the view from the tower as it was seen in the 1850's. Restoration work at the lighthouse is under the

18-Year-Olds Are Still Subject to School Rules

By Maureen Peltier
The age of majority was lowered to age 18 on Jan. 1. Eighteen-year-olds gained many rights, but they also acquired many responsibilities. The new age of majority could have caused an upheaval in the enforcement of school rules. Two sets of rules, one for those under 18 and one for those over 18, would have caused a number of problems.

Elementary Kids Get Help With Fair

The High School Advanced Biology and Physics classes have been helping the fourth grade of the K-4 school prepare for their Science Fair on March 1. The high school students began going to the grade school to answer the questions of the fourth graders and help them set up their projects. The grade school students make observations and conclusions about their projects with the assistance of the high school students. This project makes

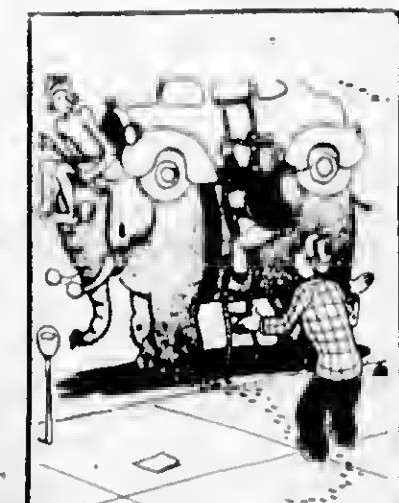

Clubs Donate To Needy Kids

By Cathy Dubey
The F.H.A. of CHS, sent dolls and doll clothes to the needy children around Charlevoix at Christmas. They plan to make clothes for needy children in the area for Easter. In January, the F.H.A. plans to have a record and cake give-away. On the dates of April 26, 27 and 28, F.H.A. has made arrangements to go to Kalamazoo for the state convention.

CHS Hosts Debate Teams

By Lisa Wasoski
On Jan. 8, the Charlevoix Debate Team hosted the other schools for the Rayder Invitational which was held at the Charlevoix High School. Schools attending were Glen Lake, Gaylord, Rudyard, Sault Ste. Marie, Elk Rapids, Muskegon, Mona Shores, Lake City, Cadillac and Fairview. The invitational was geared for both varsity and novice teams so there was a good turn out of students and their coaches.

At the varsity level Rudyard took first place, Glen Lake second and Gaylord third. For the novice division Charlevoix took first place, with Sault Ste. Marie placing second and Muskegon Mona Shores third. Debating for Charlevoix at the varsity and novice levels were: Varsity - Lisa Wasoski, Steve Kautola, Jeanne Betty and Carolyn Stewart; Novice - Sue Haertter, Laurie Engstrom, Sue Pettis and Laurie Heeres. The novice team did well considering illness. The team also maintained a high average of speaker points.

Students, Faculty To Meet

By June 1220
New at Charlevoix High School is the Student Faculty Committee.

The first meeting is planned for Wednesday, January 19, 1972. The faculty hopes to achieve better communication between the students and the teachers, to enable the students to express themselves and to identify student needs.

These needs will be brought to the attention of the administration and faculty.

Six students and five teachers will be present at the first meeting. The following meetings will interchange students and teachers. Sign up to be in the committee brought only 30 students.

The faculty is doing research for activities for the members to bring more participation.

Therefore, the Michigan Department of Education has decided that "Rules and regulations for the discipline and control of pupils may be made by the state, local boards of education, teachers, and these may be enforced reasonably against all who are in the school setting, below or above the age of 18, with regard to surrounding circumstances." Regardless of age, all students will be covered by school board policies. Smoking and drinking rules will remain the same for all students. No student, regardless of age, may smoke or drink on school property or at school functions, including those school functions held off actual school grounds. Students, 18 and over, will be allowed to carry cigarettes. Students 18 and over have the option of notifying principal Vane Smith as to whether reports should be sent home to their parents or given directly to them. This applies to misconduct reports, as well as report cards.

Head Shop, Hess Tied; Andy's Ahead in Div. B

At the end of five games in Independent League action, the Head Shop and Hess are tied for first place in Division A with four wins and one loss each, while Andy's Tire World is alone at the top in Division B with four wins and one loss.

In action last week, Andy's defeated Hess, 78 to 68; Kusina squeaked past Medusa, 60 to 55; the Head Shop edged out the First State Bank, 88 to 83; and Topside defeated Best Insurance, 72 to 61.

High scorers for Andy's were Hans Frank, 25; Tim Doan, 20; Steve Smith, 15; and Dave Novotny, 15. High for Hess were Joe Beaudoin, 28, and Bruce Meggison, 22.

In the Kusina-Medusa game, Doug Winnell paced Medusa with 23. High for Kusina were Rich Kelly, 14; Dave Bowman, 11; and Terry Blissett, 10.

High scorers for the Head Shop were Ike Boss, 30; Dan McKenzie, 18; and Leroy Buchanan, 16. Leading the pack for the First State Bank were Gary Stutzman, 23; Gall Sheldon, 15; and Dave Sheppard, 11.

In the Topside-Best Insurance game, Lee Cross had 34 and Larry Skippergosh had 11 for Topside and Larry Brook had 14, Stat Drenth, 10, and Roger Bolhuis, 10, for Best.

Devils Scorched; Vikings Victors

The Red Rayders lost a hard-fought cage bout with the Grayling Vikings Saturday night, 87 to 76, with plenty of action down to the final buzzer.

The game was originally scheduled for Friday, but was called because of bad weather. Saturday wasn't much better, but because of tight scheduling the game couldn't have been played at any other time.

But despite the postponement and the snow, the stands were virtually filled on both sides of the gym.

Grayling led from the start with quarter scores of 27-15; 46-38; 68-63; and 87-76.

High man for Charlevoix was Bill Carey with 27 points on 13 fieldgoals and one freethrow. Following were Ned Henley, 12 (3 and 6); Larry Potter, 11 (4 and 3); Roger Crain, 8 (on fieldgoals); Jerry Pease, 8 (3 and 2); Tim Carey, 8 (3 and 2); and Rick Donaldson, 2 (on freethrows).

High man for Grayling was Jim Tobin, 26 (10 and 6); followed by Wayne Westervelt, 21 (8 and 5); Dan McIsaac, 14 (6 and 2); Terry Fitzpatrick, 12 (6 fieldgoals); Kim Parkinson, 12 (4 and 4); and Larry Nielson, 2 (2 freethrows).

Ironically, Grayling's high point man Tobin is one of the smallest players on the team, standing only 5 feet, six inches tall. His height, or lack of it, placed him in a unique position to out-manuever Charlevoix's beanpoles.

On Tuesday, the Rayders played their make-up game with Gaylord, defeating the Blue Devils by a narrow margin of 60 to 57.

Charlevoix led from the start with quarter scores of 15-10; 35-32; 51-43; and 60-57.

High man for Charlevoix once again was Bill Carey, with 24 on 9 fieldgoals and 6 freethrows.

He was followed by Roger Crain, 12 (4 and 4); Jerry Pease, 9 (4 and 1); Dave Swanson, 6 (3 fieldgoals); Ned Henley, 4 (4 freethrows); Larry Potter, 3 (1 and 1); and Tim Carey, 2 (on a fieldgoal).

High for Grayling was Randy Rich, 15 (5 and 6); Johnson, 15 (7 and 1); Andrews, 11 (5 and 1); Gillette, 6 (3 fieldgoals); Koch, 4 (2 fieldgoals); Russ Rich, 3 (1 and 1); and Tarbutton, 2 (1 fieldgoal).

High man for Grayling was Jim Tobin, 26 (10 and 6); followed by Wayne Westervelt, 21 (8 and 5); Dan McIsaac, 14 (6 and 2); Terry

Matmen Lose To Petoskey

By Ted Schaatz
The Charlevoix High School wrestling team was defeated by the Petoskey Northernmen last Thursday night by the score of 42 to 11. The Charlevoix matmen won only three varsity matches while only winning two in J.V. competition.

Among the Junior Varsity matmen the final results were: T. Drew was pinned by M. Sligh (P), G. Stevens (C) won on a decision over J. Waugh (P), B. Thorp lost to N. Munson (P), and J. S. Skel (C) pinned D. Shannaguet (P).

The results of the Varsity matches are as follows: 98-J. Marshall (C) lost a decision to P. Shannon (P), 105-T. Mol (C) was pinned by A. Stradling (P).

Jayvees Lose To Gaylord; Beat Grayling

Charlevoix Jayvees lost to Gaylord last Tuesday, 66 to 33, but came back Saturday against Grayling for a 62-51 victory.

In the first game, Gaylord led all the way with quarter scores of 21-18; 30-25; 51-47; and 66-33.

High point man for Charlevoix was Jerry Skippergosh with 27, followed by Clayton Jones, 15; Steve McClellan, 9; Jim Potter, 6; Novotny, 4; and Pat Plumm, 2.

Scoring for Gaylord were Johnson, 19; Heacock, 17; Stepler, 16; and Glasser and Gagswell, seven each.

In the Grayling game, the young Rayders led from the start, with quarter scores of 15-11; 37-23; 49-39; and 62-51.

Skippergosh again led the scoring with 22, followed by Jones, 16; McClellan, 10; Potter, 9; and Randy Faust, 4.

Harbor Team A Pushover

Charlevoix matmen defeated Harbor Springs Jan. 10 by a score of 22-6. Here are results of the individual matches:

110-Jeff Groomes lost 2-7 decision to Terry Morse.

Kids Seek Donations To Bring Klaus 'Home'

A generation ago during the grim days of World War II, a German soldier by the name of Friedrich Burmeister was captured by the Allies and imprisoned for the duration of the war in the American West.

Although he was a POW, young Burmeister learned to like Americans and appreciate the American way of life.

Years later when his son, Klaus, had an opportunity to visit America as an exchange student under the Youth for Understanding program, Herr Burmeister urged Klaus to make the trip in order to learn more about America and Americans — the benevolent captors he remembered so fondly.

Last summer, Klaus, 17, arrived in Charlevoix and has been living with the Robert Malison family on Antrim-st. while completing his senior year at Charlevoix High School.

He is an open, friendly talkative boy, well-liked by his fellow students and the adult friends he has made in America.

Last Thursday, Herr Burmeister died suddenly of a heart attack at his home in Essen, Germany. The same day, Mrs. Malison put Klaus on a plane for home so that he could attend his father's funeral.

Klaus would like to complete his school year in Charlevoix but Youth for Understanding pays for only one round-trip ticket per student. Furthermore, family funds are short and round-trip air fare from Traverse City to Essen comes to about $400.

Students at Charlevoix High School have started a fund to help bring Klaus back to his American home to finish the school year.

Checks should be made out to Charlevoix High School, Klaus Burmeister Fund.

Can you think of a better way to spend your pocket money?

Peace Prize Winners Draw Friske's Fire

The people of the 106th District are wearing red faces again, thanks to two recent actions of Rep. Richard Friske in the Michigan House of Representatives.

In December, our outspoken representative was the only hold-out in the House on a resolution commending the work of the late Dr. Ralph Johnson Bunche in the United Nations.

More recently, he strongly opposed a resolution which would make Jan. 15 a public holiday in Michigan in recognition of Martin Luther King.

In lengthy statements distributed to his colleagues, Friske said he voted "no" because both of the Negro leaders were allegedly connected with an international communist conspiracy to take over the United States.

In his statement on Dr. Bunche, Rep. Friske said U.N. undersecretary-general was identified under oath in 1954 by two Negroes, Leonard Patterson and Manning Johnson, as a member of the Communist Party. Both Patterson and Manning Johnson, former communists, told a government loyalty board that they had attended party cell meetings with Dr. Bunche, according to Friske.

As for Dr. King, Friske said that from 1955 until his death he "carried out the explicit plans of the international communist conspiracy... a plan laid out in 1928 by one of Joseph Stalin's agents, Joseph Pogany, for the United States communists to follow and use as 'part of the proletarian revolution in America against capitalism.'"

Friske's charges against Dr. Bunche shocked his colleagues in the House, who not only refused to have his remarks printed in the Journal of the House but also demanded documentation.

In his written response, Friske said, among other things, that he objected strenuously to wording in the Bunche resolution stating that "the statesman's life 'began in the ghetto of poverty, intolerance and bigotry.'"

"This is a shameful indictment against the greatest nation, the great state of Michigan, the great city of Detroit and the friendliest and greatest people on earth, namely the American people," Friske said.

As for the "non-violent Mr. King," Friske asserted that violence followed him wherever he went from 1955 until his death.

We are not about to challenge the veracity of Friske's statements. It is quite likely that in the 1930's, a Detroit-born Negro like Dr. Bunche might well have been tempted to join the Communist party, as did some whites from working class families.

Nor do we pretend to know where Dr. King acquired his political philosophy, although we are certain he was influenced to no small degree by the Indian pacifist Gandhi.

But that is neither here nor there.

Both men were awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, Dr. Bunche in 1950 for his efforts in reconciling Israel and the Arab States, and Dr. King in 1965 for his role in the Civil Rights movement.

Both men shared common humanitarian goals which won the respect of not only their own countrymen but of thinking people the world over.

Although both men were beyond the narrow limits of race, and even the broader limits of nationality, to bestow their gifts upon the world at large.

It is heart-breaking to hear such men maligned in the Michigan Legislature by the representative of the 106th District.

The Safety Valve

Answer the questions about your safety certificate.

QUESTION: I read some where where my kids can't ride snowmobiles any more. Is this true?

ANSWER: This depends. Law just passed forbids children under 12 to operate without direct adult supervision unless on parent's own land. These 12 to 15 years can operate individually if they take the training and earn a safety certificate.

Last year 25 people were killed and over 1800 injured on these fun machines designed to go 40 to 60 miles per hour. Whenever a certain number of people can't seem to understand what constitutes good common sense, someone writes a law that defines it. Even the new law is thought by many to be too weak. Time will tell.

Check with your county sheriff's office about the safety certificate. You might be able to use the information, too!

Honesty Praised

Dear Mr. Clock:

Re: editorial "The Friske Report" 12-8-71. If all newspapermen were as honest and generous as you the problems in our country would be greatly minimized.

My sincere congratulations for your straight reporting followed by your editorial views.

Your provide your readers with the facts thus allowing them to evaluate and judge for themselves. While your opinions differ from mine, Mr. Friske's and the John Birch Society, that is your prerogative and long may the opportunity exist.

You have offered your readers the rare privilege few editors extend.

There is one error, however, in respect to the Liberty Amendment. It is not an "out-and-out truncheon of the JBS". Research covered four years before its introduction. "Handbook for Americans", available for $1 from the Liberty Amendment Committee, will substantiate this. You cannot be chastised for information of which you are unaware.

Again, my hat is off to you — an honest man — may your kind increase.

Peace to all men of goodwill.

Let's Keep Mich.-ave. Local

Dear Bob Clock:

We have recently moved to Charlevoix from Illinois and are completely captivated by the town's history, beauty and charm. It was disturbing to note, however, in a letter by Edith Gilbert in the Dec. 22 issue of your paper, that the city council must not share our enthusiasm.

To allow Michigan-ave., a street of grace and beauty, a street of which all Charlevoixans can justly be proud, to be classified by the state Highway Department as a major thoroughfare is, in my opinion, not in the best interest of Charlevoix and definitely not in accord with the recommendations by the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission.

What is the fate of our beautiful avenue? Are we at the mercy of the state Highway Department with no right of self-determination? Or are we going to reconsider our actions and follow a definite comprehensive overall plan for future growth?

A concerned citizen,
William Cockfield

Michael Answers Tom LaBlance

Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Bob:

Several points of clarification on Mr. Tom LaBlance's letter to the editor of last week's paper. Obviously this epistle was politically motivated and inspired and a continuing effort at criticism of a prior administration. Strange that the writer, who is neither a resident or a taxpayer of the city, is so interested in the day to day functions thereof.

I presented the City of Charlevoix in the Shaw-Henderson litigation from March, 1971, through November, 1971, a period of 9 months, such representation occurring in the United States Federal District Court, Chicago, Illinois, United States Federal District Court, Grand Rapids, Michigan, and United States Court of Appeals, Cincinnati, Ohio, and was compensated a total of $5,178.25 — rather than the $20,000 implied by Mr. LaBlance — which represented 189 hours investment of time and effort in my behalf, which amount included reimbursement to myself of out of pocket expenses incurred in connection with such litigation. I continued representation of the city at the request of the City Council, they understanding very well the dangerous position the city placed in by changing course in the middle of very detailed technical litigation. The continuation of my responsibility to the city was with the understanding that services would be provided at the recognized minimum hourly rate, which was accomplished.

This litigation went one step short of the U.S. Supreme Court, the highest court in the land, and under such circumstances it is bound to be expensive, but I certainly trust that Mr. LaBlance is not suggesting that upon threatened litigation that the council should immediately back off and give way to the plaintiff. If it appears that such litigation will be expensive, remember the city was the defendant in this action and did not initiate this law suit.

In review, the criticism of everyone council members, Mr. Hanna, and myself, would appear to be the dying gasps of the present lame duck administration. Enough said.

Very truly yours,
John R. Michael

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK

The other evening I was taking on the dawn patrol when I was rudely awakened by a bombardment of short staccato sentences from Judy's corner of the room.

"Wake up! Look! You're missing it all!"

"What is it?" I asked affably, opening one eye and trying to pretend I hadn't been asleep.

"It's your old troopship," Judy answered excitedly pointing toward the TV. "She sank."

"I wasn't aboard the Queen Elizabeth," I answered nonchalantly closing my eye again. I had read all about the Queen Elizabeth burning and sinking at Hong Kong two weeks ago and it was old news.

"But it's not the Queen Elizabeth," Judy protested. "It's the General. What was the name of your troopship?"

"The General Meigs," I said. I have spent 20 years trying to erase the memory of the good ship General Meigs and I couldn't imagine why she was tormenting me.

"That's it!" she shouted. "The General Meigs. She sank."

Well, sir, that was enough to catapult me into a sitting position, my eyes riveted on the television set.

Sure enough, there was the General Meigs, lying on her side off the coast of Washington. She had hit a reef and broken in two, spilling all kinds of dirty television cameras panned the miserable wreckage, then zoomed in on the bow where the captain was in a frenzy to stop up the resulting oil slick.

And, believe it or not, I began to grow nostalgic about the General Meigs — the scene of the 12 most miserable days of my life.

It all started in September of 1951 when the U.S. Army decided to send me to the Far East to see if I could do something about ending the Korean War. Although a few officers and some troops were being flown to the Orient in those days, air travel was still a luxury. Most troops, particularly lowly PFC's, traveled in huge grey dungeons called troopships. The General Meigs was one of them.

I have told you about the General Meigs before in other Clockwise columns. How the Salvation Army sent a brave little band of musicians down to Pier 31 in Seattle to see us off. The band played such tunes as "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and "Over There" but was barely audible over the hooping and hollering of troops and the sobbing of grey-haired mothers waving tear-soaked handkerchiefs on the wharf.

How we ran into a typhoon the first day out of Seattle and 5,000 troops were locked in their compartments for almost a week. Ninety-nine percent of them were so sea-sick they were afraid the General Meigs wouldn't sink. I was one of them.

How we waited eight hours in line every day for meals, only to discover upon reaching the galley door that we weren't that hungry after all. They fried pancakes in crankcase oil.

How a few handfuls of ragged, who didn't get sick kept the rest of us alive by stealing raw potatoes from the wooden crates on the fantail.

After the storm subsided, we were allowed back on deck, although the bow was still shipping water. No one was actually washed overboard, which is one of the miracles of the trip, but I am sure they are many woolen uniforms, hanging in clothes closets across the country, that haven't dried out yet.

The food suddenly became more palatable after the typhoon, but the metal stand-up dining tables weren't made for rough weather. Just as you went to dig into your mashed potatoes, the ship would roll and all the trays would start sliding, with these closest to the end winding up on the floor. Then you'd have to wait until the ship rolled the other way in hopes that your own dinner would slide back. I ate off as many as five different trays in the course of a single meal.

Then the old sergeant who was in charge of our compartment lost all of our maps in an effort to rinse them off in the ocean at the end of the line. As a result, we never did have to swap out our compartment, although it was so foul by the end of the trip that no officer worthy of the name would come down to inspect us. It really didn't matter, however, because most of us took to sleeping on deck after we left the chilly Aleutians and started sliding down the balmier side of the Pacific.

Then came the awful rumor that the General Meigs had been commandeered by Chinese Communists and we were being turned over to the enemy as soon as we reached Vladivostok. Some of us believed the rumor right up until that beautiful sunny morning we sailed into Tokyo Bay and caught our first dazzling glimpse of Fujiyama.

I could write a book about my 12 days aboard the General Meigs. But I won't. Some unforgettable segments of history are best forgotten.

However, it is a terrible shame to have the General Meigs lying in sections off the coast of Washington. She would have made a beautiful prison ship.

A Diet for Ma Bell

If It Fit

By JIM FITZGERALD

For the first time since World War II, the U.S. Government needs me. The FCC needs me to deal with Ma Bell who has now been officially declared too big for anyone's triches.

By a 4-2 vote, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has dropped its investigation of the gigantic Bell system's investment and operating expenses.

The commission said the cop-out was necessary "because of insufficient resources to permit adequate investigation for, and staffing of, the proceeding."

Translated from bureaucraticese, this means Ma Bell is too heavy for Uncle Sam to handle. American Telephone & Telegraph is spending more money than the U.S. Government can afford to count.

Ma Bell has requested the usual rate increase. It's up to the FCC to decide whether Ma really needs more of my money each month. But how can the FCC set a fair profit if it can't first determine Ma's expenses?

There's no way.

Two members of the FCC deplored the decision to drop the investigation as "bordering on the irresponsible." Said Commissioner Rex Lee: "Are the expenses reasonable and fair? The FCC doesn't know. And... it has no intention of finding out."

The most powerful company in the world is humbled by a Princess phone. Oh, the shame of it all. How long before the stars and stripes are replaced by that circle with the bell inside? "My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of A.T.&T."

Is there any answer? Yes. Don't answer.

That's my solution. If the U.S. can't be as big as Ma Bell, then Ma Bell must be shrunk down to a size where she'll at least fit in the marketplace. Justice is served by the 101st Airborne.

The way to accomplish this is for every true adult American to refuse to answer his phone.

I feel qualified to lead this ringing crusade because my wife swears I am the only man on earth who can sit and listen to a phone ring and not answer it.

It's really easy. Long ago I discovered that, of 36 phone calls coming into our house every day, only 00045 percent were for me. And that was always some guy who had chopped up his wife and wanted me to keep his name out of the paper because the news

In other business, the council heard a report by Chamber of Commerce representatives on tentative plans to have Trans-Michigan Airline serve Charlevoix on a trial basis in May, June and July. Thomas LaBlanc said he will collect material for a survey to determine potential use of airline service to present to the council Jan. 31.

Josh Barnes said a wealth of material already is on hand showing that area businesses would make use of such service.

To be economically feasible, the airline would have to pick up at least two passengers during each of its four daily stops at Charlevoix.

Meeting as the Board of Review, admen formally waived building height restrictions for Ralph Hess proposed condominium at the foot of Dixon-ave. The new height limit for the land is 49 1/2 feet above the level of Michigan-se.

Yacht Blaze Blamed on Space Heater

Fire aboard the Maurice Taylor yacht, berthed on the South Arm north of East Jordan, is believed to have been caused by a space heater, according to East Jordan Fire Chief Bernard Hammond.

The 77-foot boat burned to the waterline Jan. 8, at a loss estimated at $77,000.

Hammond said the space heater was used to warm the boat for workmen refurbishing the craft. However, no one was aboard when the fire was reported about 10:45 p.m.

The fire was reported by people living on Bracey-rd., across the lake from the anchorage.

The yacht had been berthed in Charlevoix until December. Taylor is owner of Morwell Steel in Ellsworth.

Services were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Jan. 14 for Mrs. C.H. Sarah Sternberg who passed away Wednesday at the Charlevoix Hospital.

Gravestone services and burial were held Saturday at Cass City.

Born Nov. 24, 1898, at Uby, the former Sarah Wills was married to Mr. Sternberg at Cleveland, Ohio. The couple moved to Charlevoix from Detroit during the 1920's. Mr. Sternberg was a barber and Mrs. Sternberg operated her own beauty shop.

Mr. Sternberg preceded her in death on Sept. 16, 1966.

She was a member of the First Congregational Church, the Margaret Parker Circle, the Women's Fellowship, the Charlevoix Women's Bowling League, the American Legion Auxiliary and a life member of the Charlevoix Chapter 72 of the Order of Eastern Star.

She is survived by two brothers, Elgin and Wilford Wills of Uby and several nieces and nephews including Mrs. Dean (Donna) Sreeter, a former Charlevoix resident now residing in Unionville.

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Court Magistrate John Connolly:

Robert L. Seagraves, 49, Boyne City, was assessed $15 for failure to stop upon entering a clear distance ahead. An accident resulted.

Ellen Smith, 39, Charlevoix, was assessed $20 for speeding.

Daniel L. Himebauch, 17, Charlevoix, was assessed $15 for failure to stop upon entering a cross street.

A COUPLE of Charlevoix have stories to tell about the troopship Gen. Meigs, in addition to the Courier editor. The Meigs, you'll remember, broke up and sank two weeks ago off the coast of Washington. Mrs. Robert (Frances) Hooper, RN, recalls returning to the United States from Europe aboard the Gen. Meigs at the close of World War II. Most of the troops aboard were heading home for discharge, and a party atmosphere reigned the entire trip. Tom Dammann reports that Gen. Meigs—the general, not the ship—was his great-uncle and served with the Union Army during the Civil War. In fact, the general was photographed at the bedside of President Lincoln the night Lincoln was shot.

Dog Owners Reminded of Rabies Clinics

Dog owners in Charlevoix County are reminded of the rabies vaccination clinics that are scheduled.

The first will be at the East Jordan Legion Hall on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 29, and the second at the Sheriff's Department in Charlevoix on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 5.

The hours are 12 noon to 4 p.m. for both clinics.

The cost to the dog owners will be $2.50 for a two year vaccine. Booster shots $1.00 and distemper shots at $8.00 may also be obtained if desired by the dog owner.

$250 Taken From Tavern

The Washboard on Potosky-rd. was broken into sometime early Jan. 19 and $250 was removed from a locked filing cabinet in the office, police Chief Jack Mol reports.

Mol says entrance was gained to the east porch by breaking a window pane in the door. The same method was used to enter the building from the porch.

The office door had been gripped open, as had the filing cabinet.

Jan. 31 Is W-2 Deadline

The deadline for employers to give employees their 1971 W-2 forms is Monday, Jan. 31, 1972, Thomas A. Cardozo, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan, said today.

Plans for the 1972 Easter Seal campaign to be launched the last weekend in March for the annual Shrine Circus trip to Grand Rapids were completed at a meeting of the Charlevoix County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults held Thursday at Boyne City.

Letters bringing Easter Seals into all homes in Charlevoix County will be mailed in time to arrive Saturday, March 25. Funds derived from the sale of the stamps are used to aid crippled children and adults with orthopedic, neurological or neuromuscular disabilities, psychological and social dysfunction problems which may have resulted from a physical disability.

Plans for the trip to the Shrine Circus in Grand Rapids for 85 handicapped children and chaperones were formed up. The group left at 6 a.m. Monday via school buses provided by the Twin Valley and Charlevoix schools, spent the afternoon at the circus and arrived home later Monday evening. The trip was made possible by the Easter Seal Society which provided funds and chaperones and by Shriners who donated tickets for the event. Handicapped children from throughout the county made the trip every year.

At the meeting it was announced that the Easter Seal

First State Bank Splits Stock 5-1

A five-for-one split of First State Bank stock was approved by shareholders at the annual meeting Saturday, according to Jerald Redeker, president.

The split means that the bank will issue 5,000 shares with a $20 par value to replace 1,000 existing shares with a $100 par value.

For the first time since the bank was founded in 1906, a limited number of shares will be available to the people of Charlevoix, Redeker said.

In other business, shareholders heard a report showing:

Bank assets at the end of 1971 were $6,270,000, an increase of 19 percent over assets of $5,260,000 at the close of 1970. It marked the first time in history that the bank's assets were more than $6 million at year's end.

Loans and mortgages showed an 18 percent increase in 1971 over 1970.

Savings and time deposits were up 13 percent, from $3,190,000 in 1970 to $3,620,000 in 1971.

Shareholders also re-elected the following directors: Thomas A. Duke, Charlevoix; Joseph T. Brenna, Farmington; Donald C. Coulter, Traverse City; Dorothy Travers, Charlevoix; Gordon L. Freedman, Charlevoix; Russell C. Henderson, Sandusky, Mich.; Norman B. Lawson, East Jordan; Jerald Redeker, Charlevoix; Edward K. Shanahan, Charlevoix; and William B. Skillman, Farmington.

At an organizational meeting after the shareholders meeting, the directors elected Duke, chairman; Redeker, president; Charles F. Thenn, vice president; Shanahan, vice president; Mrs. Dixon, cashier; and Mrs. Elaine Martin, assistant cashier.

City May Have to Help Finance Public Library

The Charlevoix City Council and the Charlevoix Board of Education held a joint meeting at the City Hall Monday night to discuss mutual problems, including public library financing and a year 'round recreation program.

Board member Dick Donaldson said the city may have to help support the public library on Clinton-st. if the governor's plan for school financing is adopted. The plan, which would change the base of support from local property taxes to other state taxes, does not provide for the maintenance of public libraries by school districts.

The library presently is financed by a one-half mill levy which expires next year. Supt. Robert Miller said the library costs about $25,000 a year to operate, and that help may be needed by the end of the year.

The two groups also discussed the hiring of a full-time athletic director to coordinate a wider range of athletic activities for the entire community.

Donaldson cited the number of recreational activities now available in Potosky because of cooperation between the city and the schools.

He also suggested that the city's proposed tennis courts be located on the broad lawn in front of the high school, with scheduling handled by the superintendent's office which is open year 'round.

The council agreed to work with the board in choosing a site for the courts, which are slated for construction this year.

Donaldson also suggested that the school and the city work together to secure a year 'round movie theater. He said the absence of movies during the winter leaves young people with nothing to do many evenings.

Alderman Robert Gill, who chaired the meeting in the absence of Mayor Andrew Essenburg, said the absence of a movie theater also creates a hardship on young people. Guardsmen stationed in Charlevoix, as well as other residents.

He also proposed that the city collect its school taxes in the summer, to make money available when it is needed.

School Board President Jerald Redeker said the meeting of the two groups was "informational and long-overdue." He suggested joint meetings twice a year, with Miller and Hanna acting as liaison men during the interim.

These planning to attend are asked to furnish their own transportation to the clubhouse.

Recently elected officers who assumed their duties at the recent meeting were:

First Blizzard Of Year Roars Into Charlevoix

The first blizzard of the winter careened into Charlevoix Monday, reducing visibility to zero and blocking driveways with knee-deep drifts.

The storm started Monday afternoon with snow followed by freezing rain.

By midnight, winds were clocked at 45 miles an hour at the Charlevoix Coast Guard Station and the thermometer plunged from the high 20's to seven degrees by mid-morning Tuesday.

Schools throughout the county were closed because of the poor visibility caused by blowing snow. The new fall was estimated at about four inches.

Frank Evans, superintendent of the County Road Commission, reported Tuesday morning that most roads were passable but that poor visibility made driving hazardous.

He said his road crews were not sent out until daybreak until they could see where they were going.

The Coast Guard said that winds had diminished to 40 miles an hour by morning and were expected to continue dropping throughout the day.

The storm came almost a year to the day from Charlevoix's first blizzard last winter, which started on Jan. 25. During February, northern Michigan had a new blizzard every weekend.

Institutionalized 20 Years, Youth Now Works in City

A young man who spent 20 years of his life in state institutions has been transferred from the Gaylord State Home to a foster home in Charlevoix and is now employed four days a week at Charlevoix's sheltered workshop, operated by the Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children.

Placement of the youth is part of a new policy announced last fall by Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin, director of the state Department of Mental Health, to return patients to the community as rapidly as practicable.

"No admission will be accepted on the premise that it's for a lifetime," the policy reads. "All institution residents will be habilitated to their maximum capacity and then returned to the community."

The Gaylord State Home reports that community placement for the young man was being readied at the time of Dr. Yudashkin's announcement.

The youth had performed satisfactorily in several jobs at the hospital, establishing good work habits and work attitudes.

"Regular hours and attainable goals were established," the hospital report says. "Tokens to be exchanged for pop, as well as the all-important praise, provided incentive."

The youth was transferred to Charlevoix Nov. 16 and the following day began working at the sheltered workshop, which subcontract jobs for local industries.

Learning Disabilities Is PTO Topic

Mrs. Doris Lundteigen, a Special Education staff member of the Charlevoix-Ernest Intermediate School District, will discuss "Learning Disabilities" at a meeting of the Charlevoix Parent-Teacher Organization Wednesday, Feb. 2, at 8 p.m. in the Elementary School gymnasium.

Jaycees To Meet In City

The possibility of organizing a Jaycee chapter in Charlevoix will be aired at an open meeting which has been scheduled by the Potosky chapter for 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 1 in the community room of the First State Bank in Charlevoix.

Francis J. Gingras, president of the Potosky chapter, said the meeting has been set up at the request of many young men in the Charlevoix area who would be interested in forming a Jaycee Unit.

At the briefing session, Potosky Jaycees will explain various phases of their own operation and discuss community and membership benefits resulting from Jaycee operations and Jaycee chapter and membership requirements.

Moms March This Week

The March of Dimes "Mothers March" will take place this week in Charlevoix, according to Mrs. William Brady, Mothers March chairman.

In addition, canisters have been placed in most business places to collect donations to the March of Dimes. Bill Wilson, county chairman, reports.

Money collected during the week will be used to help fight birth defects.

Monday, Jan. 31, mothers who participated in the canvass are invited to a March of Dimes coffee at the Weathervane at 11:45 a.m.

BILL CAREY set a new record for Charlevoix High School last Tuesday night by scoring 44 points against "naway. The former high was 40 points scored by Bill Wallace in the 1971 season, according to Coach Barry Anderson.

Geraldine Elaine Oliver, Michael J. Moore Wed

Geraldine Elaine Oliver became the bride of Michael Joseph Moore in ceremonies Jan. 22 at St. Marys Church, the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Oliver of Charlevoix. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Moore, also of Charlevoix.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with pink and white carnations and white gladioli.

Soloist Mrs. Maurice Cudd sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "We've only just begun," accompanied on the organ by Joel Dyksterhouse.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire waisted gown of organza trimmed with Venise lace and featuring a high neckline, a cathedral train, Juliet sleeves with sheer forearms and pearl trim at the bodice. A Venise lace flower spray secured the shoulder-length veil and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations and ivy.

Mrs. Drew E. Young Jr. was matron of honor and Mrs. Thomas J. Charvat was bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride. They wore royal blue crushed velvet Gibson skirts with high necklines and lace blouses. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Terry Moore, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsman were Thomas Hauts and Joseph Moore and Leo Simon, brother and cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Oliver wore a deep rose colored dress with head trim accented by a corsage of white carnations and pink roses. Mrs. Moore wore a floor-

Party Benefits Patio Fund
By Joan Burkey
A games party was held at the Grandview Medical Care Facility by the Auxiliary in January, netting $125 which will be turned over to the patio fund.
According to the chairman of activities, Mrs. Greg Boswell, another card party will be held in the spring. Each member of the auxiliary is asked to make up a table of four.
Because so many members are out of the area, no meeting has been scheduled in February.

Three Area Artists Win Artex Ribbons

Three northern Michigan residents, including two from Charlevoix, captured all three prizes in an Artex Painting competition held at the Tamana Inn in Midland Jan. 7 and 8.

Mrs. Lloyd Arnold, area representative of Artex Hobby Products, Inc., says that three of her customers won first, second and third prizes in the East Michigan District competition, held in connection with a dealer conference.

Mrs. Charles McNair, Charlevoix, was a first; Mrs. Herbert Weber, Charlevoix, was a second; and Mrs.

Robert (MaFene) Cook, Pellston, took a third. The competition was limited to tablecloths decorated with Artex paints.

Mrs. Arnold travels throughout northern Michigan conducting Artex parties, at which she demonstrates an unusual method of decorating fabric and other materials by means of ball-point ink tubes. The end product resembles embroidery work.

About 400 instructors and unit managers attended the Midland conference to discuss business and display the work of their customers.

Library Notes

There are some outstanding new titles in the library to get the New Year off to a good start.

First and top on the recommended list is "The Winds of War," a novel by Herman Wouk. Twenty years after the publication of "The Caine Mutiny," this distinguished author returns to the sweeping epic of World War II. The planet itself is the stage, and the adventures of a dozen characters supply the action. In this multi-colored tale of voyages, battles, encounters, love affairs and disasters, the "Winds of War" encompasses the world conflict from the ominous rumblings of Hitler's Germany to the end of 1961 and America's plunge into the war. Vivid portraits of famous men—Hitler, Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin among others, add an extra dimension of reality. It is a massive book, entertaining from page one to page 885.

"The Vantage Point" by Prospectives... of the Presidency 1963-1969 is President Lyndon B. Johnson's endeavor to set out with convincing documentation his responses to the crisis of his Administration. The ultimate historical verdict on Johnson's stewardship is hidden in the future, but his book provides intriguing insight into the decisions and policies of a decade.

"Bear Island" by Alastair MacLean is a new fast-paced novel about a movie crew's journey to a deserted island north of the Arctic Circle and the strange events that take place there. What starts out as a routine trip turns into a whirlpool of murder's intrigue. Author MacLean is no newcomer to the best seller list. His previous novels have all become motion pictures for very good reasons.

"Animals Nobody Loves" is a fascinating story of "varmints" by Ronald Benge, a full-time author and lecturer who writes for both adults and children. This is his seventh natural history book for adults—and he has seven children! There are full-page animal portraits throughout the book. The book starts with a discussion of the wolf and ends with the coyote. In between are such unpopular fellows as the eel, the flea, the bat, the spider and our most favorite pest—the mosquito.

The "No Will Power Diet" by Helen Ayers Davis is recommended for those who couldn't make it through the holidays without enriching themselves. The author is slim, energetic and a testament to her theory that it is perfectly possible to eat well without showing the consequences. Her introduction is entertaining even if one is not interested in cutting calories. The recipes are surprising and unusual. There is a special section on diets for young people which can become a serious parental problem.

Norwood

Mrs. John Smith of Sarnia came Saturday to spend a few days with Mrs. Doyle Richardson and daughter. While here she has been able to visit Doyle who is a patient in Little Traverse Hospital.

Carey's 44 Points Cinches Onaway Game

THE JV'S high-point man Jerry Skippergosh sinks another one in game with Rogers City Friday night. Skippergosh was credited with 25 points on 12 fieldgoals and 1 free throw.

Frosh Beat
Gaylord by One Point

By JEFF LACHMAN

The Charlevoix freshman basketball team squeezed by the Gaylord freshmen by a score of 49 to 48. Charlevoix led at half time by an 18-point margin, but Gaylord came on strong in the second half to make the final score a one-point difference.

Pete Spiesles, Charlevoix's freshman coach, commented, "The boys played a real good first half, but they faltered in the second half."

The leading scorers for Charlevoix were: Dave Martineck 12 points, Dan Green nine points, Tom Moore and Chuck Kerner eight points.

The freshman win raised their record to three wins against one loss.

JV's Lose to Onaway, Defeat Rogers City

JV cagers lost to Onaway by one point last Tuesday, 65-64, but came back Friday to defeat Rogers City, 52 to 39. Jerry Skippergosh led the scoring against Onaway with 19 points on 8 fieldgoals and 3 free throws. Close behind was Clayton Jones with 18, (7 and 3).

Also scoring were Jim Potter, 10 (4 and 2); Randy Faust, 8 (4 fieldgoals); Pat Plunum, 5 (2 and 1); and Steve McClellan, 4 (2 field goals). Scoring for Onaway were G. Miller, 18; Larson, 15; Miner, 14; Visner, 7; Bauman, 6; and Free, 5.

Although the junior Rayders scored only 7 points in the third period, Rogers City managed only 4, giving Charlevoix a comfortable 37-26 margin. In the finale, both teams rebounded, with Charlevoix scoring 15 points and Rogers City 13.

Against Rogers City, Skippergosh again led, the Charlevoix scorers with 25 points on 12 fieldgoals and 1 free throw. Also in the scoring column were Clayton Jones, 12 (6 fieldgoals); Randy Faust, 7 (3 and 1); and Jim Potter and Steve McClellan 4 each, on fieldgoals.

Rogers City outscored Charlevoix 15-12 in the opening stanza, but fell behind in the second period with only 7 points, compared to 18 for Charlevoix, for a halftime score of 30-22.

Although the junior Rayders scored only 7 points in the third period, Rogers City managed only 4, giving Charlevoix a comfortable 37-26 margin. In the finale, both teams rebounded, with Charlevoix scoring 15 points and Rogers City 13.

Rayders Bow to Hurons

Bill Carey rang up 44 points against Onaway last Tuesday night, believed to be a new record for a Charlevoix High School cager, according to Coach Barry Anderson.

Carey's contribution paced the Rayders to a 73-54 win over Onaway on Onaway's home court.

He scored seven fieldgoals in the first quarter, six in the second, four in the third and three in the fourth, for 19 goals and 36 points. Then he frosted the cake with six free throws, bringing the total to 44.

Anderson scoured CHS records back 20 years and found only one player-Bill Wallace—who even came close. Wallace scored 40 points in a single game in the '50s.

Charlevoix led from the start against Onaway, with quarter scores of 23-15; 38-30; 54-44; and 73-54.

Trailing Carey in the scoring column were Roger Crain, 9 (4 and 1); Ned Henley and Tim Carey, 6 each, on fieldgoals; Dave Swanson, Jerry Pease and Dale Boss, 2 each on fieldgoals; and Larry Potter, 2 on free throws.

Saturday, the Rayders lost to Rogers City 70 to 61 in another away game.

Bill Carey again paced the team with 24 (12 fieldgoals), followed by Roger Crain, 13 (6 and 1); Tim Carey, 8 (4 fieldgoals); Ned Henley, 8 (3 and 2); Larry Potter, 7 (3 and 1); and Dave Swanson, 1 on a free throw.

It was Rogers City's game from the start with quarter scores of 18-16; 46-27; 53-49; and 70-61.

This Friday, the Rayders will meet powerful St. Ignace in a home game.

Boyne Names PR Chief

Hugo Bohm has rejoined the Boyne Country organization as public relations manager, according to Zsig Bulaanda, director of the marketing department.

A native of Czechoslovakia, Bohm immigrated to Detroit from Germany in 1950 and entered the U.S. Army in 1952. During his tour of duty he was stationed in Salzburg, Austria, as an interpreter and also became an Army ski champion and coach of the Army's Austrian-based ski team.

He became a ski pro after his discharge, working as an instructor and ski school director at several Michigan areas.

He is a fully certified ski instructor, a former member of the Junior National Ski Team coaching staff and presently is a certification examiner for the Central Ski Instructors Association.

Bohm first joined Boyne Country in 1963 as an instructor, becoming ski club coordinator the following year.

During his absence from Boyne Country he managed a Traverse City ski resort and was a sales representative for a Grand Rapids-based ski products firm.

He is well known for his humorous lectures on skiing fundamentals.

Faculty Men
Play Petoskey
Saturday Night

The Charlevoix High School faculty will meet their Petoskey counterparts in a cage match Saturday, Jan. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the CHS gymnasium, according to Gary Statman.

Proceeds from the game will be used to purchase new track equipment, Statman said.

ROGER CRAIN flicks ball toward hoop during Rogers City game. Crain was credited with 13 points on 6 fieldgoals and 1 freethrow.

RAYDER NED HENLEY does a back bend for better aim at the basket in Friday night game against Rogers City.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury sr. of Swartz Creek are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H.N. Woodbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen DePoe have returned to Lansing after spending several days in their local home.

Mrs. Betty Cooper has returned home after spending 10 days as a medical patient at the Charlevoix Hospital.

Word has been received from Mrs. Robert Wilson who makes her home in Tucson, Ariz., and Portola Valley, Calif., of her marriage to Walter Bowles of Portola Valley on Jan. 7. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson of Palo Alto, were their attendants and an old friend and pastor, Dr. Kershner, performed the ceremony. They will leave Feb. 5 on a one-month Caribbean cruise and will make their home in Tucson and Portola Valley.

N.C. Christensen and Robert Stowe are working afternoons in the church dining room finishing the improvement project which was started last winter and discontinued for the usual spring work.

Cmdr. Beach Wins Second Air Medal

Coast Guard Commander Benjamin S. Beach, husband of the former Miss Hilda A. Vosburg of 214 Mason St., Charlevoix, was awarded his second Air Medal during ceremonies at Coast Guard Training Center, Alameda, Calif.

He was cited for his actions as pilot of a Coast Guard helicopter dispatched to rescue four crewmen from a fishing vessel which was adrift and in danger of breaking up on the rocks of Ugak Bay, Alaska.

Despite adverse weather conditions he piloted the helicopter to the scene and, although hampered by the rolling and pitching of the vessel, provided a stable hoist over the four crewmen who were hoisted to safety.

Ski Lessons at Mt. McSaubia

The Charlevoix High School Ski Team is now giving lessons at Mt. McSaubia for beginning skiers.

Interested persons should call either 547-4128 or 547-2491 to enroll.

There will be no charge for the lessons, but Mt. McSaubia is accepting donations for the ski team.

CHARLEY BORTHS lost a 9-0 decision to Paul Miller of Shepherd in last Saturday at the CHS gymnasium. The meet was the first "at home" for Charlevoix.

Shepherd Overpowers Charlevoix Wrestlers

Charlevoix matmen lost to tougher-than-nails Shepherd last Saturday, 56-6.

Shepherd would have had a shut-out if Charlevoix heavyweight Joe Jones hadn't pinned his opponent, Bob Matevich, in 3 minutes and 56 seconds.

On tap for the Haydens this week were scrimmages with Grayling and Alpena Monday and Tuesday, followed by a meet at Frankfort Thursday.

Next home meet is with Glen Lake Monday, Jan. 31 at 7 p.m.

Steve Smith, Bride.

Honeymoon in South

Mary Lou Veenendall of Wyoming, Mich., became the bride of Steven George Smith of Charlevoix in ceremonies Jan. 22 at the Wyoming Park United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Veenendall of 2624 Central, Wyoming. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Smith of the Boyne City.

The Rev. Robert Vanzyl performed the double-ring ceremony before 250 guests. Decorations scatter candle trees with flowers in front of the church, with Wolburn Abbey roses and carnations trimming the altar rail. Every third pew was accented with a ribbon and flower.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory petite tulle with an Empire A-line silhouette and attached chapel train. The bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace features a Victorian collar and long sleeves dusted with pearls. A matching jeweled Camelot crown secured her train of illusion and she carried a crescent shaped bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, Wolburn Abbey sweetheart roses and ivy.

Organist Lyman Clark, accompanied on the flute by Miss Sheryl Wood, played Bach sonatas and selections from the opera "Hair."

Attendants were Ruth Van Zyl, maid of honor, and Susan Newman, Grand Rapids; Barbara June Smith, Charlevoix; and Pamela Veenendall, Grand Rapids, bridesmaids. They wore long persimmon crepe gowns in Victorian styling with self braided trim at the Empire waistline. Matching Camelot headpieces secured their knee-length veils and they carried bouquets of sweetheart roses, wood-toned carnations, baby breath and brown velvet buttoned flowers.

David J. Smith was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Greg Alaska, Kalamazoo; Craig Veenendall, Grand Rapids, brother of the bride; and

Debaters Place 2nd In District Tourney

The Charlevoix Varsity Debate Team journeyed to Elk Rapids Jan. 15 for the Class C District Tournament.

On Friday the 14th, the team was realigned due to illnesses. Three varsity and one novice debater competed in three rounds of varsity tournament debate. Although the team was disadvantaged at not having all varsity debaters present, the team placed second in the district and qualified to compete in the Regional Class C Tournament to be held in Mt. Pleasant at a later date.

Debating for Charlevoix were Lisa Wasoski and Steve Kantola, affirmative; and Jeanne Betty and novice Sue Pettis, negative.

All Charlevoix debaters received a high average of speaker points with Lisa Wasoski and Steve Kantola improving their average for the season, each receiving 30 speaker points on a 30 point evaluation scale.

The team is looking forward to the regional tournament in which they will attempt to use a two-man team debating both sides of the question. Debaters will be Lisa Wasoski and Steve Kantola with Jeanne Betty, Debbie Hank and Sue Pettis as back-ups. If the team does well in the regional tournament, it will continue on to the state semi-finals.

The Charlevoix High School Girl's basketball team lost a close game to Rogers City last Wednesday.

The team were neck and neck until the last quarter. The final score was Rogers City, 37, Charlevoix 35.

The leading scorers for Charlevoix was Tiller Otis with 8 followed by Elaine Carr with 7, Tammy Penny 6, Tori Alger 5, Cheryl Pence 4, Regina Borths 2, Laura Custer 2, and Ann Carey had one.

Club Hears Travel Rep.

The Spanish Club met Monday, Jan. 17 in the High School study hall. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss their upcoming trip to Spain with Bob Hiatt, a representative from Conlin Travel Bureau in Ann Arbor.

Members and their parents watched a film on Spain and discussed plans for the eight day tour with Hiatt.

Cost of the trip is $360 per person. Fifteen students plan to make the trip.

Skiers Place Third

By Jeff Lachman

On Jan. 19, the Charlevoix ski team competed in its first meet of the season at Gaylord. Charlevoix finished third in the overall meet. For the boys, C.T. Martin placed first in the slalom running the course in 30 seconds. He also placed second in the giant slalom. Overall the boys team took third in the slalom.

Best individual average was Gretchen Olsen with second in the girls slalom and fifth in the giant slalom.

The next ski meet is on Jan. 26 at 1 p.m. at Thunder Mountain with Charlevoix, Petoskey, and Boyne City competing.

'China Watchers' Invited to Seminars

The changing scene in U.S.-China relations will be explored in a five-session U.S. Affairs Seminar to be offered in Petoskey this winter.

The seminar, to meet from 7:30 to 10 p.m. five Thursdays beginning Feb. 3 in the Faculty Lounge of the Student Center at North Central Michigan College, is open to all interested residents of Northern Michigan.

"A Layman's Guide to China Watching" is its intriguing title.

"A Layman's Guide to China Watching" is its intriguing title.

Speakers will include university professors and others who had a close view of China over the past few decades.

They will report on ancient China, Maoist China, nationalist China, the effect of religious and former acting head of Asian Studies at MSU, will touch on Christ and Confucius, innovation vs. tradition and law vs. moral example.

March 2, Mission to Peking. The final session will deal with U.S.-China relations in the 1970s and will feature an authority to be announced at a later date, possibly a member of the 1972 mission to Peking.

The discussion sessions include:

Feb. 3, Taiwan: Forgotten Ally? Dr. Irving Wyeth, director, MSU Institute for International Agriculture, who served two years as a World Conference, slated April 9 to 16 in Independence, Mo., also were approved. Local delegates are Eleanor West and Mr. and Mrs. Walt Fritz of Boyne City. Alternates are Vern Whiteford of East Jordan and Zina Cole of Boyne City.

A stewardship institute was held at the Gaylord Church Jan. 22 to 23.

Saints Meet At Gaylord

The Saints of the Northern Michigan District of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints met in winter conference at the Gaylord High School Sunday, Jan. 9.

During the business session, five ordination calls were approved, including that of Jay C. Doty as evangelist. Sixteen delegates to the 1972 World Conference, slated April 9 to 16 in Independence, Mo., also were approved. Local delegates are Eleanor West and Mr. and Mrs. Walt Fritz of Boyne City. Alternates are Vern Whiteford of East Jordan and Zina Cole of Boyne City.

'If You Oppose Birchers, Your Own Patriotism Should Be Re-Evaluated'

(The following letter was received by a Charlevoix resident from Rep. Richard Friske relative to Friske's year-end report in which he promoted membership in the John Birch Society.)

"Thank you for your letter of Dec. 15 concerning the Friske Report. As evidenced by your letter your (sic) not a supporter of mine and evidently have not followed my efforts in Lansing too closely as you indicate that you won't support me in the next election. Although I regret this fact I appreciate your frankness.

"As the old saying goes, 'You can't please them all,' and I do not say this lightly."

"As in regard to the John Birch Society which is given as your reason for your resentment, at this time I am sure that you are either misinformed or not informed at all about its activities. This is indeed the finest group of men and women in the United States, in fact, the world. You will find that most of the John Birch Society members are hard working tax paying honorable citizens. If this is a shame then I indeed do not deserve anyone's support including yours. If patriotism and pro-Americanism is a sin, then I ought not to be forgiven.

"My reasons for coming to this country were freedom from government intrusion and this is what the John Birch Society supports. The Society does a wonderful job in the field of education to call the attention of many of our citizens who will take a few moments of their lives to alert them to the dangers that confront us on every hand. This includes communism and communist influences on the state and federal level, as well as many other individuals who are dedicated to ruin this country through creeping socialist programs that are being implemented.

"If you are one of those tax paying, patriotic, red-blooded Americans then I am sure you will find yourself in agreement with the booklet enclosed. The booklet enclosed was a copy of Robert Welch's 'What is the John Birch Society?' Anyone can be forgiven for a lack of knowledge, but should you indeed oppose the philosophy of the John Birch Society then perhaps your ideas of patriotism should be re-evaluated."

"Your name has been removed from my mailing list as you requested. Should you change your mind we will be very happy to reinstate it."

Happy New Year,
Sincerely,
Richard Friske
State Representative

Tea and Crumpets Vs French Cuisine

In his January newsletter to Chamber of Commerce members, Executive Director Thomas E. Merta suggests that Charlevoix business places attempt to achieve the appearance of an "Old English sea-side town", in preference to the Bavarian effect that many northern Michigan towns, including Gaylord, have adopted as their architectural theme.

"The trends of late have been to follow the 'Gaylord Effect,'" Merta writes, "(however) Charlevoix has many physical attributes that lend perfectly to an Old English atmosphere."

The C of C director points out that if Charlevoix wishes to retain its own unique identity, it will have to be original, and suggest that owners of business places start with an investment in small window panes (the removable kind).

"Think about it," Merta says. "Wouldn't Charlevoix be extra-beautiful with every store sporting the old tiny-paned windows; it would sure make a difference in our atmosphere."

Of course, the Chamber director is right. Charlevoix should have an image all its own.

But why English?

With a name like Charlevoix, our town might better emulate a French sea-side resort, with store names in both French and English. The Pastry Shop, for example, would become a "patisserie" and the drug stores would be "apothecaires."

Furthermore, a French atmosphere would lend itself to sidewalk cafes, kiosks (newsstands) and all kinds of charming French trappings.

It's not that we have anything against the English, mind you. But what would Fr. Charlevoix say if he came back and found us dining on tea and crumpets instead of cafe noir and croissants fresh from the patisserie?

The first bloodmobile visit to Charlevoix was a huge success thanks to you! The whole thing went beautifully because of the cooperation of so many interested people. The committee wishes to thank specifically:

Mr. Krueger, Charlevoix Hospital administrator, for his time and efforts on behalf of the blood program. Also Drs. Lignell, Saltonstall, Custer and Martin who graciously gave of their time the day of the visit, and the nurses who donated their professional help.

Kappa Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and the contributions of Olesons Food Store, Edwards IGA Grocery, Neff Brothers Quality Food Store, Essenburg's Grocery and Staley's Grocery which were responsible for the successful canteen.

Mrs. Jack Rader, the Charlevoix Women's Club and the Charlevoix Hospital Guild for helping to make the entire operation run smoothly.

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and the Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co. for their assistance in setting up the donor registration.

The Charlevoix Ministerial Association and the First Congregational Church.

Jack Scorer of Petoskey for his assistance and advice.

The Courier for excellent publicity.

And the employees of local industries and other donors who made possible the collection of 145 pints of blood.

This was just the beginning of our participation in the Red Cross Blood Program and the results were most gratifying.

Please watch for the next visit of the bloodmobile to Charlevoix County on March 27 in Boyne City.

Most Sincerely,

Deer Track Soup For Hungry Hunters

(The following editorial relative to the scarcity of deer in northern Michigan is reprinted from the Marquette Mining Journal. It was submitted to the Courier by Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bolduc.)

Dear Sir and Hunters:

Hope you got your trophy!

If not, at least gather those deer tracks, and here's what you can do with them: Make Michigan "Deer Track Soup."

Take one dozen Michigan deer tracks (if you are fortunate enough to have some or even seen any), put into one gallon of cold water. To this add your 1971 deer license and bring to a boil. After you and the pot have boiled for one hour, add one DNR propaganda news clipping informing the public how over-populated our deer herds are in Michigan and what a wonderful job the department is doing to "harvest the surplus." This will give the soup the proper aroma.

Let this simmer for one hour while you and your buddy finish off a few beers. Now cut up your hunting clothes into one-inch strips (you won't need them anymore, partner) and add to the soup.

Your buddy is back, so have more beers. Now add one-half choice descriptive words you heard about hunting in '71, being careful not to use more than half a dozen, or the soup will be too hot for the pot. Let simmer for one hour while you go out and shoot up all your empty beer cans. Add to the soup the empty shells, your cartridge belt, gun oil and your other hunting equipment. Be careful to save your compass so you can send it to a DNR biologist so he can find his way out of the woods. That's the recipe from a '71 hunter.

Ever occur to you that if our Pilgrim fathers had shot a crow instead of a turkey, that's what we all might have eaten for Thanksgiving dinner?

Ever occur to you that if our Pilgrim fathers had shot a crow instead of a turkey, that's what we all might have eaten for Thanksgiving dinner?

Viewpoint! Says Fowler Correct on JBS Analysis

By Bob Clark

If you've never shared living quarters with a dog "in season," or "in heat" as the oldtimers used to say, then you can't really appreciate the tension these days at the Birch residence.

Holland Rusk, our Keeshond pup who was no bigger than a dust ball a few short months ago, is going through her first infatuation with dogs - of the opposite-sex and 207 E. Dixon has become an armed camp.

No longer can Holly simply be chained to the front porch and forgotten for hours on end. When she ventures out of the house, she must be at the end of a leash with an adult in tow.

Or if she is chained to the porch, a responsible adult must stand guard just inside the front door every ready to do battle with every male dog who happens past the house.

And happen they do, to the delight of Holly and the chagrin of her spayed half-sister, Gin.

Some of Holly's would-be suitors, of course, are old friends, like Jeff Skelton's playful malamute, Nemo, who lives next door, and the Paul Osterbergs' Dalmatian, Pogo, who lives across the street.

But there are others I can't place.

Every columnist, comedian and pundit began the new year making wisecracks about President Nixon telling football coaches how to coach. But everyone missed the true significance of Nixon's fascination with the piskin parade (whatever happened to Jack Oakie?)

Even the pundits missed it and this surprised me. By the very nature of their name, pundits should be expected to understand the true meaning of Nixon wanting everyone to win one for the Gipper (whatever happened to Ronald Reagan?). I didn't have to look in the dictionary to know that pundits are wise men who are supposed to know when to punt it.

Ask yourself: What does every coach always answer when Howard Cosell asks about the passing attack?

"We expect to do a lot of passing, to our tight end and our wide receivers, Howard," the coaches always say, "but first we must establish our running game."

That's it. That's what Nixon is telling the world every time he jolts a coach.

Clockwise

including a ragged black and tan fellow who looks like a refugee from a hippie commune.

Oddly enough (or maybe it isn't so odd), it's the rag-tal vagabond that send Holly into raptures of yipping and whining.

If one of them hoves on the scene while I am on the other end of the leash, Holly goes into a frenzy of excitement. Before I know what's happening, she wraps her leash several times around my legs and then gives a good, hard tug, a little trick that starts me spinning like a top on the icy sidewalk.

Of course, she hopes I'll lose my balance, and drop the leash, freeing her to dally with her boy friend. So far this hasn't happened, and if I can hold on another week or so, it won't make any difference.

But in the meantime, I am sure the neighbors must think I have taken up ballet dancing when they see me prancing down the street in front of their homes.

The real trick is getting folks in and out of the house without letting Holly past the front door. The kids are all alerted to the situation and so far have managed to keep her at bay while they break through the door.

Some day, of course, we want Holly to have pups. I've been thinking about it. I have the daddy picked out, a beautiful Keeshond named Kees who lives in Plymouth with the Art Gross family.

It sounds sort of old-worldish, arranging for a pup of thing, but I don't know anyone who would want a Keeshond covered with black Dalmatian spots. Or even a Dalmatian with a shaggy coat.

If it Fits

Every columnist, comedian and pundit began the new year making wisecracks about President Nixon telling football coaches how to coach. But everyone missed the true significance of Nixon's fascination with the piskin parade (whatever happened to Jack Oakie?)

Even the pundits missed it and this surprised me. By the very nature of their name, pundits should be expected to understand the true meaning of Nixon wanting everyone to win one for the Gipper (whatever happened to Ronald Reagan?). I didn't have to look in the dictionary to know that pundits are wise men who are supposed to know when to punt it.

Ask yourself: What does every coach always answer when Howard Cosell asks about the passing attack?

"We expect to do a lot of passing, to our tight end and our wide receivers, Howard," the coaches always say, "but first we must establish our running game."

That's it. That's what Nixon is telling the world every time he jolts a coach.

Ask the Governor:

The Presidential Primary

Question: Why are you advocating a presidential primary for Michigan instead of a spring primary for precinct delegates?

Answer: I am convinced the presidential primary will better serve the people of Michigan, and the democratic process, by giving more people a voice in selecting presidential candidates.

When Democrats advanced their special spring primary proposal, I said there were a number of questions including the question of cost, that must be answered. Among the conclusions I reached was that the cost to local governments would be hard to justify solely on the basis of selection of precinct delegates. If we are to open up the political system, we need to do more than change the dates of election of P. delegates.

The precinct primary plan would merely change the date in an indirect process of picking national convention delegates. My plan will allow all eligible voters, including the newly enfranchised young voters, to participate directly in the selection of presidential candidates of each party.

QUESTION: Why all this ridiculous emphasis on speed by the police? Everybody knows that everybody drives 10 miles over the limit - Why pick on me? T.C.N., Memphis

ANSWER: We just finished looking at the driving record of a guy that didn't think speeding was such a big deal. Five convictions. The last one, he killed two people and injured three.

Speed cuts down mechanical control and time for decision and action. Going 35, you can stop, going 50, you have to brake, going 80, you're off the curve like that. The smarter they are, the harder they splash.

Hot Dog!

Allison forget one day last week, however, and Holly almost made it onto the porch, sans chain or leash, before Judy made a flying tackle and felled her on the threshold. Judy is still black and blue from that little maneuver.

Although we are all suffering through Holly's first season, it's our little terrier, Gin, who deserves a medal. The male dogs who have taken up residence on our front lawn are convinced that one of our dogs is in season—but they don't really know which one.

Whenever Ginny scampers outside, all of Holly's patient, paranoiacs suddenly come to life and greet her with wiggling tails and lecherous grins until she tells them in no uncertain terms that she hasn't been interested in such hanky-panky since her operation. She does everything but show them her scar.

Some day, of course, we want Holly to have pups. I've been thinking about it. I have the daddy picked out, a beautiful Keeshond named Kees who lives in Plymouth with the Art Gross family.

It sounds sort of old-worldish, arranging for a pup of thing, but I don't know anyone who would want a Keeshond covered with black Dalmatian spots. Or even a Dalmatian with a shaggy coat.

The Running Game

out of bed and scrawls O's and X's on his sheet.

Nixon must first ESTABLISH HIS RUNNING GAME. Then he's going to do all those other things he promised.

It is the passing game that fills the stadiums and turns on the TVs. No one wants to spend 3 hours watching big guys run 3 yards into bigger guys and fall down and then get up and do it again and again (whatever happened to Bo Schembechler?).

The fans want to see the ball in the air, by God. Otherwise, they never see it at all. How can you see a ball when 22 brutes are sitting on it?

But first, the coach must establish his running game. Just be patient. There are 4 quarters in every game.

Before he was elected, Nixon said he had a plan for ending the Vietnam war. He said the economy would improve under his administration, the welfare system would start making sense, and the Pentagon would no longer stamp "Top Secret" on toilet tissue.

But first, Nixon must establish his running game. Be patient. There are 4

COUNCIL MINUTES

COUNCIL MINUTES January 3, 1972 8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor pro tem Gill presiding. Aldermen present: Westenberg, Boss, Gill, Sundberg, and Supernaw. Absent: Alderman Klooster and Mayor Essenburg.

The minutes of the December 20, 1971 meeting and the Board of Appeals were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes book. The lack of complete minutes of the Board of Appeals covering a resolution to waive the height requested to build a condominium as presented by Ralph Hess was discussed. Attorney Hoffman informed Council he was unable to contact Mr. Hess for necessary information and a vote was taken to postpone resolution and advised putting the request back into the Board of Appeals for future action.

Enter Alderman Klooster. John Michael advised Council that as far as the City is concerned the litigation with Mr. Shaw and Attorney Boyle is over and done with and that the ultimate decision rests with Mr. Shaw and if he wishes to continue his case he must file with the Circuit Court of Appeals within 14 days from December 21, 1971.

Alderman Westenberg offered the following Resolution, supported by Alderman Sundberg.

RESOLUTION WHEREAS, Mr. John R. Michael, subsequent to his termination as City Attorney, has continued to defend the City of Charlevoix against litigation brought against the City by the Shaw Henderson Company; and WHEREAS, the City's involvement in this litigation has been questioned recently;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Council reaffirms its position that there was no suitable alternative to defending the City's interests in this case; and BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That appreciation be expressed to Mr. Michael for his continued services.

Resolution adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Alderman Westenberg, Boss, Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, and Supernaw. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Richard Donaldson was present on behalf of the School Board to request a joint meeting to be held with the Council for the purpose of discussing projects as a group regarding the Public Library, an expanded year-around sports program and juvenile problems. Mr. Hanna was requested to meet with Superintendent of Schools Robert Miller and establish a date and agenda.

Moved by Alderman Klooster and supported by Alderman Westenberg that the application of Mrs. Betty McDougall of 107 Park Avenue, for a Taxi Cab License for the year 1972 be approved. The motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Alderman Westenberg, Boss, Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, and Supernaw. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Alderman Boss and supported by Alderman Supernaw that the application of Oscar W. and Dorothy Ward of 220 W. Lincoln, for a Taxi Cab License for the year 1972 be approved. The motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Alderman Westenberg, Boss, Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, and Supernaw. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Correspondence was read from J.N. Sallot, manager of station W.L.C. regarding possible interference to Cable TV - assuring the Council that the possibility is quite remote. He suggested an annual rental fee of $125 for such an installation. It was put into committee. Mr. Hanna was asked to inquire as to the amount of land required for their proposed installation and to contact the F.C.C.

A letter from Josh Barnes regarding Commercial Airline Service in Charlevoix was read.

A letter from Craig and Collins in acknowledgment of the December 6, 1971 meeting with Council was read.

Correspondence from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission advising of the cancellation of Krogers S.D.M. License was read.

The City Attorney presented a resolution regarding deed restrictions which Will-Flow Corp. asked to have deleted. It was read and put into committee for study until the next Council meeting.

The subject of a snow removal policy was discussed. It was decided to continue as in the past billing for actual payroll cost plus equipment rental and to prepare an ordinance before next year to control the handling of snow by private businesses and individuals.

Alderman Supernaw inquired as to the status of a better fire alarm system. Mr. Hanna advised he had written the Fire Alarm System for suggestions to improve the existing system.

Attorney Hoffman reported a complaint by Eugene Weston of the docks at the foot of Burns Street being on his property without his permission.

The City Administrator reported the request of the A & W Root Beer for a sign permit. It was put into Committee.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $93,346.26 find them correct and recommend they be allowed. Moved by Alderman Supernaw and supported by Alderman Boss that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Alderman Westenberg, Boss, Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, and Supernaw. Nays: None. Absent: None.

On motion the Council adjourned.

Deadline for Redistricting

State Elections Director Bernard Apol told the Courier last week that Michigan will be redistricted well before the August primary.

Apol said the legislative commission working on redistricting has set an arbitrary deadline of Jan. 28 to come up with a plan.

He said the deadline isn't hard and fast, but that if the commission fails to come up with a redistricting plan, the state Supreme Court will.

Burglars Take $2,500 From Weathervane Inn

Intruders Knew Safe Combination

Charlevoix police are investigating a break-in at the Weathervane Inn early Monday morning. Approximately $2,500 was taken from the safe.

Police Chief Jack Mol said the burglary occurred sometime between 3:30 a.m. and 7:30 a.m.

Entrance to the building was gained by prying open a kitchen window.

The money, all in bills, was taken from the locked safe. About $300 in rolled coins was not touched, and neither of the inn's two cash registers was tampered with.

Mol said the thief must have known the combination to the safe, since it was not forced open.

Some 17 employees and former employees knew the combination, which had not been changed for several years.

Two weeks ago the Woodshed on Petoskey-Ed. was entered and $250 taken from a filing cabinet. Mol said there are several similarities in the two cases.

Charlevoix's last sizable burglary was in August when thieves removed a safe from Edwards' IGA containing about $2,500.

Would You Use Airline?

If Trans-Michigan Airline made regular stops at Charlevoix, would you use the service?

This is what TMA and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce would like to find out.

To assist them, the Charlevoix Courier is publishing a questionnaire on Page 3 of this week's Courier to determine where Charlevoixans fly and how often they fly—or would like to fly if service were available.

If feasible, TMA will begin serving Charlevoix in May on a three-month trial basis.

If you are interested in airline service, fill out the questionnaire and return it to the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Housing Grant

Sen. Robert Griffin and Congressman Philip Hupke announced today that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a program reservation for 30 units of elderly housing and 10 units of low-income family housing for East Jordan.

Jane Wimmer Is DAR Good Citizen

Jane Wimmer, 18, has been selected as Good Citizen of the Year by the Petoskey Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Earl A. Young has announced.

Richard Wimmer of 801 Bridge-st. She is a senior at Charlevoix High School.

The award is made annually by local DAR chapters on the basis of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Miss Wimmer was named to attend Girls State in 1971. She served on the annual staff in 1971-72 and a member of the Future Homecoming Club of America and the Girls' Athletic Association.

Last year she was a member of the Homecoming Queen's Court.

In addition she works in the principal's office at the high school and also is a co-op student working at the First State Bank.

A member of St. Mary's Church, Miss Wimmer will graduate in June. Her future plans are undecided.

OLDTIMERS, including George LaBlance, can't recall when Pine River Channel was as heavily iced as it has been the past week. Even the seawalls were coated. The channel was frozen solid over the weekend, with plenty of "pancake" ice in evidence from the U.S. 31 bridge. The unusual ice formation occurs when large chunks of drifting ice are frozen into a single mass. The circular pattern results from abrasive collisions with other ice floes.

Local Couples Hurt In Florida Accident

Two local residents, winning in Florida, remain in serious condition in an Orlando hospital following an accident Jan. 26.

Lyle Beaudoin, 63, who had been at Cape Coral since October, remains in the intensive care unit at the Orange Memorial Hospital with a collapsed lung and other internal injuries.

Frederick "Ted" Ager, 52, was placed in the intensive care unit a few days after the accident when his condition worsened. He received fractured ribs and wrist. He is also experiencing heart difficulties.

Mrs. (Norma) Beaudoin, 47, received fractures of the shoulder, pelvis, wrist and a crushed elbow. She also had facial laceration. She is in good condition after surgery, her family reports.

SURVEY QUESTIONNAIRE for Airline Service to Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Reader:
Trans-Michigan Airlines has indicated an interest in establishing airline service to the Charlevoix area. Naturally, they are interested in having some idea of the amount of airline traffic they can generate in this area, and which direction. If a commercial airline service to this area is feasible, it would be to our great economic advantage, as well as, convenience.

To aid TMA, the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with both the city and TMA officials to help determine whether the Charlevoix, Emmet area can support such a venture. Please fill out the questions below and send to the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce office. Since the questions are not of a personal nature, we are asking that you sign your name to avoid duplication.

1. Would you use air service if established in Charlevoix?
☐ YES ☐ NO
2. If so, how often would you estimate you might utilize it? _____ Per Month.
3. What days of the week would you most likely travel? _____

At Ferris State College

Unemployed Vets Invited To Career Workshops

Unemployed veterans of the 100th District are being offered a free week-long career workshop to acquaint themselves with vocations that their aptitudes and interests point them toward. State Rep. Richard Friske (R-Charlevoix) is urging area unemployed veterans to make themselves available for the unique program that Ferris State College in Big Rapids, Michigan, is offering. The week includes vocational preference and aptitude testing, intensive counseling, information about "vocational" and "vocational" aids, and most importantly, an opportunity to visit classrooms and laboratories to see first-hand what given occupational education programs are like. A summary session at the end of the week attempts to help them integrate the test results, and their own "hands-on" experiences into a new individualized career orientation.

Unemployed veterans in the 100th District who are interested in benefiting from this type of program should write James Young, Assistant Dean of Student Services, Ferris State College, Big Rapids, Michigan 49307, or contact Representative Friske in care of the State Capitol in Lansing, Michigan 48901. Friske said, "Reports show less than 30 percent of Vietnam veterans are using their G.I. Bill and over 20 percent are unemployed. This shows that such a program is a possible solution to the job problem many of our returning servicemen are facing." This is not a workshop designed as a recruiting device for Ferris State College but a program aimed at showing the veteran different skills he can find available training for at an area skills center, a community college, at Ferris, or at another four year college or university in Michigan. The only qualification Ferris has set down for the workshop is that the unemployed veterans be identified by the Michigan Employment Security Commission, the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration, the Veterans Administration, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars or through the Ferris Admission Office. "This is one of the most innovative efforts in the field of job placement that Michigan has seen," Friske said, "and I see this as an opportunity that could put new meaning in the life for the unemployed veterans who are still debating on their life's vocation."

The Charlevoix Republican called on "the American Legion, VFW or other service groups to sponsor a veteran to this beneficial program. I command Ferris State College for making such a program available at their own expense." Representative Friske concluded.

Post Office Selling Income Tax Books

A booklet that gives information on how to fill out federal tax returns is on sale at the Charlevoix Post Office, 109 Mason, according to Postmaster Rex E. Davis.

"Your Federal Income Tax" was written by the Internal Revenue Service and contains many examples illustrating how the tax law applies to actual situations.

A special feature of the booklet is the sample, filled-in return, Form 1040, keyed to pages where explanations can be found for each entry on the return.

The 100-page booklet is on sale now and costs 75 cents a copy.

CHS Freshmen Defeat Boyne City

By Forest Dypinski

The Charlevoix Freshman basketball team got back to their winning ways by soundly defeating the Boyne City Ramblers, 72-45 last Thursday night. After a season first quarter, the Rayders gradually pulled away in the second, holding a 12-point lead at the half. The Rayders continued their rampage in the second half, finally winning the game by the convincing margin.

The Rayders had some high scorers in the game. The top scorers were Dan Green and Tom Moore with 20 points, Dave Martineck with 17, Chuck Korner with 7, and Kevin Martin with 5 points.

With the victory, the Freshman Rayders now hold a 5 and 2 record.

Their next game is scheduled for next Thursday, against Petoskey.

Club Hears How Beulah Got Rid of Junked Cars

Make a survey of your county to determine the problems that should be given priorities and then decide what your group is capable of doing. Mrs. Cheryl Froese of Beulah, a member of Benzie County's "Keep Michigan Beautiful" club, told members of the Discussion Group of the Charlevoix Women's Club when they met recently at the Lodge. Mrs. Froese related the story behind the organization of their chapter and why Project: Scrap, the collection of junk cars, was chosen as their prime project. She said that after this was chosen as their initial project, a survey by chapter members throughout the county, the smallest in the state, turned up well over 3,000 junk cars in isolated wooded areas, urban and rural yards and elsewhere. She was one of four co-chairmen who organized the drive, enlisted the aid of all county residents and agencies, brought the derelicts to designated places and, eventually, brought in a crusher to compact the cars for transportation to southern Michigan. Mrs. Donna Hamilton and Mrs. Lynn Porter served refreshments to the more than 30 members and guests present.

Longer Camping Season May Ease Overcrowding

Lawrence A. Rubin, president of the Upper Peninsula Travel and Recreation Association, has taken issue with Harry Whiteley, new chairman of the Natural Resources Commission over the use of Michigan parks by out-of-state residents.

After his election as NRC chairman, Mr. Whiteley suggested that the time may have come to limit the use of state park facilities to Michiganders only because of overcrowding.

As an officer of an association dedicated to tourist promotion, Mr. Rubin thinks Mr. Whiteley is far off-base, and the Courier concurs.

"This is an unfortunate theme for any Michigan official to express," Mr. Rubin said in a press statement. "It is entirely contrary to our long-established tradition of hospitality for which we are famous; but more important, it does not solve the problem, which is peak demand for park space during a very short and limited season."

"As matters stand right now, accommodations for tourist and recreation seekers are occupied about 30 percent of their annual capacity, and many are not fully occupied even during the height of the summer tourist season. To discourage outstayers from vacationing in Michigan would only increase the financial burden of a great many operators. Also, it would certainly make additional

Dear Monsieur Bob,

After reading your editorial last week on my idea of Charlevoix as an "Old English" town, I am slowly removing my size 9 1/2 boot from my mouth... you're absolutely right.

The town of Charlevoix (name coming from Father Charlevoix) should architecturally follow an "Old French" seaside town. However, I would like to point out that architecturally speaking, the only real difference in the two designs is in the spelling of the names on the business establishments.

Basically, "Old English" and "Old French" architecture are one in the same. English architecture being derived from the French (and vice-versa).

The tiny window panes are a good start, and are found in both old English and old French sea-side towns.

As a matter of fact... that old castle on M-46 (commonly known as the Leob Estate) is rustic French Provincial in design. Both French and English architecture utilize: steeply roofed buildings, cut stone, dormers, cupolas, small paned windows and flying buttresses.

So in essence... all is not lost, we can still hang together and still make Charlevoix an unusual and extra-beautiful town. But in order to do so, we must start somewhere. The tiny paned windows would make a drastic change (for the better) in the appearance of downtown Charlevoix.

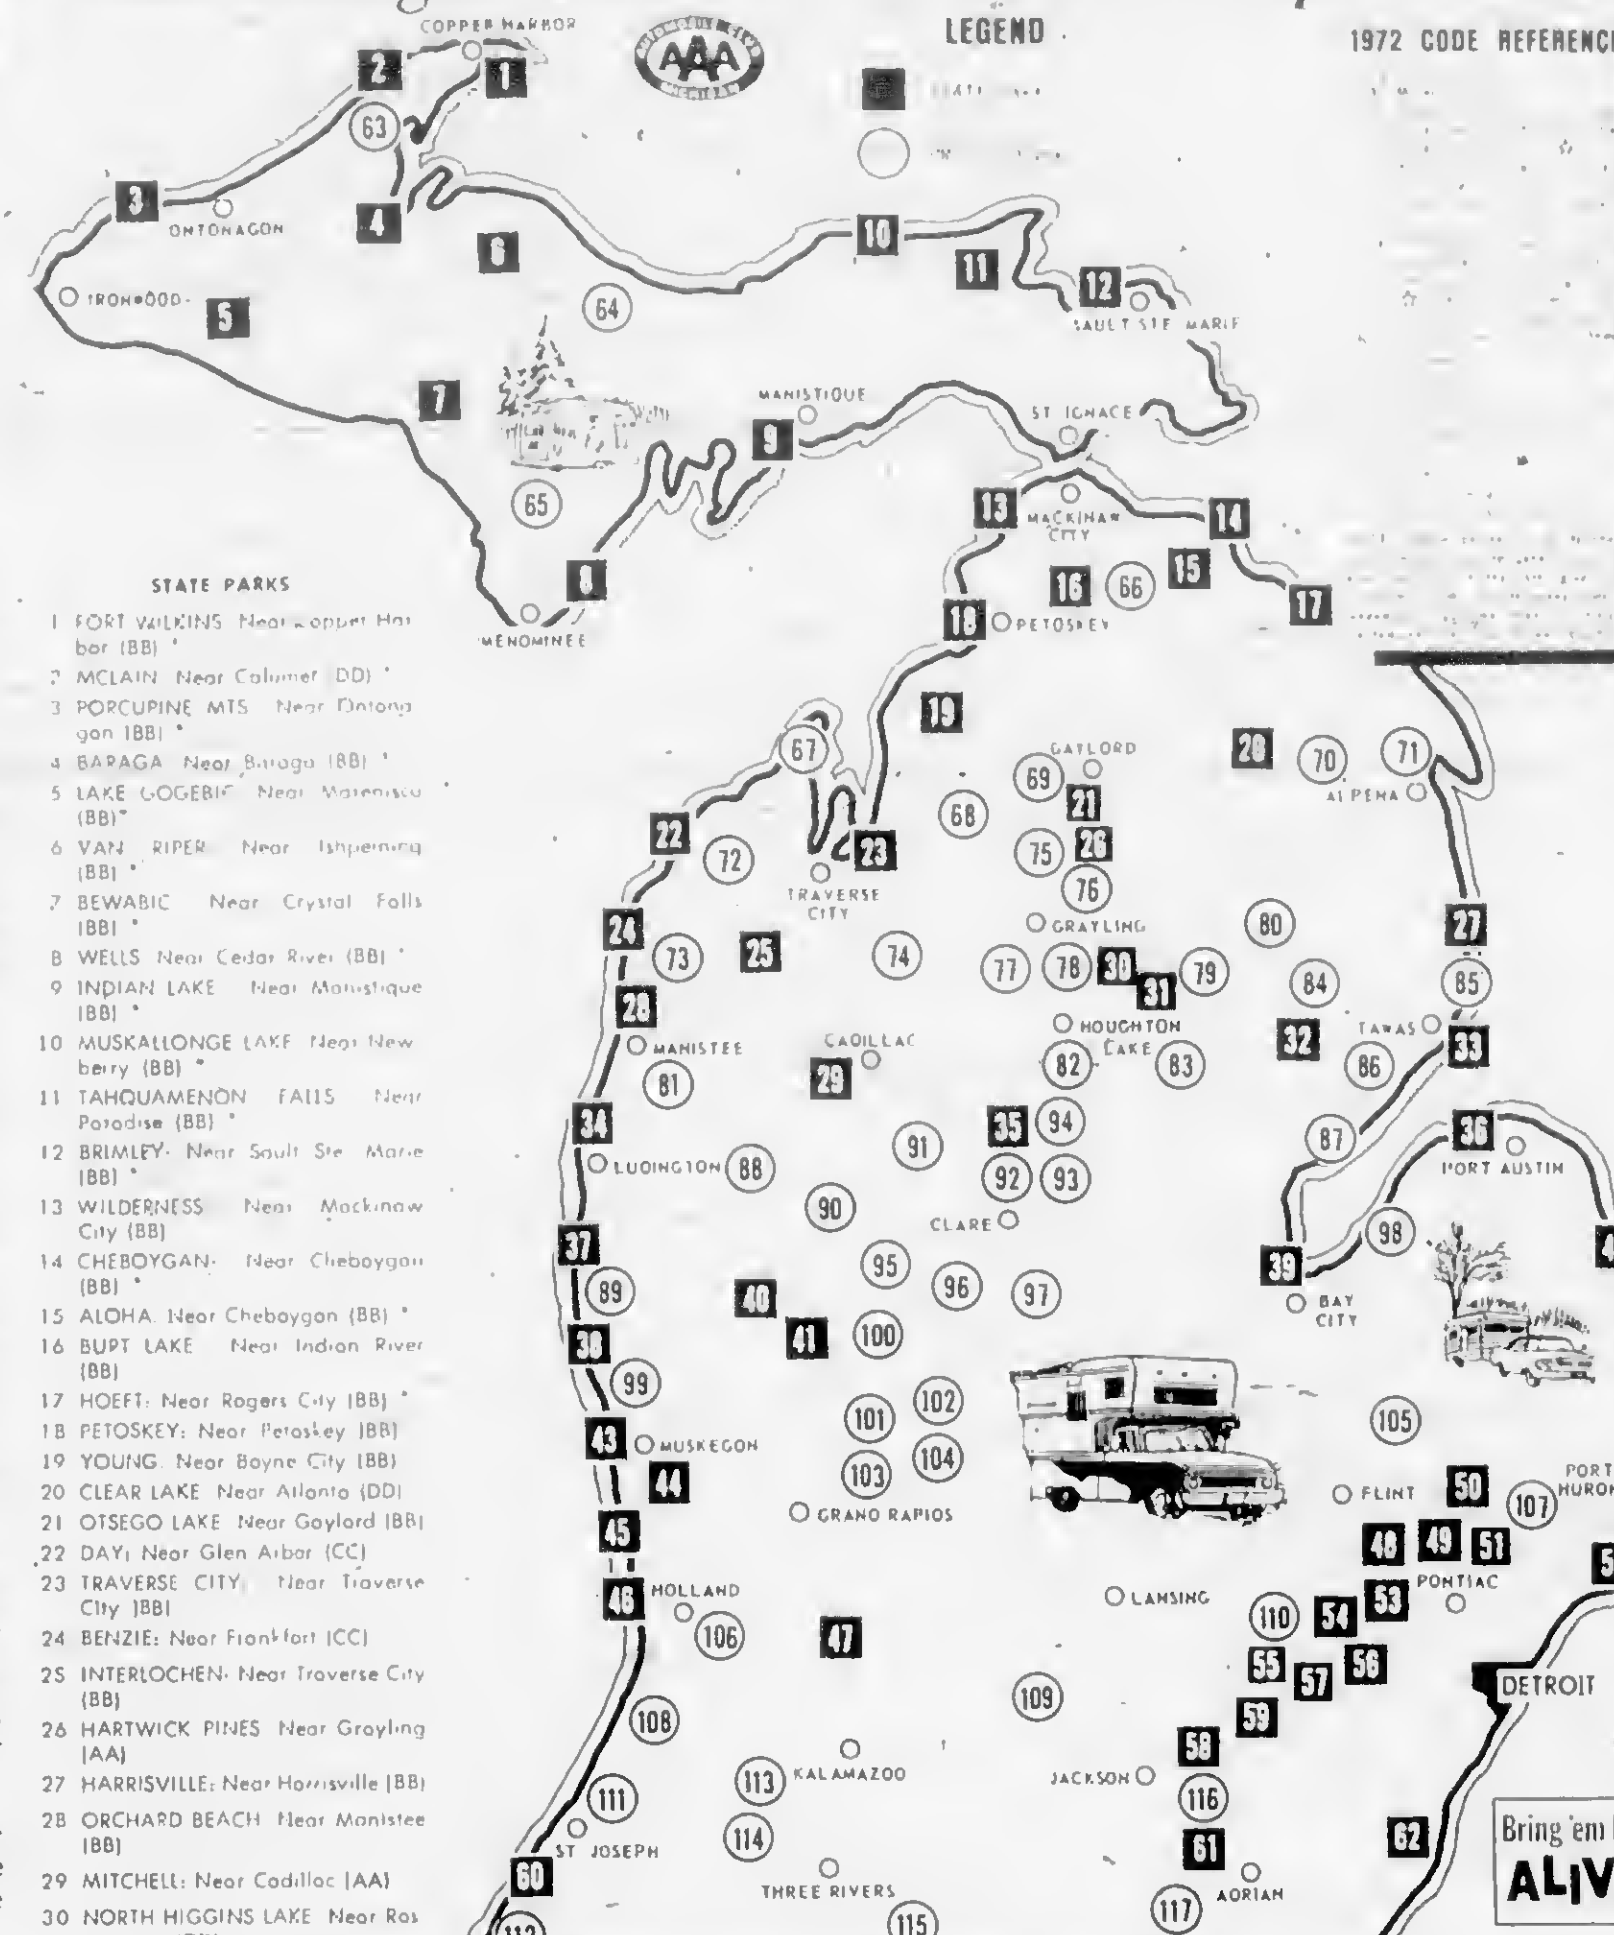

Most importantly, the cost per business would be minimal, and the advantage (beauty-wise) would be overwhelming. Don't you agree?

Merci beaucoup,

Thomas E. Merta, Exec.-Dir.
Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce

(Nous sommes heureux que M. Merta est d'accord avec notre proposition que la ville de Charlevoix suivre l'architecture française. Maintenant, changeons le nom de la ville en "Charlevoix la Belle!")

Cageville The Beautiful

By BOB CLOCK
I stopped in Charlevoix one February evening in the Year of Our Lord 1988 and was distressed to find that the name of the town had been changed to Cageville.

What's more, the town didn't even look the same. All of the pleasant little shops that once lined Bridge-st. had somehow become retail and wholesale outlets for sporting goods.

Biggest. Itself had been renamed Wild-the-Still Boulevard.

Although the hour was not late, the streets were deserted except in the vicinity of the three public schools and St. Marys. The parking lots at all the schools were filled with cars and automobiles lined the curbs for blocks in each direction.

I circled back through town and stopped at the Chamber of Commerce office where a light was still burning. I was welcomed at the door by a greying gentleman who introduced himself as a Mr. Murtah, the chamber's executive director.

"What in the world has happened to the old Charlevoix I remembered from the early '70s," I asked, after Mr. Murtah had offered me a seat.

"The old Charlevoix is no more," Mr. Murtah began briskly. "The new Charlevoix is called Cageville, and we are—if you'll pardon the expression—the Basketball Capital of the World."

"The Basketball Capital?" I repeated in disbelief. "I always knew Charlevoix was a gun-bag basketball town, but I always thought it was because the town was without a movie theater nine months out of the year."

"That was part of it," Mr. Murtah explained, "but there were other factors as well. It really started back in 1972 when the Board of Education introduced basketball as an official sport for third and fourth grade girls. The town was always gaga over the game, with one or two Varsity and Junior Varsity games a week. Freshman basketball, Girls Athletic Association basketball, and at least four Independent League basketball games a week, but it wasn't until the Third and Fourth grade girls started playing that basketball changed from a sport to a kind of madness."

"Do you remember the Flag Pole Sitters and the Dance Marathons of the 1930s?" Mr. Murtah asked.

Safety Valve

QUESTION: Some guy nearly wrecked me trying to pass me on a two-lane highway. Could you state something about the time and space it takes to clear. Maybe he and some of those other crazy nuts will read it. L.O.L., St. Louis

ANSWER: According to the Highway Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University, when you are going 65 miles per hour and attempt to pass a vehicle going 50 miles per hour, you are gaining only 15 feet per second. With snowy, ice conditions, allow more than the usually safe quarter mile to complete the pass. When you cut back in, allow one car length for every ten miles of speed so you don't erase the lead driver's safety space.

QUESTION: Recently on my ear radio I heard a highway engineer talking about ice on a bridge deck. What, pray tell, is a bridge deck and why should there be ice on that? R.L.F., Saginaw ANSWER: The bridge deck is simply the highway paving on a bridge. This freezes sooner than the rest of the roadway because it has ice cold air both above and below. When temperatures hover at the freezing point, a cold rain will form ice on the bridge, while the earth below the pavement prevents this quick freeze on the normal roadway. Thus, even if the main roadway is only wet (or even clear and dry), it's prepared for skiddy patches of ice on the bridge.

Recent repeal of the seven percent excise tax on automobiles brought about immediate price reductions in 1972 car models and a prediction of sales amounting to 11 million this year from General Motors Chairman James M. Roche.

The automakers had previously announced an increase in car prices after permission to do so had been granted them by the Price Commission. With repeal of the tax, automakers promised to pass on the entire amount to customers.

Major credit for repeal of the automobile excise tax belongs to Senator Robert P. Griffin. In an address before the Economic Club of Detroit Sept. 23, President Nixon said: "Since this is the motor capital of the world with some interest in what is going to happen to the excise tax on automobiles, I want this audience to know that of all the people in the House and the Senate who talked to me about that -- and some did quite often -- he (Senator Griffin) was the most influential of all. We give him the major credit."

Sen. Griffin Hailed For Tax Repeal

There can be little doubt that the anticipated boom in car sales following repeal of the excise tax will result in considerable benefit to the nation's economy. Senator Griffin, the man chiefly responsible for it, deserves the fervent well-wishes of us all.

Tax repeal couldn't have come at a more propitious time. At the moment, run-away labor costs, without a corresponding increase in productivity, have put some industries' backs to the wall and, as a result, jobs are being abolished. Many products of American industry have been priced off the world markets, resulting in a slowdown of the nation's economic progress.

A recent statement from the National Labor-Management Foundation points out that "15 years ago the United States led the world in exports of TV sets, accounting for 60 percent of the world's exports. Since then, production of TV sets moved to Japan, Taiwan and other countries with lower wage scales. In the first 10 months of 1968, the U.S. imported more than two million TV sets, a 60 percent jump in one year."

The statement concludes: "The loss of production and jobs to foreign competitors can be laid at the door of labor unions which have been able to impose unrealistic, inflationary wage increases bearing no real relation to productivity, and to union featherbedding and make-work practices."

A similar situation, although not nearly so drastic, exists in the automobile industry. This, to a large extent, is what the rapidly increasing sales of foreign automobiles is all about.

In any event, the situation as it applies to the auto industry, has been considerably alleviated as the result of Senator Griffin's efforts.

His action has benefited not only the people of Michigan but the entire nation.

Skusa

Funeral for Mrs. Julius (Minnie A.) Skusa, 86, was held at the Winchester Funeral Home Jan. 30, at 10 a.m. Rev. Gordon Mitchellson officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Skusa died Jan. 28 at Beverly Manor in Petoskey one day after she was admitted.

The former Minnie A. Wiles was born in Charlevoix, Oct. 18, 1885, and lived in Detroit as a young woman. While there she married Mr. Skusa and continued to live in Detroit until moving to Norwood Township in 1919. Mrs. Skusa died in 1953.

Elzinga

Funeral for James H. Elzinga, 33, was held at the Wesleyan Church in Ellsworth Jan. 31, at 10 a.m. Rev. Douglas Knight officiating. Burial was in Atwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Elzinga died Jan. 28 at Meadowbrook Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient for three years.

The former Jessie Wassenaar was born in the Netherlands May 17, 1878, and came to the Ellsworth area as a young woman. She was married to Mr. Elzinga April 20, 1902, and they made their home in Banks Township. He died in 1967.

She is survived by four sons, Henry of Lansing, Marvin of Ellsworth, Arthur of Belding and Herbert of Lowell; two daughters, Mrs. Roy (Connie) Ruymer of Traverse City and Miss Maxine Elzinga of Los Angeles; 10 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Maxson

Funeral for Glenn Maxson, 81, was held Jan. 30 at the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Gordon Mitchellson officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Maxson died Jan. 28 at Grandview Medical Care Facility where he had been a patient for several years.

Born in Montmorency County June 10, 1890, Mr. Maxson was a veteran of World War I and worked for Lansing Motor Wheel Corp. before moving to Charlevoix in 1940. He was married to the former Florence Thompson, a nurse at Charlevoix Hospital for 20 years before her death in 1961.

He is survived by a brother, Clyde Maxson of Kenosha, Wis., and two sisters, Mrs. Belle Brothower and Mrs. John LaNette, both of Grayling.

Attend Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Drewa and children of Charlevoix have returned from Stevens Point, Wis., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Drewa's mother, Mrs. Mary Drewa.

The Central Evaluation committee that is counseling rating was too high. It is one counselor to 475 students; North Central recommends one to 450 students and the University of Michigan one to 400.

Mr. Miller then reported on new legislation.

Mr. Miller then reported on the recent M.A.S.A. meeting in Grand Rapids and then on new legislation, concluding with the proposed State Aid formula and what they will mean to the Charlevoix district.

Under the Governor's proposal $732.50 would be allowed for each pupil with 20 mills deductible and State Department of Education formula would allow $740 per pupil with 20 mills deductible.

Under both proposals remedial reading funds which are now re-imburseable would be discontinued through there would be benefits for special education, vocational education and transportation.

These, however, would not compensate for the losses.

Under the present State Aid formula for the current school year, schools receive $559 for each pupil with 14 mills deductible. This year the district will receive an estimated $270,000 in State Aid. This plus money for transportation, remedial reading, mentally handicapped and court placed children will bring in another $329,370. This sources will be $594.

He said he could not anticipate any increases from any other sources thus leaving the district unable to meet even the terms of the present salary schedule which would require $34,000 just to meet current obligations without funds to support the present program.

In relating the State Aid formula, he emphasized the seriousness of the problem the residents of the district face.

"The valuation of the school district was increased and the people were looking for relief. Instead, we are being penalized and will have less revenue than before. It's a problem we must live up to," Miller said in conclusion.

Council Postpones Action On Clinton-st. Re-Zoning

The Charlevoix City Council Monday postponed for two weeks action on a request to rezone the George Priest property at 201 Clinton-st. from residential to office use.

The change was requested by the First State Bank which has an option to buy the property with an eye toward expanding the parking lot in the future.

Residents of Clinton-st. have signed a petition objecting to the change on grounds that it will increase traffic in the neighborhood and decrease the value of their homes.

The council delayed action until it could check legal aspects of the change with City Attorney Robert Hoffman.

Former City Attorney John Michael suggested to the council that the change be delayed until the property is ready to be used as a parking lot. He said too much property would be rezoned to office use. The town of Laurel, Mich., had expressed an interest in buying the engine for $12,500.

Repaid $97,000 to the Electric Fund from the Capital Improvement Fund. The Council received a letter from Prof. May recently asking for information relative to the late R.W. Elston who built an automobile in Charlevoix in 1895.

There is the letter:

"In connection with research that I am doing into the early history of the automobile in Michigan, I would be interested in hearing from anyone who has information regarding a motor car built in 1895, which was reported in November of that year to have built a two-seater gasoline-powered motor vehicle."

"A picture of the vehicle appeared in the November, 1895, issue of the automotive journal 'Horseless Age.' I would like to know if Mr. Elston successfully operated the vehicle, since, if he did, it would probably have been the first gasoline-powered automobile to have been built and operated in Michigan."

Earl Miller, who was born in Charlevoix in 1882, remembers Elston as a "great in ventor." He also recalls him talking about the automobile he built, but he can't actually remember whether or not the vehicle ever ran.

Earl Young, who moved to Charlevoix in 1900 when he was 11 years old, also remembers Elston. He says the Young family shared a home with the Elstons on Park-ave. in the first block west of Bridge-st.

He recalls seeing Elston's automobile, "but I can't say for sure if I ever saw it run."

Young says he also was shown the blueprints for Elston and recalls they were kept in a sloopster house. The last time he saw the trunk was after Elston's death when Mrs. Elston moved in.

Dr. Tanton to Talk On Monroe Creek

Dr. John Tanton of Petoskey, who has taken the Department of Natural Resources to court over the damming of Monroe Creek, is scheduled to address a meeting of the Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix County Friday, Feb. 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the First State Bank.

The Concerned Citizens group was organized last fall after release of a task force report concerning the proposed 8,000-acre Woodland Indian National Memorial south of Charlevoix. Most members of the organization are against the present plan for the memorial.

Officers of the organization are Ed Shanahan, president; Hugh Riker, vice chairman; Kathy Loudenslager, recording secretary; Sally Bartelski, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Mousseau, treasurer.

Chairmen of standing committees are Chuck Theim, finance; Ernest Manthei, legislative; and Gerald Omer, fact finding.

Dr. Tanton will discuss the Monroe Creek development and its impact on the environment.

He recalls Elston as being a tall, bearded man who walked every day out to the cemetery and back.

Elston built the Elston Hotel, at the corner of Antrim and Bridge-sts. It later became the Hallett Hotel. Oleason's Shopping Center now stands on the site. The family also lived on W. Dixon-ave. across from the former Holiday Beach Hotel.

Although Charlevoix Courier and Charlevoix Sentinel records for the 1890's were lost in a fire, some information relative to the Elston's automobile is available at the Charlevoix Library in the records of the late Rosa Nettleton.

The following appeared in the Sentinel in March, 1895: "Mr. R.W. Elston, of this place, has perfected an electric wagon that has in it the elements of revolution in road travel."

"Our reporter was ushered into Mr. Elston's workshop in the upper portion of his residence yesterday, and shown the vehicle, which has occupied about two years of the inventor's time. The buggy itself is not unlike an ordinary road wagon, but there, the similarity stops. The motive power will be an electric storage battery motor, capable of running the wagon nine hours."

"The forward gear is arranged to guide the vehicle by a wheel in front of the axle, and the rear wheels are fitted to the axle in such a manner as to release by a cam, either wheel from its connection with the axle, and round a curve. The advantage of which will at once suggest itself. This is a feature that has never been attached to vehicles of this character, is most advantageous characteristic of the wagon."

"The wagon moves light, guides easily, and when complete will weigh but 1,000 pounds. It will carry two persons beside the driver, and will make twelve miles per hour on a level road."

Unhappily, no one can remember if Elston's vehicle actually ran with its gasoline engine, and the Sentinel records are obscure on that point. There is no indication whether the Pennington gasoline motor actually was installed prior to the Milwaukee-Chicago race.

Anyone with further information about Elston and his horseless carriage should contact Prof. May at Eastern Michigan University or the Courier.

An unexpected welcome awaited German exchange student Klaus Burmeister, 17, when he returned to Charlevoix Feb. 1 after attending funeral services for his father, Friedrich Burmeister, in Essen, Germany.

Klaus attended the basketball game with Boyne City Tuesday evening and when he entered the Boyne City gymnasium, Charlevoix cheerleaders led the packed house in a long welcoming cheer.

"Almost, they had me blushing," the young German confided later to his American "mother," Mrs. Robert Madison of Antrim.

Klaus was able to return to the United States to finish the school year thanks to the efforts of his fellow students at Charlevoix High School. When they learned that Youth for Understanding, the organization which sponsored his trip to America, could afford only one round-trip ticket per student, his classmates at CHS launched a fund-raising drive to bring him back.

The story of Klaus' predicament was picked up by the Detroit newspaper and United Press International and donations poured in from as far away as Florida and Little Rock, Ark.

Since his return, local strangers have called next July when he will return to his homeland.

When they learned that Youth for Understanding, the organization which sponsored his trip to America, could afford only one round-trip ticket per student, his classmates at CHS launched a fund-raising drive to bring him back.

The story of Klaus' predicament was picked up by the Detroit newspaper and United Press International and donations poured in from as far away as Florida and Little Rock, Ark.

Since his return, local strangers have called next July when he will return to his homeland.

Dam Lawsuit Delayed

Dr. Tanton Tells Why He Sued

The first hearing in Dr. John Tanton's lawsuit against the Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix County at the First State Bank Saturday night, Dr. Tanton said he has received $513.58 in contributions from Michigan residents to help defray legal expenses.

Dr. Tanton made it clear that he has no objection to development of the area, as long as it is confined to the uplands and that the wetlands are left intact. He is strenuously opposed to damming of Monroe Creek to create the proposed lake.

He said the time has come for people to change their thinking about resort property and settle for something less than lake frontage.

"There is no shortage of lake frontage in Charlevoix County," he said. "But there is a surplus of people who want to buy lake frontage. It's possible to have development — and have swamps, too."

Dr. Tanton said many people still entertain the idea of lake frontage.

Dr. Tanton is anxious to start clearing land for the dam and his proposed 1,500 homesite development south of Charlevoix while the ground is frozen.

The temporary restraining order holding up dam construction was issued by the Ingham County Circuit Court where the suit was initiated in December. The Ingham court transferred the case to Charlevoix County because that is its own docket was overcrowded.

Dr. Tanton of Petoskey filed the suit under the Environmental Protection Law, claiming the development, as proposed, will place an undue strain on the ecology of the area.

In addition to the housing development, Sheldon plans to dam Monroe Creek, creating a lake which will empty into the South Arm of Lake Michigan.

The first annual statewide Lincoln Dinner will mark the official kick-off of the Michigan Republican 1972 election campaign.

The dinner will honor all 12 of Michigan's Republican congressmen as well as Sen. Robert Griffin, Gov. William Milliken, Lt. Gov. James Brickley and State Treasurer Allison Green.

Approximately 1,500 persons are expected to attend the $15-a-plate dinner.

Eight Charlevoix entries received 11 ratings for performance in the Northern Section of the District II Solo and Ensemble Festival held Saturday at Rogers City, according to Band Director Clarence Odmark. Thirty-four Charlevoix High School musicians took part in the event.

Judges were Arthur McComb, James Hewitt and Allan Walters of Flint Public Schools and Devere Fader of Saginaw.

Receiving 11 ratings were Debbie Rank, clarinet solo; Sue Pettis, piano solo; Kit Lieberman, piano solo; Sue Pettis and Laura Staiblin, flute duo; Dale Boss and Kim Carter, flute duo; and a flute quartet consisting of Susan Ross, Rae Ann Slope, Laurie Bradley and Debbie Powell.

Receiving 11 ratings (a good performance with minor deficiencies) were: Kit Lieberman, cornet solo; Sara Sweet, saxophone solo; Sue Pettis, piano solo; Sue Pettis and Laura Staiblin, flute duo; Dale Boss and Kim Carter, flute duo; and a flute quartet consisting of Susan Ross, Rae Ann Slope, Laurie Bradley and Debbie Powell.

Rev. Greydanus has left the Christian Reformed Church for a new charge at Lodi, N.J. He received a check from the congregation as a farewell gift.

A good-sized crowd turned out for the C.R. Cadets' supper Friday at the Community Hall. Mrs. Chet Farrell made the rolls, the boys' moms made pies and Sun Kelly of Charlevoix made vegetable and pea soup. Cadets served as waiters and their leaders—Don Heeres, Bill Alward, Gary Drenth and Harold DeYoung Jr.—supervised the kitchen.

The Bill Barrows have moved from the James Rubingh place one mile south of Ellsworth and have bought the former like Koons place north of Frisk's Orchard. The Mike Nelsons of Detroit have moved into the Rubingh home.

The Dog Matz family of Saginaw visited recently with the Melvin Essensbergs.

The Edward Fielstras and three sons of Grand Rapids were weekend guests of his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Harv to see their daughter Meryl at Williamson.

The Bob Carpenter family of Grand Rapids spent the weekend with the Nathan Carpenter and Jake Vandenberg families. They did some snowmobiling.
Vernon Heeres has been discharged from service and is living in Grand Haven with his wife, Becky, and baby. He was a recent visitor of his grandmother, Mrs. Maggie Heeres.
Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Klooster, Mildred Kirby Hubbell, in are visiting their daughter, Marshall, Mich. They stopped

Little League Meeting Set For Feb. 9

Players, parents and others interested in organizing a Little League Baseball Association in Charlevoix are invited to a meeting Wednesday, Feb. 9, at 7 p.m. in the Community Room of the First State Bank, according to Larry Ford.

For more information on the meeting, contact Guy Smith at 547-9037 or Larry Ford at 547-2787.

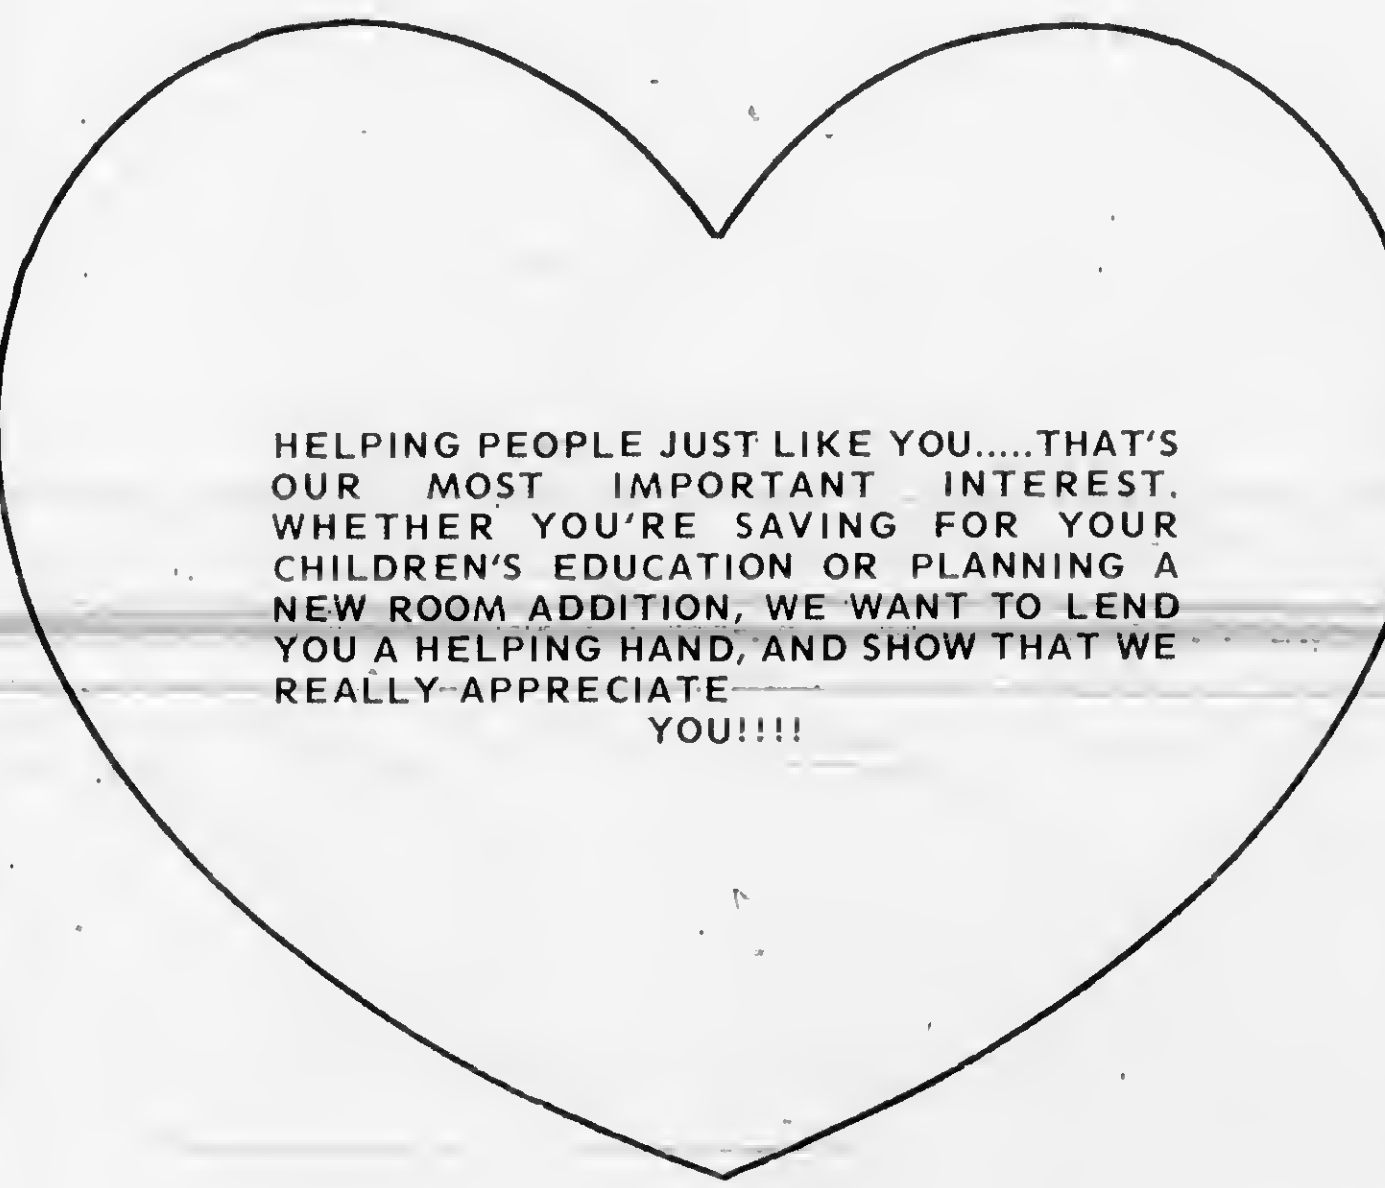

Ralph McRae For Councilman First Ward

If elected Councilman of the First Ward I would like to work for the following:

1. Improve and enlarge the street lighting in our ward.
2. Encourage the council to get up priorities and long range planning programs.
3. Do everything possible to prevent further increases in property taxes.
4. To see if it would be possible to have a recreational field for baseball and ice skating for the Northsider kids.
5. To initiate consideration for housing of elderly and retired people.
6. To make available water and sewer facilities to all areas within the city limits before providing such service outside the city confines.
7. Make the city a concerned party of the regulatory forces that inspect and report on Medusa anti-pollution compliances.
8. Make use of the experience and talents of our retired citizens.
9. Invite the newly franchised voters to participate in responsibilities and problems of the city government.

Rayders Win in 4 Overtimes!

Defeat Potoskey In Cliff-Hanger

Charlevoix's cage squad staged a real cliff-hanger Friday night, defeating the Potoskey Northmen 63-56 at the end of four overtime periods.

It was the first time in the memory of oldtimers that a Charlevoix cage match has gone into four overtime periods.

At the end of regulation play, the score was tied at 47.

In the first overtime period, Bill Carey scored two freethrows and Mike Davies scored one fieldgoal, leaving the score 49-47.

It was a repeat performance in the second and third three-minute overtimes, with Carey and Davies doing the honors on freethrows and fieldgoals, with scores of 51-51 and 53-53.

In the fourth period, Carey put Charlevoix ahead with a bucket and replacement Tim Carey scored two fieldgoals and two fieldgoals, with another basket by Bill Carey to clinch the victory. Potoskey scored only three points, on a fieldgoal by Davies and a freethrow by Dale Meyer.

Quarter scores, Charlevoix led at the end of the first period 11-9 and at the half by 27 to 24. Potoskey moved ahead in the third period, 33-36 and the finale was tied at 47.

However, the game was so close that the lead changed hands almost with every basket.

High man for Charlevoix was Bill Carey with 19 on five fieldgoals and nine freethrows. Close behind was Ned Henley, 15 (7 and 1); Roger Crain, 13 (6 and 1); Tim Carey, 7 (2 and 3); Larry Potter, 6 (2 and 3); and Jerry Pease, 3 (1 and 1).

The victory puts Charlevoix into second place in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference.

BILL CAREY plunks another through hoop in Friday's game with Potoskey. He was high point man with 19.

POTOSKEY'S GARY Urman looms large in front of Rayder Larry Potter.

RAYDER Roger Crain gives a wide berth to Northman Robin Hill.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Britton and family were Mr. and Mrs. David Jardine and Miss Susan Koss and Miss Diane Koss, all of Detroit.

Library Notes

Every so often we like to remind our patrons of the fine selection of current magazines available on our shelves. In this jet age, it's impossible to keep abreast of current affairs through books (which take a year to be published) or through daily newspapers which cannot possibly cover all subjects of topical national and international importance.

The current issue of Atlas Magazine, for example, carries the best articles from the World Press. There is an article on Taiwan, a personal interview with Brezhnev and, from the Observer in London, a selected article answering the question: "Who's on Top in China?"

The Feb. issue of Atlantic has a special feature—titled "The Age of Nixon—1969-1972".

Better Homes & Gardens has an idea-packed February issue of sewing crafts and projects plus an important discussion on property taxes.

Of special interest to all home-makers and, for that matter, anyone who pays attention to the food he eats, is a disturbing expose of frankfurters in the Feb. issue of Consumer Reports. It's not news that hot dogs have always been viewed with suspicion, but it is shocking to learn from this article that no state—not even Michigan where stern laws govern frankfurters—observes the laws or complies with the strict health standards. It is an alarming article which all mothers should read, and it is only one of the informing pieces in this particular issue of Consumer Reports.

Congressional Digest discusses the proposal to establish a Federal system to register the U.S. voter by mail. Interesting and something to think about.

Bernstein discusses his John Kennedy Mass in the February issue of High Fidelity.

The current issue of Holiday magazine is devoted to Travel in Europe.

Jean-Claude Killy tells us how to make ski clothes in the Ladies' Home Journal, and Ralph Nader reports on unsafe new homes.

Handyman, Field & Stream and Farm Journal deal with up-to-the-minute articles in their own specialties, as do Popular Mechanics and Popular Electronics.

Modern Maturity is the delightful publication put out by the American Association of Retired Persons. The pictures, photographs and articles are absorbing even if you haven't retired and don't intend to for awhile.

Newsweek deals with the Economic Issue and the list of presidential candidates.

Today's Health carries Dr. Barry Commoner's answer to the question: "Do Nuclear Plants Make Deadly Neighbors?"

Time Magazine has a large spread on the Howard Hughes mystery—an intriguing subject.

And we wish more parents would become acquainted with Science Magazine and introduce their children to it. This is a handsome periodical and it is not too weighty or top-level for the layman. The current issue has a wonderful piece on Mars as an active planet and the crisis in American Archeology.

The Saturday Evening Post—which comes out quarterly now—brings nostalgia to the old-timers. The cartoons and stories are just as entertaining, and the covers carry the long-remembered classic American scenes.

There are dozens of other magazines available. All of them—except the most current issue—may be signed out and enjoyed at home or they are available for browsing between errands and shopping trips.

Locals

The Martin Rubinghs have rented their house on the former Dick Oosterbaan place to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Farrell of Central Lake.

Mrs. Hattie Kuiper has sold her farm home to Mr. and Mrs. Garritt McDowell of Howell, former residents. The McDowells have four children, the youngest in the 8th grade. They formerly lived on the Nels Nelson farm.

Rayders Dump Boyne

The Red Rayders defeated Boyne City Feb. 1 by a score of 79-46, on the Ramblers home court.

The Ramblers got off to a shaky start with only six points in the first period, compared to 22 for Charlevoix. The Boyne cagers picked up steam in the last three periods, with point totals of 19, 21 and 20 (compared to 22, 12 and 23 for the Rayders), but their weak open-spelled defeat.

Quarter scores, with Charlevoix leading, were 22-6; 44-25; 56-46; and 79-46.

High point man for Charlevoix was Bill Carey with 36 on 16 fieldgoals and 4 freethrows.

Also scoring were Jerry Pease, 15 (5 and 3); Larry Potter, 11 (5 and 1); Tim Carey, 9 (4 and 1); Ned Henley, 6 (3 fieldgoals); and Dale Boss and Dennis Crain, 1 each (freethrows).

Scoring for Boyne City were Duff, 27; Kowalski, 11; Stanek, 8; Korthase, 7; Spencer and Newville, 4 each; Urman and Poinneau, 2 each; and Moody, 1.

Quarter scores were 22-12; 36-27; 44-36; and 79-46, with the young Rayders leading all the way.

High point men for Charlevoix were Jerry Skippergosh, Clayton Jones and Randy Faust, with 16 points each. Skippergosh has 6 fieldgoals and 4 freethrows, Jones 7 fieldgoals and 2 freethrows and Faust 8 fieldgoals.

Also in the scoring column were Jim Potter, 8 points on 4 fieldgoals, and Steve McCollan, 4 points on 2 fieldgoals.

Scoring for Boyne were Brad Upton and Hardy, 12 each; Shay, 8; Elzinga, 6; Beyer, 4; Wilson, 3; and Scott Upton and Lehto, 2 each.

Real Estate Course Offered at NCMEC

The University of Michigan-Real Estate Program is offering "Real Estate Business I" here this winter.

The course is designed to meet the needs of the novice in real estate and provides basic knowledge required by the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulation to qualify as a real estate salesman.

It is one of the required courses in the U-M's state-wide program leading to a Certificate in Real Estate.

Class sessions will meet each Monday, beginning Feb. 21, for 11 weeks from 7 until 10 p.m. in Room 71, Classroom Building, North Central Michigan College.

Students may register at the classroom just prior to the first class session. Registration and payment of the $70.00 fee must be completed by the end of the week in which the second class session is held.

The Honorable W. Richard Smith, District Court Judge, Petoskey, will be the instructor. Judge Smith is a member of the Emmet-Charlevoix and Michigan State Bar Associations.

The Real Estate Program leading to a Certificate in Real Estate is designed to meet the needs of those entering the real estate business as well as those who wish to add to their professional knowledge.

The Certificate in Real Estate is recognized by the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the Michigan Real Estate Association as meeting the requirement to enter the Graduate Realtors Institute (G.R.I.), designation, providing other requirements are met.

For further information and brochures listing all courses offered in the state-wide program this term, contact the Real Estate Program, The University of Michigan-Extension Service, 412 Maynard

Novice Debaters 2nd in T.C. Meet

Novice debaters from Charlevoix High School journeyed to Traverse City Saturday, Jan. 29, to participate in the Tip of the Mitt Novice Tournament.

The tournament was developed three years ago in order to give novice debaters an opportunity to debate. Participation in the tournament is not always great because many schools in the league do not have novice teams.

Results were Traverse City first place with three complete units, 88 percent; Charlevoix second with 14 units, 68 percent; Glen Lakes with one unit, 25 percent; and Petoskey 2 units, 21 percent.

The results of the tournament indicate that Charlevoix will have a strong varsity squad next year, since the majority of novice debaters were underclassmen.

Council Sells Coffee Mugs To Raise $5

The Student Council is selling coffee mugs as a money making project. The mugs are 8 1/2 inches tall and have a Rayder emblem of them. They sell for $4 each.

It is hoped that the mug sale will raise the council's treasury to what it was at the beginning of the year, plus provide an extra $50 to contribute to the Tom Dooley hospital ship. The mugs are being sold during study hall periods and during the lunch breaks at school. They are also sold during home basketball games.

So far the sale is going fairly well, however community support would be appreciated.

Freshmen Lose to Petoskey

The Charlevoix Freshmen basketball team, dropped its game to Petoskey by the score of 56 to 50 last Monday night.

The game was a close one all the way, with the first quarter ending at 15 all tie. Petoskey held the advantage in the second quarter, holding a 33-25 lead at the half.

The Rayders pulled to within three in third quarter (44-41), but Petoskey outscored the Rayders in the final quarter, winning the game by the narrow margin.

The leading scorers for the Rayders were Dave Martinek with 14 points, Chuck Kermer and Dan Green with 6, Tom Moore and Gene Drost with 5, and Kevin Martin with 4 points.

The Rayders now have only two games remaining to be played, with their next one scheduled Thursday against Grayling.

Students Attend Festival

Musicians from Charlevoix High School traveled to Rogers City on Saturday, Feb. 5, to participate in the District Solo and Ensemble Festival.

A total of 22 ensembles were entered. These musicians doing solos were Debbie Hank, clarinet; Sara Sweet-alto saxophone; Sara Sweet-alto French horn; Laura Staublin-flute; Sue Pettiford; Jeanne Betty-piano; and Kit Lieberman-trumpet and piano.

Ralph Hess has announced plans to construct a condominium on the location, with construction starting in June.

Dr. Clelland would like to spend several weeks this spring at the site before the builders move in to recover as many relics of those by-gone days as possible.

Archeologist Must Work Fast to Save Charlevoix Artifacts

Dr. Charles Clelland of Michigan State University has a problem which touches all of us in the city of Charlevoix.

As an archeologist, Dr. Clelland has spent many years probing into man's prehistoric past, sifting the ruins of ancient villages and trying to discover how life was lived in the American wilderness centuries before the arrival of the white man.

One of the richest archeological digs he has found is located at the foot of W. Dixon-ave. on the site of the former Holiday Beach Hotel.

Dr. Clelland and his workers from MSU spent several days at the site last summer and uncovered a wealth of pottery shards and flint tools used by Woodland Indians who inhabited the area 1,000 years ago.

They also found remnants of a civilization which apparently flourished in the area about 3,000 years ago — 1,000 years before Christ.

Dr. Clelland has planned to make a thorough study of the site, possibly spanning several years, but suddenly time is of the essence.

Ralph Hess has announced plans to construct a condominium on the location, with construction starting in June.

The Safety Valve

QUESTION: We just moved to Michigan and aren't familiar with the flashing red arrow on a traffic signal. Would you please explain? R.T.S., Monroe

ANSWER: It simply means that after making a complete stop you may proceed in the direction indicated by the arrow after you have yielded the right-of-way to other pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

You are wise to check the intention of various signals when traveling in strange or new locations. Even though nationwide uniformity of intent is being sought, there are still area variances with which to contend.

QUESTION: I've lost the front license plate for my car and keep getting tickets for having only one plate. Do I have to get a whole new set or can I replace just the single plate? T.L.K., St. Joe ANSWER: Just take the one remaining plate you do have to a Department of State branch office and for a fee of $2 they will issue you a new license, car registration, and proof of insurance with you.

Clockwise

What's in a Name?

By BOB CLOCK
"Liberty! How does that strike you? I had a great uncle named Liberty and I never heard anything bad about him."

"Liberty Clock!" Judy snorts. "I've heard of Liberty Bell but never Liberty Clock! It sounds like an historical landmark."

"There's nothing wrong with Liberty," I counter defensively, "except that he disappeared when he was a young man and everyone assumed that he was killed in an accident at a logging camp."

It is two a.m. at the Clock residence and our eternal discussion on what to call the baby is off and running. In fact it has been the chief topic of discussion for well onto nine months.

Baby names creep into the breakfast table discussion; they crop up unexpectedly at lunch and supper, the name of every TV star and starlet is thoroughly hashed over during commercials and station breaks; and sometimes one of us will wake up at two a.m. with a jim-dandy of a name to throw into the hopper.

If the little Clock is a girl, there is no problem. We agreed back last summer that we have used three of the four best girls name going. Kathleen, Jennifer and Allison. Our next favorite is Amy — Amy Elizabeth — and if our next little one is a girl, that's the name she will be stuck with for life.

However, boys are different. We've never named a boy and it's all new territory. Oh, we've had boys' names picked out before, but we never got to use them. And somehow we never picked the same boy's name twice.

What sounded ideal in 1964 had lost some of its glamor by 1966. And our favorite boy's name in 1966 had been run into the ground by 1969. And the name we preferred in 1969 somehow doesn't fill the bill in 1972.

But this time we can't come up with a name that both Judy and I like. I'm holding out for Daniel. Judy wants either David or Robert. Now David isn't bad, but I see all kinds of confusion if we have a kid named Robert living under the same roof.

"But we don't have to call him Bob," Judy explains patiently. "He can be Rob or Robin or something like that. Furthermore, your first name isn't Robert. It's John, so what difference does it make?"

"But I don't go by John. I go by Bob, and Bob and Rob sound too much alike. It makes more sense to call him Dan or Danny, derived from the Good Old Biblical name Daniel."

Thereupon I break into the first verse of the Good Old Gospel hymn "Dare to be a Daniel" and Judy turns the volume up on the TV set. She's just mad because she can't sing.

In an effort to be helpful, Judy's mom suggested us with a book entitled "Four Thousand Names for Your Baby," which we have thumbed through until it is dog-eared. The dog also has chewed off one corner, but that's beside the point. We also have checked least two other books on baby's names out of the Charlevoix Library, but none of them has served to break the impasse.

"Here's a good one," I'll say, reading down a list of names. "Sedgewick. It's an Old English name denoting that the bearer comes from the village of victory. Sedgewick Clock. Has sort of a nice ring to it, doesn't it?"

Silence.
"Or how about Gaiwin? Teutonic meaning Battle Hawk."

Silence.
"Now here's a good one. Thatcher. Thatcher Clock. Has a nice Down East flavor, doesn't it? It means a member of the nobility. Maybe he'll be able to help me patch the roof next summer."

Silence. Not even a snicker.
The way things are going, I'm going to consider myself lucky if the next one turns out to be a girl. For one thing, girls are easier to name and they don't get the old man's alter ego in an uproar.

Viewpoint! Backs Friske On Bunche And King

Jan. 26, 1972
Charlevoix
Dear Editor:

One notes with considerable alarm the tendency to make positive judgments without intensive studies of the facts. Regarding a recent Courier editorial denouncing Rep. Richard Friske for his stand for truth about Ralph Bunche's and Martin Luther King's "peace" efforts.

As early as 1954, Archibald Roosevelt, son of FDR, condemned the presentation of a medal to Dr. Bunche for his efforts in international affairs. Archibald issued a protest to the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Association—a 49-page treatise discussing Bunche's association with Communist activities.

Later, Chealy Manly, the Chicago Tribune's UN correspondent, wrote of the "white-wash" job done by government trouble-shooters to cover up evidence provided by two black men, Manning Johnson and Leonard Patterson naming Bunche as Communist. It was said the government acted to avoid alienating Negro voters.

Regarding Martin Luther King, the Congressional Record of Oct. 4, 1967, exposed King (by way of an address by Rep. John Ashbrooke, Ohio Republican) as a contributor to violence and left no doubt as to King's qualifications for a Nobel Peace Prize. They were nil!

From these two incidents it is evident that the committees that hand out both Nobel and Theodore Roosevelt awards had better be examined for Communist bias before the public accepts either as reliable donors.

So, difficult as it may be for Friske-haters to swallow, he was right in refusing to agree to a resolution praising these two traitorous Un-American Americans. The voters of the 106th District need feel no humiliation. It is the body politic of representatives and senators who should feel embarrassment for the resolution which they presented. Unless of course they approve the Communist approach to a new deal for constitutional government American style.

Yours truly,
One Plain Patriot

The Braves' Levi Walker Is for Real

Jan. 24, 1972
Mr. Bob Clark, Editor, The Charlevoix Courier, Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Mr. Clark:

A recent issue of the Los Angeles Times carried a UP story about a suit brought against the Cleveland Indians baseball team by Russell C. Means, Cleveland American Indian Center director, for their use of the "Chief Wahoo" caricature as their club symbol.

Mr. Means was quoted as saying—among other things—that "The Atlanta Braves gave a leprechaun a suit brought against the Cleveland Indians baseball team by Russell C. Means, Cleveland American Indian Center director, for their use of the 'Chief Wahoo' caricature as their club symbol."

We thought you'd be interested if you hadn't seen this, since about a year ago the Courier printed an interview with Levi Walker, who is "Chief Nokahoma" of the Braves, when he was home for the funeral of his father, Levi Walker, sr. According to the story, the "Chief" was Mr. Walker's own idea and it took him two years to sell the Braves on it.

Maybe you could check back on this and use it in some way—maybe chide Mr. Means for slandering the Braves? We enjoy your Courier column comparing it quite favorably to our own Jack Smith in the Los Angeles Times, whose column is now syndicated to other papers, I believe.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. M.F. Olmstead (Anne Higman Olmstead to Charlevoixians)

3309 Fairmount Avenue, La Crescenta, Calif. 91214
(Editor's Note: Levi Walker, Jr., is, indeed, a bonafide American Indian, with both Chippewa and Ottawa blood. As a public relations man for the Braves, Walker, does the honorarium dance at Atlanta Stadium. During the off-season, he travels about the country promoting his favorite team. He also works with Indian groups throughout the South, helping them raise their standard of living while retaining the distinctive features of the Indian culture.)

Enlist Now, Serve Later, Guard Says

The United States Coast Guard Recruiting Office in Saginaw has announced the establishment of a new enlistment program whereby young men may enlist in the Coast Guard and delay their commitment of active duty up to six months.

This program is intended for, but not limited to, high school seniors who are within six months of graduation.

Monthly pay for a Coast Guard Recruit serving on active duty is $288 plus $106 if married. In addition, the Coast Guard furnishes food, lodging, medical and dental care, initial uniforms, 30 days annual leave, and other benefits.

Obituary

Potter

Funeral for William Potter, 57, was held at the Winchester Funeral Home Saturday, the Rev. Albert F. Manson officiating. Burial was in Barnard Cemetery.

Mr. Potter died Feb. 3 at Charlevoix Hospital where he had been a patient two days. He was born in Charlevoix July 15, 1914, and was a life-long resident of the area.

At the time of his death, he operated his own real estate brokerage in the city.

Potter

Funeral for Mrs. Hiram (Hattie) Potter, 82, was held at the Winchester Funeral Home Monday, the Rev. Elmer Faust officiating. Burial was in Barnard Cemetery.

Mrs. Potter died Feb. 5 at her home in Marion Township.

The former Hattie Zitzema was born in Muskegon May 30, 1889, and moved to Charlevoix County as a child. She was married to Hiram Potter in 1912 and they made their home in Marion Township. He died in 1966.

Hunt

Funeral for Mrs. Maurice E. Hunt was held Feb. 2 at the Hovey Funeral Home in Sault Ste. Marie, with interment at the Riverside Cemetery in the Soo.

Mrs. Hunt, who has lived in the Hillcrest Apartments in Charlevoix for the past three years, died Jan. 30 in the Community Hospital at Naples, Fla., where she was spending the winter. She had been ill three months.

The former Ruth Ann Bartlett was born Aug. 14, 1903, in Marion, Ind., and lived in the Soo most of her life. She was married to Maurice E. Hunt, a former mayor of the Soo, 48 years ago.

Surviving are her widower, son, Robert, of Lake Bluff, Ill.; two daughters, Mrs. Carl (Joan) Nilsson of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. John (Priscilla) Fowler of San Clemente, Calif.; nine grandchildren; two brothers, Paul Bartlett of Mexico City, Mexico, and Robert Bartlett of Plymouth, Mass.; and a sister, Mrs. Earl Bates of Delray Beach, Fla.

Glibic

Funeral for Bliz (Robert) Glibic, 81, was held Jan. 31 at the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Elmer Faust officiating. Burial was in Norwood Cemetery.

Mr. Glibic died Jan. 28 at Charlevoix Hospital where he had been a patient eight days.

Born in Yugoslavia Feb. 6, 1890, Mr. Glibic came to the United States as a young man. He moved to Charlevoix area in 1920, settling in Hayes Township. He returned to Chicago to live on several occasions but returned to Charlevoix for good in 1965. In recent years he resided at the James Peres home in Norwood Township.

Mr. Glibic has no known survivors.

Planners Nix Acquisition Of Barn Mt.

William Mercer, director of the County Planning Department, reports that the Planning Commission has decided it is not feasible for the county to purchase Barn Mountain for recreational purposes.

After sounding out resort operators and others, the commission decided the parcel of land might better be developed by private enterprise or by a non-profit group.

mistaken notion that a broadening of the tax base through land development and industry will ease the tax burden for other property owners.

"Actually just the opposite is true," he said, pointing to the need for new roads, sanitary facilities and other services.

Dr. Tanton said four factors have been at work in creating northern Michigan's current land boom:

—Increasing revulsion toward city living.

—The population explosion, and —The increasing availability of money to facilitate moves from the city to the country.

He said the situation probably will get worse before it gets better, if disposable income doubles in 15 years as the experts predict.

Dr. Tanton said that in past years, sparsely populated areas have tried to entice more jobs and industry as a means of economic growth. This is no longer necessary, he said.

2 Grants Approved By DNR

Approval by the Department of Natural Resources of recreation grants for Boyne City and East Jordan has been announced by state Sen. Robert W. Davis.

Boyne City has been awarded $5,000 for the construction of a shelter house in Veterans Memorial Park.

East Jordan has been awarded $9,000 for the construction of tennis courts.

Sen. Davis said the two projects now will be submitted to the Legislature for acceptance, generally little more than a formality.

He said the funds should be forthcoming in the very near future.

Twp. Board Delays Meet

The February meeting of the Charlevoix Township Board has been postponed until Monday, March 6, according to Treasurer Rose Bergmann.

The March meeting will be Monday, March 13.

The board normally meets the second Monday of every month.

Ruppe Holds Office Hours In Charlevoix

Cong. Philip Ruppe, scheduled to conduct office hours at the Charlevoix County Building Tuesday, Feb. 8, from 4 until 5:30 p.m. Citizens were invited to meet with him privately to discuss problems relating to the federal government and federal legislation.

Campus Life Leader Tells Of Activities

James Lafon, area director of Campus Life, discussed the program works with young people at a recent meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club.

Lafon said his group provides high school assemblies and sponsors clubs, singers, camps, conventions, counseling, seminars, leadership and special Saturday night programs.

He said Campus Life is sponsored by Youth for Christ and has operated in Michigan since 1944.

The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 14, at the hospital.

Primary Election Next Monday

Contests for Mayor's Office, 1st and 2nd Ward Aldermen

Charlevoix voters will ballot in the city primary Monday, Feb. 21, for mayor, aldermen, city clerk and treasurer.

Except for the Second Ward, all of the winners probably will be swept into office in the April general election, barring write-ins and stickers.

In the Second Ward, Democrat Howard Horton faces Republican Robert Timms in the alderman's race. That contest will not be decided until April.

Priest Property Rezoned

The City Council Monday night changed the zoning of Mrs. George Priest's property at 201 Clinton-st. from residential to office and professional, paving the way for the purchase of the land by the First State Bank.

Although bank officials have no immediate plans for the property, they hope in time to remove the house and pave the lot as a parking area for bank employees.

The only persons objecting to the zoning change were Mrs. Mildred Ochs and Donald Brown who live across Clinton-st. from the proposed parking lot.

Mrs. Ochs said the city would lose some of its tax base if the house is removed.

However, she said if the bank parking lot is expanded, she does not want another entrance from Clinton-st. She said a second driveway would only be hazardous to pedestrians, particularly children.

As a means of protest, Brown asked that the council rezone his residential property at 208 Clinton-st. to commercial-1.

Mayor Andrew Essenburg told him he would have to work through proper channels.

"I would object to that, too," Mrs. Ochs told Brown.

At earlier meetings on the zoning change, bank officials said Mrs. Priest had offered to sell her home to the bank.

In other business, the council:

—Heard a suggestion by John Haggard that the city find some other place to dump snow besides the foot of Antrim and Clinton-ets, and the city dock area. He said piles of decaying snow filled with sand and gravel give an unsightly appearance to the Round Lake waterfront. Alderman Sam Supernaw agreed, pointing out that the meeting snow runs into Round Lake and may be creating a pollution problem. The council asked City Superintendent Thomas G. Hanna to investigate the problem and see if another site could be found to dump snow.

—Heard a complaint by Don Brown that parking on the north side of Antrim-st. next to the County Building constitutes a traffic problem. He said drivers approaching the intersection on State-st. from the north and unable to see east-bound Antrim-st. traffic until they are well into the intersection. The problem was referred to Police Chief Jack Mol for a recommendation.

—Heard a report by Tom

Boosters, Seniors Give Views on Concessions

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, heard from representatives of the Senior class and the Sports Boosters regarding concessions at basketball games.

A proposed policy outlining the use of school facilities by organizations in the community was read. It stated that any such group must present its request in writing prior to the activity for study by the administration to determine if there was a conflict with student activities. The policy went on to state that student activities have priority over any community or outside organization.

Both the seniors and the Sports Boosters aired their views before a vote was taken on the proposed motion regarding the policy.

Following the discussion a motion to table the matter was approved by a 4-2 vote and a representative group was named to meet in an effort to resolve the problem. Ralph Dean, president, Mrs. Richard Donaldson and Mrs. Arnold Loper represented the Sports Boosters and Dan Tollas, president of the senior class, William Murray and Nelson Green, class advisors, were to meet and then confer with Vane H. Smith, high school principal, before Friday's game.

Charles Elzinga was named to represent the board at the budget meeting of the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District scheduled for Feb. 28.

The board voted to post for consideration the positions of Varsity track coach and girls' track coach. For the present no assistant coach will be engaged.

Approval was given to the recommendation to raise the pay for members of the custodial staff to $2.50 per hour, effective Feb. 28. The board approved the pay raise for seven of the eight members with that of the eighth to be withheld until the business manager, Harold Kaufman, could be present.

Topics to be discussed at future meetings include staffing for next year, the 1972-73 budget, teacher tenure, negotiations and administrative contracts.

Dates of future meetings are Feb. 28 and March 13.

FISH Group Names Steering Committee

Members of a FISH steering committee from Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan have been named, according to Rev. Duane Imig, coordinator.

FISH is an organization of volunteers who help others in times of need. A telephone call is all that is necessary.

On the committee from Charlevoix are Betty Lovell, Lucy Martin, Bill Miller and Rev. Imig; Boyne City, Jean Donner, Jack Hale and Rev. Bruce Pierce; East Jordan, Bernice McWaters.

The organization hopes to go into operation March 1.

During the past week attempts have been made to contact all volunteers regarding their availability for 24-hour telephone duty. The phone with a simple answering device will be located at the home of Mrs. Donner and the number is 582-9779.

The answering device will give out the numbers of the 24-hour duty person. The caller will then contact the duty person and state his problem.

Co. Democrats Meet Feb. 17

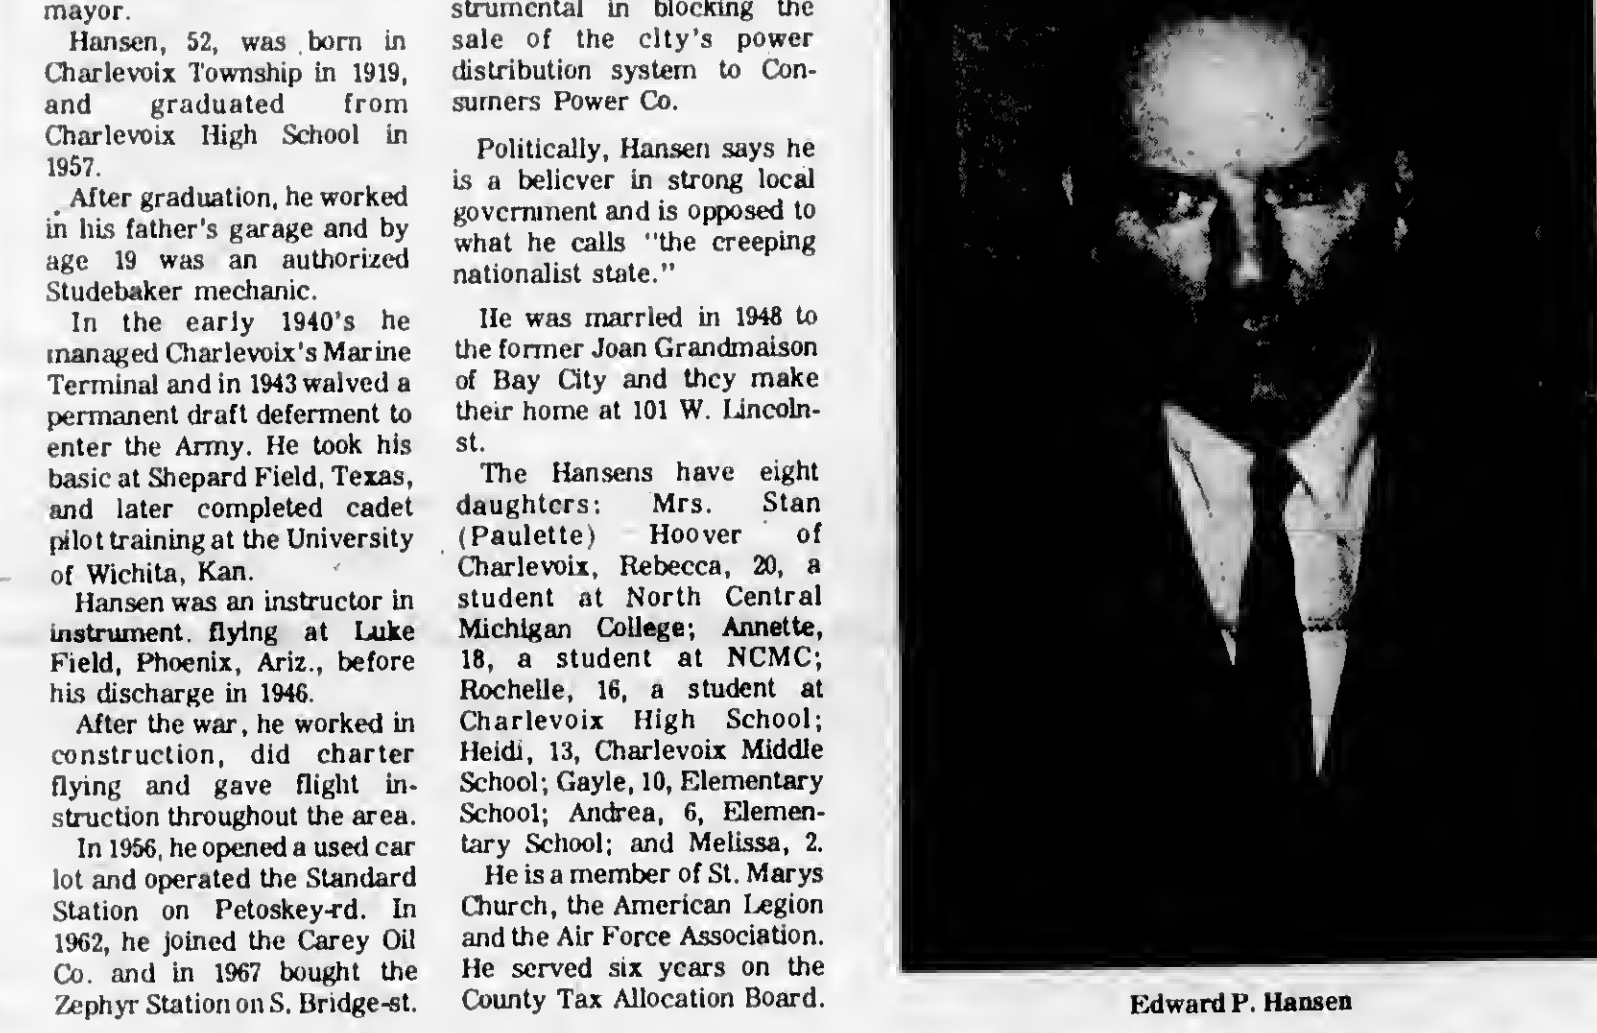

A meeting of the Charlevoix County Democratic Committee has been called for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 17, at the city hall in Charlevoix according to Clement J. Wagner, county chairman.

A number of important issues will be discussed. All Democrats are urged to attend. A special invitation has been extended to young voters who will be going to the polls for the first time this year.

THERE WAS a time when ice taken from Lake Charlevoix and Round Lake was pure enough to chill martinis and cool fish. Mrs. William Donahoe of Holly recently came across ice-cutting pictures taken in Charlevoix and forwarded them to the Courier. She says the pictures were taken by a

COUNCIL MINUTES January 31, 1972 6:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Esenburg presiding. Aldermen present: Sundberg, Supernaw, Westebrook, Boss, Gill, and Klooster. Absent: None.

The minutes of the January 17, 1972 meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $184,759.31 find them correct and recommend they be allowed. Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Sundberg that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas: Alderman Sundberg, Supernaw, Westebrook, Boss, Gill, and Klooster. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion made by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Sundberg that the decision on the Priest property rezoning be postponed until the next regular Council meeting pending an opinion from the City Attorney, Robert Hoffman in regard to the development of oil-street parking in both Residential II and Restricted Office District 1 zoned areas. Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas: Alderman Sundberg, Supernaw, Westebrook, Boss, Gill, and Klooster. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Chamber of Commerce presented three points, for which they asked the City's co-operation for the Venetian Festival to be held July 22nd and the 23rd of 1972. 1. That no docking be allowed in the harbor slips from Clinton Street to Antrim Street between the hours of 9:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. 2. That the Venetian Street Parade again be allowed on Bridge Street. 3. That the area off Clinton Street, now the Sundew parking area, be used for Carnival space.

A request was presented by letter from Thomas Duke for property within the Industrial Park Area. No action was taken pending more detailed information regarding his anticipated use of this property.

The Mayor's appointment of Robert J. Cook to the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission to fill the unexpired term of Hal Hill was accepted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas: Alderman Sundberg, Supernaw, Westebrook, Boss, Gill, and Klooster. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Council was informed that the City of Laurel, Nebraska was interested in purchasing the Fairbanks-Morse O.P. Engine. Alderman Westebrook questioned whether this unit might not have some value for the City on a standby basis. He requested that, in order to clarify the City's position regarding this unit, that Council records be researched to determine what previous action had been taken.

Motion was made by Alderman Supernaw and supported by Alderman Sundberg authorizing the payment of $97,000 from the Public Improvement Fund to the Electric Fund for loans made on October 25 and November 22, 1971. Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas: Alderman Sundberg, Supernaw, Westebrook, Boss, Gill, and Klooster. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The following Resolution was offered by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Westebrook.

A resolution authorizing the City Administrator, Thomas G. Hanna, discretion to invest State and Federal Monies received for the Waste Water Treatment Plant with the best investor and at the best interest rate.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas: Alderman Sundberg, Supernaw, Westebrook, Boss, Gill, and Klooster. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Ralph Hess appeared to request a waiver of the front yard setback for his proposed Condominium project. The Council requested that drawings and elevations for the proposed structure be submitted. On Motion the Council adjourned.

VOTE FEBRUARY 21st CHARLEVOIX CITY HALL

Charlevoix Courier, Wednesday, February 16, 1972 Page 11

Candidates Hoping For Big Turnout

Charlevoixans will go to the polls Monday, Feb. 21, to elect a new mayor, three alderman, a city clerk and a city treasurer.

Although local elections seldom generate much interest beyond the corporate limits of community involved, the outcome often has a greater impact on the lives of the electorate than state and national contests.

All of the candidates hope for a big turnout at the polls Monday as evidence that Charlevoixans care about their city government.

The city is fortunate in having an excellent slate of candidates for all offices and close races seem to be in the cards.

Alderman Nathan Boss and former Alderman Edward Hansen are vying for the mayor's chair.

In the First Ward, incumbent Alderman Sam Supernaw faces Ralph McKee, a newcomer to politics.

In the Second Ward, a Democrat - Howard Horton - has filed for alderman. He will oppose Republican Robert Timms. That contest won't be decided until the general election in April.

In the Third Ward, Alderman Conrad Klosser is unopposed, as are City Clerk Ida Heise and City Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham.

Put a big check mark by Monday, Feb. 21, on your calendar. That will be your day to determine who represents you in City Hall.

Reader Takes Issue With Archeologist

January 25, 1972
Dr. Charles E. Cleland
Michigan State University
East Lansing, Michigan 48823

Dear Sir:

You have been releasing many news items about your "Anthropologist Discoveries" in Charlevoix County, Michigan: task-force chosen site for the Woodland Indian National Memorial. This, my only letter to you, (you say you have received some hate mail), is made public because I believe you are blowing up these "discoveries" into a full-blown controversy. After all, what can the Interior Dept. answer when asked why Federal lands are not used instead of taking our private and state lands from us? You admit the "discoveries" are the main reason for the site choice.

You scarcely "discovered" the Norwood chert deposit. A 1939 Mich. Dept. of Conservation book tells of the deposit and encourages people to "take a side trip through Norwood and go about a mile north to find attractive-colored and banded chert along the lake shore." You call this "protected" state lands, but say the "quarry" has been vandalized. Then the state has been encouraging it for years with their various maps, charts and books. What is your definition of "protected"? (The Interior Dept. also uses this word to describe "public lands.")

The Congressional Record, as well as many periodicals, point to more destruction than protection by the Interior Dept. You imply the state lands within the affected area should be utilized with question for this park. I realize that people's rights to property and self-determination have been, to say the least, diminishing, but must we be persuaded that this condition is right? You say "The digging revealed Indians from a wide area came to the out-cropping near Norwood to gather the scrap metal and weapons used in Michigan." A retired geology teacher tells me the Saginaw Bay region was a great source of chert and that real flint was carried up from Ohio. The D. of C. book says chert and flint are in limestone regions and found at Manistique, Trout Lake, Huron and Arenac counties and the dolomites of the Northern Peninsula. My Britannica says chert is primarily in the Lake Superior region. Friends tell me that the collections of weapons are not always of the light colored chert, but often of the darker grays of real flint, which certainly did not come from Norwood.

You speak of the "lessons" we can learn from the people who lived without a pollution problem, but our present population, as well as many other factors make using these lessons a little impractical.

You seem to imply that natural resources should not be privately owned. Really, should the means of production, of which natural resources is the primary factor, be state owned or should they be owned by the "proletariat" as they say in Russia?

You say the task-force that "chose the site gave equal weight to the recreational potential and virtually unspoiled conditions of the forest land and shore line." Now, we would like to keep it unspoiled and anyone in their right mind who cares for our wildlife and wilderness could not support the memorial's industrial, commercial and residential, as well as recreational development.

Many of us are asking the Interior Dept. for a local, open hearing so the people can know, for instance, that the Dept. is planning "Cultural Parks" for every organized aggregate of persons with a group consciousness which will hardly leave space for a memorial to remind us of private ownership.

We don't know what "justifications" for this memorial any more than we like the "planners" who worm their way into local governments with their high and mighty promises of public money to underwrite our private ownership and control. It's not Minna from Heaven and our taxes prove it. We believe an open hearing can lead to a full-fledged investigation of the Interior Dept. which would line up the doctrine on the side of private ownership. The choice is going to have to be made soon.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Rosalie Ostinger

ANSWER: This editor is soliciting answers from folks who know. If there isn't a standard one, maybe our readers can lead the way in establishing one.

QUESTION: My dad says just because the traffic light is green my way it doesn't always give me automatic right of way. He's wrong, isn't he? S.L., Uby

ANSWER: Pop wins this one. For instance, when a light has turned green your way, you must still yield to traffic and pedestrians legally in the intersection you intend to enter.

QUESTION: Last week when I got a ticket for going through a stop sign my conviction brought my driving record to nine points. The judge told me part of my penalty was I had to go to some safety classes for a few weeks. Can he do that? R.D.D., Clio

ANSWER: The judge must have thought you needed to be brought up to date on driving law so you could avoid more points and subsequent suspension.

He has this option to assign you to these classes-if your county has one-in lieu of stiffer penalties. Some people attend voluntarily just to learn new skills and get updated on vehicle law. Lucky you. Judge must consider you salvageable.

Michigan Once Looked To City for Guidance

Feb. 2, 1972

Dear Editor:
It was my privilege to serve on the Charlevoix City Council from 1957 to 1963 under Mayor James Hiller, and under Mayor E.D. "Pat" Hawley. During that time the elected officials took the responsibility given them by the voters, studied the problems made decisions and acted on the decisions.

My main project was to have the city purchase electrical power in order to meet the ever-growing needs of our community. We spent hundreds of hours on study and communication to see the project through to completion. By virtue of the savings obtained from purchasing power we were able to lower electrical rates by 25 percent, and lower taxes by 25 percent. Purchased power has meant over one million dollars savings to the people of Charlevoix in nine years.

Ten years ago Charlevoix was the leader of the area. Northwest Michigan officials looked to us for advice and guidance. Even the Michigan State Development officials visited Charlevoix to see how we were going to keep Freedman Aircraft from leaving Michigan. The State was looking in industry, Lansing officials were concerned. Arriving in Charlevoix they asked

I have read the letter written by Lt. Delbert Terrell, USAF, that appeared in the Jan. 26 issue of the Courier and would like to make one comment.

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK

I have a planter filled with rangy philodendrons next to my desk which may be insisting on overtime pay and rights-to-work before too many years pass.

According to a New York polygraph expert, there is mounting evidence that plants are subject to emotional experiences, which are clearly evident when a plant is connected to lie-detector equipment. In other words, plants have minds of their own.

Cleve Backster, who runs his own School of Lie Detection in New York City, has discovered that plants display a surprising variety of reactions to different types of stimulation.

For example, Backster arranged for one of his students to "murder" a philodendron in his laboratory, by pulling it up by the roots and stripping off the leaves. The only witness was another philodendron plant.

Then he hooked up the surviving philodendron to a polygraph before his students arrived the next day.

"The machine registered no emotional changes in the plant as the five of the students entered the room," according to an article in a recent edition of the Detroit Free Press. "But in the presence of the murderer, the graph was a picture of intense agitation. The machine's finding was finally confirmed when the plant's killer admitted his guilt."

Backster also believes that plants are capable of a kind of extra-sensory perception and share an empathy with other living creatures, including tiny brine shrimp. He put the shrimp in one room and the philodendron in another. He even went so far as to enclose the plants in specially rigged cages so that no light, radio, x-rays, sound waves or vibrations could serve as a communication link between them and the shrimp.

Then he proceeded to murder the shrimp by dropping them into boiling water. The polygraph in the next room immediately began jumping up and down, indicating great distress. The same results were repeated on a number of occasions.

Backster has produced similar results in dealing with fresh vegetables and eggs.

"Polygraph electrodes are attached to three fresh vegetables. When one is dropped into boiling water, it reacts ever before it is touched—that is, the man on the polygraph jumps up sharply and then registers a straight line. The other vegetables continue to register an uninterrupted squiggle. Eggs similarly 'faint' when they are about to be picked up and get nervous when another egg is broken nearby," the article reports.

Backster claims plants experience pleasurable emotions after they are watered and eringe with fear when anyone comes near with a match.

Needless to say, ever-curious scientists are beginning to show an interest in Backster's experiments in communicating with plant life. The Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation in Winston-Salem, N.C., recently gave Backster $10,000 to continue his research.

Dr. Arliss H. Esser, psychiatrist at Rockland State Hospital in Orange, N.Y., laughed at first when he heard of Backster's experiments. So did Prof. E. Douglas Dean of Newark College of Engineering. However both men have since duplicated Backster's tests with philodendron and shrimp in their own laboratories and now believe the polygraph expert may be on to something important—a new dimension in a scientific twilight area.

Of course, if it is proven conclusively that plants register pain, fear and pleasure, life is going to be a lot easier for a lot of us.

The man who weeds his garden could be found guilty of herbicide. And the fellow who cuts his grass would be found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon.

As for the philodendrons in the Courier office, I have started treating them with a lot more respect since reading about Backster and his experiments. They are watered twice as often as before and I've even stopped swearing at my typewriter for fear of offending them.

I Wish I Knew

bag, sitting on a rotting dock, no matter what the weather.

His name is Cloud Frost Nickleweed. And that was all the article said. For several weeks I kept hoping there'd be a follow-up story. I was certain the Free Press editor would get letters from curious readers, wanting to know more about Nickleweed.

But there was nothing more.

For thousands of newspaper readers, it was as though Cloud Frost Nickleweed existed only that one murky morning in January, and then disappeared forever. And apparently no one cares.

How can anyone know only that much about Cloud Frost Nickleweed and not want to know more?

Right now I am looking at Nickleweed's photo. He has a full beard and hair long in back. His clothes are anonymous. He could be a bum who eats outside because he has no home. Or he could be an executive who has tired of martin lunches and undressed waitresses.

Nickleweed wasn't actually eating when the photographer snapped. His large bag is open beside him and he is absent-mindedly peeling an orange. He is staring straight out over the river. On his right, two large steamers are approaching. But he does not turn to look at them. He has seen ships before. Nickleweed is thinking.

Is he thinking about the family he doesn't have anymore? Is he thinking about the family he'll see that evening? Is he simply thinking the water is quiet and the cold rain doesn't sting too much? And even if it does sting, God sent it?

Some cynics might say Nickleweed is thinking that he wishes the stupid photographer would hurry up so he could get out of the rain and into a bar.

But I disagree, and I'm the biggest cynic on the block. My cynicism crumbles before men who live in the city and sit on the riverbank. I don't know why. It just seems they know something I should know.

I don't have time for picnics even in the summer, but Nickleweed goes on one every day. He goes alone and sits in the damp and looks at the river and doesn't see the belching boats. He doesn't see the fifth lapping at the shore. He doesn't see the slummy buildings and crowded parking lots behind him.

I don't know what he sees. I don't know how he ever got the name Cloud Frost Nickleweed.

I wish I did know.

What Did You Eat For Breakfast Today?

Eating breakfast—is it fast becoming a lost art?

If so, it's being chewed to death. Everybody has an opinion about it, says the National Geographic Society.

Home economists speculate that what's wrong with the world is that too many people launch their morning with little more than black coffee and diet toast.

Commuters, secretaries, housewives, even some factory workers may argue they don't need any more than that to fuel their day. And who has time for a big breakfast, mothers ask, when the kids are late for school and the car pool is early?

BREAFAST BONANZA
Husbands pointedly recollect for wives when a man was a man because his mother had always cooked him a "good breakfast."

It took a man to eat it. Novelist Thomas Wolfe described a North Carolina breakfast in "Look Homeward, Angel" as:

"...a smoking table loaded with brains and eggs, ham, hot biscuits, syrup, honey, golden butter, fried steak, scalding coffee. Or there were stacked batter-cakes, rum-colored molasses, fragrant brown sausages, a bowl of wet cherries, plums, fat juicy bacon, jam."

The great breakfast food controversy still lies soggyly unsettled in the Nation's cereal bowls—either full of "empty calories" or jam-packed with protein and riboflavin as well as snap and crackle.

But the feud is endless between North and South over grits.

This celebrated and castigated hot cereal is made of ground hominy—hard corn kernels boiled in weak lye solution, then hulled, washed, and dried. Anyone who doesn't like grits, an Alabamian might say, would probably eat baked beans and mince pie for breakfast.

CODFISH ON THE SIDE
Which is exactly what a New Englander thinks is ideal for starting the day, with maybe a few codfish cakes and green tomato relish on the side. Canadian bacon, Rhode Island johnnycakes, molasses doughnuts, and hasty pudding—all have ardent fans at Yankee breakfast tables.

Texans may brag of chuck wagon coffee, corn tannies, and steaks for triggering sure-fire get-up-and-go. Down on the farm, Midwesterners matter-of-factly get on the outside of stacks of flapjacks and fried potatoes, and mounds of country sausage.

In the Pacific Northwest, loggers swear there is nothing like a cookhouse breakfast to take a man's measure against stacks of flannelcakes, platters of fried eggs, and piles of steaks.

The laziest food-broast boasting is well matched by autocrats of the breakfast table suspiciously peering across the English Channel.

An Englishman judges hardly rib-sticking the French petit déjeuner of coffee mixed with warm milk and accompanied by what many consider the world's best breakfast bread, a croissant.

Frenchmen look askance at the empire-building British breakfast of bacon and eggs, a "nice bloater" or kippered herring, and perhaps a bowl of thick, gray oatmeal porridge, plus tea and cranberries.

Somerset Maugham, the British novelist who lived a well-fed life in France, once announced the best way to eat well in England was to take breakfast three times a day.

Second Ward

Howard Horton, 38, is Democratic candidate for Second Ward alderman.

A native of Toledo, Ohio, Horton spent most of his life in Alpena, graduating from Alpena High School in 1951. He attended Alpena Community College before entering the Army in 1952. He trained as a paratrooper at Ft. Bragg, N.C., receiving his discharge in 1955.

He worked as a chemist for the Huron Portland Cement Co. in Alpena and the Corduroy Rubber Co. in Grand Rapids before joining Medusa Portland Cement Co. in 1967. Horton and his wife, the former Rosemary Delaney whom he married in 1961, live at 311 W. Huron-st. They have three children, Mary, 3; Billy, 2; and Michael, 4.

Horton has been president of the Top-o-Michigan Labor Council (AFL-CIO) for three years. He also is a member of the board of directors of the Charlevoix Community Chest and belongs to the vestry of Christ Episcopal Church.

He is on the board of directors of The Friends of the Library and the Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children. In addition he is a member of the American Legion and is an area representative on the Northwest Michigan Economic Development District board.

Horton is the only Democrat running for office in the city election.

Robert Timmus, 37, a Charlevoix TV and appliance repairman, is Republican candidate for alderman in the Second Ward.

Born in Detroit, Timmus moved north to Petoskey with his family in 1946 and graduated from Petoskey High School in 1952.

He studied electronics repair at Western Michigan University for two years before entering the Army in 1954.

After his return from overseas duty in Germany in 1956, Timmus worked for Radio Electronic Supply Co. in Petoskey for five years.

In 1961, he joined Gill's Appliance Co. in Charlevoix and in 1963 he bought the business, selling to Eldon Potter in 1968.

Timmus now operates his own TV and appliance repair business.

He and his wife, the former Barbara Phelps whom he married in 1957, live at 314 W. Huron-st. They have three children, Robert, Jr., 14; Tammy, 12; and Marjorie, 11.

Third Ward

Conrad Klooster, 40, is running unopposed for Third Ward alderman.

A native of Charlevoix, Klooster graduated from Ellsworth High School in 1948 and served in the U.S. Navy from 1952 to 1956.

After discharge, he attended Texas A & I University for three years before returning to Michigan to join the family business, Conrad Klooster, Inc., implement and equipment dealers with outlets in Atwood and Cheboygan.

Klooster is now president and general manager of the corporation.

He was married in 1953 to the former Carolyn McCrummen. They have three children, Candace, 16; Conrad, 13; and Craig, 7.

In 1968, Klooster was appointed to the city council to fill the unexpired term of Alderman Jerome Whitley. He was elected to a full term on the council in 1970.

He is a director of the Northwestern State Bank and of the Michigan Farm and Equipment Power Association.

He is a member of the Community Reformed Church.

LaBlanc, representing the Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber has adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward a proposal by Trans Michigan Airlines that it begin trial service to Charlevoix this spring. LaBlanc commented that TMA has discontinued service to Pellston and Sault Ste. Marie. He said TMA officials were meeting in Grand Rapids Monday to discuss the Charlevoix situation, "but we're not as optimistic as we were."

Removed deed restrictions on Industrial Park property sold by the city to Willow Corp. which permitted the city to store sand and gravel on the site. The site is no longer needed for storage. Power line easements remain the same.

Designated Thomas Hanna as street commissioner, at the request of the state Highway Department.

Approved a limited Corps of Engineers easement on former Coast Guard property on Pine River Channel through December, 1973. The area will be used to store equipment and materials used in reconstruction of the channel seawall. The easement starts east of the fish hatchery and runs east. It will not affect lake trout fishing on the pierheads.

—Told Hanna to notify Charlevoix taxpayers that an increase of $5,939.64 in the city's assessed valuation probably will mean a decrease in tax millage this summer. He was also told to notify township officials that less millage probably will be needed to pay for fire and ambulance service, provided by Charlevoix.

—Heard a report on efforts to establish a low-cost housing project for Charlevoix for senior citizens. He said work is still in the preliminary stage and that site studies are being made.

—Heard a report by Hanna that Ralph Swan of the state Commerce Department will meet with interested citizens at the City Hall at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 24 in an effort to establish a "Keep Michigan Beautiful" chapter in Charlevoix. He said Charlevoix County is one of 16 counties in the state that still hasn't formed a chapter. He added that such organizations have been instrumental in bringing in "auto-shredders" to get rid of junked cars.

—Authorized Hanna as the city representative in efforts by the Coast Guard to construct a sewage pumping station at the CG station. The station also would serve some Chicago Club homes. Cost of the project is estimated at $40,000, of which the city would pay $2,000.

—Paid bills totaling $161,865.03.

District 13 Boundaries Are Changed

The County Board of Commissioners has approved a 18-parcel plan for county redistricting based on the 1970 Census.

The only major change is in Districts 13 and 14 in the City of Charlevoix. District 13 (North Side) formerly crossed Pine River Channel to incorporate a small section of the valley.

The new plan moves limits District 13 to the North Side, the same as the city's First Ward.

Guidance Testing Slated

The Charlevoix Middle School will administer National Education Development Tests on Feb. 18 and 17 to help professional educators, parents and students plan together for the educational and vocational future of the students.

Condit Drury, Middle School counselor, says that the NEDT program is "being used because it will give the school the type of information it needs to help the students make realistic decisions."

Edward Hansen Elected Mayor

Austin To Visit City

Charlevoix County Democrats set Wednesday, March 23, as the date for their next meeting following their recent meeting held at the city hall.

Plans for a breakfast honoring Secretary of State Richard Austin were announced. The event is scheduled to be held in Charlevoix on April 27 while Austin is on a tour of northern Michigan counties. His itinerary is being planned by Russel "Bob" Lee of Onaway.

Mrs. Jeanne McMahon of Leaning, secretary of the Emmet County Democratic committee, and William Slader of Pellston attended the meeting and spoke briefly on Emmet county activities.

Plans were made to register newcomers to the area as well as those reaching the age of majority.

Clement J. Wagner, county chairman, reported that he and Robert Wise, county Republican chairman, had earlier sent a joint communication to Lansing objecting to one of the proposed plans for re-apportionment of the 100th district that divide Charlevoix County.

Mrs. McMahon, who is chairman of a "Salt of the Earth" dinner honoring Austin at Petoskey April 26 extended an invitation to Charlevoix County Democrats to attend.

Some things can't happen, but they do.

Mrs. Henry (Elvira) Supernaw, mother of Bill Supernaw, president of the Charlevoix Lion Club, was winner of the snowmobile in the club's annual Family Winter Outing at Ferry Beach afternoons.

The snowmobile suit, donated by Paul Reed, was won by Robert Hoffman; a snowmobile helmet, donated by Fichtman Motors, was won by Chip Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Wood; snowmobile boots were won by Bob VanderBroek of Ulica and snowmobile oil was won by Vic Burdick of Saginaw.

Medusa Weighing New Name for Firm

Robert W. Fort, president and chief executive officer of Medusa announced today that the shareholders will be asked at the annual meeting in March to change the company name to Medusa Corporation.

Fort said that cement operations will be conducted under the name of Medusa Cement Company, Division of Medusa Corporation.

James E. Poole has been named president of this operating division. Poole joined Medusa in 1965 as vice president of marketing, was elected a director of the company in 1967, and named executive vice president in charge of the cement division in 1970.

Poole was also elected a corporate vice president, as were Robert F. Kizer and Melvin E. Reid, both of whom are currently presidents of construction aggregates subsidiaries of medusa.

The company also announced financial results for the year ending Dec. 31, 1976. Total revenues were $105,460,000 vs. $72,857,000 in 1975. Net earnings were $5,624,000 vs. $3,166,000 in 1975. Earnings per common share were $2.39 vs. $1.53 in 1976.

Fort said net earnings were at an all time high in dollar amount, but due to issuance of shares for acquisitions in recent years, per share results are still 14 percent below the 1966 high. However, the per share results were the best since that year.

The Fourth Graders received a composite achievement score of 83 and the Seventh Graders a score of 79 on three different tests of a student's basic skills—reading, mechanics of written English and mathematics.

The tests also sought information relative to the student's socio-economic level with such questions as "Did your father finish high school?" and "How many bathrooms does your house and apartment have?" Results were averaged for the school district as a whole, on a scale of 0 to 100.

Charlevoix Fourth Graders pegged their socio-economic level at 78, while the Seventh Graders boosted theirs to 92. The Beaver Island School emerged as one of the top in the state, judging from the test results. The composite achievement score was 99 for Fourth Graders and 98 for Seventh Graders.

However, the B.I. Fourth Graders estimated their socio-economic level at 8, while the Beaver Island school was at 99.

Defeats Boss 501 to 333; Supernaw Wins

Mayor candidate Edward P. Hansen defeated Nathan Boss 501 to 333 in Charlevoix's primary election Monday.

The victory means that Hansen, 52, will go on the ballot as Republican candidate for mayor in the April 3 general election, which will be little more than a formality since the post is uncontested. Hansen will succeed Mayor Andrew Essenburg who did not run for re-election for health reasons.

However, Essenburg was jubilant over Hansen's nomination.

"I think the voters made an excellent choice," he said after the votes were counted. Hansen, who has been out of city politics for nine years, said he was "stunned" by the resounding victory. He served on the council from 1957 to 1963 and was once an unsuccessful candidate for mayor.

Boss, 37, has served on the council six years as Second Ward alderman.

The election also saw First Ward Alderman Sam Supernaw defeat Ralph McTee on the Republican ballot, 287 to 185.

McTee was appointed to the council last June by Mayor Essenburg to fill the unexpired term of Jack Mol.

In the Second Ward, Republican Robert Timms, 37, polled 230 votes for alderman, against 21 for his Democratic opponent, Howard Horton, 38.

Horton was the only Democrat on the ballot. Both men will face each other again in the general election.

In the Third Ward, incumbent Alderman Conrad Klooster, running unopposed, received 212 votes.

Also unopposed were City Clerk Ida Heise and City Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham, both of whom received 700 votes.

A total of 869 ballots were cast in the election out of a registered voting roster of 1,810—about 48 percent. The total includes 122 absentee votes.

Deputy Clerk Arletta Bergmann says the voter list includes the names of 130 young people between the ages of 18 and 21 who were eligible to vote for the first time in the city primary.

Hansen, owner of the Zephyr gasoline station on S. Bridge-st., defeated Boss in all three wards. The vote in the First Ward was 105 to 48; in the Second Ward 164 to 92; and the Third Ward 172 to 92.

Some 320 votes were cast in the First Ward (including 81 absentee); 233 in the Second Ward (27 absentee); and 266 in the Third Ward (33 absentee.)

Born in Charlevoix Township in 1919, Hansen graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1937 and served with the Army Air Corps during World War II. After his discharge in 1946 he taught flying, sold automobiles and worked for the Carey Oil Co. before buying the Zephyr station in 1967.

His wife, the former Joan Grandunation, whom he married in 1948, live at 101 Lincoln-st., making him the first mayor-elect to live outside of the First Ward since the tenure of Johnny Knight in the early 1950's.

The Hansens have eight daughters: Mrs. Stan (Paulette) Hoover of Charlevoix; Rebecca, 20; Annette, 18; Rochelle, 16; Heidi, 13; Gayle, 10; Andrea, 6; and Melissa, 2.

Rayders Face Onaway Tuesday in Tournament

Charlevoix will meet Onaway Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m. at Charlevoix High School in the first game of the Class "C" District 119 tournament.

The following night, Wednesday, March 1, Harbor Springs will meet Boyne City at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium for the second tournament game.

Winners of the two games will play Friday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m. with the District champs going on to Regionals at Grayling against the winner of the Pine River District tournament.

The pairings were announced at noon Monday at Charlevoix High School where the annual drawing was conducted.

Attending were Dale Burge, Charlevoix athletic director; Bud Neldhammer and Russ Harvey of Boyne City; Charles Paige of Harbor Springs and Don Holmes of Onaway.

Capsules with the team names were drawn by Miss

Michigan Bell has announced that telephone users in Charlevoix and 18 other northern Michigan communities in the Lower Peninsula will be able to dial their own long-distance calls beginning June 4.

That's the day for independent Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) which will put more than 130 million phones in the United States and Canada within reach of a dialer's finger-tips, according to local Bell Manager Kenneth Friskie said.

"The letter to the governor followed a meeting with three ministers from Boyne City who complained to Friskie and asked for his help to stop the showing of the picture, 'Threesome,' made in Denmark where all censorship has been abolished, which was recently shown at the Rev. Franklin Deater, pastor of the Assembly of God Church.

"I was at a loss to know how to counsel these gentlemen. There appears to be little that they can do or I can do in their behalf. But I share their concern. I see a very grave danger in the rapid decline of morals in this country, the effects of which may not be seen readily, but will become more visible as we allow them to continue," Rep. Friskie said.

"Everyone is concerned with the future of our country. Our governor and many citizens have expressed a grave concern about the environment. About the pollution of the air, water and our natural resources. But what about the pollution of the mind? I think this kind of pollution is just as dangerous to the future of this nation as any other kind of pollution," Friskie said.

"I think it is imperative that someone of responsibility look into this matter. We should find out what effect this kind of pollution is having on the young people, and particularly its young people.

Friskie Asks Milliken's Aid In War on Dirty Movies

State Rep. Richard Friskie (R-Charlevoix) has urged Gov. William Milliken to use the power of his office to investigate what Friskie termed "the filth and perversion being presented at movie theatres in Michigan."

"The letter to the governor followed a meeting with three ministers from Boyne City who complained to Friskie and asked for his help to stop the showing of the picture, 'Threesome,' made in Denmark where all censorship has been abolished, which was recently shown at the Rev. Kids Experiencing Life at Early Age Children of 13 years of age today are experiencing the same things that children of yesterday didn't become familiar with until they were 18. Mrs. Robert (Lillian) Bergmann told the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Bergmann, juvenile officer for the Boyne City Police Department, said youngsters are playing the roles of older adolescents or young adults because they are afraid of themselves.

Troubled youngsters frequently get into trouble because they have a great deal of free time on their hands, Mrs. Bergmann said. This, too often, is a result of their not having responsibilities such as chores, household duties or after-school jobs.

Many children end up in trouble because they are allowed to make their own decision regarding their actions. This happens when parents do not live up to their responsibilities, she said.

The juvenile officer feels that many children become desensitized by watching death and brutality on television. Therefore they accept brutality in life.

Troubled kids need a one-to-one relationship with someone who cares, Mrs. Bergmann said.

If parents cannot provide this relationship, then outside agencies must be utilized," she concluded.

SANDRA Jeanne Smith celebrated her seventh birthday Feb. 18. She is the daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Sidney Emery of Sunnyvale, Calif., and Ernest Smith of San Diego, Calif. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller and Mrs. Nellie Smith of Charlevoix.

Kappa Sigs Taste Wine

By BETH GENETT

Saturday evening, Feb. 12, 12 members of Kappa Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, and their husbands met at the home of Mrs. Dale McCandless for a "Wine Tasting Party". Co-hostess for the event was Mrs. Paul Stephan.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Miss Nina Lundegren who played the guitar and rendered a number of songs with Miss Janet Begrow. At the close of the evening each husband was presented a humorous Valentine.

Monday evening, Feb. 14, the regular sorority bi-monthly meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Richard Aull, who was assisted by Mrs. Vernon Mathews and Mrs. Walter Hufford. Members worked on decorations and center pieces to be used for their annual Style Show to be held at the Weatherlane on April 15.

The next meeting is scheduled for Feb. 28 at the home of Mrs. Gunnar Lundegren, assisted by Mrs. David Ball and Mrs. Fred Colrs. The lesson will be given on "Connoisseur" by Mrs. Rene Luthausen, who with her husband, owns and operates the Bay Chalet.

Library Notes

We are pleased to announce another very special display which is on exhibit in the Library for a limited time. A collection of miniature sculpture carved by the natives of Greenland was brought back to the states by Gerald Omer. Some wonderful snapshots accompany the display, including pictures of dog sleds, Eskimo children and a church altar made entirely of ice. The collection includes a large walrus tusk, examples of carved soap stone and coins native to Greenland.

New books in the Library which you will want to read and then recommend to your friends include a new novel by Anne Maybury, author of The Terracotta Palace. The scene of "Ride A White Dolphin" is Venice. While her husband is on a mysterious assignment, Leonie Thorburn, the heroine of the novel, finds herself the victim of several strange accidents and near-missings while staying in a magnificent Venetian palace. Adding to her horror is the realization that her husband has taken up with a glamorous opera star who was his mistress before their marriage. The story moves quickly and suspensefully to a dramatic climax and, as in other Maybury novels, the heroine is sympathetically drawn and the scene is so real that the reader becomes totally lost in the book.

The title of Robert Penn Warren's new book is "Meet Me In The Green Glen." The setting is a rural area of West Tennessee and the action takes place in the middle of this century. Warren's skill and strength as a storyteller have never been more evident than in this powerful new novel. It is a strange and complex story of love, betrayal, revenge and murder—the ingredients necessary for a can't-put-it-down novel. "Death of the Fox" is by

Plays Dramatize Lenten Season

By Mrs. Thomas Maxwell. Special Lenten services have been planned by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association, to be held each week at 7:30 p.m. throughout the Lenten season.

Services will be held at the various churches with a guest speaker, and a drama presented at each service, by the host church.

The first service was held Wednesday evening, Feb. 16, at the Congregational Church, with Rev. Tom Rasmussen, speaking. The drama "Salvation for Sale" was presented by the host church.

On Wednesday, Feb. 23, the service will be held at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church, with Rev. Bob Rutledge, speaking.

The drama "All Things New" will be presented, March 1, Assembly of God Church, Rev. John Long, speaker, the drama "The Whip".

March 8, Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. Hewitt Johnson, speaker; drama "From Here to There".

March 15 and 22 services with speaker and place, will be announced later.

March 31, Good Friday, services will be held at the Assembly of God Church, 1 to 3 p.m., with various ministers speaking on the "Seven Last Words of Christ on the Cross."

Special music will be furnished by each church. Everyone is welcome to attend all of these services.

Barnard

Family night will be held at the Barnard United Methodist Church Feb. 26 at 7:30.

Barnard Home Extension Club will meet Friday, Feb. 25, 1 p.m. with Mrs. Ray Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davis of Warren have spent several days in this area and they attended the funeral of her brother, William Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Potter and daughter of Sandusky were here the past week or the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Hiram Potter.

Sincere sympathy to the family of Mr. William Potter who passed away Feb. 3 and to the family of Mrs. Hiram Potter who passed away Feb. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Byard Stevens of Grand Rapids visited the past week with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens and sons.

Valentine Service For Senior Citizens

Senior Citizens are invited to a Valentine Workshop Service of the Church of the Nazarene, U.S. 31 at Waller, at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 27.

The service will feature old and new vocal and instrumental numbers in keeping with the Valentine theme by special musical groups and the congregation.

The Scripture and sermon also will emphasize the importance of love in Christian lives.

Gifts will be given to the two oldest persons present, the two who are the farthest from home, the oldest couple and the two who have been Christians the longest.

The Rev. Thomas Rasmussen will deliver a short sermon, closing with a song of love.

Refreshments will follow in the fellowship hall.

The service is open to families and young people as well as Senior Citizens. Persons needing transportation could call 547-2972 or 547-6225.

Cmdr. Beach Is Cited

Coast Guard Commander Benjamin S. Beach, husband of the former Miss Hilda A. Voth, of 214 Moore St., Charlevoix, was awarded the Coast Guard Commendation Medal during ceremonies at the Coast Guard Air Station, San Francisco.

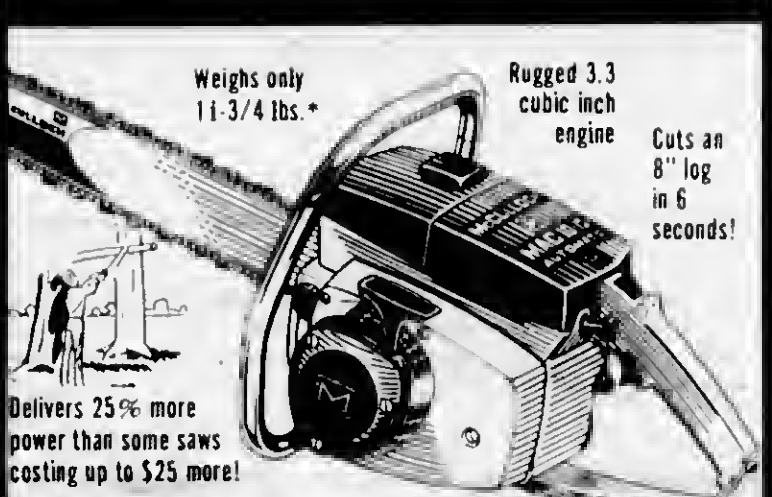

He was cited for his initiative, courage and perseverance during the rescue of nine persons from a grounded fishing boat off Kodiak, Alaska, when he was stationed at the Coast Guard Air Station there.

When he arrived on scene, Cmdr. Beach determined that due to high winds, the vessel's lowering rigging and the condition of the crew, a helicopter hoist would be impossible. He landed the chopper on the shore and he and his aircrewmen rigged a safety line from shore to an outer rock near the grounded vessel and began ferrying the occupants to safety with the fishing boat's small boat.

When all were ashore except for a woman, Cmdr. Beach went into the chest-deep icy water, made his way to the vessel and persuaded her to swim to the nearby rock so the small boat could take her to shore. She did, and all were soon aboard his helicopter and on their way to medical attention.

Girls Defeat Rogers City

By TED SCHLANTZ

The Charlevoix High School girls' basketball team ended their season with a victory over Rogers City 31-28.

The score was close throughout the game with Charlevoix leading at halftime 17-15.

Leading scorers for Charlevoix were: Tori Alger, 8; Tyler Ota and Regina Barths, 7 each. Anne Carey, 4; Cheryl Pence, 3; and Elaine Carr, 2.

This game wraps up the season for the girls. Their record for the year now stands at 4 wins and 6 losses.

Rayders Trounce Chiefs

A long-shot by Tim Carey into the Cheboygan foul-line into the Charlevoix basket was the highlight of top-sided match between the Rayders and Chiefs Friday night. Charlevoix won, 75-44 in the last conference game of the season.

Carey's spectacular shot came a fraction of a second before the end of the first period with Charlevoix leading 20 to 6. Carey heaved the ball into the Charlevoix zone and was as surprised as anyone when the ball popped through the net for an additional two points, giving Charlevoix a 16-point edge when the buzzer sounded.

Tim Carey shared scoring honors with his cousin, Bill Carey, both of whom sank 10 fieldgoals in the game. However, Bill made 6 free throws to Tim's 3, giving Bill 26 and Tim 23 as game's end.

Also in the scoring column for Charlevoix were Rayders Crain, 7 (2 and 3); Dave Swanson, 6 (3 fieldgoals); Larry Potter, 4 (1 and 2); Jerry Pease, 4 (4 freethrows); and Ned Henley, Dale Boss and Vince Left, 2 each on fieldgoals.

Charlevoix had the game in the bag from the start, with quarter scores of 22-6, 37-14 and 61-30.

High man for the Chiefs was Jim Watkins with 13, followed by Mark Herzog, 11; Tom Martin, 8; Ron Brumer, 6; Mark Hollstrom and Kris Carlson, 2 each; and Greg Jewell and Mike Sanborn, 1 each.

The Rayders play a non-conference game at Grayling next Friday night.

Meet Jasna Pavlich, Fresh from Chili

Jasna K. Pavlich is a 16 year old Chilean exchange student who arrived in Charlevoix Jan. 23.

Jasna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Pavlich and will live with the Howard Ots family in Charlevoix until July.

Her trip to America was arranged by Youth for Understanding, Inc. She spent three days in Bay City for orientation before arriving in Charlevoix.

"I always thought of coming to America when I was young and going to study at a university, but when I had the opportunity to come and go to high school, I came," Jasna says.

Jasna is enrolled as a sophomore and is taking Biology, Spanish II, Speech I, U.S. History and General English II. In Chile she is in the second semester of eleventh grade. Each year she takes ten courses and attends school from 8:30 in the morning until 5:30 in the evening, with an hour and a half for lunch.

Jasna enjoys skiing, basketball and swimming. She is not used to snow and cold weather, but she claims she is enjoying winter in Michigan.

Asked how she liked Charlevoix, Jasna replied, "It's so nice. I get so much attention. Everyone has made me feel welcome."

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix recently by District Court Magistrate John Connolly:

Jeffrey Watkins, 17, Grosse Pointe, was assessed $15 for speeding and another $15 for littering a public highway.

Josephine M. Bergman, 54, Charlevoix, was assessed $15 for a stop sign violation.

Deborah S. Benkel has been named Charlevoix High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972.

She was selected on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to senior girls last Dec. 7.

She will receive a specially-designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor, and is eligible for state and national honors.

The girl selected as State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and be eligible for competition on the national level.

McDonald Completes Schooling

Coast Guard Hospitalman Nelson J. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm N. McDonald of Route 2, East Jordan, has completed the Hospital Corps School at Great Lakes.

Hospital Corpsmen assist doctors and nurses in every phase of medical service.

Students Attend Gov't Day

The Charlevoix Seniors traveled to Boyne City to participate in the 1972 Senior Government Day activities on Feb. 14.

Seven schools participated in the activities this year, including Boyne Falls, Ellsworth, Central Lake, East Jordan, Charlevoix, Boyne City, and Beaver Island.

Senior Government Day was originated by D. Hale Burke to better acquaint students with functions of local government.

The areas studied this year were Adulthood and Elections, Area Development, Conservation, Juvenile Problems, Law Enforcement, Legislation, Majority Rights, No Fault Insurance, Political Parties, Selective Service, Taxation, and Education, Health, Roads and Welfare.

The day was considered a success by all who attended, and Nelson Greene, Government instructor for Charlevoix, stated, "I am glad for the opportunity to take students to a function such as this. It is good that they have the chance to learn more about their government."

New Teacher Joins High School Staff

Miss Penny Gibbey has joined the teaching staff at Charlevoix High School, replacing Mrs. Henne who has taken a year's leave of absence.

Miss Gibbey now teaches Contemporary Literature, World History and American Literature.

She is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, she holds a major in English, languages and literature and a minor in history.

She enjoys winter and summer sports, including swimming, water skiing, horseback riding and tennis. She especially enjoys winter in Charlevoix because everything is so beautiful.

Miss Gibbey likes living in Charlevoix because everyone is so friendly here and it is easier to get to know people.

Shower Fetes Mrs. Arvilla

Miss Jill Stewart and Mrs. Brian Seymour were hostesses at the latter's home Saturday afternoon at a pink and blue shower in honor of Mrs. Joel Arvilla.

Fourteen guests enjoyed a social afternoon and refreshments. Mrs. Arvilla received many beautiful gifts.

Automated people-movers someday may break the automobile's stranglehold on traffic-choked cities. Slung from overhead rails or whisked along guideways, the small vehicles would be operated by computers. Most would be scheduled for rush hours. At other times, passengers would simply call for a car by pushing a button, as in an elevator.

The first city people-mover system, called Personal Rapid Transit by the Department of Transportation—is scheduled to begin service in Morgantown, W. Va., in September, 1972, the National Geographic Society says.

TEST AT TRANSPO

Four other PRT's will be tested at TRANSPO-72, an "International Transportation Exposition to be held in May and June at Dulles International Airport, near Washington, D.C.

"The only way to lure the harassed motorist from the automobile is to make public transportation attractive and flexible," says Carlos C. Villarreal, Administrator of DOT's Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

"We hope one or a combination of these systems will turn the traffic tide in a hundred or more cities throughout the nation by offering passengers a wider choice of routes, schedules, and speeds in downtown areas.

Morgantown is an ideal site for the first practical test of a PRT. Straddling a narrow river valley, the city now is clogged with traffic. And students at West Virginia University cannot schedule consecutive classes between downtown and outer campuses. Buses often take 70 minutes to get them to their destinations, and massive jams occur eight times a day when classes change.

Morgantown's varied climate will give the new system a workout in ice, snow, rain, fog, and summer heat.

"This automated PRT will be the first of its kind in the world and will become a model for other cities," predicts Dr. Sunny E. G. Elias, chairman of the University City's Industrial Engineering Department and coordinator for the project in Morgantown.

A fleet of more than 70 electrically powered, rubber-wheeled vehicles eventually will roll along 3.2 miles of ground level and elevated guideways linking the campuses with the downtown business district.

Traveling at speeds of up to 25 miles per hour, each of the snub-nosed, fiberglass cars can carry 17 passengers. The time-saving will be enormous. As many as 1,100 students will be able to travel the entire system in only 20 minutes.

A computer control and communications center will stand space the cars, set their speeds, and guide them to precision stops to pick up and let off passengers.

If trouble should occur, automatic controls will stop the vehicles. The computerized system will warn a dispatcher to assume control and will print out a corrective strategy for him to follow in holding or rerouting cars.

QUESTION: The other day I had the chance to see my driving record. It showed traffic violations I had for the past ten or fifteen years. What gives? I thought your points were supposed to be dropped after two years? J.L. Dismore

ANSWER: Lesson number one: never talk to a computer unless you can speak its language. Lesson number two: A violation is when you do something and don't get caught, while a conviction is when you do something and get wrapped around the knuckles for it. What you saw on your record were your convictions, not violations, dating back seven years, not 10 or 15. The Department of State keeps a historic record of your driving convictions for seven years to compare your past with your present. However, if you ever receive a 6-point conviction (drunk driving, reckless driving, manslaughter, etc.), the entry is kept on your record forever. One man was recently surprised to see that the State Department still carried a drunk driving conviction dating from 1945. Your driving points are kept, and totaled, for only two years. Any conviction older than two years will not show a point total in the adjoining

Beaver Island Kids Stump U.S. Educators

Washington and Lansing are finally finding out what most residents of Charlevoix County have known for some time: The Beaver Island Public School — operated by a Catholic priest and four nuns — is doing a bang-up job of educating kids.

The Detroit Free Press gave the island school a banner headline on Page 1 in its Sunday, Feb. 20, edition, asking the question: "Why Does Island's School Excel?"

The question was asked after results of achievement tests given fourth and seventh graders last year showed Beaver Island youngsters ranked near the top in the state — right up there with Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham.

By all the accepted criteria, Beaver Island should have placed near the bottom of the list. The sisters teach up to four grades in a single room; youngsters have little contact with the more sophisticated mainland; opportunities to travel and explore are few and far between; island residents are not exactly affluent; and teachers' salaries are among the lowest in the state.

Yet Beaver Island youngsters were rated 99 on composite achievement, the same as Bloomfield Hills and a point higher than Birmingham.

A.U.S. Senate Committee was so astounded by the performance of the island youngsters that a committee member was dispatched to Beaver Island last September to find out why.

"It's just like a Catholic school," said Donn Mitchell, a member of the Senate Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity. "They have small classes and the nuns just drill, drill on the fundamentals."

Mitchell also learned that the school has a student-teacher ratio of 13 to 1, one of the best in the state.

Furthermore, the teaching staff is one of the most experienced in the state, with each member of the faculty having an average of 15 years' experience in the classroom.

All of the Beaver Island teachers have masters degrees.

Of course, there is always a chance that the size of the school (63 students) had something to do with the test results. Only seven youngsters were tested in each of the two grades.

But how do you account for the fact that some years the entire Beaver Island graduating class goes on to

Viewpoint! Governor Answers Questions

QUESTION: I heard that the main part of your transportation program is financing of mass transit. Is that correct?

ANSWER: No. The comprehensive transportation package I have submitted to the Legislature includes additional funding for state highways, county roads, city streets, and for public transportation, including a modest start toward solving our urban congestion problems. By far the major part would be for vitally-needed highway construction.

There could, in fact, be serious delays in major highway projects throughout the state if the Legislature fails to pass the program. Legislative inaction could jeopardize some of the most important lifelines of our transportation system — and of our entire economy. This is important not just to the big cities — but also to the smallest and most remote communities.

There can be seen by looking at a map showing major highways. My program specifically provides for accelerated construction on such major routes as US-2, US-27, US-28, US-101, US-23, M-53, M-59, US-127, and I-75.

QUESTION: Whenever I see you on television or see your picture in the paper, you are always wearing a suit and tie. Do you ever have any time for any recreational activities, and if so, what do you do?

ANSWER: I do find some time for leisure and recreational activities, but like most people, I don't have as much as I would like.

This winter, my wife and I have become increasingly interested in cross-country skiing, and have had the opportunity to spend some time on a few of the beautiful trails in Northern Michigan. During the summer months, I enjoy tennis and swimming. I happily leave both suit and tie in the closet at these times.

QUESTION: I understand that there is a State Commission on Aging. What does that Commission do and how can I reach them for assistance?

ANSWER: The Michigan Commission on Aging was established as a division of the Department of Social Services in 1960 to act as an advocate voice for the state's senior citizens. The Commission has played a significant role in the enactment of numerous pieces of legislation to aid Michigan's elderly, and most recently, played a substantial role in the White House Conference on Aging. More than 15,000 Michigan citizens participated in the planning and preparation for our state's role in that Conference. Additionally, the Commission on Aging has helped more than 40 communities establish local committees dealing with problems of the aged by lending technical assistance and providing operating funds.

More information can be obtained by writing: The Michigan Commission on Aging, Department of Social Services, Commerce Center Building, 7th Floor, Lansing, Michigan, 48906; or by calling (517) 324-6690.

QUESTION: Does your proposed no-fault insurance plan discriminate against the poor?

ANSWER: My modified "no-fault" insurance plan does not discriminate against the poor, but does eliminate most, if not all, of the present discrimination. U.S. Department of Transportation statistics show that under the present "fault" system, the poor recover a much smaller percentage of their losses than do the wealthy.

The present system does not provide prompt payment for medical expenses and often deprives people of adequate medical care because of lack of funds at the time the medical care is most needed. Amount of recovery depends on the amount of money the individual himself pays for medical treatment and so, the present system significantly reduces repayment for the poor.

My plan would provide prompt and adequate medical expenses for anyone injured in an automobile accident, meaning that the poor as well as the wealthy will have the same freedom of choice of doctors and hospitals, a privilege that does not now exist.

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK

There's one thing about living in Charlevoix. With the Palace Theatre closed nine months out of the year, X-rated movies are not much of a problem.

The same is true of our neighbor, Boyne City, where the spicy "Threesome" was shown two weeks ago at the Boyne Theatre.

The showing of the movie so upset three pastors—the Rev. D.H. Maybee, pastor of the Free Methodist Church; the Rev. John Bead of the Baptist Church; and the Rev. Franklin Deater of the Assembly of God Church—that they took their case to Rep. Richard Friske, who, in turn, has appealed to Gov. William Milliken for assistance in banning X-rated films.

"I do not believe it is a matter of just allowing the individual to view whatever he wishes," Friske said in his letter to the governor. "We protect our citizens against themselves by such measures as requiring motorcycle helmets and seat-belts in cars, and yet we allow to continue a trend that may in fact deform the minds of great numbers of our people."

Unlike Rep. Friske and the Boyne City pastors, Clockwise is not in a position to take a stand on the question.

If it Fits

By JIM FITZGERALD

As a leg man from way back (Betty Grable), I cannot get excited about the new bra look.

I mean, I am terribly worried about the gradual disappearance of the miniskirt and the growing popularity of elephant pants (although I must confess to a split opinion about some trousers now being worn by women. I like the way they hug the hips low, hunking to slip lower. But then there are great billows of cloth beneath the knees and there is no way to judge the shape of things underneath. The gal could actually have elephant legs and not even another elephant would know).

With all this on my mind, I really don't have time to fret about braless women, one way or another, up or down. Except that on a moralistic level, I will admit no-bra is a step toward honesty. There has always been a lot of deceit packed into a woman's bra. Has never been true of legs. A woman has always had to stand on her own two, with no help from the rubber industry or belted Kleenex. The braless fashion forces women to be as honest about their breasts as they must be about their legs. Every God-fearing man must welcome this return to the Christian principles which made the National Geographic such a fascinating reading when I was a boy.

Whatever. My purpose here is to assure you the braless question is not going unanswered, even if such an esteemed girl-watcher as myself has no time for it. Relax, the American Medical Association (AMA) is on the job.

In a recent issue of the medical journal, Dr. John Wulfin of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine had this to say about women holding their own:

"Once lengthened by tensions these fibrous connections...do not resume youthful dimensions, and despite hopeful legend, no have to worry about unbuttoned knickers being unleashed upon unsuspecting ankles."

Translation: they drop forever. Well then, should the AMA advise flourished to some degree ever since. Menziesville, England went through a period of revulsion toward the excesses of the 1600's and 1700's and the Victorian era emerged. Strait-laced Victorian morals were transplanted to the United States where they grew well in the fertile soil of Puritanism.

Of course, the Victorian era didn't die with Queen Victoria, but each succeeding generation is more liberal in its attitudes toward sex and morality in general.

I don't pretend to know how long the present trend will last or even how far it must go before the populace concedes that things have gone far enough.

But it will happen, of that I am sure. In the meantime, we are confident that Rep. Friske and the Boyne City pastors are acting in good faith in attempting to ban X-rated movies at the Boyne Theatre. But I am afraid that they are bucking a broad social trend that will not stop until it has run its course.

They might as well try to dissipate a Lake Michigan breaker with a canoe paddle.

But the situation, so far as the Puritans are concerned, is not all that grim. No one, to my knowledge, has ever been forced to attend an X-rated movie against his will.

The Leg Man

women to remain in harness? Dr. Wulfin gave this answer:

"This calls for special finesse of judgment in the realm social rather than scientific. To the unfettered female of today her unbuttoned breast may evoke greater peace of mind and cosmetic elan than the traditional projecting hemispheres so idealized by artist and female fantasy."

Translation: who cares if they droop, it's stylish.

Or: the hemisphere has lost out to the pendulum.

Or: If Dr. Wulfin talked like Dr. Wulfin, there would be time for nothing else on channel 7 Tuesday nights.

Anyway: I'm glad I'm a leg man. I realize my anatomical selection makes me no less a male chauvinist pig who regards females as sex objects. But at least I don't have to worry about unbuttoned knickers being unleashed upon unsuspecting ankles.

Onward and Upward...or, Downward? Geez.

QUESTION: I got tickets recently for having a "noisy" snowmobile. Isn't this fairly ridiculous? Of course snowmobiles are noisy. They all are. S.M.K., Adrian ANSWER: The noisiest, however, are those whose mufflers have been removed or tampered with. Some "hot rods" tinkler with the mufflers and raise the noise level to ear-splitting roars. Law says you should have a muffler in constant operation from which noise emission at 50 feet at right angles from path of travel (full throttle) does not exceed 86 DBA. This is "decibels on the A scale" or sound meter. If in doubt, check your dealer for a meter reading.

QUESTION: Why don't school bus drivers let traffic clear before starting out after a stop and traffic is all hunched up? R.B.S., Mt. Pleasant

ANSWER: School bus drivers are taught to wait a reasonable time after deactivating their flashing lights. If traffic still doesn't appear to move, they then should turn on their left turn signal and move out.

QUESTION: What is the responsibility of a driver who damages another vehicle on private property, such as a shopping center parking lot? M.H.R., Hastings

ANSWER: The driver must identify himself and report the accident to the owner or operator of the damaged vehicle, or, if this cannot be done, he must report it to the nearest or most convenient police officer.

Rural Areas Crucial to GOP

William McLaughlin, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, told Charlevoix County Republicans Thursday night that the difference between victory and defeat at the polls lies in rural areas like northwestern Michigan.

McLaughlin said the GOP has gone about as far as it can go in winning votes in big cities like Detroit and Flint, but that outlying rural areas wield the balance of power in Michigan.

As a note of warning, he said that more and more Democrats are moving north and the day is coming when Democrats will win local and county offices unless the Republican party wows and wins new members.

The state chairman also touched on the upcoming presidential primary and legislative reapportionment.

He said precinct delegates must file petitions by March 24 and declare when they file who they support for the presidency.

Because of the late primary, McLaughlin said that county conventions probably will be held May 21 and the state convention June 16 and 17.

As for legislative reapportionment, McLaughlin said a bi-partisan commission was an impasse and the issue was to have been turned over to the Michigan Supreme Court Feb. 18.

He said the Republican reapportionment plan was far closer to the one-man-one-vote principle than the Democrat plan and he was confident the GOP would emerge victorious, although the Supreme Court is made up largely of Democrats.

He promised that the GOP would appeal to Federal District Court if the Democratic plan is adopted.

"But I feel confident members of the court will be just first and politicians second," McLaughlin said.

The Democratic plan would divide Charlevoix County into two districts.

McLaughlin said a GOP county resolution objecting to a split would be useless, since the Supreme Court may act only on plans submitted by the bi-partisan committee.

McLaughlin said the GOP must exert every effort to attract 11 million recently enfranchised young voters across the country and hailed a plan announced by Charlevoix County GOP Chairman Robert Wise to name a second vice chairman in the 1974 election.

In other business, the Republicans heard a report by Prosecutor Harvey Varnum on Senior Government Day held Feb. 14 in Boyne City.

"Every year, the seniors are smarter, more alert and ask better questions," Varnum said. "They are well aware of what is going on in the world and I have no fear that the 18-year-old vote is in good hands."

Varnum said he has attended the past 12 Government Days and has noticed a growing awareness on the part of young people of governmental problems.

He is survived by his widow, whom he married in Charlevoix in 1947; a son, Donald E., of Washington, W. Va.; two daughters, Elizabeth, a student at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant; and Mrs. Gregory (Constance) Gardner, a student at Ferris State College; his mother, Mrs. Donald W. Currie of Seattle, Wash.; and two brothers, Alexander D. of Scotts Mill, Ore., and Ernest of Everett, Wash.

Leaving.

"To dial a long distance call," he explained, "a customer first dials the number '1' if the call is outside the local calling area. That code connects the phone to the long distance equipment."

If the call is to a phone within the file area, the next step is simply to dial the number in is another area - say Detroit, which is 313 - the caller simply dials "1", the Detroit area code, and then the number.

For one and two-party customers in Petoskey, Cheboygan and Charlevoix, automatic message actuating machines will make note of all the details of long distance calls.

For all other customers, he said, an operator will come on the line to ask for the calling party's number for billing purposes.

"From then on," he added, "the process is automatically handled by switching equipment which will make the necessary connections needed to complete the call."

Customers in Cheboygan, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Pellston, Walloon Lake, Charlevoix and Boyne City will receive new directories at the time DDD is introduced which will include specific long distance dialing instructions.

The other Bell customers will receive instructions on how to dial long distance calls which can be attached to their directories, he stated.

The same instructions will be a part of the new Manicella directory which will be issued in April.

NOTICE CHARLEVOIX BOARD OF REVIEW

The City of Charlevoix Board of Review will meet in the City Hall, Monday March 13, 1972 from 9 a.m. to noon, and 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and also on March 14 and 15, from 9 a.m. to noon.

The assessed valuation of the City of Charlevoix for 1971 was $12,340,950. The State Tax Commission has determined that the assessed valuation must be $18,280,554, for State equalization.

To achieve this valuation, real property assessments will be multiplied by the following factors:

Seventh Graders estimated theirs at 96.

Educators are at odds as to the validity of the tests according to Robert Miller, Charlevoix school superintendent.

He said errors are likely when only small numbers of pupils are tested.

"If your best readers are home sick for the day, it's going to show up on the test," he said.

He also doubts the validity of the socio-economic portion of the examination.

"What Fourth Graders perceive and the facts are not necessarily the same thing," he pointed out.

Miller said that state education officials have warned repeatedly that the tests should not be used as a basis of comparison between school districts because of the number of variables involved.

However, he said that most northern Michigan schools did well above the state average on the tests, for what they're worth.

Miller will report on the test results at the regular school board meeting next Monday night.

AMONG THE INTERESTED "China Watchers" during President Richard Nixon's visit to Peking last week were Mrs. Ethel Wiesinger, 201 Petoskey-ave., and her daughter, Mrs. Julius (Edith) Gilbert, 510 Michigan-ave. The Wiesingers spent several years in China during the 1920's while Mr. Otto Wiesinger was in the import-export business. This picture of the family was taken Easter Sunday, 1923, in front of the Hangchow, a summer resort town much like Charlevoix. Hangchow was one of the cities visited by President Nixon.

Life Better Today 'Old China Hands' Recall Colonial Days of Yore

Among Charlevoix's most vivid "China Watchers" during President Nixon's trip to Peking last week were Mrs. Ethel Wiesinger and her daughter, Mrs. Edith Gilbert.

They agree that the China they saw on TV during the President's visit is "a different world" from the China they knew first-hand in the 1920's.

The family lived in Shanghai from 1923 to 1926, while Mrs. Wiesinger's husband, Otto Wiesinger, was in the export-import business.

Mrs. Wiesinger doesn't think it is possible that a nation of 800 million people has changed so greatly in a single generation, but she admits that the new China is vastly improved from the China she remembers as a young woman.

"Schooling, health, justice. China has improved in so many ways," she said.

However, she still doesn't feel that age-old customs, traditions and habits have been eradicated throughout China, a nation of people with strong family ties.

Mrs. Wiesinger first visited China in 1910 with her parents, remaining until 1912.

In the 1920's the family lived in a huge three-story mansion in the French sector of Shanghai.

"In those colonial days, whites lived like kings and queens, compared to the coolies around us," she recalls.

Mrs. Wiesinger feels that the American people have been misinformed about the changes taking place in China, just as they have been misinformed about many other things.

Mrs. Gilbert recalls that Shanghai was a delightful place to live as a child, although she is appalled today to think back on the filth of Chinese cities. She remembers maids and Chinese housewives emptying their chamber pots in the gutters every morning.

Mrs. Gilbert said she went to a German school every morning in a rickshaw and was fascinated by the color and pageantry of China's many festivals, marriage celebrations and funeral processions.

"Can you imagine growing up with paper dragons parading in the streets? It was a wonderful life for a child," she says.

She says foreigners in the old days lived in a world apart, with their own courts, post offices and police protection.

However, the poverty in the native sectors was appalling. Beggars lined the streets and foreigners with business downtown were advised to fill their pockets with coppers. When mobbed by indigents they would throw handfuls of pennies as far as possible to clear the way.

Mrs. Gilbert remembers visiting Hangchow, one of the cities of the President's itinerary.

"It was sort of like Charlevoix, a summer resort town - clean, green, lush and beautiful."

Both Mrs. Wiesinger and Mrs. Gilbert agree that China has made vast strides under its new government.

"It is a country with national pride," Mrs. Wiesinger said, "and that is something it lacked in the old days."

Tourneys Under Way

Charlevoix Red Rayders were to meet Onaway at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 29, in the Charlevoix High School gymnasium - the first game in the District tournaments.

Wednesday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m. Boyne City will play Harbor Springs, at Charlevoix.

Winners of the two games will play Friday night at 7:30 p.m. in Charlevoix, with the winner entering Regionals in Grayling next week.

Dam Suit Starts Monday

Hearings in the celebrated Monroe Creek lawsuit will start in Charlevoix County Circuit Court Monday, March 6, before Judge Charles Brown.

The Department of Natural Resources, its director, Dr. Ralph MacMillan, and Monroe Creek developer Frank Sheldon have been taken to court by Dr. John Tanton of Petoskey who claims that damming of Monroe Creek southeast of Charlevoix will have an adverse effect on the wet lands of the area.

Sheldon has received permission from the DNR to build the dam, which would create a 400-acre artificial lake, the focal point of a proposed 1,500 homestead development.

First order of business Monday is expected to be a motion by Sheldon and his attorneys to dismiss the charges and lift a restraining order on construction of the dam.

Judge Brown has set aside three days to hear the case. Dr. Tanton brought the suit under Michigan's new Environmental Protection Law.

Anthony Shooks, store owner, says he isn't going to keep cash in the safe any longer.

The burglaries are the first he can remember in the five years he has done business in downtown Ellsworth.

The B & E's are the latest in a series of burglaries that have plagued area businesses since last August when Edward's IGA was entered in Charlevoix. The safe containing $2,500 was removed from the building.

Krueger said the hospital recorded 1,086 patient days in January, compared to 797 for January, 1971, resulting in a drop in the cost per patient day.

He said the recent outbreak of flu was partly responsible. However he noted that the number of surgical patients also was up in January.

The cost per patient day in December was $107 and in November, $117.

The figure varies depending on the number of patients hospitalized.

In other business, the board approved expenditure of $2,000 for an engineer's study of the hospital's ventilating system to bring it up to state requirements.

The board also postponed until March a decision on hiring a professional fundraiser to secure contributions for the hospital's proposed coronary care unit.

If sufficient money is pledged in the near future, the board may decide to go it alone. The unit will cost an estimated $200,000, about half of which is already on hand.

Walk-Through At Elementary

The March PTA meeting will consist of a walk-through at the Elementary School Wednesday, March 1.

The school will be open to visitors from 9 until 11 a.m. and from noon until 2 p.m.

Ellsworth Stores Burglarized Again

Shooks, Exchange Entered

Thugs took an undisclosed amount of money from two Ellsworth business places over the weekend, according to State Police.

For Shooks Market, it was the second heist in three weeks.

Also burglarized sometime Saturday night was the Ellsworth Farmer's Exchange.

The rash of burglaries reportedly has unnerved businessmen in Ellsworth, until recently a peaceful rural community where crime was virtually unknown.

Police say the burglars broke open a sliding door at the rear of the Farmers Exchange and took a quantity of change from the safe. However, an inner compartment was not entered and the bills remained intact.

Three reportedly were involved.

Police theorize that the men left their car in the Morwell Steel Co. parking lot and walked downtown.

After leaving the Exchange, they went up the street to Shooks Market, tried to get in through a side window but finally gained entrance by prying open the back door. Inside, they ransacked the store, forced open the cash register and took an undisclosed amount of cash from the safe.

In the earlier breaking and entering, Shooks lost between $2,000 and $2,500. The loss was only insured to $1,000.

"It is a country with national pride," Mrs. Wiesinger said, "and that is something it lacked in the old days."

Mrs. Gilbert recalls that Shanghai was a delightful place to live as a child, although she is appalled today to think back on the filth of Chinese cities. She remembers maids and Chinese housewives emptying their chamber pots in the gutters every morning.

Mrs. Gilbert said she went to a German school every morning in a rickshaw and was fascinated by the color and pageantry of China's many festivals, marriage celebrations and funeral processions.

"Can you imagine growing up with paper dragons parading in the streets? It was a wonderful life for a child," she says.

She says foreigners in the old days lived in a world apart, with their own courts, post offices and police protection.

However, the poverty in the native sectors was appalling. Beggars lined the streets and foreigners with business downtown were advised to fill their pockets with coppers. When mobbed by indigents they would throw handfuls of pennies as far as possible to clear the way.

Mark Hosmer Is Injured by Harbor Youth

Mark Hosmer, a member of Charlevoix's Eighth Grade basketball squad, suffered a slight brain concussion and facial injuries when he was attacked in the lobby of the Harbor Springs High School last Tuesday night during tournament games.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hosmer, Mark was knocked unconscious by a Harbor Springs student after leaving the locker room to buy a bag of popcorn, according to Coach Henry.

He was taken to Little Traverse Hospital by tournament director Rick Rossi where he was treated and released.

George Menzi, Harbor Springs principal, said the 14-year-old boy who slugged Hosmer has been suspended from school. The youth was a member of the Harbor Springs squad which had just defeated Charlevoix.

Menzi said he would seek a psychiatric evaluation of the boy.

Board Sets Salaries Of School Principals

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at a special session Monday, gave its approval to administrative contracts, approved the paying off of tax anticipation notes, adopted a policy relating to the use of drugs, tobacco and alcohol by students and the community use of school facilities among other items.

In approving administrative contracts, the board voted to continue the salaries of Harold J. Kaufman, business manager; Vane H. Smith, High School principal, and Max Novak, Middle School principal at the same level during the second year of their respective contracts which expire June 30, 1973, and to offer a one-year contract, expiring June 30, 1973 at a salary of $15,500 to Glenn B. Snider, elementary school principal.

The paying off of tax anticipation notes in the amount of $200,000 plus $3,360.67 in interest to the Charlevoix County State Bank was approved. The debt is to be retired by March 1, 1972.

A policy relating to students and drugs, tobacco and alcohol which has been under study for some time was approved at Monday's meeting. The illegal use of drugs by students shall be prohibited within the school building or on school grounds and at school functions. No student shall be allowed to smoke in the school building or in the immediate area surrounding the building during the school day or at school dances and other such events designed expressly for students. The use of alcohol by students shall be prohibited within the school building and at school functions. The policy then spells out the action to be taken if there is evidence of the student's use of illegal drugs, tobacco or alcohol. Under the policy, the student would be reported to the building principal or administrator who would then pointment of a negotiating team to be composed of Harold J. Kaufman, chief negotiator, Vane Smith, Elzinga and Richard Donaldson was approved. Kaufman said negotiations are scheduled to begin March 1.

The board also: -Approved appointment of Gary Stutzman as head coach of the boys' track team and Mrs. Marie Osterberg as head coach of the girls' track team for the 1972 season.

-Voted to table until the next meeting on March 13 a request by the library aides that salary increases become effective now instead of July 1.

-Heard reports by Mrs. Barbara Wilson, Peter Speltis, Mrs. Joy Mudge, Smith, Larry Warner Kaufman and Robert L. Miller on the recent

Council Minutes

February 14, 1972

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Esenbary presiding. Aldermen present: Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Absent: None.

The minutes of the January 31, 1972 meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $161,865.03 find them correct and recommend they be allowed. Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Boss that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts, Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Correspondence was read from the First State Bank of Charlevoix regarding the re-zoning of the First property, stating their intent to maintain the property and provide adequate green spaces and shrubs. Mrs. Ochs expressed again her displeasure in having the property re-zoned. Don Brown was present and asked to go on record as having requested to have his property at 308 Clinton re-zoned to Commercial 1. Attorney Hoffman advised that if the First property is re-zoned the City will have more authority to control the area.

Moved by Alderman Gill, supported by Alderman Supernaw that the First property be re-zoned from Residential 2 to Restricted Office District. Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Nays: None. Absent: None.

John Haggard entered a complaint regarding the City piling snow at the foot of streets abutting Round Lake. He offered the space in back of his plumbing shop to the City to pile snow. The Council asked the City Administrator to explore the possibility of finding other places to dump the snow.

Don Brown asked that the City consider removing parking on Antrim Street at the south end of the County building. The Council agreed to have the police investigate this.

WHEREAS the City of Charlevoix by a certain Quit-Claim Deed given in 1933, recorded in Liber 156 of Deeds on page 234 at the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, for a consideration therein expressed and primarily to aid inquiry, did convey certain lands and rights, which No. 2 is the right to store and remove its, and the County of Charlevoix's, then present stockpile of processed stone and gravel from the property, and No. 3 of which is the right of the City of Charlevoix to excavate, remove and stone gravel and stone on said property; and

WHEREAS the said two above recited rights are no longer used or of any use or benefit to the City of Charlevoix and it would be for the best interest of the citizens in this community to free the said Will-Flow property from said rights so that it can be used entirely for its own purposes;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the City of Charlevoix execute and deliver a proper Release from said rights in regard to said property to Will-Flow Corporation for the sum of one dollar and other good and valuable consideration, relating to the City the other rights reserved in said deed for its utility lines and that the Mayor and the Clerk be, and are hereby authorized and elected to execute and deliver said release on behalf of the City of Charlevoix, said property of Will-Flow Corporation being more particularly described as follows:

"That parcel of land situate and being in the Township of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan, described as follows to-wit: Beginning on the Northwestern line of Highway U.S. 31, 33 feet West of the North and South quarter line of Section 24, Township 34 North, Range 8 West; thence North parallel with said quarter line 690 feet; thence West perpendicular to the last described course 180 feet; thence South parallel with said quarter line to the Northwestern line of said highway U.S. 31; thence Northwesterly along the Northwestern line the said highway to the point of beginning; being a part of Government Lot 3 and a part of the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter of Section 24, Township 34 North, Range 8 West."

Resolution adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Nays: None. Absent: None. Alderman Westenbroek offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption:

RESOLUTION FOR DESIGNATION OF (STREET) ADMINISTRATOR WHEREAS, Section 13 (e) of Act 51, Public Acts of 1961 provides that each incorporated city and village to which funds are returned under the provisions of this section, that "the responsibility for all street improvement, maintenance and traffic operation work shall be co-ordinated by a single administrator to be designated by the governing body who shall be responsible for and shall represent the municipality in all transactions with the State Highway Commission pursuant to the provisions of this Act";

THEREFORE, be it resolved, that this Honorable Body designate Thomas G. Hanna as the single (Street) administrator for the City or Village of Charlevoix in all transactions with the State Highway Commission as provided in Section 13 of the Act.

Supported by Alderman Sundberg, Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Motion was made by Alderman Westenbroek and supported by Alderman Supernaw to extend the temporary easement dated 12/31/68 to the Dept. of Army, Corp of Engineers by the U.S. Coast Guard to a period ending 12/31/73. The area covered by the easement was reduced as shown on the map "Exhibit A". The Mayor and Clerk were authorized to sign the Agreement on behalf of the City. Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The following Resolution was offered by Alderman Westenbroek and supported by Alderman Sundberg.

RESOLUTION WHEREAS the Michigan State Tax Commission, following study of property values in Charlevoix County has increased total valuation of the City of Charlevoix by approximately $5,938,604;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the City Assessor be and hereby is instructed to inform by letter each Taxpayer within the City of Charlevoix of this increase in valuation of the specific change in the valuation of the Taxpayer's property. Such communication shall include assurance that an adjustment in the summer millage will be made following establishment of the 1972 Budget and certification of the 1972 tax roll.

FURTHER, BE IT RESOLVED that the City Assessor be and hereby is instructed to inform by letter, the Township Boards now under agreement with the City for fire protection and ambulance services, of the City's intention to make an appropriate reduction in millage used as basis for charges for these services in the fiscal year 1972.

The resolution was adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Nays: None. Absent: None. Alderman Gill reviewed his meeting with the Senior Citizen Committee regarding a Senior Citizen Center and their desire to purchase six to ten acres of property near a shopping area and available to utilities. Members of the Council feel there is a need for this type of a project in Charlevoix and expressed a desire to assist them in finding a location.

A motion was made by Alderman Klooster and supported by Alderman Sundberg that the City Administrator be given authority to act in regard to the Pumping Station to be constructed for the U.S. Coast Guard Station located on the East side of Round Lake at an estimate of $40,000; the Coast Guard to pay 95 percent. Mr. Hanna will notify them that the City will share in the construction of the facility on a 5 percent/5 percent basis.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

Ida A. Heise, City Clerk February 14, 1972 9:15 p.m.

BOARD OF APPEALS The Board of Appeals met on the above date and time with Mayor Esenbary presiding. Present: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. A motion was offered by Alderman Klooster and supported by Alderman Supernaw that the request of Ralph Hess for a waiver of the twenty-five foot front yard setback to eight feet for his condominium project, in compliance with a drawing date 2/10/72 Job No. 7112-16) to erect a wall not to exceed a six foot height above the gutter elevation along U.S. Highway 31 be granted. Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Aldermen Klooster, Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Boss, and Gill. Nays: None. Absent: None.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

First-Year Matmen Place Fifth in Regionals

CHARLEVOIX matmen took a first and a third in Class C and D Regionals at Ravenna over the weekend, as their first year of competition drew to a close. Above, Pat Linse placed first in the 138-pound class. Runners-up were Bob Dadds, second, Hart; Tom Morningstar, third, Shelby; and Tim Schaler, fourth, Carson City. Below are the winners in the 138-pound class; Terry Gorton, first, Shelby; Don Alvesteffer, second, Hart; Butch Klooster, third, Charlevoix; and Alex Demitroff, fourth, Benzie Central.

4th Quarter Rally Sinks the Vikings

After trailing most of the game, the Charlevoix Red Raiders pulled ahead in the final minutes of play against Grayling Friday night to defeat the Vikings 29-7.

The non-conference game was the last scheduled match for Charlevoix before the start of tournaments Tuesday night (Feb. 29) with Onaway at Charlevoix.

In conference play, Charlevoix won eight and lost three, for second place in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference. St. Ignace was first with 11 wins and no losses.

Grayling led from the start Friday night, with quarter scores of 20-16, 43-36, and 57-56.

However in the fourth quarter, Charlevoix came through with 23 big points, compared to only 18 for Grayling, giving the Raiders the victory.

High man for Charlevoix was Bill Carey with 26 points, on 12 field goals and 2 free throws.

He was followed closely by Tim Tobin, 26 (7 and 12); Westervelt, 17 (7 and 3); Fitzpatrick, 17 (5 and 7); McIsaac, 8 (3 and 2); and Parkinson, 5 (2 and 1).

Scoring for Grayling were Jun Tobin, 26 (7 and 12); Westervelt, 17 (7 and 3); Fitzpatrick, 17 (5 and 7); McIsaac, 8 (3 and 2); and Parkinson, 5 (2 and 1).

Jayvees Lose to Chiefs

Junior Varsity Raiders lost a close one to their Cheboygan counterparts Feb. 18, 47-45.

The Jayvee squad came on strong in the opener, ringing up 12 points to the Chiefs' 7. However the Chiefs picked up steam in the second period scoring 16 points to Charlevoix's 10, putting Cheboygan ahead at the half, 22-22.

In the third period, the Raiders went into a tailspin, scoring only 7 points while the

Pat Linse Takes a First, Butch Klooster a Third

Pat Linse and Butch Klooster won slots in the state Class C and D wrestling tournaments at Lansing Waverly High School Friday and Saturday, March 3 and 4, by placing in the top four in their weight classes in Regional competition at Ravenna last weekend.

Linse placed first in his 132-pound weight class and Klooster third in the 138-pound class.

Winners in the top four spots in each weight class have been invited to the state competition.

They will be accompanied to Lansing by Coach Nathan Probert who is tickled with the showing his boys made in the Regionals as a first-year squad.

At Ravenna, Charlevoix placed fifth among 14 schools participating. The only other first-year team in the competition was Saranac, which came in last.

Kalkaska was to have made up the 13th tournament school, but decided not to take part.

Shelby claimed the tourney with 150.3 points, followed by Hart, 103.5; Scottville, 70; Maple City-Glen Lake, 36; Charlevoix, 35; Pawman-Westphalia, 33; Benzie Central, 28.5; Ravenna, 25.5; Manistee Catholic Central, 19.5; Carson City, 14.5; Frankfort, 14; Pine River, 8; Holton, 1.5; and Saranac, 0.

For Charlevoix, Linse was credited with 13 points, Butch Klooster, 8; Gordon Skeel and Paul Klooster, each; and Bill Thorp and Philip Christ, 2 each.

Linse drew a bye for the first round. In the second, he pinned Chuck Owens of Manistee Catholic Central in 3:51 minutes and in the third round he won a 6-2 decision over Tim Schaler of Carson City. He won the 132-pound class crown by an 8-6 decision over Bob Dadds of Hart.

Butch Klooster drew a bye in the first round and won a 6-4 decision over Dennis Cunningham of Carson City in the second. In the third, he lost to Don Alvesteffer in a pin at 3:54.

In the lower bracket, he pinned Mark Schubers of Manistee Catholic Central in 1:48, followed by a pin over Alex Demitroff of Benzie Central in 1:53, capturing third place. In other point-winning contests, Paul Klooster (145) garnered four points but lost to Shelby's No. 1 man on technical violations after leading in both the regulation match and in overtime.

Bill Thorp (155) gained two points but lost to Shelby's No. 1 man.

Jayvees Win in Overtime

Charlevoix Jayvees won an overtime cliffhanger over Grayling counterparts Friday night, 42-41.

At the end of regulation play, the score was tied at 42-41, however the Raiders connected on seven free throws in one overtime period, while the junior Vikings went scoreless.

It was an amazingly tight game from start to finish, with both teams scoring 10 points in the first period, leaving the score tied at 23 at the half.

In the third period, Grayling edged ahead by one point, 42 and 41, but the Raiders made up the deficit in the final stanza, scoring 8 points to Grayling's 7 and tying the game.

Jerry Skippergosh and Clayton Jones shared scoring honors for the Raiders. Both chalked up 17 points on 7 field goals and 3 free throws.

Steve McClellan was close behind with 13 on 4 field goals and 5 free throws. Randy Faust also scored 2 points on a field goal.

Benedict was high for Grayling with 15, (6 and 3); followed by Hansen, 12 (6 field goals); Sajdak, 8 (3 and 2); Lavarack, 5 (2 and 1); and Hinkie 2, (1 field goal).

Freedman Offered Lease

FISH Organization Now in Business

The City Council Monday night agreed to lease a one-half acre tract of land on U.S. 31 at the city airport to Freedman Aircraft Engineering Corp. for use as a parking lot and snow storage area.

Rent on the property, which has been removed from the master plan for the airport because it is not essential to airport operations, will be $125 a month. The lease carries with it an option to buy.

In other action the council: —Heard Mayor Andrew Essenburg declare the third week in May as Michigan Week in Charlevoix. For one day during the week, Charlevoix will exchange mayors with Durand, a railroad center in southeastern Michigan.

—Agreed to hold a public hearing April 10 on a plan to close short section of Division-st. north of Mercer-4th. The state Highway Department has recommended to move because of the angle at which Division-st. runs into U.S. 31, pointing out that 90 degree intersections are less hazardous.

—Heard a suggestion by Alderman Sam Supernaw that the city go 50-50 with the School District on the hiring of a full-time recreation director.

—Learned from City Superintendent Thomas G. Hanna that funds for the purchase of C & O property east of Depot Beach are about to be approved by the state. The frontage eventually will be incorporated into the Depot Beach Park.

—Heard a request by Thomas Merta, Chamber of Commerce executive director, that the city contribute $600 this summer toward the purchase of fireworks for the Venetian Festival. The additional money would allow the chamber to double the size of the festival's pyrotechnic display after the boat parade.

Also on the agenda but overlooked in the press of business was a letter from state Attorney General Frank Kelley to the city pointing out that support of the Chamber of Commerce is an illegal use of city funds.

The opinion was requested by Howard Horton of Harburt-st., Democrat candidate for alderman from the Second Ward.

Kelley said he would be willing to start litigation to stop the city from supporting the Chamber of Commerce, if necessary. The council was first made aware of Kelley's ruling several months ago. The chamber receives $2,725 from the city's general fund and $2,725 from the electric fund every year to meet operating expenses.

A.A.S.A. convention in Atlantic City that the group attended. All reported the convention very worthwhile, each reported on the meetings he or she attended and all those attending for the first time advised that others be sent another year because it is such a rewarding experience.

—Miller reported briefly on recent legislation and proposed legislation.

—The use of school buses by the Intermediate School District to transport trainable students to Detroit and the Cooperative Extension Service to transport 4-H students to East Lansing later this spring were approved.

—The possibility of leasing rather than purchasing cars for use by the school was discussed. Kaufman, as business manager, was asked to contact local dealers to see if they would be interested in the proposal. In the past the school purchased the vehicles and after a given time, offered them for sale to the highest bidder. A decision will be made at a later meeting.

—March 13 and 27 were set as the dates for the next two meetings. Business to be discussed will include the budget, band instruments, staffing for the 1972-73 school year and teacher contracts.

Symphony Band Tops In District Competition

The Charlevoix High School Symphony Band was awarded a 1 rating in the annual District II Band and Orchestra Festival held in Petoskey last Saturday.

The Ninth Grade Concert Band was awarded a 11 rating in Class D.

Both bands were directed by C.A. Odmarr.

The Middle School Eighth Grade Band, directed by Gary Stutzman, was awarded a 11 rating in the Junior High School Festival held in Boyne City Feb. 19.

More than 200 Charlevoix students participated in the band events, attesting to the size of the Charlevoix instrumental music program.

For the Symphony Band, the 1 rating was the 20th rating won by a Charlevoix band in 28 years of competition. It qualified the band to enter the State Festival which will be held in Flint on April 29.

Judges for the event Saturday were Leonard Falcone, director emeritus of the Michigan State University bands; Dr. Rex Hewlett, head of the Music Department of Central Michigan University; Gerald Bartlett of East Lansing High School; and David McCoy, director of bands at Olivet College.

Rayders Compete in Regionals Wednesday

Rayders Win District Crown

Charlevoix's Red Rayders staged a come-from-behind victory over the Harbor Springs Rams Saturday night to win the Class C District title.

Score in the tournament cliff-hanger was 71-65.

The win placed Charlevoix in the Regionals this week at the Grayling High School. Tonight (Wednesday) the Rayders meet Mason County Central at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday night, Kalkaska was to meet Traverse City St. Francis at Grayling. The winners of the two games will meet Friday, March 10, at the Grayling gym for the Regional final.

The Rayders moved into the winner's circle last Tuesday night by defeating Onaway 63 to 40.

Wednesday's game between Harbor Springs and Boyne City was postponed until Thursday, Harbor emerging as victor. Because of the delay, the District finals were moved from Friday to Saturday night.

Playing before a packed house, Charlevoix came on strong in the opening round of the playoffs, but an unexpected rally in the late minutes pushed the Rams ahead by one point by the first buzzer. The score was 16-15.

In the second period, Charlevoix scored only 18 points to Harbor Springs' 24, putting the Rams ahead at the half, 40-33.

However, the Rayders came back strong in the third period with 19 points, to Harbor's 11, giving the Rayders a one-point edge at the end of the quarter, 52-51.

In the final stanza, Charlevoix pulled a repeat with 19 points, while the hard-pressed Rams managed only 11.

Family Hurt in 4-Car Crash

A four-car crash on U.S. 31 north at 12:20 p.m. Saturday injured three members of the Richard Donaldson family of Charlevoix. Three of the cars involved in the accident, including Donaldson's, were totaled.

According to Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputies, a north-bound 1968 Plymouth driven by Andrew Junior Speigl, 19, Bay Shore, went out of control and skidded sideways into the south-bound lane, just opposite the Ray Wood cottages.

Donaldson was returning to Charlevoix from Petoskey in his Mercury and slammed head-on into the side of the Speigl car.

Then a 1968 Oldsmobile behind the Donaldson car, driven by Joseph Otter, 54, Troy, collided with Speigl's car.

Then a third vehicle, driven by Glenn Moss, 24, Detroit, sideswiped Speigl's car.

Speigl was cited for driving left-of-center and not having proof of insurance. His auto insurance expired in January.

Donaldson was most severely injured in the accident. He suffered a brain concussion, an injured knee and other lacerations. He and son Jim were taken to Charlevoix Hospital by Jerald Reekker who happened upon the scene a few minutes after the accident.

Jim was released from the hospital Sunday and Donaldson was expected to be released Tuesday.

Mrs. Betty Donaldson remained at the scene, but when she complained of chest pains another passerby, Max Hosmer, drove her to Charlevoix Hospital where she was treated and released.

Speigl and his passenger, Gary Cross, 15, Charlevoix, and Otter complained of pain, but did not seek medical treatment. Neither Moss nor his three passengers were injured.

The accident was witnessed by Allen Keur of Muskegon, who was following the Speigl car.

Sheriff's deputies are continuing their investigation.

DNR Chief Testifies On Monroe Creek

Tanton Lawsuit Starts

Dr. Ralph MacMullan, director of the Natural Resources Commission, told a jammed courtroom at the Charlevoix County Building Monday that if the Monroe Creek tract slated for resort development were in public hands he would prefer to have it remain in its wild state.

However since the 1,500 acres is privately owned, Dr. MacMullan said he would prefer a tightly controlled development such as is proposed by Frank Sheldon of Detroit, rather than have the land parceled off.

Dr. MacMullan was on the stand most of the afternoon Monday, the first day of trial on a lawsuit brought against Dr. MacMullan, the Natural Resources Commission and Sheldon over the issuance of a dam permit to Sheldon and the swap of public-fishing easements on Monroe Creek for other property on Warner

Blizzardy March Roars In With Rain, Snow, Wind

Twin blizzards slammed into Charlevoix last week, blocking country roads with towering drifts and giving area youngsters an unexpected holiday from school.

The first storm started as a freezing rain Feb. 29, but the rain soon turned to snow and Charlevoix clocked 10 inches on March 1.

By noon the storm was so bad that school buses were sent out only to deliver kids home. There was no school Thursday, when an additional four inches of snow fell.

Classes resumed again Friday, but by Saturday the second blizzard was on hand, whipped by high winds. Both storms were accompanied by sub-zero temperatures, with the mercury slipping to an unofficial 20 degrees below on Thursday morning and 10 below Monday morning.

Because of the high winds, the Weather Station at the waste water treatment plant was unable to get an accurate reading on precipitation, but the new snow accumulation appeared to be about eight inches.

The new fall brings Charlevoix's total accumulation for the winter to 104.4 inches.

Almost as much snow fell the first five days of March (52 inches) as the city had in the entire month of February (52.4 inches).

Although minor highways were open Monday morning, most area school districts cancelled classes because country roads were still blocked.

Inter-Faith Youth Retreat Starts in City on Friday

Petoskey. Sunday afternoon about 100 young people from northern Michigan are expected to attend an Inter-Faith Youth Retreat Charlevoix's First Congregational Church, March 10 to 12.

The program will begin Friday evening with registration, and a pre-retreat party from 7 to 10 p.m. at the church.

Saturday morning, registration for those just arriving will be held from 8 to 9 a.m. followed by a movie and a discussion following.

At 3:30 p.m. there will be a special guest speaker, Dr. Arnold Serna of Traverse City. In the evening a dance for all the youth attending the retreat will be held at the high school study hall from 8 until 11 p.m.

Sunday at 9:45 a.m. a film will be shown, followed by discussion.

At 11 a.m. there will be a Folk Worship Service, with guitarist Robert Crosser of Charlevoix.

He wants the mothers of such boys to contact him at 547-2915 (or at Post Office Box 192, Charlevoix) to see if a match can be worked out.

Big Brothers meet with their Little Brothers at least once a week, taking them to sporting events, movies, or bowling. Sometimes they just invite them over for an evening with the family.

Miller says that 10 pairs were matched in Charlevoix County in February, most of them in the Boyne Falls area. He said that the organization has received a gift of $1,022 from the Walk for Development staged last spring by young people from the East Jordan area.

"And that was only 14% percent of total contributions to the walkers," Miller said.

The walkers hiked from East Jordan to Charlevoix, via Boyne City, with sponsors picking a given amount for every mile walked.

Miller said the money will be used to renovate a Coast Guard Lighthouse at 20-mile point six miles north of Rogers City as a Big Brothers recreation center. He said the Coast Guard has leased the building, which has 1,200 feet of shoreline, to the organization for three years for $1 a year.

When it is refurbished, the lighthouse will accommodate 10 pairs of Big and Little Brothers during overnight outings.

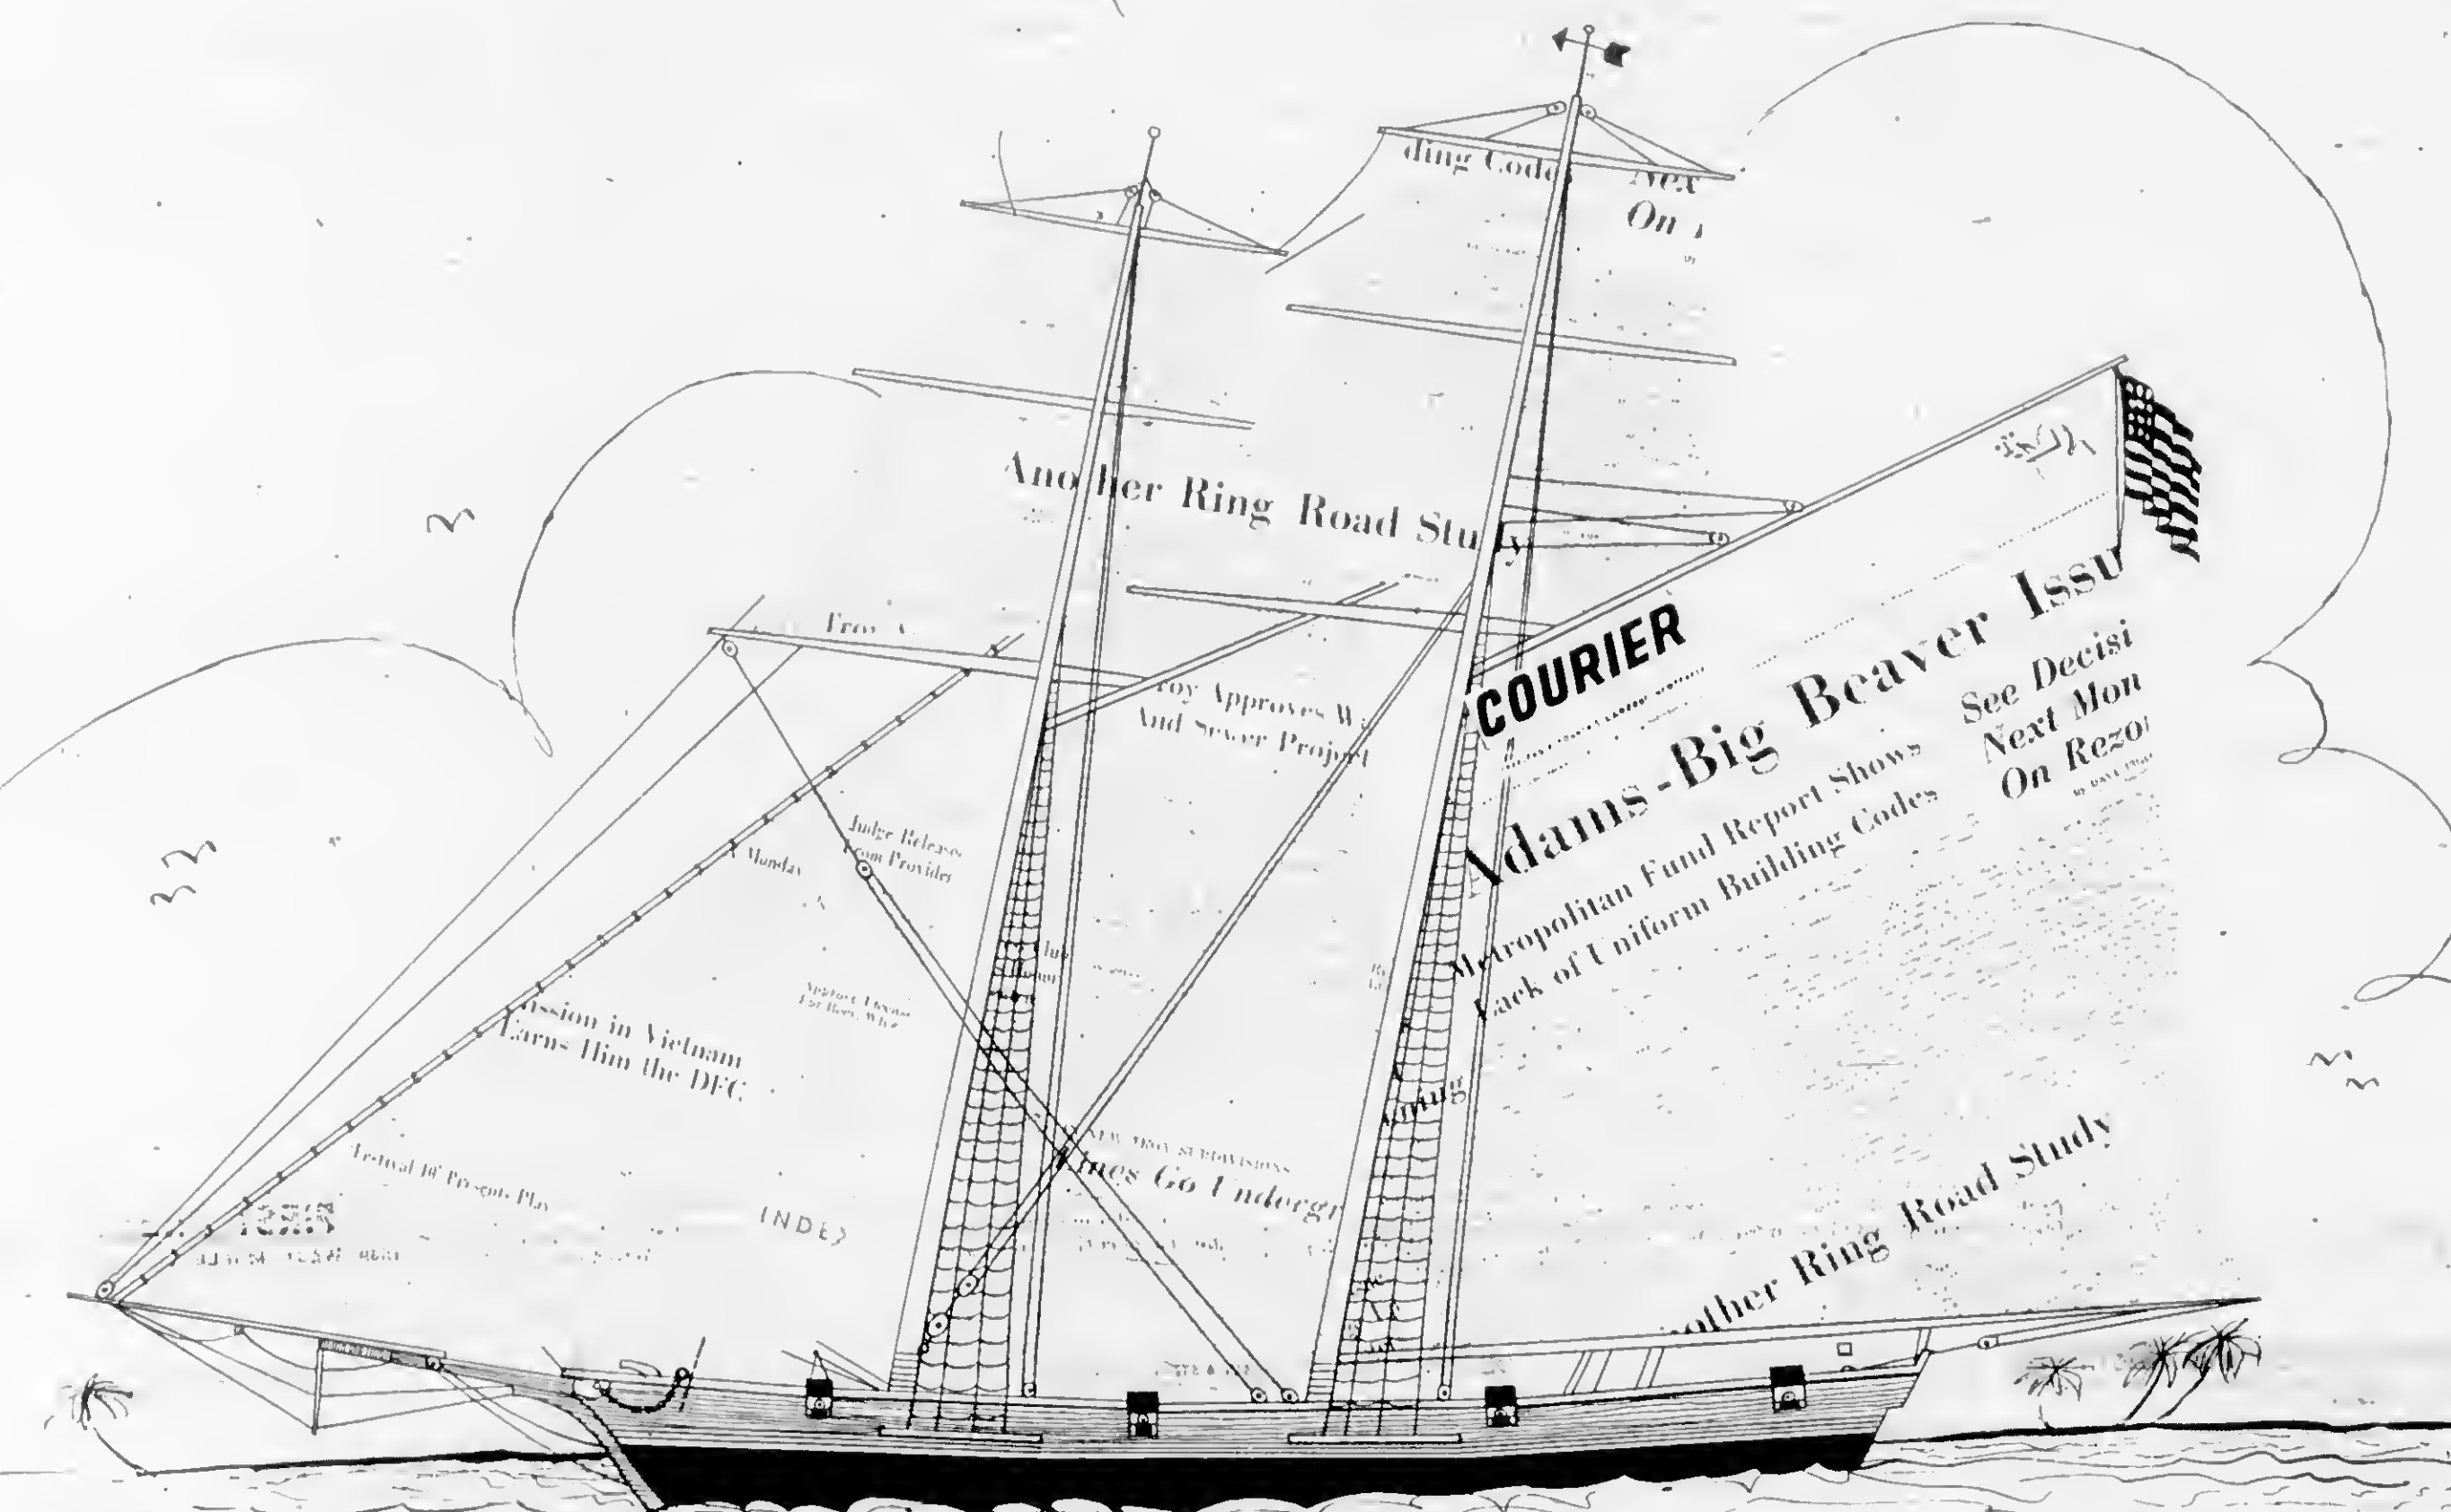

Miller moved to Charlevoix two years ago after selling his detective agency, National Service and Appraisal, with offices in Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit and Cleveland. He is a former professional boxer.

Hoist Your Sales!

Stay on course with The Courier... for more business and a prosperous New Year.

Throughout the coming New Year, annual and one-of-a-kind occasions will call for special force in moving your business "ship" ahead—White Sales, Valentine items, Spring fashions, end-of-season clearances, new merchandise or services, unusual shows—the list is as long as your calendar.

Reaching your destination—a prosperous 1972—will depend, of course, on reaching your customer.

Each week, over 3,000 families in the Charlevoix, East Jordan, Ellsworth and surrounding townships turn to The Courier when making buying decisions. They trust The Charlevoix Courier and rely on its advertising to tell them what's being sold, at what price, and where.

When you launch your promotions of special occasions or every-day offerings, you'll not find a more receptive audience than the readers of The Courier. And you'll not find an easier way to "hoist your sales!"

In 1972, as before, there's always clear sailing for advertisers...in The Charlevoix Courier.

Forced-Feeding Can Kill Kids

Many overanxious mothers are killing their children with food, according to Dr. Ronald G. Albert, chairman of the Atherosclerosis Council of the Michigan Heart Association. "Kids who are forced to clean their plates may please their mothers," Dr. Albert said, "but they don't live as long as kids who are allowed to pick at their food."
"American mothers, by insisting their kids eat too much and the wrong kinds of food, are paving the way for their children's future heart attacks," he continues.
"We all know that animal fat consumption is a direct cause of atherosclerosis—the artery blockage, or hardening, that causes heart attacks."
But what most people don't realize is that this blockage starts early. There is reason to believe that most American children, because of their diets, are afflicted with some degree of atherosclerosis.
Dr. Albert quotes a study in which post-mortem examinations were done on both Korean and American soldiers killed during the Korean War.
"The Koreans had almost no cholesterol in their arteries, because Oriental people have almost no animal fat in their diets. Probably because of that, they also don't have many heart attacks."
"The majority of the American soldiers, average age 21, had moderate to severe artery blockage," Dr. Albert said.
"That says a lot about what their mothers had been feeding them—and for how long. Cholesterol doesn't build up overnight."
February is National Heart Month, and Dr. Albert feels it's a good time to start telling mothers to stop feeding their kids animal fat.
"Then," he says, "the kids would never learn to like it."
Dr. Albert also claims that mothers shouldn't force their children to eat because children instinctively eat the amount of food they need.
"That's the clean plate mom, who says, 'Think of all the starving kids in the world and eat.'"
"She's do better just to throw the food away. Most food that's forced on a child just goes to fat in his body, and consistent forcing may make the kid a chronic and permanent over-eater."
"People run less risk of heart attack if they're underweight than if they're overweight weight. People who're overweight are in trouble."
For Heart Month, Dr. Albert gives the following tips on how moms can assure healthy hearts for their children.
"Don't let your kids get overweight. Try to get them off foods containing high amounts of saturated (animal) fat."
"It's not necessary to do this at all meals," Dr. Albert says. "Recent evidence shows that one body just needs a 'clearing time'—a 24 hour period in which the body can metabolize fat."
"So one meal can include meats, but the other two should not. An easy way to manage this," the doctor said, "is to serve cereals for breakfast and non-meat sandwiches, fish, soups, or salads for lunch."
Foods which the doctor would restrict are beef, pork, and lamb, particularly the fat parts; egg yolk (the white is okay); pastries and bakery products (unless made with vegetable oils); ice cream, cheese, sour cream, butter, and whole milk.
In cooking, vegetable oil should be substituted for lard or animal fat. "Unsaturated margarine, cottage cheese, and skimmed milk are fine," said Dr. Albert.
Dad shares some responsibility for making children eat when they don't want to, according to the doctor. "Exercise is essential," said Dr. Albert, "but too many cock-happy fathers try to make football heroes out of gangly boys by fattening them up. At best, this is unwise. It can be fatal."
Dr. Albert feels that both parents are responsible for seeing that their children get more exercise than squatting in front of the television, and for discouraging them from ever smoking cigarettes.
"Attitudes and habits developed early stay with a person. If parents teach their kids to eat and exercise properly, the heart disease rate forty years from now would be reduced tremendously."

Kappa Sigma Plans Spring Style Show

By Beth Genelt
On Feb. 13 members of Kappa Sigma Chapter Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mrs. Gunnar Lundteigen for a very enjoyable evening with Mrs. Fred Cohrs and Mrs. David Ball acting as co-hostesses.
Plans were made for the Annual Fashion Show which will be organized by Mrs. Walter Hufford as chairman, assisted by Mrs. William Severnson, Brenda Diger, Beverly McCandless, Roy Pittman, Martina Lewis, Georgia Jones, Marion Sizema, Susan Pettis and Judy Clock.
Others were: Dixie Cosler, Melissa Gardener, and Freida Gillespie, Boyne City; Richard Parks, Mancelona; Neil Mizer, Rick Woolbert, Virginia Decker, Carolyn LeFavour, Colleen Barnett, Alan Noiroi, Elmer Rauchenberger, Della Elliott, and Raymond Bush, East Jordan.
The following patients were admitted to Charlevoix Hospital:
Charlevoix: Thomas Louise; John Pearl sr.; Elizabeth Williams; Janet MaeEwen and Baby; Tina Severnson; Allen Muma; Beverly McCandless; Brenda Dragen; Richard Tilen; and Hilda Rodarmer.
Others were: Richard Parks, Mancelona; Judith Vollmer and Baby; Ellsworth; Edward Constock; Central Lake; James Trowbridge, Cynthia Downing and baby; Rick Woolbert, and Robert Balch, East Jordan; Marshall Ellison, Shirley Buck, Alberta McGeorge, Melissa Gardner, Lois Easton, and Freida Gillespie, Boyne City; and Pamela Jones, Atwood.
Atwood
The Atwood Christian Reformed Church will mark its annual Prayer Day Wednesday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m.
The Atwood Community Knitting and Crocheting class met recently at the homes of Mrs. Art DeVries and Mrs. Doug Way.
Our community expresses its sincere sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Milford Tyrell and all the other relatives in the death of their granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Haskins, and two children.
Burt Doctor and his fiancée, Miss Evonne Daves and brothers Robert and Ched of Wyoming were recent visitors at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doctor.
Marion Sizema is recovering from surgery performed at Charlevoix Hospital.
Board members and wives of the Ellsworth Farmers Exchange honored Peter VanderSluk on his retirement with a swiss steak dinner at the American Legion Hall in Ellsworth. Chairman Edward Wiltse thanked VanderSluk for his services to the co-op and he was presented a gift of money.
The Stanley Bultman family has returned from a trip to Grand Rapids. Rev. Bultman attended a meeting at Calvin College and Mrs. Bultman and children stayed with her mother, Mrs. Arthur Luning, Rev. and Mrs. Larry Brossett and son of Chicago have moved into the Atwood Reformed Church parsonage. Rev. Brossett was installed as pastor in ceremonies at the church Friday, March 3.
The Lewis Essenburgs are back home after spending 12 days at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Essenburg. They stayed with their grandchildren while the Ted Essenburgs were in Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Max Bolser hosted a family party after church Sunday marking the birthday of their son Max Jr.

March Lion Roars Into City on Snowshoes

ALTHOUGH spring is less than three weeks away, Charlevoix's stormiest weather of the winter rode in on the back of the March lion. Above, drill reaches the roof of the Courier office. Below, the Wayne Woods home on Park-ave. was socked in by towering snowbanks. Right, John Michael was able to put his new snow-blower to good use Sunday afternoon. Extreme right, Palmer residents awoke Sunday morning to find six-foot drifts blocking their driveways.

Red Rayders Made Our Winter Bearable

The record book says it better than we can:

Thanks, Red Rayders, for another spine-lingling basketball season. We're sorry it's over.

The Charlevoix team won nine and lost three in the Michigan-Huron Shore Conference, to place second to St. Ignace.

In District tourneys, the Rayders defeated Onaway and Harbor Springs for the crown.

They are now in the Regionals at Grayling, and it goes without saying that the competition became keener with every game.

Regardless of how far the Rayders go, they have provided Charlevoix fans with some fine sports entertainment both at home and away during another long, cold northern Michigan winter.

They've left us with enough exciting memories to carry us through until the next cage series starts in the fall.

Although Charlevoix is losing some of its top players, there is plenty of talent coming up through the ranks. In fact, the 1972-73 season should be a real humdinger.

Indiana Prof Debunks Red Rules for Takeover

(The following was submitted to the Courier by Mrs. Martha Drake of Potosky. It is a quotation from an article by Richard V. Pierard, Ph.D., associate professor of history at Indiana State University, relative to the widely-circulated "Communist Rules for Revolution." The so-called "Rules" are played up by the extreme right as evidence of a Communist conspiracy to take over the world.)

"The 'Communist Rules for Revolution,' allegedly found in 1919 in Dusseldorf, Germany by the Allied Forces, is a fraudulent concoction peddled by the propitists of the Far Right which panders to the fears and prejudices of the ignorant people. The earliest documented appearance of the rules was in 1946, but some scholars feel that the Nazis may have created them in the 1930's to use as anti-Soviet propaganda.

Recent investigation by Senator Lee

McCall of Montana—New York Times correspondent Donald Jan-son— and independent researcher Morris Kominsky (The Hoaxers, Boston: Branden Press, 1970, pp. 600-611) revealed that the Library of Congress, National Archives, CIA, FBI, Department of Defense, and Senate International Security Subcommittee all were unable to verify the authenticity of the rules. In fact, J. Edgar Hoover declared: 'We can logically speculate that the document is spurious.' (Congressional Record, p. 23699)

These false and misleading rules have been widely reprinted and distributed by right wing spokesmen. Contrary to the opinion of many, the rules are devoid of historical value and the document has little relevance to our current situation."

National Geographic Feature Rolltop Desk Hot Item Among Antique Buffs

In Washington's corridors of power, in suburban family rooms, in mod business offices, one of today's most prized status symbols is yesterday's antique desk.

Antique dealers sell every one they can get their hands on, often for many times the original prices of the 1890's.

Home owners are raving the attics, cellars, and barns of their ancestral homesteads in search of that long-forgotten monster granddad used to love.

Furniture factories are turning them out by the hundreds; "exact replicas" of the real thing in quarter-sawn golden oak and log-silhouette "lambourne" in stainless steel, smoky laminate, and teak.

Time was when a rolltop desk was an American monument to pluck and luck and nose-to-the-grindstone hard work, the National Geographic Society says.

The age of the rolltop dawned with America's post-Civil War mania for efficiency, order, and gadgetry. Those were the days when one man with one tiny desk could operate a large business himself and keep all his records in one fat file.

SECRET COMPARTMENTS

The rolltop obliged with dozens of pigeonholes, at least eight seemingly bottomless drawers, and maybe a few secret compartments.

Sometimes the rolltop surmounted a now-rare Wootton desk. Stating perhaps five feet square, the Wootton imbedded and rolled apart to produce dozens of drawers-like a fat man unbuttoning his overcoat to reveal countless pockets in the lining.

Sitting on a bentwood swivel chair before a half-backed rolltop desk, facing all those drawers, made the meekest clerk feel like a mighty captain of industry.

The rolltop itself—the sliding tambour of rounded wood slats glued to a canvas screen—was both marvel and menace of a Victorian office.

BROKEN FINGERS

Quickly snapped shut and locked, it could hide confidential contracts or a half-eaten lunch with a visitor's sudden arrival. But stuck in two slides, it needed tugging and tarnation to work it free, and when it slid down too fast it threatened broken fingers.

Only the player piano or billiard table outweighed a six-foot-long rolltop as a peril to 19th-century flooring.

Many rolltops survive and are prized in Washington, D.C., especially on Capital Hill where one venerable lawmaker's opinion of a colleague may still apply to others: "This rind is stuffed like a rolltop desk, jammed with misplaced memoranda and unfindable facts."

NOT ENOUGH ROOM

The rolltop's popularity faded as the industrial revolution shifted into high gear, bringing with it a flood of correspondence that overflowed the desk's cubby holes into new-fangled filing cabinets.

Inevitably, the male clerk's office world was invaded by wash-waisted suffragettes who darkly despised of the rolltop's organized clutter.

Even more despised was one deluxe feature: a rolltop desk with drawers in today's reproductions; a discreet but handy floor-level cupboard for the executive spittoon.

My Neighbors

"If you hit the ceiling over that new regulation perhaps you'll have a better reference to the roof before reading this one."

QUESTION: What is the lawful speed limit for motor vehicles in a public park? M.M.M., Saginaw ANSWER: Twenty-five miles per hour, unless otherwise posted.

Viewpoint! Anti-War GI Answers G.E. Ohmer

Mr. Robert Clock February 29, 1972
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Mich. 49720

Dear Mr. Clock:

I find Mr. G.E. Ohmer's criticism quite enlightening. That person said nothing to contradict the validity or substance of my previously printed letter. However, G.E. Ohmer by his "one comment" attempts to impeach that substance by attacking my credibility for being an "anti-war officer."

Consequently, I have a confession to make. I have truly had the wrong impression of the John Birch Society. I quite naturally assumed that when Richard Friske and the other followers of the JBS spoke of freedom, they meant freedom for all the people of these United States. Instead I now learn that freedom (in this particular case—speech) extends only to those who subscribe to the dogma of the JBS.

This definitely contradicts the old American adage "I may not agree with what you say, but I'll defend to death your right to say it." I suggest G.E. Ohmer try reading the Constitution, more specifically the First Amendment. I do not see any exception in the First Amendment which precludes the citizen-soldier, like any other citizen, from exercising their right of free speech. But yet, G.E. Ohmer, you would attempt to discredit what I have previously written by denying me that right.

I find it the cruelest of hypocrisies to deny the members of the military the very rights for which they are willing to die. I find it just as paradoxical that Richard Friske and the other followers of the JBS condemn the communist system but say nothing contradictory of the fascist system of government which likewise denies basic human freedoms.

Nor has Richard Friske (to my knowledge) ever voiced criticism of his former Commander-in-Chief, Adolf Hitler. What type of system do you want G.E. Ohmer? A system in which people are simply like Pavlov's dogs, who when told to gas the Jews—gas them, or when told to waste the goods—waste them. I cannot but believe G.E. Ohmer you honestly put credence in the slogan "America, Love Her or Leave Her."

The single week he spent in China could do more to promote harmony throughout the world than a century of harangues in the lofty halls of the United Nations.

Now don't get me wrong. I don't think that Communism or anything remotely

Clockwise China Revisited

Elsewhere on this page is a letter from Robert L. Olson relative to last week's Clockwise column in which Chairman Mao of Red China was described as "grandfatherly" and Chou En-lai as "a little stiff and old-maidish."

Mr. Olson takes exception and says "millions of murdered Chinese peasants" would take exception also.

And perhaps he is right. I don't know for sure how many peasants Mao and Chou have murdered, if any. I do know there were plenty of casualties when the Communists rose to power in China in 1949.

And the Red Guard rampages in more recent years certainly were less constrained than Sunday School picnics.

However, unlike Mr. Olson, I believe President Nixon's trip to China should mark the beginning of a brand new balgame between the United States and Communist China.

Goodness knows, Clockwise has not always seen eye to eye with the health and happiness for all peoples. It has worked fine for us, but would it ever have worked in China, a nation of 800 million most of whom were illiterate when the Chinese Communists took over?

Just as we have rejected the notion that "What's good for General Motors is good for the country," so must we also reject the notion that our way of life is the gospel to the Chinese peasantry. In time—and it may take centuries—China may emerge as a free nation. But pressing human problems such as famine and poverty cannot wait centuries for solutions.

The progress that Chairman Mao and Prime Minister Chou En-lai have made in 22 short years is astounding, considering the miserable state of affairs they inherited from Chiang Kai-Chuk, whose government was so riddled with graft and corruption that even our own Harry Truman refused to lend him a hand when a Communist take-over appeared imminent.

The Communists have been able to accomplish in a score of years what Chiang Sun Yat-sen and other imperial rulers were unable to accomplish in generations.

They certainly have pulled off one of the major miracles of the 20th Century. My one concern at this point is Chairman Mao and Chou En-lai are wise enough to keep a tight grip on the reins of progress. Their major task is to keep 800 million people alive and well and working. They won't be able to do it if they over-mechanize, as we have done in the United States, to the detriment of our natural resources and our self-esteem. Witness our atrocious unemployment rate (8.2 percent in Michigan in February), our burgeoning welfare rules and the abominable mess we have made of our environment! Hopefully Mao and Chou will learn from our experience and not plunge China into the maw of industrialization overnight.

Mr. Olson concludes his letter with the wish that the people of China might "have a chance to hear the gospel of Christ preached."

How easy it is to forget that in generations past, hordes of Christian missionaries invaded China to preach the gospel to the Chinese peasantry. Yet the centuries-old Buddhist religion was so deeply entrenched that only about one percent of the Chinese people were converted to Christianity.

Will we never learn that what is "right" for one group of people is not necessarily "right" for everybody the world over? Will Americans ever stop trying to remake mankind in their own image. Sometimes I doubt it.

Stumping the Woods ...With Ollie O. Stump Jr.

Nostalgia, being the pleasure of maturity, I mentally demolished the ranch style home and returned the scene to the days of my childhood, when it was Uncle Charley's farm. He was my favorite relative with whom I often spent weekends and thereby came to know the third member of the family—Uncle Charley's mule.

He addressed the animal as "Jenny" only on formal occasions, more often employing less flattering terms, especially during his frequent bargaining sessions pertaining to work rules and fringe benefits. Thus, over the years an iron clad, though delightfully unilateral, agreement was forged regarding the interpretation of employee rights and needless to point out, they resulted in her favor in most cases.

There were certain phases of agriculture which were beneath her dignity, one of which was cultivating. Jenny reasoned rightly that cultivating was a lofty mental process to be pursued in the shade while Charley hatched the ridiculous theory that it applied to a turnip patch in the hot sun.

Jenny never resorted to deceit. Every move was a predetermined plan of logic. She reasoned that cultivating consisted of two distinctly defined processes. When headed in a westerly direction, the rows stretched into the distant horizon and such a journey must be taken at a leisurely pace, thus providing a reserve of energy for the return flight.

"Flight" is not a misprint. Even this is inadequate to describe the return trip. When headed east, there was a definite goal to achieve—the open barn doors. As she hurtled toward her objective like a sweetestakes winner, Charley executed a beautiful broken field pattern running in a cloud of dust, turning leaves, and choice expletives. Realizing that considerable time would be required to enlighten Charley that dirt farming and cash crops did not always go hand in hand, Jenny chose the shade of the barn to convey her thoughts concerning this abortive enterprise.

In addition to her powers of persuasion, Jenny could count, tell time, and estimate weight. Since heading did not extend to the servant's quarters and she was never invited to the sauna, she was not overzealous about hauling wood, but accepted it as the lesser of many irksome evils which plagued her life. With a baleful gleam, she watched the loading and put the sled in motion the moment her prescribed quota was reached.

I recall the time she decided to test Uncle Charley's honesty. Although she expressed no interest in the operation,

Says Column on China Just so Much Hogwash

Mr. Robert Clock
Charlevoix Courier
Bridge St.
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Dear Sir:

I read the Clockwise article entitled "The China Trip." Your views on Chou En-lai and Chairman Mao describing them as grandfatherly and a little stiff and old-maidish was just so much hogwash.

The fact is that they are guilty of murdering millions of their own countrymen. Millions of murdered Chinese peasants would have liked your description of Chairman Mao as a fundamental sort of guy who enjoys putting in his garden and playing with his grandchildren. You said "Are these the people we have been mad on for 22 years? It's hard to believe."

A great majority of Americans aren't mad at all people anywhere in the world. What makes us mad is the terror tactics used to enslave people under leaders like Chou En-lai, Mao, Stalin, Hitler, Castro, and many others. The saddest picture on the TV was the pre-school children that will be brain washed to hate everything and everybody not communist.

The communists are good at making drab every country they take over. They remove everything that reminds people of by-gone days. Can people anywhere in this world be happy especially if they have no choice but to complain about our streets being unsafe.

Several years ago the streets of China were drenched with blood as the Redguards murdered and brutally beat anyone who they didn't think was good enough communists. The communists have an advantage over our country in as much as they get rid of those that they consider dissident elements whereas in our country we permit dissent and some seem to have more concern for troublemakers than they do for the victims.

As long as our hearts bleed for criminals, we will have unsafe streets. Don't indict the whole American people because a small majority has criminal tendencies. Use your editorials against these criminals and demand that courts take them off our streets so that the majority can walk day or night without fear. An overwhelming majority of Americans do not go around at night clobering people over the head. We, too, work to make ends meet and we know nothing but honest toil.

Now that the so-called road to China is open, I don't think we are going to send the criminals and trouble makers there as you seem to think. In fact, I believe that some of them are probably paid from communist China to stir up some of the trouble that makes our streets unsafe. Also I imagine there is a curfew there at night so that the streets are sinister and dark enough. I differ from you as I feel sorry and sad for the millions of people that have to live under communist tyranny.

My one wish for China would be that they would have a chance to hear the Gospel of Christ preached.

Robert L. Olson

Aunt Sarah, I love you.

Remember my 10th birthday when you gave me that funny piece of green paper called money? Well, I was a pretty disappointing present for a kid. I couldn't eat it, couldn't wear it, couldn't play with it—and Mom took it away from me practically the minute I got it.

And every birthday after that (and Christmas too), you gave me another one of those Bonds, you called them. I thought you were pretty generous.

At last, I never had to guess what I was going to get from good old Aunt Sarah.

And what I got was good old reliable U.S. Savings Bonds.

What I didn't realize then was that you gave me a gift of security for the future. Thanks to you and those Bonds, I had extra funds for college. And they helped when I bought my first new car.

Next week, I'm giving my nephew, Harry, his first U.S. Savings Bond. I know the kids gonna think I'm some kind of nut. But, someday...

Take stock in America.
New Savings Bonds Regularly.

U.S. Savings Bonds are a safe and sound way to build a better future for you and your family. They're guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government.

Obituary

Usher

Funeral for Mrs. Ella Usher, 90, widow of A.J. Usher, editor and publisher of the Charlevoix Courier for 40 years, was held Sunday at the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. John Call of the First Baptist Church officiating. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Usher died March 3 at a Tecumseh (Mich.) nursing home where she had been a patient for the past six years. The former Ella Dubois was born in Ithaca, July 8, 1881, and moved to Charlevoix as a young woman, marrying A.J. Usher. Mr. Usher died in 1945.

Mrs. Usher lived in her home on Mason st., until about 10 years ago when she moved to southern Michigan to be close to her family.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church and Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, OES.

She is survived by one son, Charles B. of Grand Rapids; two daughters, Mrs. James (Lucille) Anderson of Lansing and Mrs. David (Alyce) Dick of Tecumseh; 13 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Dick

Funeral for Mrs. Gertrude Dick, 91, retired teacher and Elementary School principal who was formerly associated with the Charlevoix County Normal School here, was held Monday at the Stevens Funeral Home at Scottville. Burial will be in a Freehold cemetery.

Mrs. Dick died early Saturday at Owosso Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient for three weeks. She had been a patient at an Oakley Nursing Home for several years.

A graduate of Western Michigan University, Mrs. Dick came to Charlevoix in 1923 to be associated with the Charlevoix County Normal School. When it closed in the early 1930's, she remained as Elementary School principal and teacher until her retirement in 1945.

She continued to reside here until moving to Cheaning to be near her daughter.

She was a member of the United Methodist Church, the Michigan Education Association and the National Education Association.

Born at Freehold, Oct. 2, 1880, the former Gertrude Durr was married to Jason P. Dick in August, 1901. He preceded her in death in the early 1940's. She had taught at Scottville, West Branch and in the state of Washington before coming to Charlevoix.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Howard (Helen) Frink of Cheaning; one son, David, of Tecumseh; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Campbell

Funeral for Mrs. Allen (Anna) Campbell, 87, was held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home, with burial in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Campbell died March 3 at Charlevoix Hospital where she had been a patient for one day.

The former Anna Olmstead was born in Muskegon County Nov. 15, 1884, and moved to Norwood Township as a young girl.

She married Allen Campbell in 1910 and they made their home in Charlevoix.

She was a member of the First Congregational Church, the Margaret Parker Circle, the Women's Fellowship and the Charlevoix Garden Club.

Mrs. Campbell is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Helen M. Buckler of the Chippewa; a sister, Mrs. Arline Bedford of Charlevoix; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

39-Oz. Baby Home

By Beth Gendell

The smallest baby ever born to survive at the Sawyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti has been welcomed home by its parents, former residents of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan "Skip" Smith, Renee Elizabeth Smith was born prematurely on Dec. 19 at the hospital after her mother was admitted as an emergency patient. The child weighed only 39 ounces at birth and dropped to 32 ounces after the first week.

After several anxious weeks the baby appeared to be gaining steadily, and after 63 days the hospital saw fit to release Renee to the home of her parents.

The attending doctor stated that the child was the smallest to survive that he had delivered in his 22 years of practice.

The family has three other children: Skip is the son of Mr. Les Payne and grandson of Mrs. Lydia Johnson.

Lawsuit in Court

Berlage and Francis J. Henschel, Jr., representing Dr. Ralph MacMullan and the Natural Resources Commission. The commission is suing the Charlevoix Historical Society for $25,000, claiming that the society's new museum building is a violation of the historic preservation laws.

Judge Brown has set aside three days to hear the case although there are indications it may go longer.

"I have only nine months and 23 days left," Judge Brown commented after attorney Skeetee outlined motions before the court. He also said that regardless of his decision, the case "is bound to be appealed."

One of the first motions heard by Judge Brown was a plea by state attorney Beck to dismiss the suit because the plaintiffs failed to state their cause of action.

Beck maintained that the mere issuance of a dam permit is not in violation of the law. He also insisted there is nothing illegal in the exchange of property deeds, ceding both actions as a "shuffling of papers."

"The mere exchange of deeds does not constitute an actionable complaint," Beck said.

He said taking the DNR to court over the issuance of a dam permit was something akin to taking the state to court over the issuance of a driver's license, on grounds that the driver will eventually pollute the air by driving his automobile. He also drew a parallel between the issuance of a license to sell beer, on grounds that purchasers may litter the highways with beer cans.

Skeetee answered by saying that the issuance of the dam permit was "a link in a chain of events which will hurt the environment" and called Beck's contentions "obviously absurd."

Attorney Wilcox said Beck's argument was "legalistic and unrealistic."

"He (Shelden) would not apply for a dam permit if he didn't intend to build a dam. You don't acquire a dam permit for the privilege of owning a dam permit or to visit the Leaning Tower of Pisa."

"We can't try this case in a dark closet with the light out," he added, claiming that Beck had "wonderfully failed to give reasons for a summary judgment."

Attorney Berlage then entered a motion to dismiss on the part of Shelden, claiming his client was the victim of "retroactive legislation."

Shelden said Shelden and his late partner, Frank Wreford, began investigating the possibility of creating a resort development in the Monroe Creek area in 1968, "before the coming of age of environmental activism."

He said the two men secured options on the property and won the approval of the South Arm Township Board and the former Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors.

Then, after securing tentative approval by the DNR, he said Shelden and Wreford exercised their options to acquire the land and began engineering studies.

In the intervening years, Berlage pointed out, the Dam Act was broadened to include environmental considerations in addition to safety and engineering; county boards of supervisors lost control over artificial lakes and the legislature passed the Environmental Protection Act.

He reassured that Shelden was the victim of "retroactive legislation" and the project should not be subject to judicial review.

Judge Brown postponed decisions on both motions to dismiss and the trial began.

He said taking the DNR to court over the issuance of a dam permit was something akin to taking the state to court over the issuance of a driver's license, on grounds that the driver will eventually pollute the air by driving his automobile. He also drew a parallel between the issuance of a license to sell beer, on grounds that purchasers may litter the highways with beer cans.

Wins Grant

The Charlevoix School District is one of five educational and community organizations in northern Michigan to be approved for a grant under the Drug Abuse Education Act of 1970.

According to Sen. Robert Griffin and Cong. Philip Ruppe, the grant will be $2,200, will be awarded to communities to assist them in developing the capacity to provide comprehensive preventive drug education programs.

Funds will be used for training community teams to determine the local drug problems, assess and mobilize resources and develop a coordinated community program for responding to the drug problems.

Receiving grants along with the Charlevoix School District will be Boyne Falls Public Schools, Indian Lakes Schools, Indian River; Gogebic Community College, Ironwood; and the Chippewa; Lac-MacMurray Community Agency, Michigan Indian Community Agency, Sault Ste. Marie.

CHS Players Place 3rd In One-Act Competition

Charlevoix High School's Debate Forensics Class placed third in the state Saturday in the one-act play competition finals at Parkside High School in Jackson.

The Charlevoix players presented William Shorrock's dramatic one-act play entitled "Hello, Out There," directed by Mrs. Connie Ford, class advisor.

They competed against 12 other schools: Bad Ax, Flint Northern, Southfield, St. Johns, Ann Arbor, Pioneer, Clio-Niles, Beecher-Flint, West Branch, Sandusky, Warren Woods, and Austin.

Flint Northern placed first, Warren Woods second and Charlevoix third. Each of the three schools received a trophy.

Judges were Peter Landry, associate professor of theater at Michigan State University; Edwin Cohen, professor of drama at Central Michigan University; and William Morgan, professor of theater at Eastern Michigan University.

Members of the Charlevoix cast were Steve Kantola, Lisa Wasson, Ted Schantz, Sue Baertter, Morty Anders and Marc Custer.

Kantola received a superior acting award and Lisa Wasson an award for excellence.

Stage and make-up crews consisted of the remaining members of the cast: Catherine Swarthout, Jeanne Kelly, Laurie Engstrom, Vicki Skelton, LuAnn Wolschberger, Peggy Berg, Debby Powell, Debbie Hank, Lauri Heeres and Murphy Wallace.

The plays were judged upon directing, acting, tempo and pacing, stage mechanics and total effect.

The set had to be erected, the play performed and the set removed within a 45-minute time limit.

The Charlevoix players qualified for the state competition by placing second in the district and first in regional competition.

Kantola received superior acting awards at both the district and regional levels. Miss Wasson received an excellent award at the district level and a superior rating in the regional.

So far, "Hello, Out There" has earned three trophies and six acting awards for the Charlevoix group.

The play will be presented in Charlevoix sometime this spring.

Charlevoix Museum Is One Step Closer

By BERNICE WESTSTAFF

The February meeting of the Charlevoix Museum organizers was held in the public room of the First State Bank with Ralph Hamilton presiding. Mrs. Robert Burns, Mrs. Kiti Carson and Mrs. Carl Kohler of the Woman's Club were present as were Miss Frances Durance, Mrs. Marian Brissard and Kiti Carson and Robert Burns, of the Kiwanis Club.

The group voted favorably to form a state organization with the name "The Charlevoix Historical Society" to reinstate the old Charlevoix Historical Society decision in 1968, by the same name. Ralph Hamilton presided and appointed a committee to draw up simple by-laws, including Mrs. Marian Brissard, Mrs. Arthur Weststaff and Mr. Hamilton.

Followed by appointment of a board of directors as follows: Robert Burns, Miss Frances Durance, Mrs. Kiti Carson, Mrs. Carl Kohler, Mrs. Arthur Weststaff and Clarence Rabach.

Robert Burns, local attorney, was requested to form a resume of organizational purpose and to file necessary legal papers to assure the Charlevoix Historical Society of tax exemption as a nonprofit organization.

The Society presently has the promise of an ancient Howe sewing machine which once belonged to Sarah Thompson Smith, niece of Medad Thompson, who was Charlevoix's first settler with John Dixon in 1856. Also promised is an ancient loom seat of rust-colored satin damask said to be Greek-Victorian from the O.W. Johnson family, later arrivals but still pioneers.

Unfortunately records of the old Charlevoix Historical Society appear to have been lost during the past half century but should any local resident find any trace of these meetings and add it to the museum memorabilia.

Monroe Creek Decision Due By April 30

A battery of six attorneys wound up four days of legal fistfuffs over the controversial Monroe Creek Impoundment Thursday afternoon in Charlevoix Circuit Court. Decision in the environmental protection lawsuit is still some weeks away.

When the final session ended, Judge Charles L. Brown promised to have the case wrapped up by the end of April. However he said he is confident his decision will be appealed, regardless of his conclusion.

The delay resulted from the refusal by attorneys for plaintiff Dr. John Tanton of Petoskey and co-plaintiffs Trout, Unlimited, and the Eastern Michigan Environmental Action Council to make their final summation until Judge Brown has had an opportunity to read approximately 1,000 pages of depositions from witnesses who were unable to testify in person.

The lawsuit was initiated in December by Dr. Tanton against Dr. Ralph MacMullan, director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources; the Natural Resources Commission; and Francis Shelden, over Shelden's plans to construct a dam across Monroe Creek, creating a 400-acre artificial lake. The lake would be the focal point of a proposed 1,500-home resort development on the 40-acre tract.

Dr. Tanton maintains that Dr. MacMullan and the Natural Resources Commission had been issuing a permit to build such a dam because it will destroy Monroe Creek as a trout stream and inundate a valuable wildlife habitat.

Dr. Tanton further charges that the state short-changed the people of Michigan by granting Shelden two fishing easements on Monroe Creek, 40 acres of land on Warner Creek in Wilson Township.

Although the Warner Creek property carries a higher price tag, Dr. Tanton said the Monroe Creek property actually was much more valuable to Shelden, since the entire resort development hinges upon its acquisition.

ATTORNEYS NAMED

Dr. Tanton was represented in the lawsuit by Peter Skeetee of Grand Rapids, assisted by Joseph Wilcox of Albion, counsel for Trout, Unlimited; and George Snyder of Detroit, attorney for Berlage.

Berlage briefly alluded to his contention made during the opening session that Shelden had been the victim of "retroactive legislation," by launching the Monroe Creek Development during the "coming of age of environmental activism."

Then he lit into the plaintiff's attorneys for their refusal to participate in final arguments and said they did so for three reasons:

1. They know their case is weak and their proofs inadequate.
2. They are seeking an extraordinary delay to harass Shelden.
3. And that the plaintiff's case already has been tried in Continued on page 6

Teachers May Sue District For Back Pay

The Charlevoix School District will face a federal court lawsuit by its teachers for approving retroactive pay for teachers in the Charlevoix School District by April 1, 1972, the Board of Education has been advised in a letter from a Lansing law firm retained by the Charlevoix Education Association to represent in the case.

The letter was read by Supt. Robert L. Miller at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Board Monday night.

The letter said the firm had been retained by the Charlevoix Education Association to represent in the case.

The board was told that the CEA had filed a grievance under the master contract and that John Thomas of Flint, legal advisor for the school, had advised that the board had no obligation to the CEA.

The CEA and the school board ratified the master contract Sept. 27, approximately six weeks after the wage freeze went into effect in mid-August. At the time the two groups ratified the contract, it was with the understanding that the new salary schedule would become effective when the freeze was lifted, so long as it did not violate remaining freeze restrictions.

Since the board did not put the new contract into effect as agreed when the freeze was lifted Nov. 14, board members feel they have met their obligation and will accept a lawsuit if necessary.

Staffing for the 1972-73 school year was also discussed briefly before the board voted to post the following positions: High School and Middle School girls' counselor, Middle School art, Middle School social studies, Elementary social music and elementary physical education. By posting the list, present qualified teachers may apply.

During recent months the school board has been establishing policies. Another one which has been discussed at recent meetings was adopted Monday. It relates to bus driver rules and regulations, two of which were applied to causes for dismissal of drivers. According to the policy, any bus driver who receives a traffic violation for exceeding the basic speed law or other laws established by the State or Municipalities while transporting students is subject to immediate dismissal; any driver who repeatedly disobeys transportation rules and regulations and who is guilty of insubordination is subject to dismissal.

Bill Boal Sentenced

William A. Boal, 43, of Charlevoix was sentenced to three to five years in Southern Michigan Prison on a charge of grand larceny when he appeared before Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown last week.

Boal was given credit for 156 days already served since his arrest in Las Vegas in November.

Boal was charged with taking funds estimated at about $10,000 from the Weather-Vane Inn in July, 1970, where he was employed as a bookkeeper.

He disappeared for 15 months prior to his arrest in Las Vegas.

In other Circuit Court business last week, John H. Crandell, 38, Boyne City, was sentenced to from two to four years in Southern Michigan Prison on a charge of arson at the Dulworth Hotel.

Also sentenced was Wayne R. Kuzmak, 39, Boyne City, who received two to ten years parole violation on a charge of breaking and entering.

Ance Pleads No Contest

Attorney Norm Ance pleaded "no contest" in Grand Rapids Federal Court March 8 to a charge that he failed to file an income tax return for the year 1965.

He was released on personal bond after appearing before Federal Judge Noel P. Fox. He will be sentenced later. Charges that Ance failed to file returns for three other years are still pending.

GOP to Meet

Charlevoix County Republicans will meet Thursday, March 16, at 8 p.m. in the courthouse, according to chairman Robert Wise.

Church of Nazarene To Host Evangelists

Rev. and Mrs. Harold L. Myers, evangelists of Grand Rapids, will hold special services at the Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene, March 14-19.

Services will be at 7 p.m. each evening Tuesday through Saturday and on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Rev. Myers is a full time evangelist in the Church of the Nazarene and has held many revivals and youth rallies.

Traveling with him in his work is his wife, who plays the accordion and organ, and sings with her husband. The Myerses have a seven-part program which they use.

These visual stories are fascinating to both young and old.

The church and its pastor extend a hearty welcome to everyone to attend these services. Each service will be filled with good things: spiritual songs, choruses, special songs and music, Bible preaching, and the presence of the Lord.

The Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene is located at the corner of US 31 and Waller Road just north of the city.

Of the people, by the people, and for the people.

A permanent contribution to the human spirit

Give someone a long distance laugh.

She was up before seven. Did twenty-seven loads of wash. Made another mountain of peanut butter sandwiches. Ran out of grocery money and tried a new casserole that didn't quite make it. The son never did come out 'til ten at night - when someone far away called on a whim and made her laugh. That's all it takes to turn someone's whole day around. A moment of laughter.

So, if you know someone out of town who could use a good laugh and you've got a funny story - share it - long distance. Make two people happy with an unexpected call.

Council Minutes

February 28, 1972

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Essenberg presiding. Aldermen present: Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, Supanaw, and Boss. Absent: Alderman Sundberg.

The minutes of the March 14, 1972 meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $38,565.49 find them correct and recommend they be allowed. Moved by Alderman Gill, supported by Alderman Sundberg that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, Supanaw, and Boss. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Sundberg.

Alderman Sundberg asked to be excused. Granted.

Tom Merz representing the Chamber of Commerce asked the Council to consider paying $400 in addition to the City's regular contribution to be used for the Venetian fireworks. The request was put into committee to be considered when the budget is prepared. Mayor Essenberg requested to be put on record as endorsing their request.

Jack Begrow of Wharf Condominiums presented a request for a partial vacation of Antrim Street east of Bridge Street (Lot 6 through 12, Block 19, Newman's Addition).

Council recessed for five minutes. Council returned and the meeting was again called to order. Mr. Begrow was requested to attend a special committee meeting to be held March 6, 1972.

Correspondence was read from Police Chief Mol regarding parking in the County Building area.

Correspondence was reviewed regarding certain manufacturers of cast iron pipe and a suit being filed on behalf of the municipalities of Michigan by the State Attorney. Hoffman was asked his opinion regarding the matter and thought it wise for the City to take a chance, since considerable pipe has been purchased by the City, feeling that the most it could cost the City would be a portion of court costs, travel and transcripts. And if the State wins the case the City stands to profit by it. The matter was put into committee for further discussion.

Mayor Essenberg proclaimed May 22-27, 1972 Michigan Week. Since the City formerly exchanged Mayors with Durand it was generally felt they would like to exchange with a different city. The administrator was asked to inquire if Charlevoix might re-draw.

A resolution was offered by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Supanaw to lease to Freedman's Engineering Corporation that portion of City property South of the entrance to the airport and East of a line formed by the continuation of Freedman's West property line for a period of one year. Resolution was adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Alderman Gill, Klooster, Supanaw, and Boss. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Sundberg and Westernbrook.

A resolution was offered by Alderman Supanaw and supported by Alderman Klooster that the City accept the transfer of 723 feet of Stover Road between May Street and Ferry Ave. from the County Road Commission and the continued responsibility of maintenance and upkeep along with its inclusion in the City street inventory. Resolution adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Alderman Gill, Klooster, Supanaw, and Boss. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Sundberg and Westernbrook.

Motion offered by Alderman Klooster, supported by Alderman Supanaw that record be made by Journal Entry of a receivable in Sewage Fund from Public Improvement Fund and a loan in Public Improvement Fund payable to Sewer Fund for $16,313.82 (expense paid by Sewage Fund on behalf of Public Improvement Fund - amount shown as construction in Progress 2/28/72). Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Alderman Gill, Klooster, Supanaw, Boss. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Sundberg and Westernbrook.

Motion offered by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Klooster that $1500 be transferred from the Water Fund to the Sewage Fund. Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Alderman Gill, Klooster, Supanaw, and Boss. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Sundberg and Westernbrook.

Motion offered by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Klooster that $31,000 be transferred from the Alderman Klooster that $31,000 be transferred from the Electric Fund to the General Fund. Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Alderman Gill, Klooster, Supanaw, and Boss. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Sundberg and Westernbrook.

Motion was offered by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Boss that $10,000 be transferred from the General Fund to the Local Street Fund. Motion adopted by the following yeas and nays: Yeas: Alderman Gill, Klooster, Supanaw, and Boss. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Sundberg and Westernbrook.

The monthly meeting of the Grandview Medical Care Facility Auxiliary met Thursday March 9 with 30 members and guests present.

The group has been very active in providing assistance to the regular personnel of the Facility by doing personal shopping, reading, help in the therapy room and other needs of patients. Their current program is a drive to provide funds for the construction of a patio which can be utilized for various outdoor activities.

Ladies from Charlevoix who attended the meeting were President Elect, Mrs. Albert Munsen, Mrs. Floyd Chamberlain, Mrs. Lester Smith, Mrs. Florence Fox, Mrs. Clarence Helst, Mrs. Charles Reinhart, Mrs. Keith Wagner and Mrs. Reed McVay. Guest speaker was social worker Mrs. Ray Uhlendorf.

Mr. and Mrs. James Col and son Eric of Flint spent the weekend with their grandmother, Mrs. Bonnie Nickerson.

Mrs. Florence Mueller has returned from a six-week vacation during which she traveled to Arizona, California and Mexico.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cross were his sister, Mrs. Richard Hakanson of Lufkin, who also visited her sister, Mrs. Hazel White who is a patient at Grandview Medical Care Facility. Other guests included Billy, Joseph and Irene Courter of Birmingham who visited over the past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lusk are vacationing at Key Largo, Fla. for several weeks. Sgt. Lawrence Ingalls has departed after spending a two-week visit here with his mother, Mrs. Ella Ingalls. He has returned to the states after spending two weeks in Germany with his wife and son who are making their home in Germany while Sgt.

Ingalls is on a tour of duty in Vietnam.

Patients from Charlevoix admitted to Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey during the past week were Mrs. Edward Swanson, medical; Mrs. Thomas Pence, medical; and Robert Stewart Jr., medical.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Russell of Kalamazoo spent the past weekend here visiting her mother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Handwork announced the birth of a son born at Lockwood MacDonald Hospital on March 3.

Mrs. Ruby Edwards has returned to her home here after visiting near Cheboygan with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knaflic.

The Margaret Packer Circle of the Congregational Church met March 8 at Fellowship Hall for a potluck dinner. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Lester Smith. A memorial was sent to the Church Building Fund in memory of Mrs. Allen Campbell. A committee was selected to attend the Grandview M.F.C. Auxiliary meeting March 9. The next meeting to be held March 22 will be hosted by Mrs. Frieda Novotny and Mrs. Lola Olney.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McAdill, assisted by Mrs. Robert Egler, entertained Saturday evening March 4 at the Meakill's new home on South Grand St. with a surprise party honoring Mr. Egler who celebrated his birthday anniversary.

Fourteen guests enjoyed an 8 p.m. buffet dinner which featured a large decorated birthday cake. A social evening followed at which Mr. Egler received several honorarium gifts. Out of town guests included his daughter, Kathy, and her friend Lynn Charlott of MSU at East Lansing.

Singing Kolendas to Appear March 17

The singing Kolenda family from Washington, D.C., will appear at the Charlevoix Assembly of God, 203 E. Upright St., Friday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the troupe are Rev. and Mrs. Arnold Kolenda, daughters Linda, Keren and Charlene and son Arnold II.

They will present a variety of songs, including solos, duets, trios and quartets, accompanied by various instruments.

The Kolendas travel across the United States and Canada on concert tours in their own cross-country family bus. They also have appeared in Europe and in the Scandinavian countries and have their own weekly radio program.

Next Friday's concert in Charlevoix will include many favorite hymns and gospel songs.

Formerly sales manager for a large national company, Rev. Kolenda was called to the ministry and became pastor of a church in East Hartford, Conn. Having sung with his brothers in sacred concerts for 25 years, he re-entered the musical field with his wife and children to present the gospel in song.

All residents of the Charlevoix area are cordially invited to attend the concert.

Century-Old Behive Shown to Gardeners

By MRS. THOMAS MAXWELL
The February meeting of the Boyne Valley Organic Gardening and Farming Club was held recently at the Charlevoix High School Cafeteria, with 34 present, including guests coming from as far away as Williamsburg and Belmar.

The special guest, Wayne Heber of Petoskey, dressed in clothing worn by a beekeeper, gave a demonstration on all phases of bee keeping.

On display was a 100 year old dome shaped hive, two to three feet high, made of woven straw, that was used by German beekeepers in this area.

Also on display were bird houses made by David Stolt from slab board, logs, farm wood and fence posts.

Thompson Wins AF Award

Army Sgt. Leonard B. Thompson, 20, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Thompson, and wife, Merle, live at 824 Tracy, East Jordan, recently received the Combat Infantryman Badge while serving with the 101st Airborne Division (airborne) in Vietnam.

The badge is a unique award that is highly coveted by its recipients. The award was originated during World War II to recognize the role of the infantryman. The CIB can be awarded only to a member of an infantry unit of brigade, regimental or smaller size unit who has satisfactorily performed in active ground combat against a hostile force.

In honor of its singular meaning, the badge is worn above all other awards and decorations, over the left breast.

It is a blue rectangle with a silver rim mounted on it, superimposed over a curved wreath. Subsequent awards are represented by stars at the top center of the wreath.

Sgt. Thompson is a squad leader with Company C, 2nd Battalion of the Divisions 501st Infantry.

He entered the Army in July 1970, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Library notes

The Library shelves have a new assortment of beautiful books for pre-school children or for parents to read aloud at bedtime. All of them are illustrated, and each is more delightful than the next. Some of them—like "The Ballooning Adventures of Paddy Pork"—have no words at all, and it is wonderful to watch a child turn the pages, shivering with excitement to see just what new and terrible adventure Paddy Pork has gotten himself into. There is a close call with a crocodile and a near miss with some angry gorillas and a frightful experience with some cannibals who have the kettle all ready for a pig stew. All of this with no words! Then there is a selection of tiny books, published in just the right size to fit small hands. We won't list all the titles, but bring the small lots in so they can choose the ones they like the best.

For adults, we are pleased to mention "Crisis in the Classroom," by Charles E. Silberman, author of Crisis in Black and White. This is a memorial book presented to the Library by the Class of 1961 in memory of Sandra Tuomela. This much-talked-about book is the result of a

3 1/2 year study commissioned by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The author examines the problems confronting American education. Anyone who is concerned with the nation's public schools and with its colleges and universities will be disturbed by the picture of current practice which Mr. Silberman paints in vivid and painful detail.

"The Naked Children" by Daniel Fader is another very serious and probing book. It deals with Cleo Westworth, Snapper, Rubbergut and Uncle Wiggly—all citizens of our country. They are all 13 and 14 years old, attending Washington's Garnett-Patterson Junior High School. The title of the book is startling and realistic. "If language is the clothing of life, no child should be sent naked into the world." Highly recommended.

The attention of the entire world has been focused on China this past week. Library notes

The Library shelves have a new assortment of beautiful books for pre-school children or for parents to read aloud at bedtime. All of them are illustrated, and each is more delightful than the next. Some of them—like "The Ballooning Adventures of Paddy Pork"—have no words at all, and it is wonderful to watch a child turn the pages, shivering with excitement to see just what new and terrible adventure Paddy Pork has gotten himself into. There is a close call with a crocodile and a near miss with some angry gorillas and a frightful experience with some cannibals who have the kettle all ready for a pig stew. All of this with no words! Then there is a selection of tiny books, published in just the right size to fit small hands. We won't list all the titles, but bring the small lots in so they can choose the ones they like the best.

For adults, we are pleased to mention "Crisis in the Classroom," by Charles E. Silberman, author of Crisis in Black and White. This is a memorial book presented to the Library by the Class of 1961 in memory of Sandra Tuomela. This much-talked-about book is the result of a

3 1/2 year study commissioned by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The author examines the problems confronting American education. Anyone who is concerned with the nation's public schools and with its colleges and universities will be disturbed by the picture of current practice which Mr. Silberman paints in vivid and painful detail.

"The Naked Children" by Daniel Fader is another very serious and probing book. It deals with Cleo Westworth, Snapper, Rubbergut and Uncle Wiggly—all citizens of our country. They are all 13 and 14 years old, attending Washington's Garnett-Patterson Junior High School. The title of the book is startling and realistic. "If language is the clothing of life, no child should be sent naked into the world." Highly recommended.

Rayders Lose by 2 Points

Mason County Kills Chance for Crown

The Red Rayders lost a heart-breaker to Mason County Central last Wednesday, 65-63, cutting short Charlevoix's chances for a Regional crown.

The game was so close that Charlevoix actually was one-up on the Mason County team at the end of the third period, 48-47. But the down-stalers came through with 18 points in the final period, holding Charlevoix to 15 and clinching the victory.

The Mason County team came on strong in the opener, ringing up 22 points to Charlevoix's 13. However in the second period, Charlevoix came back with 15, compared to Mason County's 12, leaving Mason ahead at the half, 34-28.

Charlevoix's biggest period was the third, when the Rayders tallied 20 points to Mason's 13. But the finale changed the trend. High man for the Rayders was Tim Carey with 18 points on 8 fieldgoals. He was followed by Bill Carey with 15 (7 and 1); Roger Crain, 14 (6 and 2); Ned Henley, 9 (3 and 3); Larry Potter, 5 (2 and 1); and Dave Swanson, 2 (fieldgoals).

For Mason County, Moekel and Smith scored 14 each, Hankuriz, 13; Clareau, 12; Durham, 8; and Dobbins, 4.

Sale of McRae Co. Recalls Lumber Heyday

Ralph McRae of Charlevoix has sold the McRae Lumber Co. of Pellston to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Simmons, formerly of Grosse Pointe.

The sale marks the first time in 48 years that the McRae family has not been a part of the lumber and building business in Pellston.

The present building materials center was at one time a part of the Jackson and Tindle complex of mills and yards that had several hundred employees and was the principle business in Pellston, a town of 1,800 people.

George F. McRae, founder of the present company, joined Jackson and Tindle in 1900 and the name McRae has been associated with the business ever since.

In the lumbering heyday, the company had four mills, lumber camps and numerous storage yards. One of the buildings still in use was the head office for the operation; the other was a roundhouse for locomotives.

The firm owned a network of railroad track north and northwest of Pellston. Trains operated by the company not only hauled logs but also carried passengers, since rail was the principle means of transportation.

George McRae became superintendent of lumber manufacturing, overseeing operation of a saw mill, shingle mill, handle mill and a stove mill. These, plus the logging and railroad system, made up the total organization, controlled by the owners who lived in Buffalo, N.Y.

Two disastrous fires and a

District Court

The following cases were heard in District Court last week by Judge W. Richard Smith:

Michael Tompkins, 23, Williamsburg, was assessed $25 and placed on one year's probation on a charge of non-support.

Herschel Kowaghen, 35, Charlevoix, was assessed $50 and sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of concealing stolen property. He was sentenced to an additional 10 days if the fine and costs are not paid.

Jeffrey DePew, 21, of St. Louis, stationed aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew in Charlevoix, posted $2,500 bond on a charge of selling narcotic drugs. Case was continued until DePew can get an attorney.

Richard Benninger, 25, Wailoon Lake, was sentenced to 90 days in jail as a probation violator.

E.J. C of C Elects Slate

The East Jordan Chapter of Commerce planned to hold a general membership meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 14, in the city building.

Major item of business was to elect officers.

dwindling supply of logs forced the company out of the hardwood cutting business and the mill closed in 1932. The buildings were dismantled and the machinery sold. Many homes in Pellston were owned by the company and the wooden sidewalks and sidewalk made all had come from the mill.

Pellston's population quickly dropped to fewer than 800 people.

Before the mill closed, Pellston had a two-story department store, an opera house, a newspaper, bank, mortuary—and even its own jail.

During the Depression, Jackson and Tindle became a small retail lumber business managed by McRae. In 1939, McRae purchased the business and added a fire and home insurance line to augment his meager income.

Mrs. McRae joined the business as bookkeeper and remained with the firm until her retirement in 1955.

All of McRae's sons also worked for the company. George H. McRae came into the business in 1940 and sold out his share in 1963. Stanley McRae became manager of the Mackinaw City branch, which later became a separate company. Floyd McRae also worked at various company full-time in 1947, eventually becoming owner.

As a boy, he recalls working in the shingle mill for 17½ cents an hour during his summer vacations.

Although McRae has sold the firm, he plans to stay in the home construction business in the Charlevoix area. He also retains ownership of a small manufacturing business in Petoskey.

He believes the key to Pellston's continued prosperity lies in the growth of the Emmet County Airport.

The new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Simmons, presently live in Petoskey but plan to build a home closer to Pellston.

Ben Bustard Provided Nostalgic Link With Past

East Jordan and all of northern Michigan have lost a nostalgic link with the past in the death of Ben Bustard, former city clerk.

Mr. Bustard could scarcely be considered an old man at 67, but he was endowed with an acute memory and a fondness for spinning yarns that made the "old days" in East Jordan come alive for all who listened to him.

He knew where all of the lumber mills were located, who owned them and who worked in them. He also was familiar with the early days of the East Jordan Iron Works and the time when East Jordan shipped chemicals to the outside world in ceramic jugs.

Mr. Bustard also could tell you why there is an East Jordan, but no North, South or West Jordan. (The city is located on the east side of the Jordan River.)

He also recalled with pride how little East Jordan became bigger than the neighboring community of South Arm across the river and eventually incorporated its big brother.

Although he was born in Cornuna, Mr. Bustard moved to East Jordan as a boy and East Jordan was his home for life.

As a keeper of public records, he knew the city like the palm of his hand and was a valuable asset to city fathers during his 12 years as city clerk.

Charlevoix shares East Jordan's grief at the passing of a dedicated public servant.

CHS Players Place 3rd In State Competition

Charlevoix High School's Debate/Forensics Class has emerged as one of the three top groups in the state in the presentation of one-act plays.

In competition in Jackson on Saturday, the Charlevoix players placed third in state-wide competition with William Saroyan's one-act, "Hello, Out There."

Two members of the class, Steve Kantola and Lisa Wasoski, also came home with superior and excellent acting awards as further evidence of the skill and talent of the CHS players.

Much of the success of the group is due directly to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Connie Ford, sponsor of the debate team, drama coach, and director of "Hello, Out There."

Charlevoix can well be proud of its Debate/Forensics class in competition with such schools as Flint-Northern and Ann Arbor High.

The Courier, for one, is looking forward to a local presentation of "Hello, Out There" sometime this spring.

Liberals Don't Understand Revolutionary Movement

Dear Mr. Clock,

Thank you for printing my letter in the Courier. I didn't say in my letter that the President's trip to China wouldn't do any good. Also, I didn't say that the Chinese leaders were disinterested hosts.

All we can do now is prayerfully hope that Peking will demonstrate a real change in past attitudes and make sure we keep our eyes and minds open and our guards up.

What the liberals can't seem to understand is that in our country we are confronted by a World Revolutionary movement that possesses not only the will to dominate absolutely every square mile of the globe, but in increasing the capacity to do so.

Red China's revolutionary aims are felt in every country in the world, including our own. We have students and various other people walking our streets, quoting Mao's Red Book and talking revolution from the barrel of a gun.

I think that the great majority of people would say "What's good for General Motors is good for the Country," so must we also reject the notion that our way of life is best for all peoples everywhere.

Red China's revolutionary aims are felt in every country in the world, including our own. We have students and various other people walking our streets, quoting Mao's Red Book and talking revolution from the barrel of a gun.

I think that the great majority of people would say "What's good for General Motors is good for the Country," so must we also reject the notion that our way of life is best for all peoples everywhere.

What the liberals can't seem to understand is that in our country we are confronted by a World Revolutionary movement that possesses not only the will to dominate absolutely every square mile of the globe, but in increasing the capacity to do so.

3 Coeds are First Fatalities of 1972

Charlevoix County had its first traffic deaths of 1972 Sunday evening when three Central Michigan University coeds on a skiing trip were killed in a two-car crash on U.S. 131 near Walloon Lake.

The victims were Lorraine Marie Goltz, 20, Allen Park; Laura Jean Hagan, 18, East Grand Rapids; and Nancy Jo Jeppinger, 19, Battle Creek. The girls were riding in a Gremlin which was struck broadside by a 1972 Continental driven by a 16-year-old Farmington youth. The youth and his passenger were not injured.

Police believe the Continental crossed the center line and both drivers applied their brakes. The Gremlin slid sideways into the path of the oncoming car. It is not certain which of the girls was driving, since all were thrown from the vehicle.

The victims were pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Robert Martin, county medical examiner.

In other recent accidents, Dennis Lee Lavanway, 18, Central Lake, died at Charlevoix Hospital March 9 of injuries suffered in a snowmobile accident the day before. He struck a parked car.

Alfred Arnold, 41, Bay City, an employee of Michigan Bell, was killed March 8 when his truck slammed head-on into a car driven by Ben Powell Jr., Bellare. The accident occurred on East Torch Lake rd. Powell was not injured.

Holiness Unit Tells Plans

The Charlevoix Holiness Association will meet March 21 at the Boyne City Church of the Nazarene. Worship service will start at 9:30 p.m., followed by a potluck supper at 5:30. The evening service will begin at 7 p.m.

Pastor E.W. Varian invites the public to attend.

Three Bands Take Part In Annual Spring Concert

The Instrumental Music Department of Charlevoix High School will present its annual spring concert at the High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, C.A. Omark, has announced.

Appearing in the concert will be the High School Symphonic Band, the High School Concert Band composed of Ninth Grade students and the Eighth Grade Band. The 90-minute program will be opened by the Eighth Grade Band appearing under the direction of Gary Stutzman. Among the selections the group will play will be the march "Little Champ" by Mesang, "The Irish Suite" arranged by Erickson, "Beau Gallant" by Olvadi, and several other numbers designed for the entertainment of the audience.

The Concert Band, directed by Omark, will present the familiar "El Capitan" march by Sousa, one of which is always included in an Omark concert. "The American Frontiers Overture" by Isaacs and several other interesting numbers.

The program by the Symphonic Band will feature, among other numbers, the music to be played at the State Festival to be held at Flint on April 29. Among them are the required number "Chelsea Suite" by Thelma, the war-up march, "A Santa Cecilia" by Radnelli, and "Impresario Overture" by Mozart.

Two other numbers will be selections played by the Honors Band when it appeared here in December, Dvorak's "Slavonic Dances" and the "Peter Schmolli Overture" by Von Weber.
The program will include be on display.

Immediately before the fair, exhibits will be judged on the basis of creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity and dramatic value. Judges are Del Terrill, James Jensen, Fred Cohrs, Mrs. Wayne Woods, Bruce Morgan and Bob Clock.

The exhibits will be the work of students in grades five through eight who will be held in conjunction with the Science Fair, featuring the work of students in Marti Mathers' art classes in the Middle School and Elementary School.

Both the Science Fair and the Art Show are open to the public.

MISS BETTY DUKALEC of Pellston has succeeded Mrs. Lillian Bergmann as Charlevoix County juvenile officer. Miss Dukalec was graduated from Pellston High School in 1967 and received a degree in social work from Wayne State University last December. She plans to move to Charlevoix in the near future.

MSU Prof Hopes To Save Artifacts

Dr. Charles E. Geland, curator of anthropology at Michigan State University, has sent out letters to Charlevoix residents and summer people seeking funds to excavate an ancient Indian village at the foot of W. Dixon Ave. before a condominium is built on the site.

Dr. Geland hopes to complete work by the end of May before the earth movers move in.

Ralph Hess of Charlevoix and his partners in the condominium project have contributed $100 toward the project.

In his letter, Dr. Geland said: "Test excavations produced evidence that the Pine River Site was occupied by three groups of people who lived at the site approximately 1000 B.C., 400-500 A.D. and 800 A.D.

"Our excitement over the prospects of continued research at the Pine River Site and what we hope to learn about the people who lived there has been dimmed by a recent announcement that the site will be destroyed early next summer by the construction of a condominium complex. The Pine River Site has held its secrets for 3,000 years. I am determined to make an effort to salvage and preserve whatever I can of this unique cultural resource while there is still time," Dr. Geland wrote.

He added that he needs about $2,000 for the project.

A stricter standard of not more than 60 micrograms per cubic meter of air will be set at a later date, which would not give an accurate measurement for the county as a whole.

Counties showing a concentration of airborne solids above federal standards were Ingham (one station) 84 micrograms per cubic meter of air; Wayne (Detroit), 169; Monroe, 166; and Genesee (Flint), 72.

The sampling was conducted for a full year in some counties and for only part of the year in others. The sampling network currently is being expanded to enable more accurate reports.

The data processing system also is being expanded to enable the reporting of levels of suspended matter and other contaminants in the air on a monthly basis.

Counties where no samples were found above the proposed federal standard included Alpena, Bay, Berrien, Calhoun, Cass, Charlevoix, Chippewa, Delta, Dickinson, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Kent, Macomb, Marquette, Menominee, Muskegon, Oakland, Ontonagon, Ottawa, Saginaw, St. Clair, Van Buren and Washtenaw.

Another qualifying factor is the fact that in some counties only one sampling station was used, which would not give an accurate measurement for the county as a whole.

Group Starts Fund Campaign

A group called the Michigan Americanism Council (MAC), Inc., headquartered in Kalamazoo, has launched a fund-raising drive to pit State Rep. Richard Friske against Cong. Philip Ruppe for the Republican nomination to the U.S. House of Representatives in the August primary.

A letter announcing the campaign was received by several Charlevoix residents March 20. It was signed by J.S. Harris, MAC president.

Contacted in Lansing Monday night, Friske said he was aware of the fund-raising drive but that he hasn't made up his mind yet whether to run for Congress.

"There is still plenty of time," Friske told the Courier. He added that a good many people have urged him to run.

The move came as a surprise to local Republicans who had assumed that Friske would seek a second term in the Michigan Legislature.

To date, no candidates have filed for either post since the boundaries of the 11th Congressional District (Ruppe's) and the 10th Representative District (Friske's) are still uncertain.

Friske said the Legislature would debate reapportionment of the 11th District on Tuesday.

Democrat and Republican plans for realigning the 10th District have been turned over to the state Supreme Court for a decision.

Cong. Ruppe, who defeated Democratic Cong. Ray Cleveland of Sault Ste. Marie for the 11th District seat in 1968, was away from his Washington, D.C., home Monday night and was unavailable for comment on the move to unseat him.

In his appeal for funds, MAC President Harris wrote: "Many people throughout the land are concerned that the founders of our Constitutional Republic were raised up by God Himself to give the people of this country this unique, wonderful opportunity for freedom. Many of us feel that this God-given freedom and liberty is in grave danger today and that men of the highest moral conviction must be found now to help us continue Rep. Friske that he should make the necessary sacrifice and get into the Congressional race now. If enough campaign funds can be collected within the next 30 days, we think Richard Friske would run...and we are confident he can win!"

Stephanie Balch, 4, is undergoing treatment for a head injury at Munson Medical Center in Travers City.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron "Bud" Balch, Stephanie was injured when she fell down the basement stairs at the Balch home Sunday.

She was examined at Charlevoix Hospital and flown immediately to Travers City by Phillips Air Service.

ALTHOUGH it is officially spring, Charlevoix County still has plenty of snow on the ground for skiers and other winter sports enthusiasts. Skiing was excellent over the weekend at most area resorts, including Mt. McSabb, above. Sunny days have been chilly and rainy days have been overcast, conditions which keep the heavy snow cover from disappearing too rapidly. But spring waits, just beyond the next blizzard.

Indexers Select Hamilton

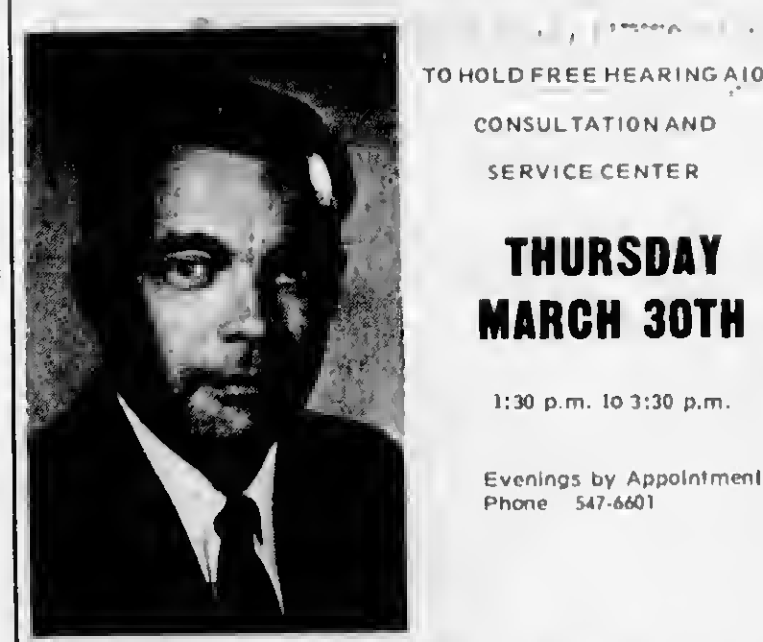

A Northern Illinois University librarian has been selected as the first president of the Midwest chapter of the American Society of Indexers.
David Hamilton, who is librarian for the Educational Materials Center of Swen Parson Library at NIU, was selected at an organizational meeting of the Midwest group held this week at McCormick Technological Seminary in Chicago.

Hamilton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton of Charlevoix, will serve a one-year term in the newly-created office, and he outlined as one of his hopes for the organization the standardization of work and remuneration for indexers.
Indexers work at indexing volumes, such as encyclopedias, textbooks, and many other works.
Hamilton indicated that he would also like to try to organize "free-lance" indexers who work on projects for various companies and organizations.

Larry VanderSik, an NIU librarian is a charter member of the Illinois Library Association and the American Library Association.
Hamilton received his bachelor's degree in education at Northern and his M.A. in library science at NIU. He has taken additional study at the University of Minnesota, the University of Maryland, and Indiana University.

Three years ago, Hamilton was responsible for compiling a master list of periodicals which made finding magazines, newspapers, and other literature easier for students and faculty. That guide with many updates is still in use today.

Zoning Meets Slated In Area This Week

Some of Michigan's best qualified zoning specialists will be on hand to discuss methods of handling difficult zoning problems and to answer the questions of local officials at the third and final meeting in the "Progress Thru Action" land use conferences this week.

Interested persons may attend either the Tuesday meeting, March 21 at Gaylord, or the Wednesday meeting, March 22 at Traverse City. Both will be held at the Holiday Inn.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service working with local, regional and state planning agencies. It is specifically designed for zoning commissioners and administrators, County Commissioners, Township Boards, City and Village Councils, Planning Boards, Appeals Boards and other interested officials.

"The days activities begin with registration starting at 9 a.m. and adjourns at 4 p.m." states Rehman, County Extension Director.

"We will be looking at the whole subject of zoning as well as focusing on some of the more difficult problems that comes up in every zoning ordinance at one time or another. There will be experts from county and state planning units, private consulting firms, regional planning and development districts and Michigan State University participating in the sessions", stated Rehman.

Topics slated for discussion during the morning include: Making Zoning Work in Northern Michigan, Mobile Home Solutions, Planned Units

Developments for Zoning Flexibility, Shoreland and Greenbelt Zoning on Inland Lake and Streams and Multiple Housing in the North.

The afternoon program will zero in on State Zoning for Michigan, County vs. Township Zoning, and Uses and Abuses of Special Use Permits.

LLOYD ARNOLD of Charlevoix was faced with an unusual dilemma last week. He was approaching the Bridge-st. on Park ave. last week when his pick-up truck came to an abrupt halt with the left front wheel lodged in a 15-inch hole. The cave-in was the scene of an excavation this winter for a forced main leading to the new sewage plant. City street crews pulled Arnold out and filled in the hole. Arnold's vehicle was not damaged.

Obituary

Halverson

Funeral for Sander Halverson, 71, former local resident, was held in Bellingham, Wash., Wednesday with burial in a Bellingham cemetery.

He died unexpectedly on March 11.

Born in Sheboygan, Wis., he came here as a child. A butcher by trade, he also served on the Charlevoix police department for a time. He had lived in the west since 1952. His wife, the former Alma Halverson, died in May, 1971.

Surviving are a son, Parris, of Bellingham; two granddaughters and six sisters, Mrs. Vaughan, Orvis Ironton; Mrs. Alma Fairweather of Gloucester, Mass.; Mrs. Vera Zellmer of Milwaukee; Mrs. Earl Gillett of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Wayne Belding of Redwood City, Calif.; and Mrs. Fred DeCastro of Charlevoix.

Tegerdine

Word has been received of the death of Dr. J. William Tegerdine, 82, chiropractor, in Cupertino, Calif., on March 15.

Dr. Tegerdine was the father of Mrs. Frederick (Rose) Bergmann and Mrs. Lloyd (Aetha) Arnold of Charlevoix. Their mother, Mrs. Pearl Tegerdine, died March 11.

Dr. Tegerdine was born in Almonte, Ont., and practiced chiropractic in Chicago, Reno, Nev., and Palo Alto, Calif. He retired in 1965.

He is survived by his widow, the former Nelle F. Black whom he married in 1940; three daughters: Mrs. Bergmann, Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Ernest (Alma) Kramm of Sacramento, Calif.; three sons, Maxwell of Hayward, Calif.; Mervin of Tucson, Ariz.; and Ronald of Columbia, Mo.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Bernard (Nola) Widin of Los Angeles; 34 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

has announced. The work of the Easter Seal Society, financed entirely by the sale of the familiar Easter seals, is well known in the county. Last year alone the Society, an affiliate of the Michigan and National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, aided approximately 400 persons at a cost of approximately $1,000. "We purchased crutches, orthopedic shoes, and braces, financed special transportation for a child to an Ann Arbor hospital, sent handicapped children to the Shrine circus, loaned equipment and purchased a wheelchair for an East Jordan resident," Mrs. Thompson said. She went on to say that the work of the Society, all done by volunteers, is varied and costly. This is the reason for increasing the goal of this year's Easter Seal sale. The sale of Easter Seals is the Society's only fund-raising project in the county. For this reason, campaign leaders hope that everyone will keep the stamps and mail a tax deductible contribution in the enclosed envelope to the society may continue to carry on its work in Charlevoix County.

The Society also operates a loan service on a small scale and will accept any equipment that can be used by a handicapped person in order to build up the list of equipment available to area residents. Anyone having equipment they might want to contribute may call Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson is president of the county chapter. Other officers are Mrs. Marshall Belling of Boyne City, vice president; Mrs. George W. Lusk of Charlevoix, secretary; and Mrs. Phyllis Malpass of East Jordan, treasurer.

An Ordinance to provide for the establishment of Zoning Districts within which the proper use of land and natural resources shall be encouraged and regulated, and within which districts the location, the size, of the uses that may be made of, the minimum open spaces, sanitary, safety, light and protective measures that shall be required for, and the maximum number of families that may be housed in dwellings, buildings and structures, including tents and trailer coaches, that may hereafter be erected, altered, or moved; to provide for the administration hereof; to provide for a method of amending; to provide for conflicts with other acts, ordinances or regulations; to provide for the collection of fees for the furtherance of the purpose of this ordinance, to provide for petitions and public hearings; to provide for appeals and for the organization and procedure of the Board of Appeals; and to provide for penalties for the violation of said Ordinance.

PREAMBLE

The provisions of this Ordinance shall be administered in accordance with Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943, as amended.

PURPOSES

It is the purpose of this Zoning Ordinance to promote the safety, health, morals, convenience, and general welfare; to encourage the use of lands and natural resources in the Township in accordance with their character, adaptability, and suitability for particular purposes; to conserve social and economic stability, property values, and the general character and trend of community development; to prevent excessive concentration of population; to lessen congestion on the public streets and highways; to facilitate adequate provision of streets and highways, sewerage and drainage, water supply and distribution, educational, and other public resources, by establishing herein standards for community development in accordance with these objectives and by providing for the enforcement of such standards.

It is the further purpose to adopt provisions for each designated zoning district within which the location, size and uses of buildings and minimum open spaces, sanitary and safety measures required and the maximum number of families to be housed in buildings erected or altered in the future, are specified.

ENACTING CLAUSE

The Township of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan ordains:

CHAPTER I SHORT TITLE

SECTION 1.1

This Ordinance shall be known as the zoning ordinance of the Township of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan, and will be referred to here as "This Ordinance".

CHAPTER II GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 2.1 - THE EFFECT OF ZONING

Zoning affects every structure and use and extends vertically. Except as hereinafter specified, no building, structure or premises shall hereafter be used or occupied, and no building or part thereof or other structure shall be erected, moved, placed, reconstructed, extended, enlarged, or altered, except in conformity with the regulations herein specified for the zone district in which it is located.

SECTION 2.2 - AREA, HEIGHT AND USE CONDITIONS AND EXEMPTIONS

(a) Required area of space: No lot or lots in common ownership and no yard, court, parking area or other space shall be so divided, altered or reduced as to make said area or dimension less than the minimum required under this Ordinance. If already less than the minimum required under this Ordinance, said area or dimension shall not be further divided or reduced.

(b) Existing platted lots: Where an existing residentially zoned platted lot has an area of not less than 90 percent of its zone district requirements and where such lot can provide the side yard requirements of its zone, a one-family use is permitted. An existing platted lot in single ownership of less than 90 percent of its zone district requirements may be utilized for a one-family use and for such purpose the required side yards may be reduced by the same percentage the area of such lot bears to its zone district requirements, provided that no side yard shall be less than five feet and that off-street parking requirements are met. Where four or more adjacent lots are in single ownership and where such lots contain less than 90 percent of its zone district requirements such lots shall be utilized in conformance with the zoning ordinance minimum requirements. In the event two or three adjacent lots are in single ownership and the Board of Appeals shall find that there is no practical possibility of obtaining additional land, it may permit their use as separate lots having less than the required lot area if it shall determine that they can be so used without adversely affecting the character of the neighborhood; provided, however, that no side yard shall be less than five feet and that off-street parking requirements are met.

(c) Exceptions: The requirements of all zones shall be subject to the following exceptions: Parapet walls not exceeding four feet in height, chimneys, cooling towers, elevator bulk-heads, fire towers, gas tanks, grain elevators, stacks, stage towers or scenery lofts, monuments, cupolas, domes, spires, and penthouses housing necessary mechanical appurtenances.

(d) Residential zones: The following uses are permitted in all residential zones:

- (i) Public libraries, museums and art galleries;
- (ii) Municipal, State or Federal administrative or service buildings, if found to be essential to service the neighborhood or community; provided, however, that such use shall be permitted only upon permit from the Board of Appeals after finding that such use will be in conformity with the character of the adjacent neighborhood and with respect to uses described in

(ii) above that they are essential to service the neighborhood or community and cannot feasibly be located in a zone where they would otherwise be permitted. The Board of Appeals shall establish requirements for setback, side yard, parking, screening and other conditions necessary to conform to the character of the adjacent neighborhood.

(e) Front and side yard setbacks shall be measured to the main wall of a building.

(f) For residence zones, fences, hedges or clumps of shrubs within 15 feet of the front lot line, or other lot line adjoining a public street, higher than 30 inches above the average sidewalk grade measured at the center of the lot, are prohibited. All other fences may not exceed a height of six feet above the lot grade.

(g) In all residential zones, vehicles not intended for private passenger use shall be garaged at all times.

SECTION 2.3 - RAZING OF BUILDINGS

No building shall be razed until a permit has been obtained from the Building Inspector. Said permit shall be conditioned on the applicant completing the razing within such reasonable period as shall be prescribed in the permit and complying with such regulations as to health and safety as the Building Inspector of the Township Board may from time to time prescribe, including filling of excavations and proper termination of utility connections.

SECTION 2.4 - DUMPING RUBBISH AND WASTE MATTER

It shall be unlawful through the Township to permit waste water from sinks or other similar drains and sewage to drain onto the land, yard or other spaces from dwellings, business places of all types and accessory buildings thereto, and to throw any such waste water and sewage onto said land; and it shall be unlawful to throw or dump empty cans, food containers, broken or whole bottles, crockery or utensils of any kind, automobile bodies or parts, old stoves, junk, parts of any machinery or any litter, flammable matter or substances, offal, ashes, industrial by-products or waste, clinkers, cinders, industrial wastes; or any other similar waste objects, either upon land owned, occupied or used by any individual or company, or upon any land in public place or privately owned of another, unless such place has been designated as a public dumping ground by the Township and it shall be unlawful to drain any waste water, water containing waste or foreign substances or any sewage, raw or treated, from any dwelling or business place of any kind either by open ditch or by pipes into any ditch, creek or stream, of any kind in the Township unless approved by the Charlevoix County Health Department.

SECTION 2.7 - MOVING OF BUILDINGS

The moving of a building to a different location shall be considered as the erection of a new building, and all provisions, regulations or requirements relative to the erection of a new building shall be applicable thereto.

SECTION 2.8 - MOBILE HOME OR HOUSE TRAILER

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to park, or cause to be parked, any mobile home or house trailer on any street, alley, highway, or other public place in the Township for use as a dwelling, either temporarily or permanently, or for overnight stops, outside of a licensed mobile home park.

SECTION 2.5 - ESSENTIAL PUBLIC SERVICES

It shall be lawful for public utilities, municipal departments or commissions, to erect, construct, alter, or maintain underground or overhead gas, electrical, steam or water distribution or transmission systems, collection, communication, supply or disposal systems, including drains, sewers, pipes, conduits, wires, cables, fire alarm boxes, police equipment and accessories in connection therewith, including buildings, reasonably necessary for the furnishing of adequate services by such public utilities or municipal departments or commissions for the public health, safety and general welfare of the public, in any zone, area, or use district of the Township; provided that the erection or construction of any or all above-grade construction consisting of necessary buildings and structures therefor shall be designed and erected to conform harmoniously with the general architecture and plan of such district in which it is to be erected, and shall be subject to the approval of the Board of Appeals.

The Board of Appeals hereby is granted the power to permit any public service corporation, contemplated in the foregoing paragraph, to erect and use a building or an addition to an existing building, or a structure for the aforesaid public utility purposes, in any permitted district, to a greater height or of a greater area than the district requirements herein established; and to permit the location in any use district of a public utility building or structure provided such Board of Appeals shall find such use, height, area, building or structure necessary for public convenience and service, provided that such public building, structure or use is designed, erected and landscaped to conform harmoniously with the general architecture and plan of such district.

SECTION 2.6 - TEMPORARY BUILDINGS

Temporary buildings for use incidental to construction work, and all debris, shall be removed within 15 days after the completion or abandonment of the work.

SECTION 2.7 - MOVING OF BUILDINGS

The moving of a building to a different location shall be considered as the erection of a new building, and all provisions, regulations or requirements relative to the erection of a new building shall be applicable thereto.

SECTION 2.8 - MOBILE HOME OR HOUSE TRAILER

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to park, or cause to be parked, any mobile home or house trailer on any street, alley, highway, or other public place in the Township for use as a dwelling, either temporarily or permanently, or for overnight stops, outside of a licensed mobile home park.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to occupy a mobile home or house trailer for dwelling purposes outside of a mobile home park except while such occupant or occupants thereof are building a permanent residence, and then for not longer than a period of six months; and provided that such time may be extended for good reasons shown by the Board of Appeals, but in that occasion such time shall not be extended to exceed three months. Any such use shall be subject to the condition that adequate sanitary facilities are provided.

(c) All mobile homes or house trailers so used for dwelling purposes, 20 feet or more in length, shall be provided with two exits which shall be spaced a sufficient distance apart to insure a means of escape in the event of fire.

(d) In no instance shall a mobile home or house trailer be used and occupied as a dwelling, or for sleeping purposes, by a greater number of persons at any time than such mobile home or house trailer is designed to accommodate.

(e) No mobile home or house trailer shall at any time be parked between the established setback line and the front line of any lot or parcel of land.

(f) It shall be unlawful for any person to remove, or cause to be removed, the wheels or tires of any mobile home or house trailer used for dwelling or sleeping purposes outside of a licensed mobile home park, except for the purpose of repair.

(g) Before any house trailer or mobile home shall be used outside of a mobile home park, permission to do so shall be obtained from the Building Inspector of the Township, who shall charge a fee therefore, and such officer shall have the authority to inspect, at all reasonable times, such trailer coach and the land on which it stands for the purpose of ascertaining whether the owner, operator, or occupant thereof is conforming with the statutes of this state and the provisions of this Ordinance, and any interference with the discharge of his duties in this respect, by any person, shall constitute and be a violation of the terms and provisions of this Ordinance, and the person or persons so offending, whether it be the occupant of such trailer coach or mobile home, or any other person, shall be subject to the penalties hereinafter provided for the violation of the terms of this Ordinance.

SECTION 2.9 - MIXED OCCUPANCIES

Through the Township, where any part of any building is used for residential purposes and the remainder thereof is used for conducting any business, commercial or industrial enterprise, the part thereof so occupied as a dwelling and all buildings erected, altered or moved into any zoned district of the Township outside of its residential or agricultural districts, shall conform to the minimum requirements for dwellings with reference to floor space, height of ceiling, bathroom, toilet space and sanitary requirements as stated in chapters on Residential Districts of this Ordinance, and such provision shall apply as fully as if here repeated.

SECTION 2.10 - GREENBELTS

A greenbelt shall be required for any commercial or industrial use that abuts a residential use on either the side yard or rear yard. In all instances, this may be provided as part of the side or rear yard requirements. If waived in writing by adjacent residential property owners, the greenbelt may be omitted or a fence substituted for the greenbelt.

SECTION 2.11 - BOATHOUSES

Boathouses are permitted in addition to other accessory buildings, provided they shall not be situated closer than 10 feet to any side lot line, nor of a height exceeding 12 feet above mean or established water level.

CHAPTER III MAPPED DISTRICTS

SECTION 3.1 - ZONE DISTRICTS

For the purposes of this Ordinance, Charlevoix Township is hereby divided into the following zoned districts:

- R-1 Single-Family Residential Zone
- R-2 Single-Family Residential Zone
- R-3 One and Two-Family and Mobile Home Park Zone
- R-4 Planned Residential Zone
- C-1 Community Service Zone
- C-2 Resort Commercial Zone
- C-3 Heavy Commercial Zone
- C-4 Planned Commercial Zone
- PO Professional and Office Zone
- I-1 Industrial Zone
- I-2 Marine Industrial Zone
- A Agricultural Zone
- SR Scenic Reserve Zone

SECTION 3.2 - THE ZONING MAP

The locations and boundaries of these districts are hereby established as shown on the map entitled "Charlevoix Township Zoning Map" which accompanies and is made a part of this ordinance. Where uncertainty exists as to the boundaries of districts as shown on the zoning map, the following rules shall apply:

- (a) Boundaries indicated as approximately following the centerlines of streets, highways or alleys shall be construed to follow such centerlines;
- (b) Boundaries indicated as approximately following platted lot lines shall be construed as following such lot lines;
- (c) Boundaries indicated as approximately following township boundaries shall be construed as following township boundaries;

(d) Boundaries indicated as following shorelines shall be construed as following such shoreline and in the event of change in shoreline shall be construed as moving with said shoreline;

(e) Boundaries indicated as approximately following property lines or section lines or other lines of Government Survey shall be construed as following such property lines as of the effective date of this Ordinance, (or applicable amendment), section lines or other lines of the Government Survey.

SECTION 3.3 - AREAS NOT INCLUDED WITHIN A DISTRICT

In every case where property has not been specifically included within a district, including all cases of property becoming a part of this township subsequent to the date of enactment of this Ordinance, such property shall be in the A-Agricultural Zone.

CHAPTER IV "R-1" SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL ZONE

SECTION 4.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

The purpose of the regulations covering these districts is to provide for a stable and sound family residential environment with its appropriate neighborhood-related utilities, facilities and services.

SECTION 4.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and/or buildings in the R-1 zone may be used for the following purposes only:

- (a) One single-family dwelling on each lot.
- (b) Public schools and colleges when owned and operated by a governmental agency; 50-foot side and rear yards are required if the property abuts any residentially zoned lots.
- (c) Private non-profit schools and colleges subject to the conditions stipulated in (b) above and said private schools shall not include trade schools, business colleges, or private schools operated as commercial enterprises.
- (d) Parks, playgrounds, and community centers located therein, owned and operated by a governmental agency or a non-profit neighborhood group.
- (e) One detached accessory building other than a garage not more than 12 feet or one story in height subject to the following conditions:

- (i) Said accessory building shall not be located closer to a side line than that allowed for a principal building.
- (ii) A detached accessory building, any portion of which is located on the side of the main building shall not be less than six feet from such principal building and not nearer to the side lot line than the width of the side yard required on the lot for the main building and shall maintain a front yard equal to or greater than that of the main building.
- (iii) A detached accessory building, any portion of which is located to the rear of the main building shall be located not nearer than 10 feet to such main building.

SECTION 4.3 - HEIGHT REGULATIONS

No building shall exceed 35 feet or 2½ stories in height, whichever is less.

SECTION 4.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure nor the enlargement of any building or structure shall be hereafter erected unless the following coverage requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure or enlargement.

- (a) Front Yard - There shall be a front yard of not less than 35 feet.
- (b) Side Yard - There shall be a side yard of at least 10 feet on each side of any dwelling or any accessory building excepting the street side of a corner lot where a 25-foot side yard shall be maintained.
- (c) Rear Yard - There shall be a rear yard of not less than 35 feet.
- (d) Lot Area - The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be 10,800 square feet and a minimum width of 80 feet at the building line.

SECTION 4.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

Each dwelling unit in this zone shall have a minimum floor area of 1,040 square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements and utility areas, if a one-story building, or 1,600 square feet if a building of more than one story.

CHAPTER V "R-2" SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL ZONE

SECTION 5.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

The purpose of the regulations covering these districts are to provide a stable and sound family residential environment with its appropriately related level of urban utilities, facilities and services. The essential difference between this and any other residential district is that a moderate density of urban type residential development will be permitted through the construction and occupancy of one-family dwellings on moderately sized lot areas.

SECTION 5.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and/or buildings in the R-2 zone may be used for the following purposes only:

- (a) One single-family dwelling on each lot.
- (b) Public schools and colleges when owned and operated by a governmental agency; 50-foot side and rear yards are required if the property abuts any residentially zoned lots.
- (c) Private non-profit schools and colleges subject to the conditions stipulated in (b) above and said private schools, business colleges, or private schools operated as commercial enterprises.

(d) Parks, playgrounds, and community centers located therein, owned and operated by a governmental agency or a non-profit neighborhood group.

(e) One detached accessory building other than a garage not more than 12 feet or one story in height subject to the following conditions:

- (i) Said accessory building shall not be located closer to a side line than that allowed for a principal building.
- (ii) A detached accessory building, any portion of which is located on the side of the main building shall not be less than six feet from such principal building and not nearer to the side lot line than the width of the side yard required on the lot for the main building and shall maintain a front yard equal to or greater than that of the main building.
- (iii) A detached accessory building, any portion of which is located to the rear of the main building shall be located not nearer than 10 feet to such main building.

SECTION 5.3 - HEIGHT REGULATIONS

No building shall exceed 35 feet or 2½ stories in height, whichever is less.

SECTION 5.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure nor the enlargement of any building or structure shall be hereafter erected unless the following coverage requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure or enlargement.

- (a) Front Yard - There shall be a front yard of not less than 25 feet.
- (b) Side Yard - There shall be a side yard of at least 8 feet on each side of any dwelling or any accessory building excepting the street side of the corner lot where a 25-foot side yard shall be maintained.
- (c) Rear Yard - There shall be a rear yard of not less than 25 feet.
- (d) Lot Area - The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be 8,000 square feet and a minimum width of 65 feet at the building line.

SECTION 5.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

Each dwelling unit in this zone shall have a minimum floor area of 864 square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements or utility areas, if a one-story building; or 1,300 square feet if a building of more than one story.

CHAPTER VI "R-3" ONE- AND TWO-FAMILY AND MOBILE HOME PARK ZONE

SECTION 6.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

A zone which provides for single-family and two-family residences along with mobile home parks.

SECTION 6.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and buildings in the R-3 zone may be used for the following:

- (a) Any use permitted in the R-2 zone.
- (b) Two-family residences.
- (c) Mobile home parks, provided that in addition to state regulations, the following requirements are met:

- 1) Each park shall contain a minimum land area of 10 acres.
- 2) Private water supply and sewage disposal systems shall be connected to public systems within two years after such public utilities become available within 500 feet of the park.
- 3) All mobile home parks must maintain a 100 foot landscape setback from any public street and 50 foot minimum landscaped rear and side yards adjacent to any adjoining properties.
- 4) All public and private utilities shall be installed underground.
- 5) Each park shall have a minimum of 2 access streets entering a public street.
- 6) All streets within a mobile home park shall be blacktopped or paved, with a minimum roadway of 20 feet exclusive of parking facilities.
- 7) Each park shall have concrete curbs and gutters, sidewalks and enclosed storm sewers.
- 8) No mobile home site shall be less than 40 feet in width and contain less than 4,000 square feet.

SECTION 6.3 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure, nor the enlargement of any building or structure, shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure or enlargement.

- (a) Front Yard: There shall be a minimum front yard of 35 feet.
- (b) Side Yard: There shall be a minimum side yard of 10 feet each excepting the street side of the corner lot where a 25 foot side yard shall be required.
- (c) Rear Yard: There shall be a minimum rear yard of 35 feet.

- (d) Lot Area:
 - 1) Single-family residence: The minimum lot area shall be 10,000 square feet with a minimum width of 80 feet at the building line if public sanitary sewer and water systems are available. If public sanitary sewer and water systems are not available, the minimum lot area shall be 20,000 square feet with a minimum width of 100 feet at the building line.
 - 2) Two-family residence: The minimum lot area shall be 13,000 square feet with a minimum width of 100 feet at the building line if public sanitary sewer and water systems are available. If public sanitary sewer and water systems are not available, the minimum lot area shall be 20,000 square feet with a minimum width of 100 feet at the building line.

SECTION 6.4 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

Each dwelling shall have a minimum floor area of 720 square feet.

CHAPTER VII
"R-4" PLANNED
RESIDENTIAL ZONE*SECTION 7.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

A zone which will be established only upon application by the Owner of the property for approval of a pre-planned apartment, garden apartment or condominium complex. No area shall be zoned for R-4 use if there exists in the area sought to be zoned, any residential, industrial, or other use which would be non-conforming with the uses permitted under the terms of this section. The Township Board, however, may zone the area R-4, if the developer guarantees in a manner satisfactory to it the removal or discontinuance of the nonconforming use (s). The proposed district shall be unified and contiguous in shape; the creation of odd-shaped area which exclude non-conforming uses is to be avoided.

SECTION 7.2 - PERMITTED USES

In an R-4 planned residential zone, no building or structure or part thereof shall be erected, altered, or moved upon any lot or other piece or parcel of land, or used on any lot or parcel of land in whole or in part used for other than one or more of the following specified uses:

- (a) Apartments and/or garden apartments which constitute a single operating or proprietary unit.
- (b) Condominiums.
- (c) Playgrounds, parks, tot lots, open spaces, and other recreational uses either enclosed or in the open for the use of occupants only.
- (d) Off-street automobile parking and off-street delivery collection facilities shall be required. Such parking area shall be for the sole use of the occupant of such building and the visitors thereto.
- (e) Accessory uses customarily incidental to the above uses.

SECTION 7.3 - DEVELOPMENT REGULATIONS

The general plan for a multiple family complex shall include evidence and facts showing that it has considered and made provision for, and the development shall be executed in accordance with the following essential conditions:

- (a) The proposed development shall consider the surrounding land features of the area, including, but not limited to residences, schools, parks, other reservations of open spaces, location, width and grade of streets and locations and arrangement of parking spaces; local and regional business areas and shopping area and shopping centers; densities proposed for surrounding areas; and other such features as shall contribute to the harmonious development of the area, with due regard to the character of the neighborhood and its peculiar suitability for this type of use.
- (b) The proposed development shall be constructed in accordance with an overall plan and shall be designed as the unified architectural unit with appropriate landscaping.

- (c) If the development of the R-4 zone is to be carried out in stages, each stage shall be so planned that the foregoing requirements and the intent of the ordinance shall be fully complied with at the completion of each stage and the development of each stage shall take place in sequential order as designated by the plan.

SECTION 7.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

- (a) Not more than 15 dwelling units per acre shall be permitted in this district, and the units in any development shall average at least 780 square feet of living area.
- (b) Building area: Not more than 15 percent of the area of each R-4 zone may be occupied by residential buildings.
- (c) Front Yard: (1) Where it is the intent of the developer to utilize the front yard area for parking there shall be a set-back from the right-of-way of each street on which the R-4 zone abuts of at least 75 feet, the front 25 feet of which shall be landscaped. (2) Where the front yard set-back area is not used for parking, there shall be a set-back from the right-of-way of all streets on which the R-4 zone abuts of 40 feet, the total of which shall be landscaped.
- (d) Setback from property lines. There shall be a setback from any agricultural, single or two-family residential property, which the R-4 abuts, of not less than one hundred (100) feet, and from any commercial or industrial property of not less than forty (40) feet.
- (e) Distance between buildings: The horizontal distance measured in feet between parallel elements of buildings forming courts and court yards shall not be less than twice the height of the taller building, measured in feet.
- (f) Distance between principal and accessory buildings shall be a minimum of twelve (12) feet and accessory buildings shall be located the height of the building from any lot line, provided, however, that they shall not be permitted in the front yard area.
- (g) Parking: Not less than two and one-half (2½) off-street automobile parking spaces shall be required for each dwelling unit. Such parking area shall be so placed so as not to interfere with any recreation or service area, and shall not be less than twenty-five (25) feet from property lines or street right-of-way lines.
- (h) Heights of buildings (No building shall exceed the height of 35 feet or 2½ stories (exclusive of basements), whichever is greater.
- (i) Paving: All areas provided for use by vehicles and all pedestrian walks shall be surfaced with bituminous asphalt, concrete or similar materials.
- (j) Service: Areas for loading and unloading delivery trucks and other vehicles and for the servicing of refuse collection, fuel and other services shall be provided and shall be adequate in size, and shall be so arranged that they may be used without blockage or interference with the use of access ways or automobile parking facilities.

- (k) Access: Provision shall be made for safe and efficient ingress and egress to the public streets and highways servicing the R-4 zone without undue congestion to or interference with normal traffic flow. The Township Board shall be satisfied as to the thoroughfare to carry the additional traffic engendered by the apartment complex as well as to the street frontage of the proposed district.
- (l) Utilities: All buildings within the R-4 zone shall be serviced by a public sanitary sewage disposal system and public water supply system. All utility lines (power and telephone) servicing the R-4 zone shall be placed underground.
- (m) Open space: The developer shall be required where possible to preserve or incorporate natural features such as woods, streams, and open space areas, which add to the overall cohesive development of the R-4 zone and overall community development. However, all conditions deemed hazardous by the Zoning Board, including natural feature hazards are to be eliminated, or all precautions, deemed appropriate by the Zoning Board to reduce the hazard, are to be provided by the developer.
- (n) Recreation: The developer shall be encouraged to give consideration to the provision of community areas, laundry facilities, playgrounds, and tot lots, and other services necessary for the comfort and convenience of R-4 residents.

- (o) Recreation: The developer shall be encouraged to give consideration to the provision of community areas, laundry facilities, playgrounds, and tot lots, and other services necessary for the comfort and convenience of R-4 residents.

SECTION 7.5 - TIME LIMIT ON CONSTRUCTION

Reversion and rezoning to former zoning classification. Every application, when approved by the Governing Body, either as submitted or resubmitted in modified form, shall constitute an agreement by the applicant that such installation shall be made, completed and operated as shown on the plan as part of the project in accordance with the provisions of Section 7.3 and that the area which has been zoned R-4 by the Township Board shall lose that status and revert to and be rezoned to its former zoning classification, if construction of approved buildings and improvements shall not be undertaken within twelve (12) months of the zoning change or within such additional time as may be authorized by the Governing Body.

SECTION 7.6 - PROCEDURAL REQUIREMENTS

All procedural requirements of the Zoning Ordinance shall be adhered to and the following information shall be shown on plans submitted for approval in addition to the above mentioned requirements:

- (a) Floor area (in square feet) of apartment dwelling units
- (b) Number of bedrooms per apartment dwelling unit
- (c) Total number of apartment dwelling units
- (d) Total number of acres in proposed plan

- (e) Total number of all off-street parking spaces
- (f) Exterior, vertical and horizontal building dimensions
- (g) Percent of land area on which buildings are located
- (h) Plot plan
- (i) Landscape plans

CHAPTER XIII
"I-1" INDUSTRIAL ZONE*SECTION 13.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

This zone is intended to accommodate the industrial needs of the entire community in such a manner that no unreasonable noise, dust, odor, vibration or any other like nuisance shall exist to adversely affect any adjoining properties.

SECTION 13.2 - USE REGULATIONS

- (a) Land and/or buildings in the "I-1" Industrial Zones may be used for any of the following uses:
 - 1) Lumber and building material and bulk storage yards.
 - 2) Facilities for the manufacture, compounding, processing and packaging of such products as candy, cosmetics, drugs, perfumes, ceramics, pharmaceuticals, toiletries, and food products except the rendering or refining of fats and oils.
 - 3) Warehousing truck terminals and transshipment facilities.
 - 4) The manufacture, compounding, assembly, or treatment of articles from the following previously prepared materials, including, but not limited to: aluminum, bone, cellophane, canvas, cloth, cork, feathers, felt, fibers, fur, glass, hair, leather, paint, paper, plastics, rubber, tin, iron, steel, tobacco, wood and yarn.
 - 5) Any other similar industrial uses, provided, however, such uses shall be found to be similar by the Board of Appeals.
 - 6) All uses shall be conducted within a completely enclosed building or within an area enclosed on all sides by a solid noncombustible fence or wall at least six feet in height; provided further, that no goods, materials or objects shall be stacked higher than the fence or wall and that all business shall be conducted in such a manner that no unreasonable noise, dust, vibration or any other like nuisance shall exist to adversely affect adjoining properties.

SECTION 13.3 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure nor the enlargement of same, shall be erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure, or enlargements.

- (a) Front Yard - There shall be a minimum front yard of 50 feet.
- (b) Side Yard - There shall be a minimum side yard of 20 feet in this district except on the street side of corner lots where 35 feet shall be required. Where an industrial district abuts a residential zone on the side, there shall also be maintained a 35-foot side yard on such side.
- (c) Rear Yard - There shall be a minimum rear yard of 25 feet in this district except that where such uses abut a residential zone a minimum rear yard of 50 feet shall be provided.
- (d) The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be one acre with a minimum lot width of 150 feet.

SECTION 13.4 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

There shall be no minimum floor area requirement in this zone.

SECTION 13.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

There shall be no minimum floor area requirements within this zone.

CHAPTER XI
"C-4" PLANNED
COMMERCIAL ZONE*SECTION 11.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

A zone which will be established only upon application by the owner of the property for approval of a pre-planned commercial complex. The proposed district shall be a minimum of three (3) acres and be uniform and contiguous in shape; the creation of odd-shaped areas which excludes nonconforming uses is to be avoided.

SECTION 11.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and/or buildings in the C-4 zone are to be used for the following purposes:

- (a) New automobile display rooms.
- (b) Used automobile display rooms, when in conjunction with a new automobile display room.
- (c) Mobile home sales.
- (d) Furniture and appliance sales.
- (e) Private school operated as a commercial enterprise.

SECTION 11.3 - REQUIREMENTS AND PROCEDURES

(a) The Owner of any parcel of land which is situated in an area which is undeveloped, or on developed land on which it is proposed to raze buildings and redevelop, may make application to the Zoning Board for a change of zoning to the Planned Commercial Zone. Such application shall be accompanied by a development plan which includes a topographic map showing contour lines at 5-foot contour intervals, a plot plan showing the location of all proposed buildings, all non-enclosed uses, all drainage, parking, loading and traffic handling facilities. The plan shall also indicate all screening and other landscaping, all exterior lighting and signs. It shall also state in detail the proposed use or uses to be made of the land. Such portions of the development plan may be waived by the Zoning Board, if it finds because of the nature of the proposed use the same would serve no useful purpose.

- 1) Such greenbelt as the Zoning Board may be deemed necessary to protect adjoining properties but not to exceed 25 feet in width.
- 2) Such setback from the right-of-way not to exceed 100 feet as the Zoning Board shall be deemed necessary to protect the value or use of adjoining properties and for the protection of the public health, safety and general welfare.
- 3) Such yards and open spaces as the Zoning Board deems necessary under the circumstances of the particular case to protect the health, safety and general welfare of the public.
- 4) Such area for parking motor vehicles on private property of the petitioner not to exceed in area a ratio of three (3) square feet of parking area for each square foot of building area.
- 5) That certain specified utilities be underground.
- 6) The premises be connected to public water and sewer systems as each becomes available.
- 7) Such fence and/or other requirements it deems necessary and proper, to prevent debris from littering the premises involved and/or neighboring property.
- 8) The number and location of

SECTION 12.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

This zone is intended to accommodate those non-residential uses of an administrative or professional nature which are necessary to the normal conduct of a Community's Activities. It is intended, however, to prohibit the introduction of commercial establishments of a retail sales nature.

SECTION 12.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and/or buildings may be used for the following purposes:

- (a) Offices or various medical, dental and other professional people concerned with improving personal and community health.
- (b) Hospital, medical clinics, and rest, convalescent and nursing homes.
- (c) Offices of lawyers, engineers, architects and other professionals.
- (d) Offices in which the personnel will be employed in one or more of the following fields: executive, administrative, legal, writing, clerical, stenographic, accounting, insurance, real estate.
- (e) Other similar businesses, provided, however, that such use shall be found to be similar by the Board of Appeals.

SECTION 12.3 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure or the enlargement of any building or structure shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure or enlargement.

- (a) Front Yard - There shall be a minimum front yard of not less than 25 feet.
- (b) Side Yard - There shall be a minimum side yard requirement of at least 10 feet on each side of any building excepting the street side of a corner lot where a 25-foot side yard shall be maintained.
- (c) Rear Yard - There shall be a minimum rear yard of not less than 25 feet.
- (d) Lot Area - There shall be no minimum lot area requirement in this zone.

SECTION 12.4 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

There shall be no minimum floor area requirement in this zone.

SECTION 13.4 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

There shall be no minimum floor area requirements in this zone.

CHAPTER XIV
"I-2" - MARINE INDUSTRIAL ZONE

SECTION 14.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

Within this zone uses are limited to commercial and industrial marine activities necessary to serve the needs of the community. Industrial marine activity excludes water using industries and industries not directly related to the manufacture, repair or storage of boats.

SECTION 14.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and/or buildings in the "I-2" Zone may be used for the following purposes:

- (a) Marine and yacht basins.
- (b) Excursion or sight seeing boats.
- (c) Boat houses and wet or dry boat storage.
- (d) Boat, motor or related marine repair establishments.
- (e) Marine freight, towing or canal operation.
- (f) Ship and boat building.
- (g) Other similar marine related activities, provided that such use shall be found to be similar by the Board of Appeals.

SECTION 14.3 - HEIGHT REGULATIONS

No building shall exceed 35 feet or 2½ stories, whichever is less.

SECTION 14.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure nor the enlargement of any building or structure shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building structure or enlargement.

- (a) Front Yard - There shall be a minimum front yard of 25 feet.
- (b) Side Yard - There shall be a minimum side yard of at least 5 feet on each side of any building excepting the street side of a corner lot where a 25-foot side yard shall be maintained.
- (c) Rear Yard - There shall be a minimum rear yard of not less than 25 feet.
- (d) The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be 5,000 square feet with a minimum lot width of 250 feet.

SECTION 14.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

There shall be no minimum floor area requirement in this zone.

CHAPTER XV
"A" - AGRICULTURAL ZONE

SECTION 15.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

This zone is intended for large tracts used for farming or which are idle. It is not intended for any use except agricultural, low-density single-family residential use, and other specialized rural uses requiring large tracts of land. This restriction is necessary to prevent development without proper planning. If development and subdividing are to occur, they should be preceded by rezoning and sound planning.

SECTION 15.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land in the "A" - Agricultural Zone may be used for the following purposes only:

- (a) Any use permitted on the R-1 Zone.
- (b) Farms for both general and specialized farming together with farm dwellings and buildings and other installations useful to such farms.
- (c) Roadside stands for sale of produce grown on the premises in greenhouses, nurseries, orchards, vineyards, apiaries, chicken hatcheries or poultry farms, on a year-to-year special use permit to be issued by the Board of Appeals; but only after a hearing and findings by said Board that the operations will not interfere with the enjoyment of substantial property rights by other owners in the vicinity and will not constitute a traffic hazard. The Board shall grant such permits and establish conditions as to the size of signs, (if any), hours of operations, lighting, and other matters when necessary. Such permit shall be issued or reissued only after access to the public highway has been approved by the Charlevoix County Road Commission.
- (d) Country clubs, golf courses, riding stables, and publicly-owned athletic grounds.

SECTION 15.3 - HEIGHT REGULATIONS

No building shall exceed 35 feet or 2½ stories in height, whichever is less.

SECTION 15.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure, nor the enlargement of any building or structure, shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure, or enlargement:

- (a) Front Yard - There shall be a front yard of not less than 50 feet.
- (b) Side Yard - For residential buildings, there shall be total side yards of 50 feet, provided that no yard shall be less than 20 feet. For all other buildings, there shall be a minimum side yard of 60 feet.
- (c) Rear Yard - There shall be a rear yard of not less than 100 feet.
- (d) Lot Area - The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be two acres with a minimum lot width of 200 feet.

SECTION 15.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

Each dwelling unit in this zone shall have a minimum floor area of 864 square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements or utility areas if a one-story building or 1,200 square feet if a building of more than one story.

CHAPTER XVI
"SR" SCENIC RESERVE DISTRICT

SECTION 16.1 - USES PERMITTED

In this district, no building, structure or land shall be used, and no building shall be hereafter erected or structurally altered unless otherwise provided in this ordinance, except for the following uses:

- (a) Parks and recreational areas.
- (b) Docks and parking areas.
- (c) Related uses which tend to preserve in substance the scenic character of the area, such as unroofed and unenclosed structures.

CHAPTER XVII
SIGNS

SECTION 17.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

To permit and regulate the use of signs in all zones.

SECTION 17.2 - USE REGULATIONS

The following signs shall be permitted for identification of premises, for providing information relative to the functions of the premises, or for advertising, within the particular limitations for each use zone noted.

- (a) Residential Zones - One non-illuminated sign advertising the sale or lease of the lot or building not exceeding six square feet on any one lot and/or one non-illuminated sign announcing a home occupation or professional service not to exceed two square feet in area and attached flat against a building wall shall be permitted. A non-illuminated sign advertising a recorded subdivision or development shall be permitted, not to exceed 100 square feet in area and placed no closer to a street line than 10 feet.

- (b) Community Service Zone - 1) All signs in any residential zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations required for those zones.

SECTION 18.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

To permit and regulate the parking and loading of automotive vehicles in all zones.

SECTION 18.2 - PARKING REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for off-street parking are as follows:

- R-1 - 2 spaces per dwelling unit
- R-2 - 2 spaces per dwelling unit
- R-3 - 2 spaces per dwelling unit
- R-4 - 2½ spaces per dwelling unit
- C-1 - None
- C-2 - 3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area
- C-3 - 3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area
- C-4 - 3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area
- I-1 & I-2 - 1 square foot of parking per square foot of gross floor area
- A - 2 spaces per dwelling unit

SECTION 18.3 - REQUIREMENTS FOR LOADING SPACES ARE AS FOLLOWS

For every building or addition to an existing building hereafter erected to be occupied by manufacturing storage, display of goods, retail store or block of stores of over 10,000 square feet, wholesale store, market, hotel, hospital, mortuary, laundry, dry cleaning or other similar use requiring the receipt of distribution in vehicles of materials or merchandise, there shall be provided and maintained on the same premises with such building or addition, off-street loading spaces in relation to floor area as follows:

- (a) Up to 20,000 square feet - 1 space

(b) 20,000 to 50,000 square feet - 2 spaces

(c) 50,000 to 100,000 square feet - 3 spaces

(d) One additional space for each additional 100,000 square feet or fraction thereof

Each such loading space shall be at least ten (10) feet in width, 25 feet in length and 14 feet in height. No such space shall be located closer than 50 feet to any lot in any residence district unless wholly within a completely enclosed building or enclosed on all sides by a wall or uniformly painted solid board or masonry fence of uniform appearance not less than six (6) feet in height or a greenbelt.

(e) Agricultural Zone - 1) All signs in any residential, service or commercial zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

2) Outdoor signs shall not exceed 150 square feet in area. All such signs shall be three feet or more above the ground and conform to the yard and setback requirements of the zone. All illumination, unless otherwise approved by the Board of Appeals, shall not have the sources of light visible beyond the property lines of the parcel upon which the sign is located.

3) Billboards shall not exceed 200 square feet in area unless approved by the Township Board. Setbacks on all township roads shall conform to the State of Michigan setback requirements for primary roads. Applications for permits for billboards must be approved by the Township Board.

any public right-of-way or easement.

(d) Professional and Office Zone - 1) Signs in any residential zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

2) One sign pertaining to the permitted use shall be allowed, provided that the sign does not exceed 20 square feet. The sign shall not be illuminated except by a reflector method and the light source may not be visible from adjacent properties.

(e) Agricultural Zone - 1) All signs in any residential, service or commercial zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

2) Outdoor signs shall not exceed 150 square feet in area. All such signs shall be three feet or more above the ground and conform to the yard and setback requirements of the zone. All illumination, unless otherwise approved by the Board of Appeals, shall not have the sources of light visible beyond the property lines of the parcel upon which the sign is located.

3) Billboards shall not exceed 200 square feet in area unless approved by the Township Board. Setbacks on all township roads shall conform to the State of Michigan setback requirements for primary roads. Applications for permits for billboards must be approved by the Township Board.

CHAPTER XVIII
OFF-STREET PARKING

SECTION 18.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

To permit and regulate the parking and loading of automotive vehicles in all zones.

SECTION 18.2 - PARKING REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for off-street parking are as follows:

- R-1 - 2 spaces per dwelling unit
- R-2 - 2 spaces per dwelling unit
- R-3 - 2 spaces per dwelling unit
- R-4 - 2½ spaces per dwelling unit
- C-1 - None
- C-2 - 3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area
- C-3 - 3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area

any public right-of-way or easement.

(d) Professional and Office Zone - 1) Signs in any residential zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

2) One sign pertaining to the permitted use shall be allowed, provided that the sign does not exceed 20 square feet. The sign shall not be illuminated except by a reflector method and the light source may not be visible from adjacent properties.

(e) Agricultural Zone - 1) All signs in any residential, service or commercial zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

2) Outdoor signs shall not exceed 150 square feet in area. All such signs shall be three feet or more above the ground and conform to the yard and setback requirements of the zone. All illumination, unless otherwise approved by the Board of Appeals, shall not have the sources of light visible beyond the property lines of the parcel upon which the sign is located.

3) Billboards shall not exceed 200 square feet in area unless approved by the Township Board. Setbacks on all township roads shall conform to the State of Michigan setback requirements for primary roads. Applications for permits for billboards must be approved by the Township Board.

CHAPTER XIX
SPECIAL USES

SECTION 19.1 - PERMIT REQUIRED FOR CERTAIN USES

Notwithstanding any other provision of this ordinance, no land in any zone shall be used for any of the following uses without first obtaining a special use permit:

- (a) Junkyard
- (b) Tavern
- (c) Commercial dumping ground or landfill area
- (d) Commercial natural resource extraction or relocation including sand and gravel, but specifically excluding cases where land grades are changed in connection with the erection of any structures, roads and other land improvements.

SECTION 19.2 - REQUIREMENTS FOR GRANTING PERMIT

In order to grant a permit under this chapter, it must be determined that the proposed use is in the general public interest, and that it can be conducted at the proposed location without interfering with the enjoyment of substantial property rights by the other owners in the vicinity.

SECTION 19.3 - PROCEDURE

An application in quadruplicate shall be submitted at least 15 days prior to a regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Appeals. Such application shall be accompanied by a development plan showing the location of all proposed buildings, all non-enclosed uses, all drainages, parking, loading and traffic handling facilities. It shall also indicate all screening and other landscaping, all exterior lighting and signs. It shall also state in detail the proposed use or uses to be made of the land.

When the application is for Item 18.1 (c); 18.1 (d) landfill or excavation, the development plan shall also include a topography map showing existing contour lines at an interval not greater than five (5) feet and proposed contour lines at the same interval, which will exist upon completion of the operation.

SECTION 19.4 - TIME LIMITATION ON PERMIT

No permit shall be issued for a period of more than five years and shall not be renewed unless the findings required by Section 18.2 shall be made as upon an original application.

SECTION 19.5 - CONDITIONS OF PERMIT

The Board of Appeals shall attach appropriate conditions to permits granted regarding the control of erosion, hours of operations, fires, sanitation, supervision, fences, gates, and other matters in its discretion.

CHAPTER XX
NONCONFORMING USES AND STRUCTURES

SECTION 20.1 - CONTINUANCE OF USE

The lawful use of any premises existing at the time of the adoption of this Ordinance may be continued although such use does not conform to the provisions hereof, but if such nonconforming use is discontinued, the future use of said premises shall be in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 20.2 - EXPANSION

(a) Structures or uses nonconforming by reason of height and area, parking and loading provisions only may be extended, enlarged, altered, remodeled or modernized provided that all height and area, parking and loading provisions are complied with, with respect to any extension or enlargement and provided the Building Inspector shall determine that any alteration, remodeling or modernization shall not substantially extend the life of any nonconforming structure. Any structure which is nonconforming at the time of enactment of this Ordinance or amendment by reason of parking and loading provisions and which is thereafter made conforming or less nonconforming by the addition of parking and/or loading space shall not thereafter be permitted to meet requirements for any extension, enlargement or change of use to one requiring greater areas for parking and/or unloading.

(b) A legally-existing nonconforming use may be extended only throughout a building being used for a legally existing nonconforming use at the adoption of this ordinance, provided no structural alterations are made therein except those required by law or such as may be required for safety.

SECTION 20.3 - RESTORATION AND REPAIR

Such repairs and maintenance work as are required to keep a nonconforming building or structure in a sound condition may be made. In the event any nonconforming building or structure shall be damaged by fire, wind, or an Act of God or the public enemy, it may be rebuilt or restored provided the cost thereof shall not exceed one half the value of such building or structure after such re-building or restoration; said determination to be made by the Building Inspector or an appeal by the Board of Appeals.

In the event any nonconforming building or structure shall be damaged by fire, wind, or an Act of God or the public enemy and the cost of rebuilding or restoration shall exceed one half the value of such building or structure after rebuilding or restoration, the same shall be permitted only with approval of the Board of Appeals, which approval shall be granted only upon a finding:

- (a) That such rebuilding or restoration will not substantially extend the probable duration of such nonconforming use, or
- (b) That circumstances are such that the land previously occupied by such nonconforming use cannot then be advantageously used for a use permitted in the zone.

SECTION 20.4 - CHANGE OF NONCONFORMING USE

Whenever a Use District shall be changed, any then legally existing nonconforming use in such changed district may be continued, provided all other regulations governing use are complied with. Whenever a nonconforming use of a building or premises has been changed to a more restricted use or to a conforming use, such use shall not thereafter be changed to a less restricted use.

SECTION 20.5 - NONCONFORMING USE DISCONTINUED

In the event that any nonconforming use is discontinued for a period of one year, any subsequent use shall conform to the uses permitted in the district in which the premises are located.

SECTION 20.6 - BUILDINGS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Nothing in this Ordinance shall require any change in the erection or intended use of a building or structure for which a building permit has been issued and the construction of which shall have been diligently prosecuted for 30 days preceding the date of passage of this Ordinance.

CHAPTER XXI
BOARD OF APPEALS

SECTION 21.1 - MEMBERS, PER DIEM EXPENSES AND REMOVAL

There is hereby created a Board of Appeals which shall perform its duties and exercise its powers as provided in Section 18 of Act 184 of Public Acts of 1943, as amended, and in such a way that the objectives of this Ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured, and substantial justice done. The Board shall consist of the following three members:

The first member shall be the chairman of the Zoning Board, the second member shall be a member of the Township Board appointed by the Township Board and the third member shall be selected and appointed by the first two members from among the electors residing in the unincorporated area of the Township provided, that no elected officer of the Township may serve simultaneously as the third member, or as an employee of the Board of Appeals. The total amount allowed such Board of Appeals in any one year as per diem or as expenses actually incurred in the discharge of their duties shall be a reasonable sum which shall be provided annually in advance by the Township Board. Members of the Board of Appeals shall be removable by the Township Board. Members of the Board of Appeals shall be removable by the Township Board for non-performance of duty or misconduct in office upon written charges and after a public hearing.

SECTION 21.2 - OFFICERS

The Board shall elect from its membership, a Chairman, Vice Chairman and such other officers as deemed necessary.

SECTION 21.3 - RULES OF PROCEDURE

The Board shall adopt rules and regulations. Copies of such regulations shall be made available to the public at the office of the Township clerk.

(a) Meetings of the Board shall be held at the call of the Chairman and at such times as the Board may determine. There shall be a fixed place of meeting and all hearings shall be open to the public.

(b) The Board shall act by resolution. The concurring vote of two members of said Board shall be necessary to reverse any order, requirement, decision or determination of the Building Inspector or to decide in favor of the applicant on any matter upon which it is required to pass by this Ordinance, or to grant variations from the requirements of this Ordinance.

(c) The Board shall keep minutes of its proceeding, showing the action of the Board and the vote of each member upon each question, or, if absent, or failing to vote, indicating such fact, and shall keep records of its examination and other official action, all of which shall be filed promptly in the office of the Board and shall be a public record.

(d) A copy of each resolution passed upon by the said Board of Appeals shall be submitted to the Clerk of the Township and to the Secretary of the Zoning Board.

SECTION 21.4 - JURISDICTION

The Board of Appeals, in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance, may reverse or affirm, wholly or in part, or may modify the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from, and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises, and to that end shall have all the powers to hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under this Ordinance; also where it is alleged by the appellant that there is error or misinterpretation in any order, requirements, decision, grant or refusal made by the Building Inspector or other administrative officer in the carrying out or enforcement of the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 21.5 - VARIANCES

Subject to the provisions of this chapter, the Board, after public hearing, shall have the power to decide the applications, filed as hereafter provided, for variances:

- (a) Where, by reason of exceptional narrowness in width, breadth, length or shape of a specific piece of property on the effective date of this Ordinance, or by reason of exceptional topographic conditions, or other extraordinary situation or condition of the land, building or structure, or of the use or development of property immediately adjoining the property in question, the literal enforcement of the requirements of this Ordinance would involve practical difficulties or would cause undue hardship; provided that the Board shall not grant a variance on a lot of less area than the requirements of its zone district, even though such lot existed at the time of passage of this Ordinance, if the owners or members of his immediate family owned adjacent land which can, without undue hardship, be included as part of the lot.

(b) Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in the way of carrying out the strict letter of such Ordinance relating to the construction, structural changes in equipment, or alterations of buildings or structures, or the use of land, buildings or structures so that the spirit of this Ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done.

(c) Approve issuance of a permit for enlargement of an existing building structure or erection on the same lot or plat of ground of additional buildings for trade, business or industry, located in a district restricted against its use, where such enlargement or expansion of such trade or business or industry will not be detrimental to or tend to alter the character of the neighborhood.

SECTION 21.6 - STANDARDS

No variance in the provisions or requirements of this Ordinance shall be authorized by the Board unless the Board finds, from reasonable evidence that all the following facts and conditions exist:

- (a) That there are exceptional or extraordinary circumstances or conditions applying to the property in question as to the intended use of the property that do not apply generally to other properties in the same zoning district.

(b) That such variance is necessary for the preservation and enjoyment of a substantial property right similar to that possessed by other properties in the same zoning district and in the vicinity. The possibility of increased financial return shall not of itself be deemed sufficient to warrant a variance.

(c) That the authorizing of such variance will not be of substantial detriment to adjacent property and will not materially impair the intent and purposes of this Ordinance or the public interest.

(d) That the condition or situation of the specific piece of property, or the intended use of said property for which the variance is sought is not of so general or recurrent a nature as to make reasonably practicable the formulation of a general regulation for such conditions or situation.

SECTION 21.7 - SPECIAL EXCEPTIONS

The Board of Appeals, after public hearing, shall have the power to grant special exceptions heretofore authorized and, in addition, may authorize the following:

- (a) The vertical extension of a building existing at the time of enactment of this Ordinance to such height as the original drawings of said building indicated, provided such building was actually designed and constructed to carry the additional stories necessary for said height limit.

(b) Permit the erection or structural alteration, in a district where such use is permitted, of a grain elevator, gas holder, or other industrial structure to a height above the limit specified for such district.

SECTION 21.8 - CONDITIONS OF APPROVAL

In authorizing a variance or exception, the Board may, in addition to the specific conditions of approval called for in this Ordinance, attach thereto such other conditions regarding location, character, landscaping or treatment reasonably necessary to the furtherance of the intent and spirit of this Ordinance and the protection of the public interest.

SECTION 21.9 - PROCEDURE

The following procedure shall be required:

(a) An appeal for variance from any ruling of the Building Inspector or other administrative officer administering any portion of this Ordinance may be taken by any person, partnership, corporation or any governmental department affected or aggrieved.

(b) An application for special exceptions authorized by this Ordinance may be taken by any person, partnership, corporation or governmental department affected.

(c) When an application or appeal has been filed in proper form and the fee paid with the required data, the Secretary of the Board shall immediately place the said application or appeal upon the calendar for hearing and cause notices stating the time, place and object of the hearing to be served. Such notices shall be served personally or by mail at least seventy-two hours prior to the day of such hearing, upon the applicant or the appellant and the Building Inspector, or other administrative body from which such appeals are taken. A like notice shall be sent, or delivered personally, at least seventy-two hours prior to the hearing to all owners of property as shown by the Township Treasurer's Office within 300 feet of the premises involved by regular United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the last known address of such property owners as shown by said records. Any interested party may appear and be heard at such hearings, in person or by agent or attorney.

(d) Upon the day for hearing any application or appeal, the Board may adjourn the hearing in order to permit the obtaining of additional information, or to cause such further notice as it deems proper to be served. In the case of an adjourned hearing, persons previously notified and persons already heard need not be notified of the time of resumption of said hearing unless the Board so decides.

SECTION 21.10 - DECISIONS OF THE BOARD

The Board shall decide all applications and appeals within 30 days after the final hearing thereon. A copy of the Board's decision shall be transmitted to the applicant or appellant and to the Building Inspector. Such decision shall be binding upon the Building Inspector and observed by him, and he shall incorporate the terms and conditions of the same in the permit to the applicant or appellant whenever a permit is authorized by the Board. A decision of the Board shall not become final until the expiration of five days from the date such decision is made unless the Board shall find the immediate effect of such decision is necessary for the preservation of property or personal rights and shall so certify on the record.

SECTION 21.11 - STAY OF PROCEEDINGS

An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the Building Inspector certifies to the Board of Appeals after notice of appeal shall have been filed with him, that by reason of fact stated in the certificate, a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property. In such case, proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order which may, on due cause shown, be granted by the Board of Appeals or by the Circuit Court on application, after notice to the Building Inspector.

CHAPTER XXII DEFINITIONS

SECTION 22.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

SECTION 22.60 - YARD - SIDE
A yard between a main building and the side lot line, extending from the front yard to the rear yard. The width of the required side yard shall be measured from the nearest part of the main building including porches.

SECTION 22.61 - YARD - OTHER
The other shall be delivered to the Township Board when the Building Inspector has approved the application and issued the permit. In cases of minor alterations, the Building Inspector may waive portions of the foregoing requirements obviously not necessary for determination of compliance with this Ordinance. Any permit required by this Zoning Ordinance or the Building Code of this Township shall be displayed face out, within 24 hours of its issuance by placing the same in a conspicuous place on the premises facing the nearest highway, and shall be continuously so displayed until all work, or the term for which issued, or purpose for which issued is completed. Failure to obtain and display any such permit shall constitute a violation of the Zoning Ordinance and Building Code and shall subject each person or persons or corporation for whose benefit the permit is required, and the owner or owners of the premises involved to prosecution for such violation.

SECTION 22.62 - YARD - OTHER
It shall be unlawful for any person to commence excavation for, or construction of any building, structure or parking area, or to make structural changes in any existing building or structure, without first obtaining a building permit from the Township Building Inspector. No permit shall be issued for the construction, alteration or remodeling of any building or structure until an application has been submitted showing that the construction proposed is in compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance and with the Building Code. No plumbing, electrical or drainage permit shall be issued until the Building Inspector has determined that the plans and designated use indicate that the structure and premises, if constructed as planned and proposed, will conform with the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 22.63 - ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICIALS
Except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, the Building Inspector shall administer and enforce this Ordinance including the receiving of applications, the inspection of premises, the issuing of building permits, and institute proceedings for enforcement of the provisions of this Zoning Ordinance.

SECTION 22.64 - PERMITS
Every application for a building permit shall be made as required by this Ordinance and/or by the Building Code and shall designate the existing or intended use of the structure or premises, or part thereof which it is proposed to alter, erect, or extend, and the number of dwelling units, if any, to occupy it. The application shall be accompanied by two ink, blueprint or photostat copies of drawings, drawn to scale, showing the actual lines, angles and dimensions of the lot to be built upon or used, and the exact size and location on the lot of all existing and proposed structures and uses, together with specifications. The application shall contain other information with respect to the lot and adjoining property as may be required by the Building Inspector. One copy of both plans and specifications shall be filed in and retained by the Office of the Building Inspector, and the other shall be delivered to the Township Board when the Building Inspector has approved the application and issued the permit. In cases of minor alterations, the Building Inspector may waive portions of the foregoing requirements obviously not necessary for determination of compliance with this Ordinance. Any permit required by this Zoning Ordinance or the Building Code of this Township shall be displayed face out, within 24 hours of its issuance by placing the same in a conspicuous place on the premises facing the nearest highway, and shall be continuously so displayed until all work, or the term for which issued, or purpose for which issued is completed. Failure to obtain and display any such permit shall constitute a violation of the Zoning Ordinance and Building Code and shall subject each person or persons or corporation for whose benefit the permit is required, and the owner or owners of the premises involved to prosecution for such violation.

SECTION 22.65 - PERMITS
It shall be unlawful for any person to commence excavation for, or construction of any building, structure or parking area, or to make structural changes in any existing building or structure, without first obtaining a building permit from the Township Building Inspector. No permit shall be issued for the construction, alteration or remodeling of any building or structure until an application has been submitted showing that the construction proposed is in compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance and with the Building Code. No plumbing, electrical or drainage permit shall be issued until the Building Inspector has determined that the plans and designated use indicate that the structure and premises, if constructed as planned and proposed, will conform with the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 22.66 - PERMITS
Every application for a building permit shall be made as required by this Ordinance and/or by the Building Code and shall designate the existing or intended use of the structure or premises, or part thereof which it is proposed to alter, erect, or extend, and the number of dwelling units, if any, to occupy it. The application shall be accompanied by two ink, blueprint or photostat copies of drawings, drawn to scale, showing the actual lines, angles and dimensions of the lot to be built upon or used, and the exact size and location on the lot of all existing and proposed structures and uses, together with specifications. The application shall contain other information with respect to the lot and adjoining property as may be required by the Building Inspector. One copy of both plans and specifications shall be filed in and retained by the Office of the Building Inspector, and the other shall be delivered to the Township Board when the Building Inspector has approved the application and issued the permit. In cases of minor alterations, the Building Inspector may waive portions of the foregoing requirements obviously not necessary for determination of compliance with this Ordinance. Any permit required by this Zoning Ordinance or the Building Code of this Township shall be displayed face out, within 24 hours of its issuance by placing the same in a conspicuous place on the premises facing the nearest highway, and shall be continuously so displayed until all work, or the term for which issued, or purpose for which issued is completed. Failure to obtain and display any such permit shall constitute a violation of the Zoning Ordinance and Building Code and shall subject each person or persons or corporation for whose benefit the permit is required, and the owner or owners of the premises involved to prosecution for such violation.

SECTION 22.67 - PERMITS
It shall be unlawful for any person to commence excavation for, or construction of any building, structure or parking area, or to make structural changes in any existing building or structure, without first obtaining a building permit from the Township Building Inspector. No permit shall be issued for the construction, alteration or remodeling of any building or structure until an application has been submitted showing that the construction proposed is in compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance and with the Building Code. No plumbing, electrical or drainage permit shall be issued until the Building Inspector has determined that the plans and designated use indicate that the structure and premises, if constructed as planned and proposed, will conform with the provisions of this Ordinance.

which is the distance between the front lot line and the main wall of the building including the porch, excepting steps.

SECTION 22.59 - YARD - REAR
A space unoccupied, except for an accessory building extending across the full width of the lot, the depth of which is the distance between the rear lot line and the rear wall of the main building.

SECTION 22.60 - YARD - SIDE
A yard between a main building and the side lot line, extending from the front yard to the rear yard. The width of the required side yard shall be measured from the nearest part of the main building including porches.

CHAPTER XXIII ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT

SECTION 23.1 - BUILDING PERMIT REQUIRED

It shall be unlawful for any person to commence excavation for, or construction of any building, structure or parking area, or to make structural changes in any existing building or structure, without first obtaining a building permit from the Township Building Inspector. No permit shall be issued for the construction, alteration or remodeling of any building or structure until an application has been submitted showing that the construction proposed is in compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance and with the Building Code. No plumbing, electrical or drainage permit shall be issued until the Building Inspector has determined that the plans and designated use indicate that the structure and premises, if constructed as planned and proposed, will conform with the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 23.2 - ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICIALS
Except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, the Building Inspector shall administer and enforce this Ordinance including the receiving of applications, the inspection of premises, the issuing of building permits, and institute proceedings for enforcement of the provisions of this Zoning Ordinance.

SECTION 23.3 - PERMITS
Every application for a building permit shall be made as required by this Ordinance and/or by the Building Code and shall designate the existing or intended use of the structure or premises, or part thereof which it is proposed to alter, erect, or extend, and the number of dwelling units, if any, to occupy it. The application shall be accompanied by two ink, blueprint or photostat copies of drawings, drawn to scale, showing the actual lines, angles and dimensions of the lot to be built upon or used, and the exact size and location on the lot of all existing and proposed structures and uses, together with specifications. The application shall contain other information with respect to the lot and adjoining property as may be required by the Building Inspector. One copy of both plans and specifications shall be filed in and retained by the Office of the Building Inspector, and the other shall be delivered to the Township Board when the Building Inspector has approved the application and issued the permit. In cases of minor alterations, the Building Inspector may waive portions of the foregoing requirements obviously not necessary for determination of compliance with this Ordinance. Any permit required by this Zoning Ordinance or the Building Code of this Township shall be displayed face out, within 24 hours of its issuance by placing the same in a conspicuous place on the premises facing the nearest highway, and shall be continuously so displayed until all work, or the term for which issued, or purpose for which issued is completed. Failure to obtain and display any such permit shall constitute a violation of the Zoning Ordinance and Building Code and shall subject each person or persons or corporation for whose benefit the permit is required, and the owner or owners of the premises involved to prosecution for such violation.

SECTION 23.4 - OCCUPANCY
It shall be unlawful to use or permit the use of any structure or premises hereafter altered, extended or erected, until the Building Inspector shall have made an inspection of the premises and shall have approved the same for occupancy in writing.

SECTION 23.5 - VIOLATIONS AND PENALTY
Any person, firm or corporation who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects or refuses to comply with or who resists enforcement of any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be fined not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00, or imprisoned for not more than 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court, with the cost of prosecution for such offense. Every day that violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

Narrator will be Rev. Albert Hansen, church pastor. The group will be accompanied by Mrs. Charles Lehman at the organ and Mrs. John Boss at the piano. Soprano soloists will be Mrs. Robert Klooster and Mrs. Jerrald Redeker; alto soloist, Mrs. James Manser; tenor soloist, Don Heeres; and baritone soloists Arthur Drenth and Eldon Potter. The Easter worship service will be conducted at 11 a.m., followed by the cantata in the evening.

To Brief Co. Grocers On Food Stamp Program

Charlevoix County grocers will have an opportunity to learn the ins and outs of the Food Stamp Program which is starting in Charlevoix in May at a meeting tonight (Wednesday, March 29) in the Community Room at the First State Bank, starting at 8 p.m.

The briefing will be conducted by Walter K. Maser, officer-in-charge of the Food Stamp Program for northern Michigan. The program will be administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services.

The USDA's Food and Nutrition Service at Traverse City is handling authorization of food merchants. Family eligibility is the responsibility of the Social Services Department.

The Food Stamp program will replace the surplus food distribution program which has been in effect in the county for several years.

The federal government calls the Food Stamp Program "another means of using America's agricultural abundance to improve the diets of low-income citizens by increasing their food purchasing power."

It works like this: The Department of Social Services determines the eligibility of the family from the family size, income and liquid assets.

Eligible persons pay a determined amount in cash for food coupons, and receive enough additional stamps to enable them to substantially increase their food supplies. Recipients spend their coupons just as they would money in any authorized food store. They can buy any food for human consumption they choose, except food plainly identified as being imported.

Since this is a food assistance program, non-food items such as alcoholic beverages, tobacco, soap, pet foods and the like cannot be purchased with food stamps. Grocers redeem the coupons they accept in lieu of cash at local banks or through authorized food wholesalers.

Banks redeem coupons through the Federal Reserve System. Surveys have been conducted to determine the effectiveness of the Food Stamp Program, which was started in May, 1961. These findings show that food sales increased an average of eight percent for food retailers, and the demand for locally produced items resulted in increased sales by local farmers up to 15 percent.

Under the program, a family of four with a spendable income of $360 or less a month (total pay less state and federal income taxes, social security, union dues and other legitimate checkoffs) and with liquid assets of less than $1,500 (home, furniture and one car not included) will receive up to $108 dollars in Food Stamps a month at a cost ranging from $0 to $84, depending on income.

Households of two or more persons with one or more members past age 60 are allowed resources of $3,000, instead of $1,500, in addition to their home, furniture and car.

Following is a table showing family size and maximum income for eligibility in the Food Stamp Program:

Household	Income
1	$210
2	250
3	293
4	327
5	427
7	547
8	600
9	653
10	706
11	759
12	812

When applying for food stamps, potential recipients should present the following material to the Department of Social Services:

—Proof of all income of all those in your family (latest pay slips, pay envelopes, pension award letter).

—Rent receipts or house payment book and utility bills.

—Bank books or other papers that show any savings.

No City Funds for Property

The City Council Monday night told a three-man committee interested in saving a scenic reserve on Michigan ave. that it will do everything possible to secure state and federal matching funds to acquire a 260-foot stretch of Lake Michigan "frontage," providing the balance of the money can be raised through donations.

The council said it could not in good conscience earmark city funds for the purchase of the former Houston property in view of other pressing city needs.

Attending the meeting were Donald Berlage, Thomas Pointner and Thomas Duke who proposed two weeks ago that the council move to acquire the land, the only spot on U.S. 31 in the city offering an unobstructed view of Lake Michigan.

The land presently is owned by three summer residents, including Don Perry, who have listed it for sale with Ski & Shore. The asking price is about $90,000.

In other business, the council:

—Heard a warning by Drew Young that the rash of condominiums proposed and under construction in Charlevoix will result only in more "people pollution" in the area.

—Heard a report by City Attorney Robert Hoffman that the city can go one of two routes in circumventing an opinion by Attorney General Frank Kelley which would prohibit the city from donating to the Chamber of Commerce. He said the city could either hire the chamber manager as a city employee or to contract with the C of C to MARTINA Lewis, 42, was hospitalized and Donald Leroy Whitley, 34, was treated for injuries after the 1967 Rambler in which they were riding was struck by a 1966 Dodge pickup truck driven by Oliver Hansen, 62, of Kewadin Sunday evening. According to police, Whitley apparently was attempting to make a left turn onto Meech st. from the northbound lane of Petoskey rd., when he was struck by the southbound Hansen vehicle. Mrs. Lewis suffered a broken nose and forehead lacerations. Whitley sustained a chin laceration. The accident is still under investigation, according to Police Chief Jack Mol.

SAM AND Dorothy Brill have moved into the former Frank Gengle home on U.S. 31 south of Charlevoix and will operate a local branch of State Wide Real Estate of Petoskey as sales associates. A native of Brusil, Brill formerly was an auto and farm equipment dealer in Conway. Mrs. Brill is the former Dorothy Ward of Harbor Springs. Based in Escanaba, State Wide has a total of 55 offices and 450 associates throughout the state.

School Board Weighs $1.37 Million Budget

State Aid Down, Property Tax Up

A proposed budget of $1.37 million for the 1972-73 school year was adopted by the Charlevoix Board of Education at a special meeting Monday.

The budget is $56,630 more than the 1971-72 budget as adopted but actually $90,000 over the budget as it was after the state cut $33,370 from the school's State Aid payments to be applied to the state's contingency fund. This was done to all schools in the state when the state ran short of money.

As is always the case when a tentative budget is adopted, the board worked with unknowns—the amount of taxes to be allocated to the school district (which will not be finalized until late May), State Aid which the legislature will approve at some future date and transportation monies which are not known at this time.

The budget is based on the assumption that the Governor's proposal of $732.50 with 20 mill deductible (as compared to 14 mills in the past) will be the figure used for State Aid payments. This income will be based on an estimated enrollment, plus a slight increase in vocational education monies minus funds for remedial reading which will no longer be available to the school.

Millage-wise, the budget will necessitate a 21.2 mill levy on the school district's new state equalized valuation figure of $58.25 million.

Revenues on which the proposed budget is based includes $1,174,200 in current taxes (as compared to $965,300 from the same source this year), $47,500 in delinquent taxes ($46,000); $300 in other taxes ($313); $30,000 from sale of house constructed by the Building Trades class ($28,000); $5,000 from investments during the year ($5,000); $5,000 in miscellaneous revenue ($5,000); $75,000 in State Aid as compared to $329,370, the difference of which must be made up in local taxes; $3,000, Driver Education ($2,700); $15,000, Vocational Education ($5,000); $5,000 P.E.; $74, ($5,500) and $10,000, Special Education ($15,000) plus the loss of $1,450 in NDEA monies.

Expenditures include an estimated $975,500 for instruction with an increase of two new teachers as compared to $906,000 this year; $61,500, administration ($61,300); $4,200, health ($2,600); $79,000 transportation ($93,400); $123,000, operation ($113,700); $24,000 maintenance ($30,000);

$65,000 fixed costs ($72,200); $30,000, capital outlay ($30,670); $2,800, outgoing transfers ($2,500); $5,000 Community Services, ($1,000 listed on this year's budget as transfer to other accounts).

The matter of retro-active pay to the teachers from the opening of school until Nov. 15 was discussed briefly. The board voted to direct the school attorney, John Thomas of Flint, to file an appeal with the Internal Revenue Service, which is now handling such claims for the government, regarding their ruling on retroactive pay for teachers in the school system.

Tenure and probationary contracts were approved by the board after an executive session. Granted tenure contracts for the 1972-73 school year were Antoinette Felter, Nelson Green, Karen Hinds, Deborah Jehle, Mercedes Mathers, Richard McLenon, William Murray, Constance Pointner, Norman Probert, Carol Sonagere, Gary Stutzman and Elizabeth White.

Offered probationary contracts for the 1972-73 school year were Patricia Garland, Penny Sue Gibelyou, Lola R. Josifek, Janet M. Langeland, Nancy K. Ryswick and Kathleen R. Wagner.

The board voted to advise Mrs. Sandra Cinnamon that since she has not successfully completed the second year of probation, she will be placed on probation a third year.

After discussing the needs of the band regarding instruments and accessories, it was decided to enter into a lease agreement with the Conn Music Co. to lease 42 instruments and accessories for $22,073 which will be paid in five annual installments of $4,414.46. At the end of the five year period, the school may purchase the instruments for a minor fee.

In other action, the board: —Voted to pay State Aid notes in the amount of $10,000 plus $553.90 interest to the First State Bank and $5,000 plus $1,547.10 interest to the Charlevoix County State Bank. Both notes are due March 28.

—Voted to accept the resignation of Mrs. Bessie Coleman, who has taught in the Elementary School here for 28 years.

CARLTON Kessler announced the opening of a Capitol City Realty Co. branch in the Olson Shopping Center. Working in the Charlevoix office will be Mrs. Linda Hansen of Elk Rapids.

Capitol City Opens Branch at Olesons

Capitol City Realty Co. of Eastport has opened a branch office in the Olson Shopping Center in Charlevoix, according to Carlton Kessler, president and sole owner of the company.

Kessler has been in the real estate business more than 30 years, including 10 years in northern Michigan. He has worked with Farmers Home Administration and Veterans Administration home financing programs since their inception.

In addition to his real estate business, Kessler is executive vice president and half-owner of the White Sands Building and Development Corp., also based in Eastport.

Working with Kessler in Charlevoix will be Mrs. Linda Hansen of Elk Rapids who has been with Capitol Realty for one year.

Capitol City plans to open a third office at the south end of Association Needs Help

The Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children needs more members to carry out programs for pre-schoolers and young people being reassigned from state homes to communities throughout the state.

Mrs. Michael Haecke, vice president of the local group, says the CARC has only 13 members at present and only about half of them are active.

For additional information about the kinds of volunteer services needed, contact Mrs. Haecke or President Jean Cunningham, Treasurer Tony Barone or Secretary Mrs. Duane Taylor.

HERMAN Heuvelhorst, manager of the Secretary of State's branch office in the Elzinga Redeker Building, waited in vain for a big rush of license tag buyers on Monday but twp showed up. He now expects to be mobbed the end of the week. The new tags must be affixed by Saturday. Hours for the remainder of the week are 8:30 until noon and 1 until 5 p.m. Saturday the office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30. Heuvelhorst already has sold 5,000 tags and expects to sell 2,000 more before the deadline.

Founders Day Planned by Kappa Sigma

By BETH GENETT
Fifteen members of Kappa Sigma Chapter Beta Sigma Phi met March 13 at the home of Mrs. Carl Rothberger Jr. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Gunnar Lundengen and Mrs. Dale McCandless.
Lessons were given by Mrs. Paul Stephan on "Nature and Artists' Landscapes" and "The Garden" by Mrs. David Person.
Mrs. Julius Gilbert gave a talk on her recent visit to the Flint Museum.
The group discussed plans for the observance of "Founders Day" to be held on the evening of May 1 at the Argonne Supper Club. All members of the Boyne City and Petoskey clubs have been invited to attend.

Further plans were made for the annual Spring Style Show.
The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Patrick Donnelly co-hosted by Mrs. Walter Hufford and Mrs. Richard Aull. All members are urged to attend this meeting at which election of officers for the coming year will be held.

Leagues Need More Players

Larry Ford, coordinator of Charlevoix's baseball program for young people, will be accepting registrations for the next two weeks.

Ford says there are openings in the Pee-wee, aged 6 to 8, and in the Babe Ruth league, aged 13-15.

Boys will be considered eligible for inclusion in the program if their birthdays fall before Aug. 1, Ford said.

Youngsters 9 through 12 will play in Charlevoix's newly organized Little League.

Boys wishing to sign up may do so at Ford's home, 602 Park Ave., any evening after 6 p.m.

For more information about the program, contact Ford at 547-2785.

Ford says his players will conduct their annual door-to-door candy sale this spring to raise money for uniforms.

Sheriff Getting New Car

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners at its March meeting:
Witnessed the presentation of a certificate from the Department of the Army to Mrs. Alice Tunison in recognition of her work in Civil Defense. The award was made by Chairman William Taylor.

Heard a presentation on micro-film equipment by James Tolle, representing 3-M Corp.

Voted to pay the balance of dues owed to the Michigan Association of Counties.

Agreed to purchase a 1972 Plymouth from Jack Diekhout of Boyne City as a sheriff's patrol car at a cost of $2,200, plus trade-in of a 1971 Ford.

Objected to House Bill No. 547, particularly Section 10, which the commissioners feel would decrease local control of the Department of Social Services.

Agreed to deposit $5,000 in special accounts established by four Charlevoix County communities which maintain airports, providing the various communities provide matching funds for capital improvements.

Learned that some remodeling will be necessary in the Department of Social Services office to provide additional security during the issuance of food stamps, starting May 3.

The next meeting is April 11.

Have Secret Societies Changed Area History?

To the Editor: Residents of this area who are acquainted with the well documented presentation by the John Birch Society on the origin and growth of the Illuminati Conspiracy (Insiders), know that the conspiracy can be traced back to a 1789 secret society known as the Illuminati. They may not know, that the Illuminati were active in Wisconsin and Michigan as early as 1846.

James Jesse Strang, a Mormon follower of the Prophet Joseph Smith, established a colony, or "state of Zion", at Voree, Wisconsin. After Smith was murdered, Strang claimed to be the true successor to the Prophet, and despite other rival claims, many of the Mormons joined Strang at Voree. Perhaps to strengthen his succession, Strang claimed to have had a vision in which God told him to establish a covenant with chosen members of his colony and form a secret society known as the "Illuminati".

The work of establishing the new "Order of the Illuminati", as it was known, began at once. On July 6, 1846, Strang was created "Imperial Prime", and Bennett (John C.) is "General-in-Chief", with "chevaliers", "earls", "marshalls" and "cardinals" - "following in due array". On New Year's Day, 1847, the faithful at Voree indulged in a feast of love and food, in the course of which the Eucharist was administered. The next day Strang administered the secret covenant to his initiates. Detractors subsequently claimed that the miraculous illumination that appeared around the heads of the initiates was accomplished by rubbing their heads with a mixture of phosphorus and olive oil. They also claimed that the secret oath administered to the initiates was "repugnant to" the Christian doctrines of the Mormons. Under this criticism, Strang denied the existence of any secret order, or any covenant at Voree, but eighty years later, Strang's own copy of the secret covenant came to light. Not only was the oath "repugnant to" Mormon doctrine, but it was "repugnant to" loyalty to the United States government. Following a pledge never to reveal the secrets of the order, it says: "And I do further, in like manner, promise, covenant and swear that I will uphold and obey the said James J. Strang and his lawful successors, as if any he has, each in his name as the Imperial Prime and actual sovereign Lord and King on Earth and as my true and lawful Sovereign, whatever and in whatsoever kingdom, state or dominion I may be; and in preference to the laws, commandments and persons of any other Kings, Potentates, or States whatsoever, and will yield obedience to the revelations he shall give; the Laws made by the Grand Council of Nobles of God's Kingdom, with his concurrence, and the decrees he shall make, as the Supreme Law, above and superseding all laws, obligations, and mandates of any other person, authority or power whatsoever." In other words, members had to swear obedience and loyalty to the Imperial Prime of the Illuminati, above God or country.

The above information is contained in M.M. Quail, "The Kingdom of St. James", published in 1930 by Yale University Press and similar information is contained in O. W. Riegel, "Crown of Glory" and in many other accounts of the life of James J. Strang. The quotation from the secret covenant can be found on page 56 of the Quail

QUESTION: What is the deadline for getting these 1972 license tabs on my car and what sort of documents do I have to take with me? S.T.L., Saginaw ANSWER: The deadline for having 1972 tabs on trailers and commercial vehicles Feb. 29. Passenger cars and motorcycles must have their tabs on after March 31.

When you come in to buy your tabs, bring proof of insurance and the prepared application that has already been mailed to you. If you don't have the prepared application, you must bring the title to your car.

Don't forget the Department of State is accepting checks this year, so cash book. Beginning on page 79 of the same book is an account of the "Saints" removal to Beaver Island.

The land around Voree, Wis., was held in private ownership and the colony could not grow there, and still remain completely under the sovereign control of Strang, free from "gentile" interference. So, following another revelation in which God instructed him to establish the "Cornerstones of Zion" on Beaver Island, they established there, a "communist society, where all property was to be the common possession of all." On July 8, 1852, a coronation ceremony was carried out in the still unfinished tabernacle on Beaver Island, crowning James J. Strang, King over all his Mormon followers. Since his absolute powers did not extend to the mainland, he ran for the Michigan State legislature also, in 1852. He was elected and continued to serve as State Representative from his district until his death in 1856.

These facts have been carefully researched and can be substantiated by many eminent historians. We feel that either through carelessness or intent, the John Birch Society has not made known all the facts, to area residents, regarding the extent to which secret societies or "insider" groups have altered the course of area history.

Planners' Aim: Orderly Growth

The first meeting of the Charlevoix County Planning Commission was held in the County Building on the evening of Oct. 29, 1963. Since that time this commission of nine appointed private citizens has been working on their own, and with the assistance of a Professional Planning Consultant, toward the completion of a plan to guide the development of the county.

This includes initiation of a program of planning to take advantage of federal and state funding situations, to coordinate and correlate planning and zoning activities throughout the county, and to revise and update past planning efforts. This program is now complete.

During the time since the formation of that Commission, these dedicated and interested individuals have been meeting once monthly to discuss pertinent topics and to work with programs designed to make this county a better place to live for all citizens. This past spring, that objective was partially reached by the completion of the final report of the Comprehensive Development Plan.

Following this phase, it was determined that a professional planner was needed to assist in the implementation of the completed plans. It was also realized that this individual could be of great value in assisting a County Zoning Commission in the creation and administration of a County Zoning Program. With these thoughts in mind, William Mercer, a graduate of the Urban Planning School of Michigan State University, and a past employee of Williams and Works, Planning Consultants from Grand Rapids, was hired as of Sept. 1, 1971.

Mercer has since initiated the County Planning

Department and has been active in obtaining Emergency Employment Act monies, assisting in the administration of that program, working with the county and local Planning Commissions in an advisory role, and acting as a clearinghouse on questions pertaining to such things as County and Township Zoning, the Woodland Indians Memorial, and other planning related matters.

He has also prepared a series of articles, which explain the County's Planning effort and answer many of the questions about this important county program.

Counties, like human beings, experience growing pains. The physical, economic and social structure is upset by the development of residential subdivisions, by the erection of new industries or commercial establishments, and by the change in population. This fact has become evident to the citizens of Charlevoix County as they have witnessed a 23.2 percent increase in permanent residents and a large increase in seasonal residents and tourists since 1960.

This increase has been accompanied by crowded streets and highways, new motels, restaurants, and gift shops to take advantage of the tourist dollars, and a much documented "land boom." It has also been accompanied by changed social values and a dynamic, year-round economic picture.

The County Board of Supervisors had the foresight and vision to see these problems starting to evolve. Because of this, they formed a County Planning Commission to work toward a Plan to be used to guide the future development of the County, so as to avoid future problems.

Formation of this Commission was the all important first step. Following this formation, and following the first meetings, this Commission adopted a set of By-Laws which contains the following goals:

A. To prepare a plan to guide the physical development of Charlevoix County.

B. To promote the adoption and execution of such plans by the County, school, township and other governments and agencies responsible for making public or other improvements in the county.

C. To effect economies in the county through the recommendation of a wise expenditure of funds to provide for sound development.

D. To encourage and assist public and private agencies in improving the attractiveness of the county.

E. To work toward a "planned community" for the county by officially adopting a plan to guide the physical development of the county.

F. To further cooperation between governmental and private agencies toward these ends.

Using this, the Commission has worked to complete a Comprehensive Development Plan. This Plan is now finished and has been used as a guide for the preparation of a Proposed Model Zoning Ordinance for the County.

The Development Plan Proposed Zoning Program, through which the Plan will be implemented, will be discussed in future articles.

UNSIGHTLY piles of decaying snow detract from the appearance of Charlevoix's yacht harbor in the dying days of winter. City fathers are looking for someplace else to stockpile snow scraped from city streets.

Let's Stop Stockpiling Snow on Lakeshore

We wish City Administrator Thomas G. Hanna well in his efforts to come up with a new location to stockpile the mountains of snow scraped from city streets during the winter - at a cost the city can afford.

As in past years, the snow this year has been piled at the end of each street running into Round Lake. The piles sometimes climb to formidable heights.

The piles aren't really objectionable during the dead of winter when they appear to be a natural part of the winter landscape.

It's the spring thaw that does the mischief. As the snow melts, layer upon layer of road and are revealed and beer cans, broken bottles and assorted refuse emerge as the snow recedes.

The color of the piles changes from snow-white to coal black under the spring sun.

Obviously it doesn't make good sense to have the run-off from such snowpiles enter Round Lake directly. From an ecological standpoint it would be far better to have the piles some distance from the lake so that soil could act as a filter.

It would also improve the appearance of downtown Charlevoix in the spring if our decaying snow were piled somewhere else.

Economies is a big factor in changing the location of the stockpiles, according to Hanna. The city undoubtedly would have to hire another dump truck and buy an extra hand or two during the winter.

However, we feel that costs should be secondary to the further pollution of Round Lake and the general appearance of Charlevoix in the spring.

We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.

Give to the American Cancer Society.

Cheboygan Would Suffer If the Mackinaw Moved

To the Editor: Recent unfavorable publicity toward the Coast Guard prompts me to pen a few points to ponder by all citizens in Coast Guard oriented communities along the lakes.

An article in the Cheboygan Daily Tribune on March 22 lays the financial burden of a sewage terminal for the CGC Mackinaw at the doorstep of the Coast Guard. One cannot help but conclude that some feel, since is a Coast Guard vessel, this is a Coast Guard responsibility and I will agree that a proportionate share of a reasonable cost is justified. Keep in mind as you read, that the Mackinaw is owned by the Federal Government.

The Sundew, a 180 foot buoy tender, has been based in Charlevoix for years. In 1966, the city of Charlevoix, entirely at city expense, installed lines to tie in the ships holding tanks to the municipal sewage system. It may require "new" state legislation to "force" pollution compliance by a misguided minority, but the majority pursue anti-pollution measures as a civic matter.

I do not pretend to be a lawyer, but I feel established laws hold precedence until new laws have met the test of long usage. I refer to the arrest of Captain Pharris, while in the line of duty as Commanding Officer of the Mackinaw, under the authority of the President of the United States. During my 24 years of service, I became indoctrinated in the principle that the only authorities with the power of arrest on a military installation were either a U.S. Marshal or a duly constituted military authority.

The Mackinaw, as a military command, was moored in waters under Federal jurisdiction, as defined by the Michigan Supreme Court.

I maintain a few individuals used the word first and do not regret the majority in the community in this case. Let me ask these individuals if they would agree to the antiquated but legally binding procedure of voter approval. If this proposal "The City of Cheboygan will bear the expense of a sewer terminal to the CGC Mackinaw with materials provided by the Coast Guard" were placed on the ballot, it would give voice to the following groups:

1. That segment of the community stemming from the presence of the Mackinaw for 27 years.

2. The merchants, grocers, landlords, and churches benefitting from the presence of 128 year old residents.

3. The school board and teachers benefitted by the Federal subsidy contributed for the education of each servicemen's child.

4. Military and civic organizations.

Here's What You Should Know About the Primary

March 20, 1972

To the Editor:

Much has been printed in the past few months about the Michigan May 16 Presidential Primary and Special Election but little has been said to clarify matters for the citizen who must vote for a number of local and state proposals, precinct delegates, and presidential candidates.

Let me explain immediately that the election is a preface primary. This means that except for local and statewide proposals, the voter must vote for presidential candidates within the party (Democratic, Republican, or American Independent) of his or her choice. Presidential candidates filed for the Michigan Primary: Democratic Party: Chisholm, Hartke, Humphrey, Jackson, McGovern, Muskie, and Wallace. Republican Party: McCloskey and Nixon.

Of these candidates, voters will be able to pick one only. If a voter is undecided about a choice for president, he or she may mark the place on the ballot which reads "uncommitted."

Also included under straight-party voting will be the precinct delegates. In selecting precinct delegates, voters will be choosing one of their neighbors who have collected at least 15 petition signatures from within their precinct. They will serve the precinct at the county convention which begins the process of picking nominees for President of the United States.

These "grass roots" candidates will either have the name of their presidential preference next to their name on the ballot or the word "uncommitted." delegate is not bound to cast his or her vote for any one candidate at the party conventions.

Those delegates designating a presidential preference are legally bound to cast their vote for that candidate until they receive either a written release from that candidate at the national convention or until the time of the second election.

Presidential preferences of the voters will be reflected on a proportional basis to the actual distribution of votes among each party's presidential candidates, providing they received at least 5 percent of the total statewide vote cast in their primary. For example, if Senator Muskie receives 40 percent of the popular vote statewide, he will have 40 percent of Michigan's national convention delegation committed to him.

Also included in the May 16 election will be two statewide proposals. Proposal "A" will give the Michigan voter an opportunity to repeal the state's prohibition against the lottery. This includes bingo and also casino gambling. A state authorized lottery, based on other states' experiences, could add up to $60 million to the state treasury and would obviously do much to alleviate the state's revenue problems.

Proposal "B" deals with an amendment to the State Constitution which would allow a member of the State Legislature to accept an appointive or elective office. Presently, the Governor is unable to appoint a member of the Michigan Legislature to any civil office. Proposal "B" would allow members to resign from office to accept such an appointment. This proposal would give legislators the same options as all other elected and appointed officers within the state.

In addition to these decisions, the voter must consider local proposals such as bonding and mileage requests. Campaigning has already begun. It is certainly not too early to begin weighing issues, candidates, and proposals so that a thoughtful decision can be made on this crucial 16 of May. The registration deadline for the May 16 election is April 14.

4 More Boys Get 'Brothers'

March 18, 1972

Mr. Bob Clock
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, MI., 49720

Dear Bob:

The Big Brothers of Charlevoix County, Inc., are very grateful for the response to a recent article in the Courier which enabled them to match 4 more youngsters with big brothers so far this month.

We are hoping for even more response as we have some half dozen big brothers now in the screening process.

Feel perfectly free to use this for publication if you wish as we are truly grateful.

It is a pity no one has seen fit to record the number of country editors have died over the years at their desks when stacks of press releases, photographs, proof sheets, pamphlets, notebooks, brochures and scrap paper finally tumbled down upon them, burying them in their work, so to speak.

Death by suffocation certainly is an occupational hazard in the newspaper business. I have never met a newspaper editor yet who has been successful in maintaining a clean desk, but as of Saturday I have vowed to be an exception to the rule.

That was the day I spent four and one-half hours cleaning out my niche in the Courier office. When I finished I took a sacred oath on an Gutenberg Bible never to let it happen again.

The problem, as I see it, is that we deal with words, millions of them, and all of them are printed on paper.

Each morning mail brings a new crop of press releases, correspondence which must be disposed of in one way or another. Needless to say, it is all opened lest there be a check or an advertising order enclosed.

Most of my mail consists of press releases from special interest groups, seeking to get foothold in the pages of the Charlevoix Courier. About 90 percent of such material goes directly into the waste paper basket because it has nothing whatsoever to do with the Charlevoix or Charlevoixians.

It's the remaining 10 percent that gives me the willies.

A down-state legislator submits a pretty good piece on no-fault auto insurance. Virtually every driver in Charlevoix carries auto insurance and a number of people might be interested. I check my page dummies against a list of copy already set. Not this week, but maybe next. So the article goes in a special stack, which eventually becomes two stacks, then a dozen stacks. They encircle my typewriter and climb up the wall. Eventually they creep over to the railing of the planter next to my desk, then they begin collecting on my second desk.

But the mail isn't the only contributor to an editor's clutter. Between 25 and 50 persons stop at the Courier office every day for one reason or another. Half of them have clippings, magazines, pamphlets and photographs that they think I might be interested in seeing for one reason or another. And they are usually right. But I don't have time to examine the material on the spot so

If it Fit

By JIM FITZGERALD

I had my first ride on a 747 but it really didn't take me anywhere.

The pilot interrupted Frank Sinatra to say we were cruising over 600 mph, 35,000 feet up. Fly me to the moon, baby.

There were 150 passengers and the plane wasn't half full. If business continues bad, they can always take out the empty seats and install a bowling alley.

The stewardess gave me a tech-tyc eye when I took an old peanut butter jar from a brown paper bag. She asked if there were liquor in the jar.

"Just orange juice," I giggled. It was easier than explaining I'd never been on a jet before and my doctor prescribed a little carpenter work on my nerves with a screwdriver.

Later the stewardess proved she wasn't dry. She had drunk her booze franchise. She hustled me for a dinky bottle of whiskey followed by steak and eggs. Then came coffee and severe air pumps. The coffee sloshed into my fruit cocktail and they drop it off to be returned, and my stacks grow and grow.

Now don't get me wrong. It's the people of Charlevoix who are the Charlevoix Courier. We try in-so-far as possible to reflect their interests and their thinking in everything we do. But there are only so many pages in a weekly newspaper and not every item which crosses my desk ends up in print. It's a matter of space and nothing else.

But where is a newspaperman to store his notes until they are needed? They don't build filing cabinets big enough.

My only consolation is the fact that I am not alone.

My first job out of college was with the Cass City Chronicle, edited by the late Herb Lenzer. Herb used to work out of a high roll-top desk that was so filled with clutter that the top was never closed. The back of the desk was piled high with stacks of papers that reached half-way to the ceiling. If it ever collapsed, Herb would have been a goner.

I always feel good when I stop at the News-Review office in Petoskey and find Editor John Doherty dwarfed by the mountains of paper, photo proof sheets, and reams of teletype tape that go into the production of a daily newspaper.

I am equally buoyed up when I visit Fran Martin's home on Nichols St. and have trouble finding her amid the bales of printed matter and notes she keeps on hand for quick reference.

By the same token, there is nothing more awe-inspiring to a newspaperman than to visit a doctor's office or the intersanctum of a bank president and find desks so clean you can eat off them.

But that's the way my desk is going to be from now on - at least until the next mail arrives.

The Payroll Savings Plan

Sure there are lots of things you want right now. Lots of things you need.

But, the sun's going to shine tomorrow, too. Think why it's important you do something today to build a little nest egg for the future. And there's no easier way to do that than by joining the Payroll Savings Plan.

The Payroll Savings Plan. The perfect way to help your good life stay that way.

No One Said 'Wow!'

floated a cherry into my pant cuffs.

"Excuse me, Stewardess," I said, "but I would like to get off."

"Have some more orange juice," she said.

I turned up Sinatra on the stereo headset. The 747's greatest charm is its music system. You simply plug the stethoscope into your ears and dial rock or blues. No one else knows what you are hearing. You can even dial nothing and sit there and pretend you are a doctor speeding to Italy to check out Sophia Loren's chest cold.

It occurred to me that I was now in the incredible position of being able to look down at clouds I never bother to look up at. I was approaching the speed of sound as, in only 2 1/2 hours, I traded winter for summer, Michigan for Florida. And I was being transported in a mammoth vehicle that couldn't possibly get off the ground.

I had no idea how all this was being done to me. But the sheer wonderment of it wasn't enough diversion. I had to have steak and booze and Sinatra. I even asked the stewardess for a magazine. God forgive me. And as I watched her ankle away, I had the gall to remark to a companion that stewardesses were not as beautiful as I had expected.

Egad, here I am on the stairway to the stars and what do I do? Ogle girls and read a football story, just like back home in the barbershop.

Across the aisle, two little girls were hunched over coloring books. I heard a man complain because there was no movie on that flight. Most of the passengers were snoring as they participated in just another, no hum, miracle of science and technology.

Not once did I hear anyone say "Wow!"

Finally, on the ground, the Miami newspapers told me Floridians were terribly concerned about school busing. George Wallace, the world's champion demagog, was back in the school-house door, playing the people's prejudices like a well-tuned harp. He won the Democratic primary there with ease.

There is nothing to be said for a civilization that is so busy going places it never gets anywhere. And I just said it.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

Thinking a letter from Charlevoix city hall might be a refund on utilities, imagine my chagrin to find that a 1.46 multiplier increased my property valuation by almost half. When I received these famous MEETINGS from Uncle Sam was the only other time when I felt at such a loss. Instead of winding up my affairs, as in the first case, I headed for a discussion with the proper officials which brought me to the county building already overflowing with taxpayers whose tempers were soaring far beyond any state imposed limits.

It was a unique situation. The harried officials could offer no solace but solutions flowed freely and loudly from the assembled throng. A farmer blamed the retired occupants of the $40,000 ranch home across the road for the outrageous increase on his dilapidated home and sagging barn. His tone clearly implied that city dwellers and tax assessors could go to the same place.

A workman agreed with the concept but added that the gasoline tax was the underlying cause. We pay almost a third more, on lower income, to build better roads which lure ever more people to our own disadvantage. He also felt that building the new Tiger Stadium on Deer Lake Road would provide needed employment and be better patrolled since the area will eventually be populated exclusively by retired Detroiters.

A young haired woman nodded affirmatively and reflected that if the industries leaving the cities would relocate in this area she could get a job cleaning offices to supplement her meager Social Security. She concluded logically that if she had enough money to pay her taxes she would not be present at this forum.

A young couple with a baby voiced the hope that pending legislation would provide property tax relief.

An 80-year-old citizen hit off his pipe stem before spluttering: "Tax relief! The Federal income tax has been temporary since World War I. No right thinking politician will shrink the revenue that provides his pay and pensions. Believe me, both are well above the poverty level!"

When someone voiced the opinion that there were too many state em-

Disneyland Trip Awaits Area Boy in IGA Contest

Forty-six boys from Northern Michigan - including one from Charlevoix - will win all-expense-paid trips to Disneyland in California this summer in an unusual popularity contest sponsored by IGA.

Edwards IGA in Charlevoix is one of the stores participating in the contest, with registration starting this week.

All boys between the ages of 10 and 14 are invited to enter the contest and compete to earn the community's votes as "Most Popular Boy."

Top winner from each participating store will spend four days and three nights touring Disneyland and other attractions in southern California.

Runners-up prizes include a boy's bicycle, fishing outfit, transistor radio, football, baseball, canteens and others.

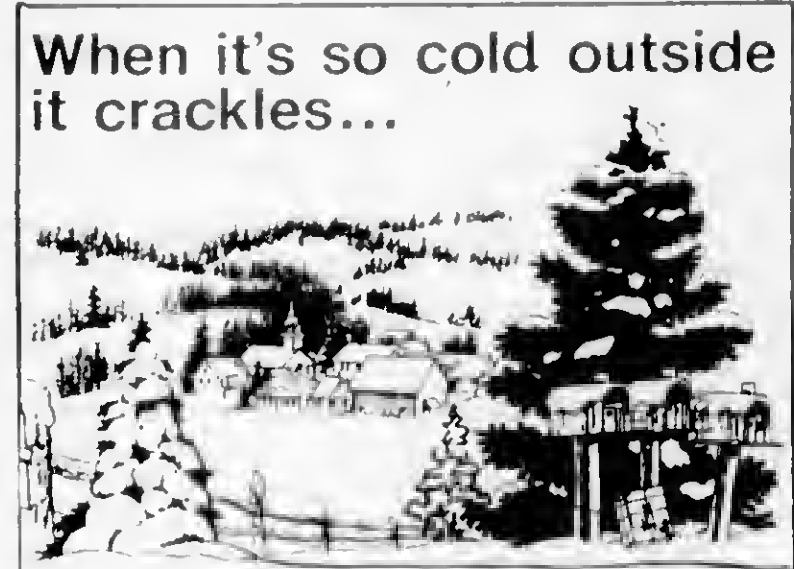

The contest is designed to foster a spirit of friendly competitiveness, while helping to teach boys the basic concepts of citizenship and the American voting process, according to Dick Edwards, proprietor of the local IGA store.

Relatives and friends can vote for their favorite boy by depositing special "vote coupons" in the official ballot box located in each participating store. Boys will receive one vote for each 10-cent purchase. For example, a $10 grocery order will be worth 100 votes for you.

Eligible boys in the Charlevoix area are asked to pick up their official entry certificates at Edwards IGA. All boys must be registered by May 6.

City Votes Monday

Interest in the city general election Monday, April 3, is centered largely in the Second Ward where Republican Robert Timms will face Democrat Howard Horton for a vacancy on the City Council.

The winner will succeed Alderman Nathan Boss, who has served on the council six years. Boss was unsuccessful candidate for mayor in the February primary.

The Timms-Horton contest is the only race on the ballot and the Second Ward is expected to draw the largest vote.

The contest officially opens April 5 and will run through June 17. Votes will be counted and recorded weekly and winners will be announced and prizes awarded the week of June 19. Trip winners will fly to California June 26 and return June 29.

Eligible boys in the Charlevoix area are asked to pick up their official entry certificates at Edwards IGA. All boys must be registered by May 6.

A special Voter Registration Day for newly enfranchised Charlevoix area young people will be held at the Charlevoix County Courthouse April 12 from 1 until 5 p.m. and from 6 until 8 p.m.

Clerks or their deputies from Charlevoix Township, Hayes Township, Eveline Township, Bay Township and Marion Township will be on hand to sign up the young people and others who are not yet registered to vote.

The deadline for registering for the May 16 primary is Friday, April 14.

Charlevoix City Clerk Ida Heise said she will not be able to have a deputy in the County Building, but that eligible voters may sign up during the special hours across the street at the City Hall.

Norwood Township also has been invited to take part, but has not committed itself to sending the clerk or a deputy.

Voter Registration Day is sponsored by a group of Charlevoix area Democratic and Republican party workers.

Refreshments will be served during the sign-up period.

Coffee Kicks Off Cancer Crusade

The American Cancer Society's annual Crusade in Charlevoix County will start Tuesday, April 4, with a kickoff coffee at 10 a.m. in the community room of the First State Bank.

Goal in the county-wide drive is $8,150, according to Mrs. Albert Seger, Charlevoix chairman.

Speakers at the meeting will be Richard Sanders, Cancer Society public relations man from Lansing, and Mike Taylor, area representative from Cadillac.

Two films will be shown, "Take Time Out for Life," produced by the Cancer Society, and "Special Child," narrated by Joan Crawford.

Mrs. Seger says she is lining up 100 Cancer Crusade workers. Assisting her as co-chairman will be Mrs. Leroy Buchanan in Charlevoix and Mrs. John Fratrack in the rural areas.

Dr. Harry Custer of Charlevoix is medical advisor to the county organization.

Jaycee Charter Night

CHARLEVOIX'S newest civic fraternal organization, the Jaycees - held their Charter Night banquet Tuesday at the American Legion hall. Speaker was Pat Sheridan (left), 48th president of the Michigan Jaycees. The 31-year-old Sheridan is a former president of the Detroit Jaycees and is audit manager for an accounting firm. MC for the program was Dave Dugan of Charlevoix (right), area sales manager for Frillo-Lay.

Other members of the board are Ronald Ramsey, Joseph Anthony and Rev. Stephen Holmes, Charlevoix; Mrs. Pauline Menegier, Jack Walz and District Judge W. Richard Smith, Emmet; and Peter Vallenga, Lonny Campbell and Mrs. Barbara Johnson, Otsego.

Sixty-four counties and the city of Detroit have formed 45 similar community Mental Health Boards, according to E. Gordon Yudashkin, M.D., director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

The Potosky Area Mental Health Clinic, 603 Lake-st., will continue to provide out-patient services under the direction of Mrs. Florence Ellison.

The state-local clinic was established in 1951 to serve emotionally disturbed children. In recent years it has served both children and adults in the four-county area.

Since the first funding in 1964 of programs under Act 54 there has been a year after year expansion of services available to people in their communities.

The effect of community action has been to reduce the potential demand for state hospital service during a period of increasing population and need for services.

"During the last three years the number of people served by community mental health agencies has more than doubled, totalling 267,000 last year," Dr. Yudashkin reports.

In approving programs for state matching funds under Act 54, he said the Department is placing high priority on:

- Residential services for the mentally retarded;
- Services for emotionally disturbed children;
- Aftercare services;
- Primary prevention programs.

"These priorities have been established to fill in service gaps and to fulfill the need for comprehensive community programs," said Dr. Yudashkin. "They are directed toward the goal of reducing dependence upon state institutions for services which can be more effectively 'vied in the community.'"

Six-Foot Long Hospital Bill Irks Essenburg

Mayor Andrew Essenburg is overcharged by Charlevoix Hospital during a recent 11-day stay and has hired an attorney, Stephen B. Graham, to represent him in court unless the bill is adjusted.

Essenburg's bill, which measured six and one-half feet long, came to more than $1,900 and included some items which Essenburg said he never received, including three "ice collars."

Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger told the hospital board last Tuesday night that he has met with Essenburg on the bill and that he would complete an audit of the account before April 14.

Krueger told the board that the ice collars should have been billed as ice bags, but the mayor maintains he received no ice at all, aside from ice used to cool his drinking water.

He also thinks there must be some mistake over 45 separate billings for blood type tests prior to surgery for a bleeding ulcer. Krueger said the tests were in connection with transfusions Essenburg received. The blood was received from the Blood Bank and was double checked as to type as a safety precaution. Essenburg received eight transfusions in all.

Essenburg also is objecting to a daily $15 pharmacist's service fee, over and above the cost of drugs, and another daily $2.10 fee for delivery of medication to his room.

Dr. Harry Custer, chief of staff, told the hospital board that the hospital is making a mistake in sending "10-foot bills" to patients.

"From a psychological standpoint, the bill is too high even before you see the total," he said.

Krueger said he and his staff have been attempting to come up with an abbreviated bill since last summer but have been unable to do so because of the press of other business.

Dr. Custer also said he thinks some hospital personnel are wasteful of medical supplies which are charged to patients.

As a case in point he cited an incident which occurred less than three hours earlier when he had inserted a catheter into a patient. He said he asked the attendant for a small piece of adhesive tape to secure the tube to the patient's leg. Instead, the attendant took a $5 IV kit from his pocket, ripped it open and handed him a small roll of tape that it contained.

He said the patient probably would be charged for the IV kit, which was no longer useable since the sterile seal had been broken.

Dr. Custer said he believes the hospital is using too many disposable supplies in preference to reusable supplies.

Krueger said it often more costly to reclaim supplies than to throw them away.

Essenburg, who is not covered by medical insurance, said he is protesting the bill not so much for himself ("I can afford it") but for other uninsured patients. He said such a bill could mean financial disaster for many uninsured Charlevoix area residents.

In other business the board:

- Learned that Nathan Cummings of the Anchorage has donated $50,000 toward the hospital's new coronary care unit. Campaign Chairman Julius Gilbert received an initial check for $10,000, with a pledge to donate $10,000 each February for the next four years.
- Agreed to attempt to raise $23,350 in addition to the cost of the CC and intensive care unit to bring the hospital up to state Health Department standards. Included in the project are modifications in the surgical locker room ($5,500), charges in "the janitor's closet in the surgical suite ($1,500), delivery room locker room ($4,800), separation of clean and soiled linens ($1,100), and five smoke barrier doors, ($5,000).
- Postponed a decision on whether to hire a professional fund raiser to raise money for hospital improvements.
- Learned that bids for hospital construction work due April 16 at the office of the architect, Graheck, Bell, Kline and Brown in Traverse City.
- Received copies of proposed changes in the hospital by-laws from attorney Thomas Painter.
- Accepted an administrator's report showing that cost-per-patient day in February was $102, compared to $69 in January, $97 in December and $87 in November.

3 from County Named To Mental Health Board

Three Charlevoix County residents have been named to an inter-county Mental Health Services Board to develop and coordinate mental health services for mentally ill and mentally retarded persons in Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego Counties.

Serving of the board from Charlevoix County will be Mrs. Lillian Bergmann (four years); Bruce Bragg (three years); and Samuel Kosz (two years).

Other members of the board are Ronald Ramsey, Joseph Anthony and Rev. Stephen Holmes, Charlevoix; Mrs. Pauline Menegier, Jack Walz and District Judge W. Richard Smith, Emmet; and Peter Vallenga, Lonny Campbell and Mrs. Barbara Johnson, Otsego.

Sixty-four counties and the city of Detroit have formed 45 similar community Mental Health Boards, according to E. Gordon Yudashkin, M.D., director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

State Aid

The Charlevoix School District was scheduled to receive a state aid payment of $39,065, plus $3,350 in Title I money, on April 1, according to State Sen. Robert Davis.

In addition to the higher floor, the bill boosts state aid from 20 to 35 cents per capita. Davis said the guaranteed minimum is particularly important in northern Michigan where most low-population counties are located.

The group sang "Speak to my Heart," "Lord Jesus," "Have Thine Own Way, Lord" and "Just as I Am."

The Rev. Gordon Mitchison officiated at the service, which was followed by brunch in the fellowship hall.

Timms Wins 2nd Ward Council Seat

Republican Robert Timms, 37, defeated his Democratic opponent, Howard Horton, 38, for the Second Ward seat on the City Council in light balloting Monday. The tally was Timms, 120 and Horton 66, including 12 absentee votes.

The turnout was even lighter in the First and Third Wards where there were no contests on the ballot.

Edward P. Hansen, who defeated incumbent Second Ward Alderman Nathan Boss in the February primary, received 263 votes city-wide. City Clerk Ida Heise garnered 235 and Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham received 236.

In the First Ward, Sam Supernaw was elected to the Council with 49 votes. He defeated Ralph McFae in the primary.

In the Third Ward, Alderman Conrad Klooster was re-elected to the council with 59 votes. He was unopposed in the primary.

A total of 29 absentee ballots were cast, including nine in the First Ward, 14 in the Second Ward and 10 in the Third Ward.

Timms, the new Second Ward alderman, is a Charlevoix TV and appliance repairman who lives at 314 Hurlbut-st.

A native of Detroit, he moved to Potoskey with his family in 1950 and graduated from Potoskey High School in 1952.

He studied electronics repair at Western Michigan University for five years before entering the Army in 1954.

After a tour of duty in Germany, Timms returned to the United States and worked for Radio Electronic Supply Co. in Potoskey for five years. In 1961 he joined Gill's Appliance Co. in Charlevoix and in 1963 he bought the business, selling to Eldon Potter in 1968.

Timms now operates his own TV and appliance repair business.

He and his wife, the former Barbara Phelps, whom he married in 1957, have three children, Robert Jr., 14; Tammy, 12; and Marjorie, 11.

Following is a breakdown of the general election vote by wards.

First Ward: Hansen, 51; Mrs. Heise, 143; Miss Cunningham, 49; and Supernaw, 49.

Second Ward: Hansen, 150; Mrs. Heise, 143; Miss Cunningham, 145; Timms, 120; Horton, 66.

Third Ward: Hansen, 62; Mrs. Heise, 61; Miss Cunningham, 62; and Klooster, 59.

Club Singers Take Part

The music group of the Charlevoix Women's Club participated in a fellowship communion service at the Congregational Church last Wednesday during Holy Week.

The group sang "Speak to my Heart," "Lord Jesus," "Have Thine Own Way, Lord" and "Just as I Am."

The Rev. Gordon Mitchison officiated at the service, which was followed by brunch in the fellowship hall.

DR. JAMES SNOODY of Michigan State University is conducting a 10-week course in Continuous Progress Programs at the Charlevoix Elementary School. The class includes teachers from the Elementary School, the Middle School, St. Marys and three from the Twin Valley School District. Purpose of the course is to develop a continuous progress program for Charlevoix Schools.

Save Spiders For Survey, Agent Asks

"Save Your Spiders!" Ed. Rehnman, Charlevoix County extension director is cooperating in a one year survey to determine the species and numbers of the different spiders that are present in Michigan. This survey will start on April 1. Richard J. Sauer, Extension Entomology specialist at Michigan State University is in charge of this project. Sauer said that no one has accurate information relative to the kinds and numbers of spiders. Many people know that the Northern Black Widow has been found here but to date the Brown Recluse has not been identified in this area. Rehnman asks everyone that finds a spider to bring it to the Boyne City Extension Office. All spiders are needed whether they are poisonous or not. Anyone who has found a spider is asked to call 582-6232.

Ellsworth's Snowbanks Surprise Downstaters

By Anne Osterbaas
Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Klosser, who spent several weeks with their daughter Beverly in Rockford, have returned home. Everyone coming from the south is surprised we still have so much snow. The snow piles and snowbanks in the village are slowly settling-but with our two mornings and cold March winds, it will take time. The bright sunny days encourage us.

The Senior class of the Community School again sponsored the senior Little Mike of Holland, ten year old gospel singer to Ellsworth, Saturday evening. The following were co-sponsors: Drenth Bros., Gold Nugget, Dr. Van Dellen, Daining, Conrad Klosser, Melvin Essenberg, Lumber Co., Bob Sanoce, Frank Kenney, Ellsworth Bank and Bernard W. Rest. The Srs. also thanked the John Bests for the use of their piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mascho of Taylor were recent visitors with her mother, Maude Patterson.

Mrs. Annie Colleen Evans of East Jordan visited her friend

Maude Patterson last week. Mr. Louis DeJong of Manassas and well known in Ellsworth, is a patient at Charlevoix Hospital.

Mrs. Maggie Heeres is getting along well at Meadow Brook Hospital and was a super guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heeres and family. The occasion was the birthday of granddaughter Marilyn.

Neighbors and friends helped Mrs. John Janzen celebrate her birthday. Mr. and Mrs. James Rubling left Friday to spend a week in Hawaii. They will visit their daughter, Janice, who is employed there as a nurse.

Bill Berends of Grand Rapids spent the weekend with the Peter Jake Drenth family. His wife and daughters who spent the past week here returned home with him. Stan of Calvin College is spending his Easter vacation with his folks. Dave Osterbaas, who came with Stan is spending the week with his mother, Ann Osterbaas.

EASTER has come and gone, but winter clings tenaciously to the northern Michigan landscape. Although the ice is on the move in Lake Michigan and Round Lake, Lake Charlevoix and Little Traverse Bay remain frozen.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Martin were his daughter, Mary De Vogel, and David Fischer of Petoskey.

Home from Ferris Institute for Spring vacation are students Kevin McDonough, Danny Gillespie Tony Conaghan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lockwood from Indianapolis, Ind., spent last weekend with her mother, Mrs. Jo Carlisle. Mrs. Carlisle went to Petoskey with them for a couple of days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Annan and family of Lansing were at their home here for several days for spring vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud McDonough were in Charlevoix for a couple of days.

He was a member of York Lodge 410, F. & M., the First Methodist Church in Grand Rapids and the Saladin Temple Shrine.

He is survived by his widow, Josephine T. (formerly Mrs. R.S. Kilpatrick), a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Ohland of Dallas; a step-son, Richard B. Kilpatrick of Grand Rapids; a step-daughter, Mrs. Rudy J. Underkofler of Milwaukee and four grandchildren.

The family suggests that memorial contributions should be made to the Kent County Heart Fund or the First United Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lambdon of Detroit are spending the holiday weekend with the latter parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams.

Twenty-five local friends were entertained last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Neilsen with Mrs. Sally Saunders as co-hostess with a miscellaneous shower honoring Judy Celler who will be married in our community church, Saturday evening, April 8, to William Goldsmith of Clarion. Games were played and Judy received many beautiful gifts. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Earl Kroll has returned home after spending the past week on business in Detroit.

Evelyn Johnson has had a robin in their yard several days and also six deer feeding on the side hill across from them. This last snowfall has been bad for birds and animals, but March is going out much nicer than it came years, to Kenneth Figard a student minister this Thursday evening, Cindy has the very best wishes of her local friends.

District Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Judge W. Richard Smith.

Jeffrey DePew, 21, Charlevoix, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of illegal use of marijuana. He was assessed $150 and placed on one year's probation. DePew originally had been charged with the sale of a narcotic drug, but the charge was reduced at the request of the prosecuting attorney.

Melvin J. Blain, 31, Charlevoix, was bound over to the April term of Circuit Court on a charge that he had carnal knowledge of a minor female. Personal bond was continued.

Sam Staph III, 19, Manassas, was found guilty at trial of operating a motor vehicle with a suspended license. He will be sentenced later.

Raymond Andrews, 26, Harbor Springs, was sentenced to 10 days in jail and placed on six months probation on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

77 From County Are Attending CMU

A total of 77 students from Charlevoix County are attending Central Michigan University this semester according to figures supplied from the CMU Registrar's Office.

Students from this county are among 13,885 currently enrolled at CMU. That total includes 13,001 from Michigan, 201 from 30 other states, and 83 from foreign countries on the campus for the winter semester.

CMU students come in greatest numbers from seven counties forming a diagonal between Isabella County, where the University is located, to the metropolitan tri-county area of Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties.

Wayne is the home of 1,424 CMU students, followed by Oakland with 1,383, Isabella with 1,065 and Genesee with 708. Others in the top 10 include Saginaw with 698,

Chiropractor Back Home

Dr. Terry A. Grear, Charlevoix chiropractor, has returned from Dallas, Texas, where he participated in a four-day seminar presented by the Parker Chiropractic Research Foundation.

The seminar featured papers on advanced chiropractic principles and practices in addition to clinical methods, patient examination and treatment procedures.

The seminars are held six times a year and serve as post-graduate courses to keep chiropractors abreast of changes and improvements in chiropractic. In addition, classes for wives and assistants are offered.

Dr. Grear is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paddy Patrick of R-3, Charlevoix.

Mike Patrick, a 1970 graduate of Charlevoix High School, is taking basic training at Orlando, Fla.

Belvedere Course One of Favorites

The Charlevoix area and its Belvedere Golf Club are highlighted in a March Motor News story telling about an annual golfing swing across Michigan by two foursomes, according to Fred Doelker, Automobile Club of Michigan's Traverse City area manager.

"Each day we play a different course," Monroe novelist Vern Snider says, "and among our favorites is Belvedere, at Charlevoix, where the Michigan Amateur is played."

The group's traditional golfing swing begins on a Sunday morning, with the group leaving Detroit and lunching at the Hotel Doherty at Clare. It ends with a final round of golf at Shanty Creek near Mancelona the following Saturday.

Following the Sunday lunch at Clare, the two-car caravan drives to Cadillac, where the golfing begins.

"On Monday," Snider writes, "we leave Cadillac for the Traverse City Country Club, checking into a motel overlooking the bay. By noon we are on the golf course."

Snider claims that the golfing swing goes smoothly if the group has an "anchor spot" at which to park clothing and equipment. An ideal anchor spot, he says, is Petoskey. Within a 15-mile radius are some of the finest golf courses in Michigan.

So on Tuesday morning, the group checks into one of Petoskey's motels, with reservations secured through Friday night.

On those days, the author says, the group is on the course by 11 a.m. with a wealth of fine courses from which to choose. They play a different course each day.

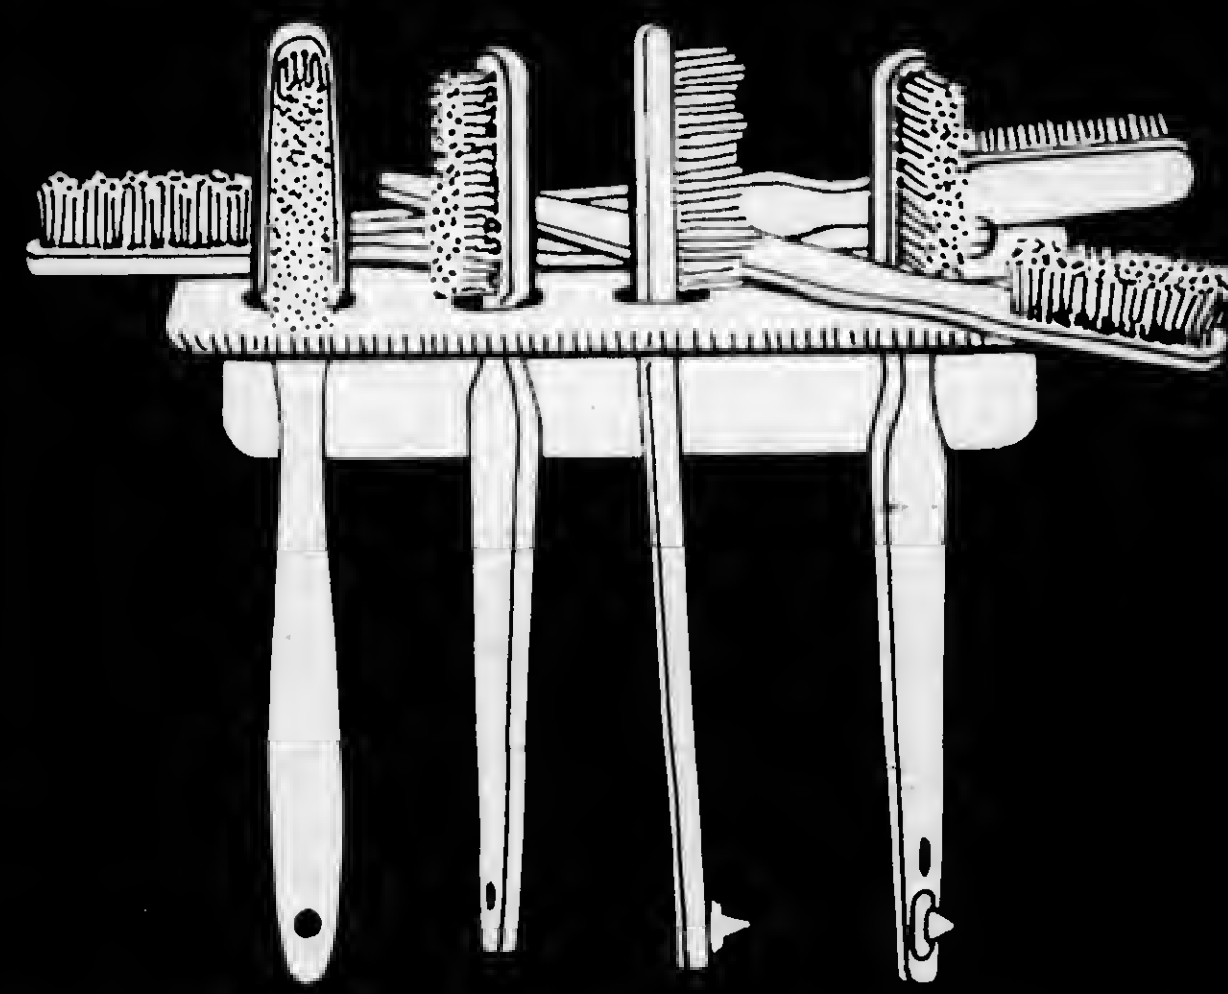

In addition to Belvedere at Charlevoix, Snider cites these favorites: the Harbor Point Golf Club, at Harbor Springs; the Bay View Golf Club at Bay View; the Wequetonsing Golf Club, and Boyne Highlands, both near Harbor Springs.

"On Saturday morning, the golfing swing draws to a close, with time for that last round on the way home at Shanty Creek," Snider concludes.

"Then it's lunch at Utley's Town House on Birch Run Road near Flint and back home to Detroit."

MR. AND MRS. Maxwell Bradford of Gaylord announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne, to Jerry R. Stewart, son of Mrs. Harry A. Stewart of Charlevoix. Miss Bradford is a 1967 graduate of Gaylord High School and a 1971 graduate of Central Michigan University. Her fiancé is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and CMU. The wedding will take place June 17 at Indian River.

Middle School Scientists Explore Their World

JEFF LUTZ took second place at the Middle School Science Fair Thursday with this exhibit of mounted fish.

HEATH PATRIE tied for third place in the fair with his experiment dealing with solar energy. Other third place winners were David Bowman (seismograph) and Jeff Thuss and Dale Wimmer (scale model of Medusa plant.)

DAVID BOWMAN built a seismograph which he displayed at the Middle School fair. At right, Loren Purvis and Mike Klooster demonstrate process of separating water and alcohol by means of distillation.

FRANK OLACH's display dealt with the breeding of white mice.

JEFF THUSS, third place co-winner, poses with scale model of Medusa plant.

BRIAN BRAOY demonstrated the effects of radiation on Tennessee pole beans.

PATRICIA FELS demonstrated the capacity of various liquids to conduct electricity.

Schools Unnecessary

He said that while the school is asking a renewal of the .5 mill, it is not mandatory that the entire amount be levied. The board will ask that the millage be renewed for five years.

The .4 of a mill for the J. Wagner dissenting. Vane Smith, high school principal, who has been working with the Intermediate School District on the proposed program, said that federal funds were being sought to engage two officers monies from this levy were used to establish the centers and stock them with the needed equipment, books, periodicals and other supplies. The mill being asked for three years will be utilized to keep the centers stocked with books and equipment and to keep abreast of needs.

At some time in the near future, a program of remodeling and construction of additions must be undertaken to meet current building needs. It has been suggested that a building and site or sinking fund be established in order to have funds available when the need arises. The proposed two mills would have a period two years to meet this need. In this way, it would not be necessary to sell bonds to borrow money and in a public relations capacity we would be building up enforcement capacities on a K-12 level, he explained.

The board also approved the recommendation that basketball, wrestling, skiing and track be named as Varsity sports for boys and volleyball, basketball, swimming and track as varsity sports for girls.

Following an executive session during which the board discussed the proposed contract with consulting architects, Manson, Jackson and Kane, the president and secretary of the board were authorized to sign a contract with the firm which will make a study of the system, propose necessary changes and draw plans for the building.

J. Wagner dissenting, Vane Smith, high school principal, who has been working with the Intermediate School District on the proposed program, said that federal funds were being used to pay for the program to work in the Char-Eon district. They must be certified police officers and qualified teachers who would work directly with the school in the area. The program, as well as teaching and law enforcement capabilities on K-12 level, he explained.

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, decided to ask voters of the school district to renew millage for the operation of the library, for a reduced millage for the schools' material center funds and two mills for a building and site fund. The schools will ask for no additional operating millage this year.

After their action, the board gave its approval to several varsity sports for boys and four for girls; voted to support the proposed Charlevoix District Intermediate School Evening Intermediate-School liaison program and to sign a contract with a Lansing firm for a long range study and building program.

A discussion of the proposed millage vote to be held in conjunction with the June 12 election of two trustees to the board of education resulted in a lengthy

The request for .5 mill (or $\frac{1}{2}$ mill) to underwrite the cost of operating the public library will mean a renewal of millage which the district approved in 1967. Supt. Robert Miller said that penal fines which have been used in the past to support libraries have dwindled in the past two or three years and that State Aid for this purpose is negligible. It has also been proposed that the use of penal fines for this purpose be discontinued and used instead to support courts

Guild Learns About CC Unit at Hospital

Gerald Staubin, president of the Charlevoix Hospital board of directors, and Richard Krueger, administrator, appeared before a recent meeting of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital to tell of tentative plans for the construction of an intensive and coronary care unit at the hospital.

Plans call for an addition north from the west wing to allow for three special care rooms and related facilities. They then answered questions asked by the 20 members present about the facility.

Mrs. Jack Rader, president of the Guild, who had introduced Mr. Staubin and Mr. Krueger, then presided at the business meeting that followed.

Plans were made for the April 10 meeting when members will make tray favors for Mother's Day and Father's Day. The sewing committee will also meet to work on layettes.

The Guild's scholarship committee, composed of Mrs. Robert Tullas, Mrs. David Fowler and Mrs. Fred Davison is now accepting scholarship applications. It was reported at the meeting.

The Guild annually offers a $300.00 scholarship to a girl in the area served by the local hospital. Further information may be obtained by calling a member of the committee. Application blanks will be available at the offices of high school principals in the area.

Members also heard that the Guild had purchased another television for rental to patients. This brings to six the number now in service at the hospital.

Mrs. Dale Glass of the favors committee reported she had made favors for St. Patrick's Day and Easter and, with the assistance of Mrs. Fred deCastro, had made special children's favors for the forthcoming holiday.

The Guild has also underwritten the cost of an emergency lighting service for the hospital which is being installed.

Tentative plans also were made for the annual Thrift sale to be held in the fall.

Penn-Dixie Income Up Sharply

Penn-Dixie Cement Corp. reported net income of $1,907,000 or 63 cents per share for the year ended Dec. 31, 1971 as compared to $501,000 or 17 cents per share in 1970. The 1971 results include extraordinary items of $82,000 or 3 cents per share.

Consolidated sales were $222,081,000 in 1971 as compared to $206,068,000 last year. Net income for the fourth quarter ended Dec. 31, 1971 was $198,000 or 6 cents per share as compared to a deficit in 1970 of $255,000 (8 cents per share). Results for the 1971 period include special items of $82,000 or 3 cents per share. Consolidated sales were $62,226,000 for the 1971 last quarter as against $51,660,000 for the similar period in the previous year.

"Although 1971 was a much improved year," James Jacobson, chief financial officer, said, "it was still a difficult one, characterized by labor unrest, rising imports, and wage and price controls. The problems of 1970 and 1971 are in a large part behind us and we anticipate a sharp improvement in net income for 1972."

Alderman Gill reported on the Citizens' request to buy land for a "Walk-in Park" on Michigan Avenue stating that the committee had determined it is a worthy project but that the City cannot be committed for underwriting any of the cost at this time.

Mr. Berlage spoke for the citizens that if the City would explore the possibility of getting grants from the State or from foundations that they were certain donations could be raised to fund at least half of the cost. The Council asked the City Administrator to investigate the possibility of getting help to fund the project.

A resolution was offered by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Klooster authorizing pay increases for salaried employees in accordance with the 5.5 per cent price freeze limit. Mayor Essenburg wished to go on record as being against the raises of salaried employees. The resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Alderman Westenberg, Boss, Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, and Supernaw. Absent: None. Alderman Supernaw was absent for his reason for voting "no" on the resolution regarding salary raises was because he felt uninformed on the subject.

Alderman Boss expressed his appreciation in serving with the Council for the past six years. Moved by Alderman Supernaw and supported by Alderman Gill that the Council express their gratitude for the services of Alderman Boss for the past six years and Mayor Essenburg's service for the past year making citizens more aware of City government. Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Alderman Westenberg, Gill, Klooster, Sundberg, and Supernaw. Alderman Boss abstained from voting. Nays: None. Absent: None. City Administrator announced that a check to cover costs of the broken water main last year under the river channel is forthcoming in the amount of $1,416.13 from the Corps of Engineers. On motion the Council adjourned.

EAST JORDAN Attorney Madeline Dinu discussed "wills" at a meeting of the Charlevoix Women's Club April 5 at the First State Bank. Mrs. Dinu discussed how wills are drawn up, what should be in them and how they are probated. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Library notes

A new shipment of books includes something for everyone. We'd like to mention some of the important non-fiction.

"Consumer Beware!" was written by Beatrice Trum Hunter, author of the "Natural Foods Cookbook." This new book is an extensively documented survey of the deterioration of our basic foods and its impact on the nation's health. The author is a concerned consumer who has been closely observing the food revolution for several decades. She explores the scientific, industrial and economic forces that have shaped it, and suggests what can be done to improve the quality and safety of food. She answers such questions as: "What price the pretty package?" "Food is a bargain-or is it?" "Is meat inspection a real safeguard?" "The popular hamburger: What's in it?" "Cottage cheese: Wholesome and palatable?" This is a hard-hitting expose in the tradition of Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring." It will provide the growing rank of concerned consumers with an arsenal of effective weapons to bring about overdue improvements in the quality and safety of food.

"Kennedy Justice" was written by a 39-year-old editor on the New York Times who served as Special Assistant to the Governor of Michigan and has written and taught widely on politics, literature and the law. This, rather, ponderous volume is an account of the innermost workings of government. We learn that nowhere was the clash between idealism and expediency that characterized the Kennedy brothers more apparent during their years in power than at the time of the American legal system, Department of Justice. This new book is a remarkable study of the American political system. "My Life and Medicine" is an autobiography by Benjamin E. May. Today Dr. May is best known to the general public as the man who nursed President Eisenhower back to health after his critical heart attack in 1955. He has long been recognized as an intrepid pioneer in the field of cardiology, and as a man whose particular qualities of sympathy, determination, insight and skill have made him a personal symbol of medicine at its most useful and humane. James Mielner said: "Paul Dudley White is more than a doctor. He is a way of life—one for which I am constantly grateful." This is the story of this wonderful man's own life. It is highly recommended reading.

"The Memoirs of Marshall Zukov" was written by G. K. Zukov, and we mention this obvious fact because the general account of the conduct of the war against the Nazis occupies the greater part of the book. He gives a clear insight into the operation of the Russian High Command and his relationship with Stalin. Of the three great fighting generals who led the Allied armies to victory in 1945, General Eisenhower and Field Marshal Montgomery have already made their personal contributions to the historical record of the Second World War. Now Marshall Zukov's memoirs complete the picture with a political document of first importance. "Born to Rebel" is an autobiography by Benjamin E. May. Today Dr. May is best known to the general public as the man who nursed President Eisenhower back to health after his critical heart attack in 1955. He has long been recognized as an intrepid pioneer in the field of cardiology, and as a man whose particular qualities of sympathy, determination, insight and skill have made him a personal symbol of medicine at its most useful and humane. James Mielner said: "Paul Dudley White is more than a doctor. He is a way of life—one for which I am constantly grateful." This is the story of this wonderful man's own life. It is highly recommended reading.

STEAM CLEAN CARPET & UPHOLSTERY

Dirty carpets can be a hazard to your family's health. Children lie on them, sit on them, play on them. And germs are picked up from them. In fact, the average 9x12 carpet collects 3 pounds of germ laden dirt each year.

What can you do about it? Clean your carpets regularly—the STEAM way.

WISE'S STEAM uses saturated steam in a controlled spray to break up, emulsify and suspend the dirt particles which are then extracted from the carpet. The result is your carpets come cleaner, look better and last longer. Actual tests have shown that carpets with a germ count too high to read prior to cleaning have given a germ count as low as zero immediately after WISE STEAM cleaning.

Your family's health is precious. Protect it with clean carpets—WISE STEAM clean carpets.

BOB WISE EXPLAINS THE ADVANTAGES OF STEAM CARPET CLEANING IN THE HOME OF REVEREND BOB RUTLEDGE, PASTOR OF THE ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH.

European Teachers Seek Hosts in Area

Charlevoix area families are needed to entertain English-speaking European teachers in their homes for one or two weeks this summer under the American Host Program.

According to Stuart Perkins, board chairman of the Host Program and president of Volkswagen of America, American Host is one of the few non-governmental programs designed to show the American way of life to foreign teachers by arranging hospitality with American families for them.

Now in its tenth year of operation, American Host has opened doors to understanding for more than 3500 European teachers who have passed on their new view of America to their students.

Perkins said that being a "Host Family" is open to anyone who has the desire to increase understanding and friendship between Americans and Europeans. All American Host asks for is hospitality—a private room for a guest and free time for one or two weeks to introduce the guest to friends and neighbors and perhaps to fellow teachers.

Winter Doesn't Give Up Easily at Bells Bay

WINTER doesn't give up easily at Bells Bay. On Sunday April 9, the State Forest Camp-ground south of Charlevoix on the Lake Michigan shore still resembled an arctic wilderness, despite the spring sun. Above left, high snow banks make the Pokey Wheeler cottage virtually inaccessible, except by snowshoe. Lower left, mountains of ice are shoved against the shore and the ice field extends more than a mile toward open water. Above, melting snow in some areas is cutting deep ravines across the sand beach. Above right, high banks along the newly-plowed roadway look as though they were carved from creamed cheese. Lower right, patches of bare, dry sand in some areas, however, let it be known that spring is moving in.

It's a Wonder Michigan Has Any Wildlife Left

Michigan highways are death traps for furry and feathered creatures as well as human beings, according to Traffic Safety for Michigan.

Sidewalks Need Good Sweeping

The sidewalks of downtown Charlevoix are a mess — and we aren't referring to the quality of the cement work.

Throughout the winter, the city graciously sanded our walks whenever the pavement became treacherous underfoot and we were grateful for it.

Now the ice and snow are pretty much gone from the sidewalks, but the sand remains to be tracked into every business establishment along Bridge-st.

Of course it's not the city's responsibility to keep the sidewalks clean. That chore belongs to merchants and businessmen interested in maintaining attractive shops and offices.

It only takes a few minutes to sweep the accumulation of sand and gravel into the gutters where the street sweepers will take care of it.

It's our town. Let's clean it up for spring.

The Ionia County Road Commission compiled a list of the number of animals killed on its 114 miles of state highways during 1971.

The toll included 445 raccoons, 163 squirrels, 140 turtles, 137 opossums, 82 skunks, 77 deer, 67 cats, 66 dogs, 57 woodchucks, 49 muskrats, 45 rabbits, 24 foxes, 16 pheasants, 12 owls, 10-partridge, eight erows, seven hawks, five mink, one quail and one badger.

Multiply Ionia's carnage by 82 and you'll have a good idea how many animals are killed on state highways each year.

The figure of course won't include the thousands of creatures slaughtered on our miles of county roads, city streets and country lanes.

The wonder of it all is that Michigan has any wildlife left.

My Neighbors

"New biocells, eh?"

Reynolds Unwrapped

She complained "It is nearly impossible to see a man with any real glances... rugged fellows who have that mysterious quality or dash which would make a woman take a second look."

I was interested in Marji's comments because I have always yearned to be a man who attracted second looks from someone except cab drivers trying to decide whether they should risk picking me up.

When it comes to women, frankly, I am still working on my first look. I've tried eye patches, canes, and limps ("Just a souvenir from the Battle of the Bulge, my dear"). Once, for a whole week, I even walked backward. The nearest I came to making out was an old lady who asked me where I bought the topcoat that buttoned up the back.

Ann Landers advised me to run around with ugly, sloppy men, thus making myself look good by comparison. So I started frequenting the singles bars with Joe, a real slob. He was 40 pounds overweight, had a terrible skin problem, and wore lab overalls to workdays. Still I never scored. I finally gave up for good when Joe confided that he'd also consulted Ann Landers and he was using me for the same reason I was using him.

But Marji Kunz gave me renewed hope when she wrote: "No man is going to look like the irresistible European every single woman hopes to meet on her summer vacation as long as he's wearing his high-necked undershirt. Those European males — and men in international society — have learned the trick of going undershirtless and leaving their shirts unbuttoned in a 'deep V' plunge."

By gosh, the last undershirt I wore was olive drab, World War II issue. I was still wearing it in 1955, 10 years after the war, but then I got married and my wife made me take it off. She was worried I'd be in a traffic accident in Canada and people would see my underwear and think I was a spy.

So, for 17 years I've been undershirtless in style with international society. And Marji would surely be intrigued by my deep V plunge which is really more of a middle O. I keep the top buttons modestly buttoned, but the next three are prone to pop open at any time. This surely adds a romantic air of mystery. A woman could never be sure when she might catch a glimpse of my navel. She would just have to keep watching, breathlessly.

Except I have always gone operating with my coat on. That was my mistake. What's the sense of wearing no undershirt if no one knows it?

Thanks, Marji. Off comes the coat. I'll phone Joe now, and invite him to accompany me downtown in search of second glances. I'll bet he wears longjohns.

Onward and Upward.

JB Society Owes Debt To Writer

March 31, 1972

Editor:
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, MI

Dear Editor:

This reader will be forever indebted to Miss (?) Margaret Duerr and your paper for her illuminating article on the effects that secret societies have had on the Charlevoix community. She may be rest assured that I will personally bring this oversight to the attention of Mr. Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society. It will probably necessitate the rewriting of over four thousand of the Society's publications, but I'm certain Mr. Welch will feel that the impact of the Duerr revelations will make the added work and expense worthwhile.

In the interest of historical accuracy, I would like to point out that the BAVARIAN Illuminati was founded on May 1, 1776, not 1789, by Adam Weishaupt, a professor at Ingelstadt University in Bavaria, Germany. Seventeen eighty-nine, I'm sure Miss (?) Duerr will remember, was the year the Illuminati perpetrated the French Revolution. For verification of the above, perhaps she would like to read the works of such eminent historical scholars as Professor John Robinson, the Abbe Barruel, or Mrs. Nesta Webster. Robinson wrote "The Plot of a Conspiracy" published in 1798. Barruel's works were also published in the early years of the conspiracy. And of course, each of Mrs. Webster's books, "The French Revolution," "A Study of Democracy," and "Secret Societies and Subversive Movements," among others, were available since 1925. Miss (?) Duerr's lack of knowledge about the above facts is obviously the result of carelessness. We members of the John Birch Society would never be so coarse as to suggest that her error would be intentional or that she would try to delude the area citizens about the very real menace secret societies present to the entire world even today.

However, Mrs. Ostrum didn't check her bill very carefully and she didn't notice that she had been charged for three days of hospital care before she actually entered the hospital. There was a semi-private room at $42 a day, three days of pharmacist services at $31.5 a day, another service fee of $2.10 a day, $1 for drugs and $5 for something called a "mono screen test."

When Mrs. Ostrum notified the hospital of the error, she received a refund for $147.75 within a matter of hours.

Another couple took their three youngest to the hospital in February to have their tonsils out. They stayed in the hospital about 36 hours and the bill came to more than $1,200, including a $280 "miscellaneous" charge for each child. The family was covered by insurance and didn't protest.

Then, after hearing such tales, R.O. Pittman of Charlevoix, a well driller, stopped at the Courier office Friday to relate his experience with Charlevoix Hospital.

On Feb. 25, while drilling a well south of Eastport, Pittman suffered a severe heart attack. Fortunately his son was working with him and rushed him to Charlevoix. En route, Pittman lost his eyesight and by the time he reached the

Sincerely yours,
Malcolm W. Dale

P.S. Did the Imperial primate, James J. Strang, change area history? I'm waiting breathlessly for the next installment.

Criticizes Referees in Inde Game

April 7, 1972

To the Editor:

I have never seen such a poor job of refereeing as I did the night the two teams of Best's Insurance and Topsiside played on March 31. Every time Best's team was ahead, the Refs would start calling fouls and who knows what else just to give Topsiside a chance to catch up. This happened all right. Not me alone, but every referee being called that should have been. If it wasn't for the Refs, Best's Insurance would have won.

As I heard one spectator say, "It's enough to play against five players, but when you've got seven players to play against, what else can you expect?"

If you're going to ref a game, you should be neutral in order to have a fair game. It should not be one-sided as this game was.

Good work to Best's Insurance and better luck next year.

Dear Mr. Clock:

Your article on President Harry Truman was most interesting. The greatest gains that the Communists ever made was under Harry Truman's administration. The concessions made by President Roosevelt to Joseph Stalin at Yalta were fulfilled under Truman's administration. Turning the whole of Eastern European countries and China over to the Communists was under the Truman administration.

John F. Kennedy as a young congressman from Massachusetts expressed his views on the Truman policy toward the Nationalist Chinese government. On Jan. 30, 1949, he said, "Our policy in China has reaped the whirlwind." The continued insistence that aid would not be forthcoming unless a coalition government with the Communists was formed was a crippling blow to the Nationalist government. So concerned were our diplomats and their advisers, the Lattimore's, and the Fairbanks, with the imperfections of the diplomatic system in China after 20 years of war, and the tales of corruption in high places, that they lost sight of our tremendous stake in a non-Communist China.

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK

Let's talk about the hospital. Everyone else is since former Mayor Andy Essenburg received a six and one-half foot long bill from Charlevoix Hospital two weeks ago.

Andy's bill came to more than $1,900 which he thinks is excessive for 11 days of hospital care and I'm inclined to agree, even considering the myriad blood tests and transfusions necessary to get the ex-saynor in shape for surgery.

The Courier ran a picture of Andy and his six-foot plus bill last week and, needless to say, the telephone hasn't stopped ringing.

Some people think the hospital is doing a bang-up job and should not be criticized. Others think something has gone haywire with the hospital's billing system.

The most obvious errors appeared in a bill received by Mrs. Isabel M. Ostrum, an employee at Essenburg's grocery who went into the hospital the day after Thanksgiving last year. Mrs. Ostrum's bill came to more than $500 and she paid it out of her own pocket since she doesn't carry hospital insurance.

However, Mrs. Ostrum didn't check her bill very carefully and she didn't notice that she had been charged for three days of hospital care before she actually entered the hospital. There was a semi-private room at $42 a day, three days of pharmacist services at $31.5 a day, another service fee of $2.10 a day, $1 for drugs and $5 for something called a "mono screen test."

When Mrs. Ostrum notified the hospital of the error, she received a refund for $147.75 within a matter of hours.

Another couple took their three youngest to the hospital in February to have their tonsils out. They stayed in the hospital about 36 hours and the bill came to more than $1,200, including a $280 "miscellaneous" charge for each child. The family was covered by insurance and didn't protest.

Then, after hearing such tales, R.O. Pittman of Charlevoix, a well driller, stopped at the Courier office Friday to relate his experience with Charlevoix Hospital.

On Feb. 25, while drilling a well south of Eastport, Pittman suffered a severe heart attack. Fortunately his son was working with him and rushed him to Charlevoix. En route, Pittman lost his eyesight and by the time he reached the hospital his heart had stopped beating. However, thanks to Mrs. Nancy MacAskill, R.N., Pittman is alive and well today. Mrs. MacAskill hooked up the hospital's heart resuscitation equipment and administered two 400-volt shocks to the patient. Pittman revived immediately and has been making steady progress toward complete recovery. He's not working yet, but he expects to return to his well-drilling in the near future.

He feels he owes his life to Mrs. MacAskill.

"I would go back to Charlevoix Hospital any time," he claims, although he still puzzled by one drug charge of more than $200 on his first day of hospitalization.

All of which means or less substantiates what we have felt all along: Charlevoix has a fine hospital with medical and nursing staffs second to none in the land. When the new intensive care and cardiac care units are installed this year, under the watchful eye of a new internist soon to join the staff, the hospital will be staffed and equipped to handle most medical emergencies.

That word "most" is important. Charlevoix Hospital still won't be able to handle organ transplants, severe burn cases and other cases demanding highly specialized personnel and equipment, but it will be able to treat most of the ills that are likely to afflict you — which is the role of a community hospital.

What is why it is a pity that the fine reputation of Charlevoix Hospital should be marred to the least degree by billing procedures that not only confound the patient but leave the entire hospital open to criticism.

Charlevoix Hospital has four standard room rates: Private, $45 a day; semi-private, $42 a day; nursery, $21.50 a day and pediatrics, $39 a day. But this is what you pay to stay in the hospital. Every patient pays a $3.15 pharmacy charge and a $2.10 treatment charge. Furthermore he is billed separately for just about every other hospital procedure, every piece of equipment he uses and all of the supplies necessary for his care — from sanitary napkins to disposable "prep kits."

And judging from the hospital bills I have seen, there is a healthy mark-up on most of the disposable items. Needless to say, it is the extras that boost most hospital bills out of sight and bewilder the poor patient who thought he was paying only $42 a day for his room.

I think it would be wiser for Charlevoix Hospital to effect a nominal increase in room rates and at the same time absorb many of the add-ons that only serve to infuriate the patient when he receives his bill.

It is patently ridiculous to charge a patient coming out of surgery for an icebag, for example. If he needs one, it should be included in the base rate. Likewise it is senseless to charge a patient $3.15 a day for the services of a pharmacist and another $2.10 to have the nurse deliver the medicine to his room. Why not add $5.25 to the room rate and be done with it?

Better still, why not investigate the hiring of a full-time pharmacist. I strongly suspect that both the patient and the insurance companies would come out ahead.

Of course, the big advantage to including such charges in the base rates would be to the hospital bookkeeping staff. Can you imagine their headaches (and their chance for error) when they must charge for every icebag and every IV kit used by every patient?

Of course, patients who require numerous lab tests, transfusions, physical therapy and other specialized services should be billed separately. Not to do so would place an unwarranted burden on patients who do not require the same services.

But icebags, aspirin tablets, "enema trays," sanitary napkins and disposable diapers are something else.

With this additional money some tax relief might be possible and we would be in a position to preserve our downtown park, our beaches and golf course against any future improvement suggestions by those standing to profit thereby.

Reds Made Biggest Gains Under President Truman

John J. Abt - was special assistant to the Attorney General.

Lauchlin Currie - was executive assistant to President Roosevelt.

All were identified before congressional committees as Communist agents. High government officials ignored authoritative reports that these men were in equally high places, were Soviet agents. Some warnings came as long as eight years before the conspirators were publicly exposed.

I was in the second World War out in the Pacific and as I recall it had been American military might that had brought Imperial Japan to her knees. Our Western allies had helped very little. Communist Russia and their Maoist stooges had done nothing. Moreover, Stalin did not declare war on Japan until Aug. 8, 1945 - two days after the World's first atomic bomb fell on Hiroshima. Though Russia had waited almost four years to decide that Japan was her enemy, she issued her declaration of war with great speed.

After Hiroshima Japan began sinking fast. In a few days the war would be over. Russia could not afford to wait longer, she had to be in on the kill if she wanted to make her customary demand for the lion's share of the flesh. On Aug. 8 she declared war. On Aug. 12, four days before Japan capitulated, the

There were those who claimed, and still claim, that Chinese Communism was not really Communism at all but an advanced agrarian reform movement which did not take directions from Moscow. This is the tragic story of China whose freedom we once fought to preserve. What our young men have saved, our diplomats and our President have frittered away.

The advisers that Truman and Roosevelt listened to were some like the following:

Alger Hiss - a high State Department adviser to President Roosevelt who sat at his side at Yalta where decisions were made which ultimately committed 800 million human beings to Communist slavery.

Harry Dexter White - as assistant secretary of the U.S. Treasury, controlled all fiscal matters in which foreign policy was involved.

Nathan Witt - as Secretary of the National Labor Relations Board was the Board's top executive officer. He controlled Board proceedings and all hiring and firing of NLRB employees. Board actions under Witt's direction were the deciding factor in many labor-management negotiations across the country.

Lee Pressman - was General Counsel of the W.P.A.

vanguard of a quarter million Communist troops entered Northern Korea. They entered under terms of concessions made to Stalin at Yalta by President Roosevelt and they entered after having overrun Manchuria, stripping it of all industrial booty, accepting the surrender of 600,000 Japanese soldiers and sparing most of these off to Siberia as slaves. All this was gained at the expense of a few token shots fired between Aug. 8 and Aug. 12, and the Communists began carefully cultivating a Communist puppet governments in China and Korea. Is it any mystery why communism spreads so fast and at so cheap a price?

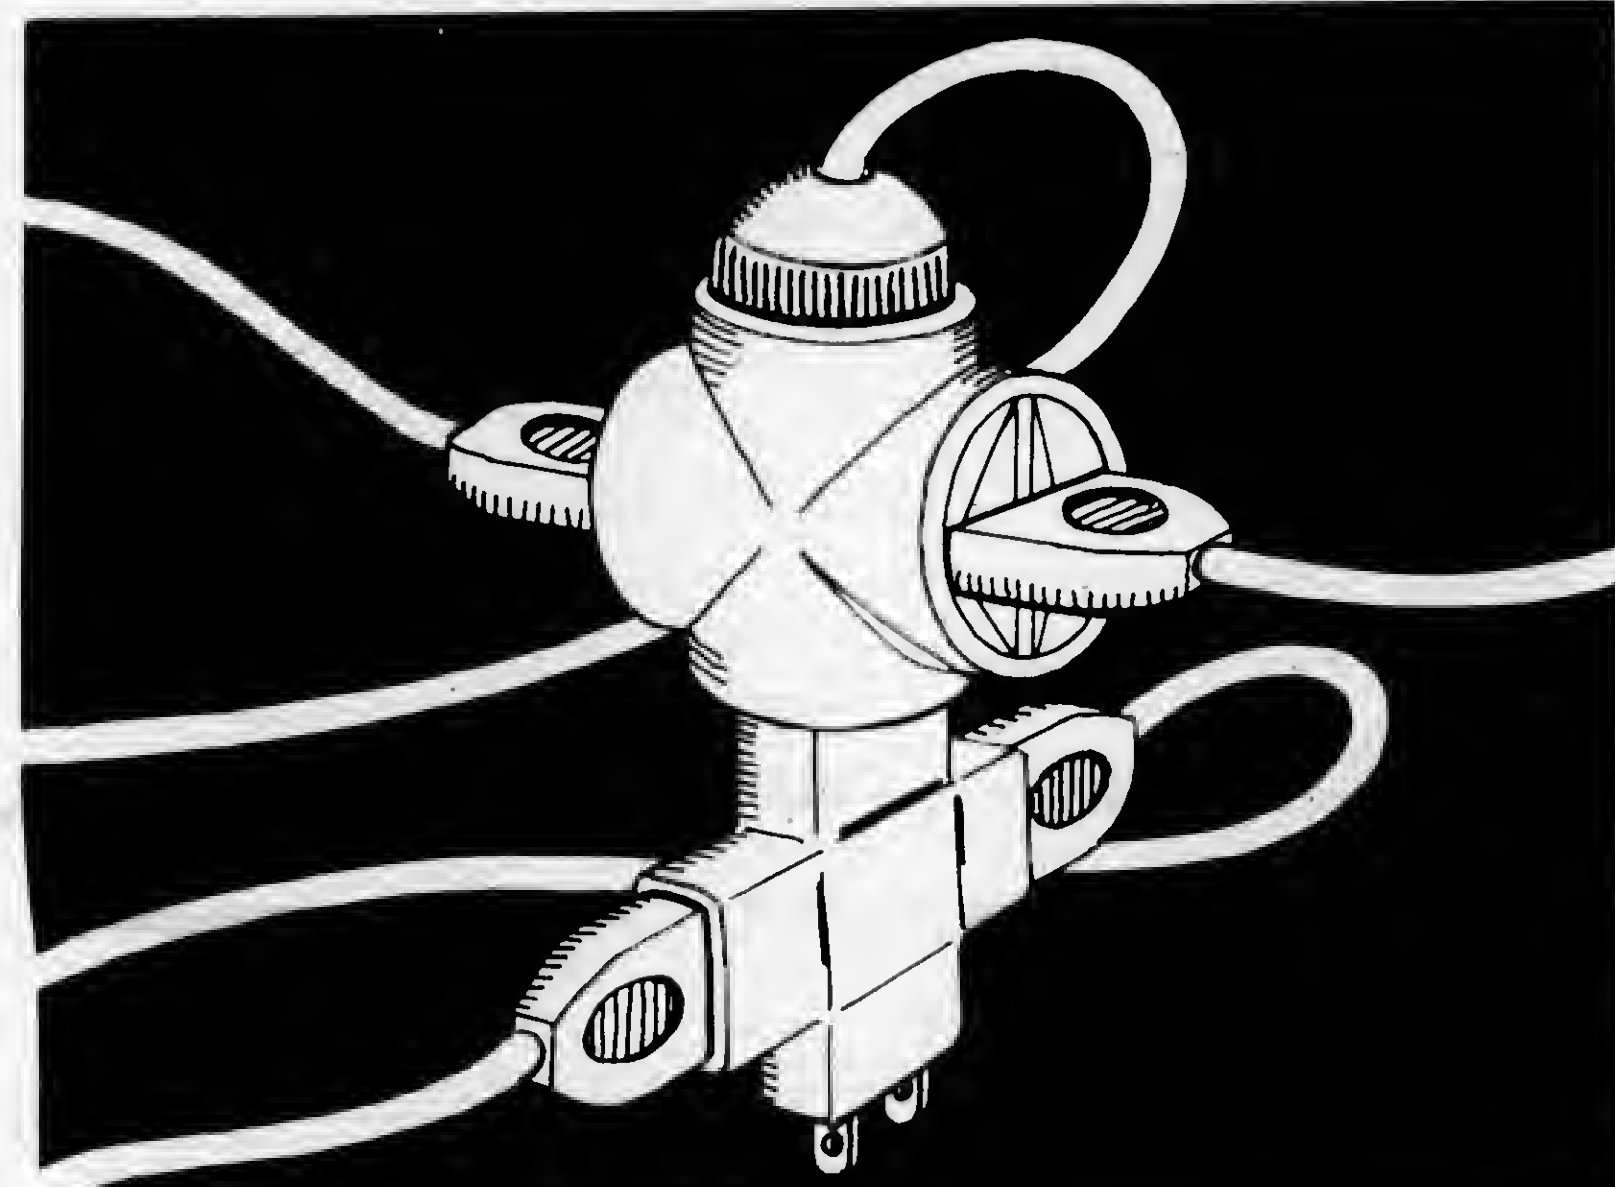

If Harry S. Truman had listened to voices other than Soviet agents, Communist apologists, and their friends, there would have been no Korean War where over 50,000 American men lost their lives and thousands more were wounded.

The same goes for the Vietnam War where over 50,000 American men have lost their lives and thousands have been crippled and maimed by Communist acts of aggression.

Thank you,

Planners Must Find Out What Makes County Tick

By WILLIAM MERCER
County Planning Director

If effective planning is to be accomplished in Charlevoix County, the first step is to find out "what makes the county tick." This has been done through a series of planning studies.

The first series of studies included examinations of the population (age groupings, income and educational levels), economic conditions (industry, retail trade, seasonal commerce), and the natural resources (topography, soils, climate) of the county. The Planning Commission analyzed these categories to gain a better understanding of the county and the people living within it.

A second series of planning studies included examination of Land Use, Transportation, Public Utilities, Housing, and Community Facilities. It is this phase of the planning program where the Planning Commission, with the assistance of a professional consulting firm, defined the trends of development within the county; problems that exist and what steps must be taken to solve these situations.

These studies have all been completed by the County Planning Commission and serve as the basis for the remainder of the planning program. The following list of trends and problem situations identify some of the major findings of the County Planning Commission:

1. The County once depended upon agriculture and summer visitors, but the past ten years have brought a distinctive change. Industrial and year-round resort activities are now the major means of livelihood. This change will continue to be a major factor of life in Charlevoix County.

2. Rising pressures in cities in downstate Michigan and outside the state are causing a general out-migration from these cities. These new people seek a quiet retreat as a place to relax. Charlevoix County provides this and will continue to experience an influx of people in the future.

3. The Planning Program, in Charlevoix County will provide lands to accommodate residential, industrial and commercial units and will promote orderly development of these types of land uses.

4. As man's leisure time continues to be a major factor, the growth of ski resorts, snowmobiling and summer water uses will grow. This trend has already had an effect in Charlevoix County and will continue to do so to the extent of attracting land developers, people to work in resorts, and others who want to locate a home in the county.

5. Counting the permanent population and adding estimated seasonal populations, the Planning Commission estimates that Charlevoix County contains over 40,000 people at peak periods of the year. This places a heavy burden on the land, on transportation facilities, on recreation areas, and on all phases of life within the county.

Trends indicate that growth will continue to occur in the county, and that many problems will evolve unless steps are taken soon to regulate this growth. The next article will discuss the plans that have been prepared to form the basis for protection of property through regulation.

Gas Co. Ordered To Pay Refund

The Michigan Commerce Department's Public Service Commission today directed Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. to refund $1.2 million to its nearly one million customers.

The refunds, which will be credited to the utility's customers on their April bills, are the result of a reduction in the wholesale cost of gas. The average refund for residential customers will amount to about 60 cents.

Michigan Consolidated received a refund from its pipeline suppliers for gas it purchased between Nov. 15 and Jan. 15 as the result of action by the Federal Power Commission which ordered wholesale rates reduced. The PSC said the amount of the refund will be shown in red on the bills received by Michigan Consolidated customers and will be deducted from their regular bill.

40 Jobs Opening For Kids

Miss Jan Dunnette, director of the federal Community Action office in Boyne City, reports that she has received funds for 40 "employment slots" for young people from Charlevoix County.

County SEV Set At $134 Million

The County Board of Commissioners Friday accepted a report by Equalization Director Joan Blanchard pegging the county's state equalized value (SEV) at $134,272,792. The figure includes $111,171,151 in real property (land and buildings) and $23,101,641 in personal property.

The figure is a compromise between what the State Tax Commission says Charlevoix County is worth and what the commissioners feel it is worth in view of inflated land values.

After a review by the State Tax Commission last year, the county's SEV was set at $145,389,980, including new property, based on what the state calls "true cash value."

In years past, true cash value has been defined as a price agreed upon between a willing buyer and a willing seller.

Now the Legislature thinks that the prices paid for property contain many hidden extras, such as real estate fees and attorney fees, and that the real "true cash value" of a given piece of property should be from eight to 10 percent lower.

House Bill 5474 would attempt to redefine the term in light of the added fees and is presently being considered in a joint Senate-house conference committee.

Because the question is still undecided, the County Commissioners decided to top the county's SEV from $145 million to $134 million and hope the state will concur.

The $134 million figure still represents a hefty increase over the 1971 SEV which was $95,100,455.

After the review by the State Tax Commission, city and township assessors were told how far off they were in the various assessing categories (agricultural, industrial, commercial, residential and timber tracts) and asked to pick up the increases.

This was done by the City of Charlevoix, Boyne City and the townships of Bay, Evangeline, Eveline, Hayes, Hudson, Marion, Peaine and South Arm.

However East Jordan, Boyne Valley, Chander, Charlevoix Township, Melrose, Norwood, St. James and Wilson picked up less than they were supposed to, according to Mrs. Blanchard.

If the state accepts the county's revised figure of $134 million, those units who picked up their deficits, based on the initial SEV of $145, will be cut back. Those which failed to make up their deficits will be increased so that they will be paying their fair share.

Mrs. Blanchard said this will be accomplished by applying a factor across-the-board to each assessing unit. The factor will vary from unit to unit, depending on how far off the unit is from its fair share.

Record Budget Asked

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners Friday adopted a budget of $1,038,675 for 1972. The figure represents an increase of $195,237 over the 1971 budget.

The budget was approved by a vote of 11 to 4, with Delbert Ingalls, Clyde Cunningham, Clayton Smith and Anthony Kulik voting against it.

The budget will require a levy of 5.15 mills, based on an evaluation of $134 million. The total raised by taxes will come to $891,462, with the balance coming from a surplus of $128,000 in this year's budget; $80,000 in income tax; $45,000 in Emergency Employment Act monies; $23,500 in fines and penalties; $17,988 in reimbursements; and from other fees and services.

Most units of county government are earmarked for increases because of increased operating costs. The final county budget will be adopted at the October meeting.

Plans for Charlevoix's "Earth Week" cleanup this Saturday are in full swing, according to Mrs. John Michael, program coordinator.

Scout troops, civic groups and others are making plans to participate in the project, which will include a litter-pickup on all highways leading into town.

Also scheduled for spring cleaning are the Mt. McSaba area, the ball diamonds and city beaches.

In connection with the cleanup, a glass recycling drive sponsored by the American Association of University Women of Potoskey will be held on Saturday. Collection point in the Charlevoix area will be the Duranee farm on Mercerville. Glass contributed should be clean with all metal removed. Colored glass is acceptable.

Members of the cleanup drive will converge on the Charlevoix Middle School from 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. for a hot dog lunch to be prepared by volunteers with donations from local merchants.

For information about how you and your group can help, call 547-9625. In case of rain, the cleanup will be held Saturday, April 29.

THE DISEASE

Pollution to me is like a disease. All it does is destroy life. Life is very valuable to all of us and animals too. How would you feel if your home was full of oil, trash and waste? County Treasurer Heads Tax Allocation Board

Mrs. Anah Potter, Charlevoix county treasurer, was elected chairman of the Charlevoix county Tax Allocation board, at its organizational meeting Monday at the county building.

She was elected by a 4-3 vote over Sherman Thomas of East Jordan to succeed Edward P. Hansen, retiring chairman.

Clarence F. Hatach, county clerk, presided at the opening session, swearing in the members and then turning the meeting over to Hansen who presided at the election.

After the preliminaries, the members made a brief study of the budgets of the county, the school district, the townships and the Intermediate School District. They discussed the county valuation for 1972 and related subjects before setting 10 a.m. Thursday, May 11, as the date of the next meeting when the tentative tax rate will be established.

This meeting cannot be held until after the preliminary meeting of the State Tax Commission when the Equalized Valuations of the 43 counties are set. It will then be the duty of the Tax Allocation board to allocate the 15 mills allowed to the four groups requesting millage for operational purposes.

Members of the Tax Allocation board are Edward P. Hansen representing a municipality, Melvin C. Howard of Boyne City, a K-12 school district and Sherman Thomas of East Jordan, a member at large, all appointed by Probate Judge John T. Murphy; Oscar Stroud, representing the townships and appointed by a committee composed of Mrs. Potter, county treasurer, Rabach as county clerk and

Our Kids Show Concern for 'Good Old Earth'

To celebrate Earth Week, April 17 to April 22, Miss Carol Sonagere asked her seventh grade students at the Charlevoix Middle School to write essays on pollution.

Then she asked her colleagues, Mrs. Barbara Cook, Jerry Puhl, Ray Carr, Duane Boldue and Peter Spieles, to judge the essays and come up with the five best.

Essays by Ed Bourke, Barb Swanson, Jim Stoneham and Gary Charbeneau (combined), Judy Dannacher and Becky Niswander appear below.

Signs of the times?
Some people call it signs of the times, some call it destiny, but shoot the person who calls polluting the lakes, rivers and natural resources that made this country great, progress.

Many people of Charlevoix don't think pollution is here, but Lord help us, it is. It may not be as obvious as it is in the big cities, but you can still spot pollution. I mean until you get home or depositing in the proper container you can help in keeping this world a nice place to live.

Everyone, yes everyone, tries to point the finger at others, but never at themselves. "Not me," they say. "I don't cause pollution!" They say this while standing over a burning pile of leaves belching out fumes of smoke.

How about you?

the people we should form a patrol of kids or adults to patrol Charlevoix. For example, Mr. Brown throws a can out of the window of his car. Then our patrol would put down the person's name and his license number (if his name was unknown just put down his number), his location of littering and what he littered.

By Judy Dannacher
Pollution to me is like a disease. All it does is destroy life. Life is very valuable to all of us and animals too. How would you feel if your home was full of oil, trash and waste? What I'm talking about is water pollution. The ducks and fish that live in lakes are being deprived of life and so are other animals that live on earth.

Nature is one of the most beautiful gifts God gave us, but pollution has taken this away from us. I hate to go into parks and see litter all over the place. This is part of our fault too and everyone else's problem. So the people of Charlevoix should notice this problem and other cities, too. Charlevoix has some of the country's most beautiful lakes. It would be horrible if they turned into water dumps.

Remember the saying: "Charlevoix the Beautiful." So let's keep it that way!

Then our patrol would put down the person's name and his license number (if his name was unknown just put down his number), his location of littering and what he littered.

By Becky Niswander
Pollution, pollution, what's the solution?

Well you could start by not littering. Litter is ugly. There's no explanation why people should litter. It's mostly people who are lazy. They walk right by a trash can eating a candy bar, and throw their wrappers on the sidewalk! Some people dump their trash in someone else's yard, when they could go down the road a little further and throw it in the dump.

I think we could all help stop it. We should form some kind of a group or groups to help pick up trash along roads, cities and on your own backyard. I think if we all get together, we could clear it up.

Remember the saying: "Charlevoix the Beautiful." So let's keep it that way!

Charlevoix Nursery Taking Applications

The Charlevoix Children's Nursery Cooperative is accepting applications for the 1972-73 school year. Enrollment forms are available at the Charlevoix Public Library and youngsters will be signed up on a first-come, first-served basis. To qualify for admission, a pre-schooler must be at least three years of age by Dec. 1, 1972. The nursery is a non-profit organization directed by a qualified teacher and administered by its members. The program includes:

- Children attend sessions two mornings a week from early October until the end of May.
- Costs include a $5 registration fee, payable at the time of enrollment, and a tuition charge of $10 a month.
- Since the nursery is a cooperative, mothers are required to work once or twice a month as a teacher's helper. They also must serve on one of the committees that administer the program.
- For additional information, contact Pauline Young at 547-9995.

Take a minute to light up a life.

It's one of those days. His newspaper blew down the street. The ball game was rained out and the dog got into his TV dinner. Is it any wonder he laughs when you call long distance and ask, "Sure I didn't interrupt anything important, Pop?"

That's all it takes to turn someone's whole day around. A minute of your voice. A simple long distance call. Know someone out of town who could use a lift? Make two people happy. Fill the emptiness with an unexpected call.

of county total.

Whether or not the state accept the county's figures will not be known until May 8 hearing by the State Tax Commission.

The new SEV does not necessarily mean that county residents will be paying higher taxes, since taxes depend on the number of mills levied. The city of Charlevoix actually may reduce its millage rate and Charlevoix School District says it will not need new operational millage for the coming year, although the new SEV will severely curtail the amount of state aid received by the district.

Under the new SEV ($134 million), the city of Charlevoix has been increased from $12 million to $15 million; Boyne City from $1 million to $1.7 million; East Jordan from $6.6 million to $9.2 million; Charlevoix Township from $18.1 million to $17.3 million; Marlon Township from $2 million to $3.3 million; Norwood from $1.2 million to $2.2 million; Hayes from $11.5 million to $13.1 million; St. James from $1.7 million to $2.5 million; Pelee from $1 million to $2.4 million; and Eveline from $10.5 million to $16.5 million.

MSU Cage Coach Is Banquet Speaker

Charlevoix's All-Sports banquet honoring Charlevoix High School athletes will be held Friday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Elementary School.

Tickets for the dinner are available from all members of the Sports Boosters Club.

GUS G. GANAKAS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ladd have returned from a month's vacation tour through the state of Florida.

Speaker will be Gus G. Ganakas, coach of Michigan State University's Varsity Basketball Team.

Ganakas succeeded the late John Benington Oct. 1, 1969, and has completed two seasons as head man after serving for three years as assistant coach.

Ganakas assumed the post just two weeks prior to the start of practice. He directed his athletes to a season record of 9-15 and a three-way tie for sixth in Big Ten standings.

His second MSU team compiled a season mark of 10-14 and posted a 4-10 record in Big Ten play, good for a three-way tie for seventh place in the circuit.

The Spartan position is the second head coaching slot for Ganakas in a career that started in 1961. The first was at East Lansing High where he achieved outstanding success over 12 seasons.

He has two degrees from Michigan State, B.A. in physical education received in 1949 and an M.A. in the same field, received in 1950. While an undergraduate he was a member of Spartan frosh and JV basketball and baseball teams.

He returned to the campus in September, 1964, to serve as coordinator of the university's Ralph H. Young Scholarship Fund, the agency through which financial aid is extended to Spartan athletes.

In the winter of 1966, the assistant's job with the Spartans opened as Sonny Menes departed for Western Michigan University. Benington brought Ganakas, a long-time friend, back into coaching.

Ganakas was born July 3, 1926, at Mt. Morris, N.Y., and served with U.S. Marines during World War II. He taught at Olive High School for one year after receiving his M.A., joining the East Lansing High School staff in the fall of 1961.

His East Lansing cage squads won 176 games and lost only 53 in 12 years. In 1958, the East Lansing cagers won the State Class B championships.

Kindergarten Sign-Up May 5

Friday, May 5, is enrollment day at the Charlevoix Elementary School for children in the Charlevoix district who will enter kindergarten in September, 1972, according to Glenn B. Snider, principal.

Parents of children whose last name begins with "A" through "K" are asked to register their preschooler between 9 a.m. and noon. The "L" through "Z" group will be registered from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m.

Parents are asked to bring to the school only the child to be registered, along with the child's birth certificate.

To be eligible for kindergarten in the fall, a child must be five years of age by Dec. 1, 1972.

Mrs. Marge Davenport, school nurse, will be on hand to confer with parents and start the child's school record. Parents will be briefed on what immunizations are required before the child starts school.

Present kindergarten classes will not be held May 5 to allow the teachers to work on the enrollment, Snider said.

Explain Role

Members of the consistory of The Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix feel there may be some misunderstanding about the proposed trade of North Side property with the city for the construction of tennis courts.

The consistory says the first appraisal it received on the two parcels of land placed a price tag of $9,000 on the city property and $14,000 on the church property. However, the church made no offer to trade the property to the city for a consideration of $5,000.

Subsequent appraisals narrowed the difference in the price of the two parcels to about $1,500, which the city has agreed to pay.

Mr. LaBlance died unexpectedly Saturday evening of an apparent heart attack while working aboard his yacht, the L.J. George, docked on the north side of Round Lake.

Members of the family say he had gone to the boat to hook up the pumps. When he did not return home for supper, his wife, Mrs. Edna LaBlance, investigated and found him stricken.

Mr. LaBlance was born in Lorain, Ohio, Oct. 7, 1912, the son of a Great Lakes fishing family. He moved to Charlevoix in 1914 and was graduated from Charlevoix High School. On April 18, 1934, he was married to the former Edna Brooks in Charlevoix.

Mr. LaBlance worked at a variety of occupations during his lifetime. During the early years he was a commercial fisherman operating out of Charlevoix and Beaver Island. He also ran a fish cannery.

He later formed the LaBlance Insurance Agency and in recent years has been the Charlevoix representative for Colwell and Co., a Petoskey-based real estate firm.

He and his wife also ran the Charlevoix branch of the Secretary of State's office for many years.

A life-long Democrat, Mr. LaBlance was chairman of the Charlevoix County Democratic Committee for several years and was a Michigan delegate to the National Democratic Convention in 1964.

In 1968, he challenged Republican Rep. Robert W. Davis for the 16th District seat in the Michigan House but was defeated.

Mr. LaBlance was a member and past president of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and was a former member of the Charlevoix Kiwanis and Lions Clubs.

Managers, Coaches Needed for Teams

Dean Davenport, city recreation director, has announced that 24 teams in the city softball program are seeking adult help as managers and coaches.

Davenport, who is starting his 18th summer as city recreation director, is anxious to secure the necessary help so that the program can get off to a smooth start.

The Youth League is for boys 7-10 years of age. There have been six teams in the past, so at least six adults are needed to aid in helping at this level.

The Peanut League is for 11-14 years of age and eight men are needed to handle this age bracket.

The Junior league is for 15-18 year olds, and in the past there have been four teams so at least four adults are needed for this level.

There is also a need for women to serve as coaches for the six pony ball teams that start play in July.

Interested persons can either write to Dean Davenport at the city hall or contact Max Novak who, along with Davenport, is a city softball commissioner.

Formal planning for the coming season will start May 5 and May 6th with organizational meetings in both the men's fast and slow pitch scheduled. More details concerning these meetings will be announced at a later date.

Victor Gallagher of Grayling officiating. Burial was in St. Marys Cemetery.

All business places in Charlevoix were closed during the time of the funeral in honor of Mr. LaBlance's memory.

Mr. LaBlance died unexpectedly Saturday evening of an apparent heart attack while working aboard his yacht, the L.J. George, docked on the north side of Round Lake.

Oak-st. Residents Fight Tennis Site

Citizens Rally To Save Courts

More than 30 persons showed up at Monday's council meeting, most of them to voice support construction of city tennis courts on Elm-st., across Central-ave. from the golf course.

The big turnout was prompted by a petition objecting to the location signed by residents of Oak-st. whose backyards about the tennis court site.

Bids for the courts are to be opened at the May 8 meeting. Speaking on behalf of the petitioners were Mrs. Carl F. Kohler, 106 Oak-st., and Mrs. Ed Loop, 106 Oak-st.

Mrs. Kohler said she and her husband bought property in the neighborhood with the understanding that it was to be used for single family residences. She said there are no parking places for tennis players and that the courts will result in an undue amount of traffic and congestion.

She said she was told by one Realtor in town (Mrs. Laelle Cunningham) that the courts will decrease the value of her property.

Mrs. Loop said she believes "tennis courts are marvelous" but wondered why they can't go near the school. She said she expects the courts to attract hot-rodders with squealing brakes.

She added that her husband, who is recuperating from a serious illness, isn't up to all the noise and confusion that is bound to result if the courts are built behind their home.

Speaking in favor of the courts were: Mrs. Doris Lundteigen, 306 Burris; "I live two doors from the courts, but I don't think you should put up any basketball hoops. The thump of a basketball will drive you nuts."

Mrs. Julius Gilbert, 510 Elm-st., said she was told by one Realtor in town (Mrs. Laelle Cunningham) that the courts will decrease the value of her property.

Michigan-ave., submitted the results of a poll conducted among people in town who live close to present tennis courts. None of them had any objection to them. "Tennis is not a game that would cause any commotion and tennis courts in the neighborhood would enhance property values. Objecting to tennis courts is like objecting to a lake or a marina."

Ralph Hess, 312 Nettleton-st.: "I have lived next to tennis courts for 10 years. I really have no objection to them."

Similar approval was voiced by Tom Merta, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce; Jim Keller, Glenn Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Woods and others.

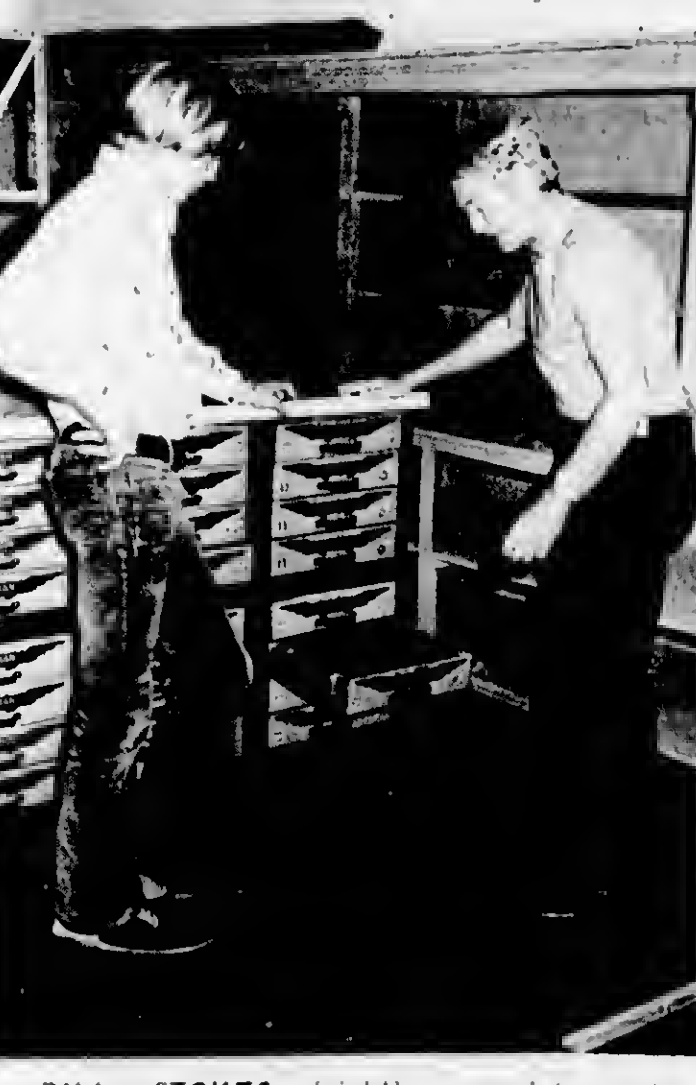

No action on the petition was taken by the council. In other business the council:

Learned from Sam Mistein, deputy director for recreation, Department of Natural Resources, that the city's Lake Michigan park was placed on the National Register of Historic Places on March 15, 1972. The park was the scene of Indian encampments hundreds of years ago.

Heard a suggestion by William Supernaw that city trucks be used to help wash down Bridge-st. City Superintendent Thomas G. Hanna said the State Highway Department objects to volunteers working on a main thoroughfare, but that city employees could do the job.

Noted to join a class lawsuit instituted by Attorney General Frank Kelley charging that Ford, General Motors and Chrysler have conspired to eliminate discounts previously granted governmental entities in the sale of motor vehicles, resulting in higher prices.

Agreed to pay five percent of the cost of a sewage pumping facility at the Coast Guard station. The facility will serve some Chicago Club homes.

BILL STOKES (right), proprietor of Charlevoix's newest downtown business - Charlevoix Automotive Supply - has spent the past week arranging cabinets and shelving in the former Staley Hardware Store. The new business will open May 1. Working with Stokes is his son, Kevin.

Auto Supply Firm Opens Here May 1

The newest Bridge-st. business establishment - Charlevoix Automotive Supply - will open its doors Monday, May 1, in the former Staley Hardware Store.

Proprietors of the new business are Bill and Dix Stokes, formerly of Cincinnati, who have moved into the Dyksterhouse home on W. Dixon-ave.

The newly remodeled store will retail and wholesale parts for automobiles, trucks, snowmobiles and boats and will be open seven days a week. Sunday hours will be from noon until 4 p.m. Weekdays and Saturdays the store will be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"Actually, I'll be on call 24 hours a day," Stokes said in announcing his new venture. "Since service is the most important thing I have to offer."

A native of Atlantic City, N.J., Stokes spent three years in the Navy as an electronics technician, mate before studying hotel management at Michigan State University. He

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN Symphony Band will appear at Charlevoix High School Monday, May 8, at 8:15 p.m. Directed by George Cavender, the 70-piece band will be housed in Charlevoix homes the night of the concert.

TAKING PART in dedication ceremonies at Charlevoix's new Church of the Nazarene Sunday afternoon were (from left) Dr. Fred J. Hawk, district superintendent; Rev. Thomas Rash, pastor; Rev. George Otto, former pastor; and Rev. Ralph W. Fisher, pastor of the Ludington Church of the Nazarene. Luncheon in the church parlors followed the dedication service.

Karen M. Martin Henry Archey Wed

The Community Church of God was the scene recently of the wedding of Karen Marie Martin and Henry G. Archey. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Suzanne Martin and Patrick R. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Archey. The Rev. John Long officiated at the double ring service in the presence of their immediate families on April 14.

The bride selected an empire gown of pastel blue and white dotted swiss fashioned with lace bodice and long sleeves with matching blue streamers that fell from the bodice to the hemline. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white pom-poms.

Backy Browne, as her only attendant, wore an empire gown in a floral print in shades of gold, brown and yellow and carried a bouquet of daisies in gold, yellow and orange shades.

Alfred Corp assisted the bridegroom as best man. A reception for more than 200 guests hosted by the bridegroom's parents, followed at the American Legion post home.

The couple will make their home here following a brief wedding trip to the Straits area.

Wedding guests were present from Manitowish and other Wisconsin cities and Ludington.

Benefit Party At Grandvue
The Grandvue Medical Care Facility Auxiliary will hold a benefit games party and bake sale at the facility Thursday, April 27, from 1 until 4 p.m.

Area residents are asked to make up a table, with a nominal donation per person, and join the party. Door prizes will be given away.

Legislative support for a "continuation of the protection and status of women" resolution came today from State Rep. Richard Friske (R-Charlevoix). The resolution was drafted by Friske's secretary, Mrs. Ruth Ryon, and signed by over 75 female employees in the Capitol building as a protest of the "Equal Rights Amendment" to the Constitution recently passed by the United States Congress.

Rep. Friske said that he not only supports the contents of the constitutional resolution, but will use it to fight the legislation ratification of the equal rights amendment to the Federal Constitution. "The equal rights amendment is a dangerous and fraudulent document," Friske says. "It will not give them additional rights, but will take away privileges. Not all women want to be so deprived, and a minority is once again attempting to force its views on the majority."

"The men of this country have been traditionally proud of serving their country and protecting its families, its women and children. The so called equal rights amendment could destroy family life and morality in this country by allowing women to be drafted. It would take them out of the home and into the battlefield. The women would lose the traditional role of child-bearing to avoid the draft and we would enact compulsory birth-control to keep them from getting pregnant."

The resolution cites the anti-libbers' views that: the physical and psychological differences between male and female render females more inclined to make love than to make war and to bear children rather than to bear arms; that they would rather pound a typewriter than pound a rivet and are desirous that bulging biceps remain physical attributes of the male; that they wish to continue the status of the tipped hat, the opened door and the changed flat tire; that they do not wish to pay alimony to someone who outweighs them by 40 pounds; and that they believe that the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.

Ex-Interior Chief, Secretary of State Booked at Petoskey

Earth Week observances in the North Central area of Michigan will have as one of its highlights a visit to Petoskey by former Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall and Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin. Both men will speak at Petoskey Junior High School April 26, 8 p.m.

Robert Ross, chairman of Earth Fair at North Central Michigan College, and Russel "Bob" Lee, of Onaway are coordinating plans for the two dignitaries in their visits. Austin will make a two-day tour of the area making a number of speaking engagements while Udall's visit will be limited to his Petoskey appearance.

Secretary of State Austin will tour several counties with stops at Petoskey, Charlevoix, Indian River and culminating with an Awards-Salute banquet at Onaway High School 7 p.m., Thursday, April 27.

In his talks Austin will discuss the functions of the Secretary of State's operations and urge wider participation of all citizens to bring better government to the entire state.

Latin Club Dons Tobac For Banquet

By Laurie Engstrom
The Latin Club held its annual banquet Wednesday, April 19 in the high school cafeteria. Forty-five members attended, along with Mr. and Mrs. Max Novak (Mrs. Novak is club adviser) and guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Welland. Mr. Welland gave a verse presentation of Rome, Venice and Greece.

Entertainment was also provided by Bobby Sladek, Rae Ann Stone, Debby Powell, Jeanne Belfy, Sue Pettis, Valerie Peters, Laura Custer and Mike Kane. The program was entitled "Justice for All." The menu consisted of tossed salad, hot rolls, chicken, green beans, biscuits with gravy or honey and apple crisp. The food was typical of that which was eaten in ancient Rome.

Members ate off tables six inches from the floor and dressed in "togas." Between courses members enjoyed singing Latin songs.

Sgt. Sharrow, who was selected for his exemplary conduct and duty per-the organized regular season basketball teams were eligible to play.

Five intramural teams were organized with eight players on a team. The majority of players on a team had to be from the grade organizing the teams. In other years, all members of each team had to be from the same grade.

3 From CHS To Play With Honors Band

The Michigan Chapter of the American School Band Directors' Association will present an Honors Band in performance at the Summer Convention at Lansing, August 3-7, 1972.

Three Charlevoix "High School band students have been accepted as members of the A.S.B.D.A. Honors Band. They are Elaine Carr, French horn; Kit Lieberman, trumpet; and Laura Staiblin, flute.

They will join over 100 of Michigan's outstanding bandmen under the direction of Carl Bjerregaard, Western Michigan University.

The Honors Band met at Flint Northwestern High School, April 22 and 23 for rehearsal and chair position auditions.

Members are of tables six inches from the floor and dressed in "togas." Between courses members enjoyed singing Latin songs.

Sgt. Sharrow, who was selected for his exemplary conduct and duty performance, is assigned to a unit of the Air Force Communications Service which provides global communications and air traffic control for the USAF.

The sergeant is a 1968 graduate of Charlevoix Junior-Senior High School.

Each team played a total of four games in a round-robin type tournament. This decided what teams would be in the finals. This year two senior teams were in the finals.

The 12-A team and 12-B team played the finals on April 17. The 12-B was declared tournament winners through beating the 12-A team by the score of 64-44.

The 12-B team's leading scorers were Bob Cudd, Paul Osterberg, and Bruce Cunningham. Also playing for this team were Mark Blanchard, Mark Merritt, Bryan Van Lee, and Joe Jones.

Participants on the 12-A team were Kenn Bergman, Charley Borins, Paul Klooster, Gary Moore, Jeff Lachman, Chuck Bascom, and Dick Bascom.

Cheerleaders for the 1972-73 season were held at the high school last Tuesday. Thirty girls participated.

The following girls were chosen for varsity positions: Elaine Carr, Terri Brown, Peggy Carey, Tori Alger, and Lisa Wasoski. Alternates are Kit Lieberman and Darcy McCandless.

On the junior varsity level, cheerleaders are Marge Carey, Mary Kayner, Shelly Warner, Sue Fowler, and Nancy Berg. First alternate is Sandy Hufford and 2nd alternate is Kathy Britton.

Freshman cheerleaders are Denise Wasoski, Donna Bellows, Lynne Bradley, Denise Boss, and Shelly Wood. Alternates include Lori Saunders and Carla Wells.

Vietnam Has Hurt Us Worse Than Direct Attack

The past two weeks have proven conclusively that President Nixon has no intention of ending American involvement in the Vietnam war.

American bombers are still pounding the daylight out of Hanoi and Haiphong. American troops are still being shot at and killed.

American prisoners are still in the hands of the Viet Cong. And the American people are at their wits' end trying to justify our role in a war that has never been our concern since the beginning.

To his credit, the President has taken steps to reduce the number of American ground forces in Southeast Asia.

But the air and sea war, involving American planes, American vessels, American airmen and American sailors, is growing hotter and heavier with every passing day.

Of course, it was the Viet Cong thrust south of the demilitarized zone (DMZ) which prompted renewed activity on the part of Americans in the area.

But the success of the invasion has only served to prove that the President's Vietnamization policy has failed and that the United States must remain committed indefinitely if Dictator Thieu is to remain in control of the Saigon government.

During the past decade, the Vietnam War has done incalculable damage to the American people. The wounds are deeper and the scars will remain longer than if the nation

Should Brd. Travel on School $$?

Dear fellow citizens,

It is again time to vote on millage, in this case renewal of present millage to operate our schools and I would like to submit some facts for the consideration of the voters. I feel it is time for every voter in our school district to seriously consider whether or not we are getting true value for our tax dollars.

Last year the school board asked for millage in order to hire a teacher and buy equipment to form a local class in auto mechanics. The voters turned down this request but our board set up a mechanic's class anyway, complete with an instructor. Although some of the materials were donated and loaned at the start, this coming year the total cost of this course will be included in the budget. This year in high school alone, the approximately $20,000 course had a choice of 19 different courses for credit including 16 courses in English, eight in Math, and 14 courses in industrial education. Fourteen of these courses were one semester courses, so you could say there were 72 full-year courses. This figures out to be just under seven students per course. (These course listings were taken from the course description bulletin given out to the students.)

Certainly no one could dispute the fact that this is a very complete and optimum program but I ask you whether you can afford this or whether it is even desirable? I have heard the board ask whether we could afford not to have the finest but as not everyone can afford to drive a Cadillac, maybe not everyone can afford the finest in school systems. Is it fair to the majority of students to offer, for example, a 5th or 6th grade level English course in high school for the sole purpose of keeping a student from dropping out of school? Doesn't this make a diploma less valuable for the majority?

Recently property evaluations were based on an average of 45 to 50 percent. This means that the portion of taxes going for education will increase by 45 to 50 percent if no more millage is asked for.

This past week I read in the paper where some of the school board members and their wives are, and since have, taken a trip to California to attend meetings. Is this good use of the taxpayers' money? One of these board members' term expires in another month. Is his attendance at the meetings in California going to benefit the school? Did the superintendent trip to Atlantic City benefit the school? What are the costs involved? $5000.00? The teachers are going to jump on these expenditures when their contracts come up for renewal and I guess if we can afford these trips we should be able to afford salary increases. Yet last Sunday afternoon I attended a program given in the study hall of the high school and I was embarrassed to have people from surrounding towns see the condition of this room. The floors throughout the study hall haven't been washed for possibly years, there is a hole in the wall about one foot in diameter which has been there all year, and fingermarks were all over the ceilings in the halls. I understand that the condition at the Middle School are much worse. It seems to me that either the janitors are not doing their jobs or they need help and maybe some of the money spent on traveling should be spent here.

If you are not satisfied with the present situation or feel the increase in taxes is more than necessary please get out and vote against the renewal of this millage in the coming election. If you are satisfied or feel more money is needed please vote for this millage renewal. The important thing is to let your school board know how you feel and whether you want an increased program, the status quo, or some of the fat trimmed. Personally, I feel some programs could be cut and possibly also some jobs without hurting the educational values or band or sports.

Nineteen-Hundred

Clockwise And Froze-to-Death

By BOB CLOCK

When we moved north seven years, someone told us that Charlevoix has nine months of winter and three months of poor sledding.

And at long last we were beginning to believe that our informer might have known what he was talking about.

Now all of us thought that the winter of '70-71 was pretty bad, didn't we? We mused about our weekly blizzards and we shovelled snow until there was no place to shovel it.

Then came the winter of '71-72, and it didn't start out half bad, as you'll remember. Oh, the ground was white by Christmas and the driving was something less than ideal some days, but for the most part it was a nice, cozy, liveable winter.

But it was a sneaky winter. We had three January thaws, but the snow didn't really melt. Then came February. Not much snow, but it certainly got cold. Seems like we set a new record every morning.

But we didn't mind because March, lovely windy March, was right around the corner.

The motor launch Beaver Islander made a brave attempt to start the season last week, but at this writing is still stuck in by ice in St. James harbor, having completed only half of its first round-trip.

The snow still lies deep in the woods in places. Lake Charlevoix is still covered with black ice. And the shallows of Little Traverse Bay off Petoskey still appear to be frozen solid.

True, the crocus are up, but they don't have the good sense they were born with.

The same's true with the robins. They're back in force, but I imagine they're getting mighty hungry looking for earthworms in our frosty tundra. Even the purple martin scouts are in town, but they're all wearing snowshoes and mufflers.

When I was a boy, I remember a great uncle in Canada telling me about a year that was so cold that oldtimers referred to it ever after as "Nineteen-hundred-and-froze-to-death."

I don't recall what year it was, but from here it appears we have another "Nineteen-hundred-and-froze-to-death" in the making.

Land Use Zoning Is Tool To Make County Plans Work land use zoning.

The final tool in this list - land use zoning - is perhaps the most widely known of these; and the most widely debated. This consists of the regulation, by districts, of the height, size and use of buildings, the use of land, and the density of population. All of these factors are considered to conserve and protect property values by encouraging the most appropriate use of lands and by preventing objectionable or incompatible uses in a given area. Also, a zoning program can be used to facilitate adequate and economical provisions of public improvements, to maintain a high quality of living, and to prevent the inefficient distribution of growth throughout the county.

Zoning regulations provide protection for the property owner, by protecting him from the uncontrolled freedom of other people. They also prevent development that might be objectionable to the community as a whole. It is in this way that property values are maintained, and good development insured. There are, of course, limitations on zoning power which assure its just use and protect the privileges of the individual.

Historically, the zoning concept has not been overly popular in Northern Michigan. This was due in part to the fact that, until recently, very little development had taken place, and the citizens of the Counties in the north portion of the lower peninsula felt it was burdensome regulation.

However, with the increased mobility and affluence of downstate residents, the northern counties are encountering a mass influx of permanent residents, second home owners and day visitors (skiers, campers, picnickers, etc.) Accompanying this migration are the multiple problems of over-crowded lakeshores, traffic congestion, poor land use, and a rapid depletion of our natural resources. Planning efforts in Charlevoix County have been directed at controlling these problems as best as possible before it is too late.

Recognizing this need and to give the citizens of Charlevoix County property protection, the Planning Commission used the General Development Plan as a basis to prepare a proposed Zoning program. It is called a proposed program because the Planning Commission felt it should be displayed, discussed and altered (if necessary) to fit the needs of Charlevoix County. Future issues of this newspaper will carry a discussion of what is contained in the proposed zoning program, and why it is important for Charlevoix County to have a zoning ordinance.

Charlevoix Mourns George LaBlance

It is difficult to pin down the qualities which endeared the late George LaBlance to Charlevoixans of all ages.

He was an outspoken Democrat in a town that is largely Republican.

He never served on the City Council or the School Board.

And the one time he did run for public office - the State Legislature in 1968 - he was soundly defeated.

We believe Mr. LaBlance's appeal lay in the fact that he was a "doer."

You never saw him when he wasn't going someplace in a hurry. At one time or another he belonged to every service organization in town - the Lions Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce - you name it.

He worked hard and he played hard and he wore a smile that wouldn't quit. In recent years he gave no small amount of his time to the Charlevoix Yacht Club, serving as its first commodore.

Above all else, Mr. LaBlance was a "family man." He was proud of his children and their accomplishments, whether in the world of sports or the larger world of business.

As a former commercial fisherman and a son of the Great Lakes, it was fitting that Mr. LaBlance died aboard his beloved yacht, the L'I' George.

Although he lived something less than the proverbial four score years and ten, Mr. LaBlance led a full and abundant life.

Charlevoixans to a man are saddened at his passing. His influence on the community will be felt for a good many years to come.

going to believe the current cat situation in our home. Ann, I hate cats. But we have owned two cats for years. One is the size of a St. Bernard and it is a real experience when it jumps onto your lap. You can't get up but it doesn't matter because you couldn't walk anyway. Your thighs are broken. The other cat is smaller and more subtle. It jumps into your ear and licks your brain.

"These cats are sisters but you'll notice I refer to them as 'it.' They were neutered long ago. But the town tomcats don't care. They line up outside our door and fight to get inside. I put a sign on the porch. 'Our Cats Are Fixed.' But the tomcats keep coming. One of them wrote on the bottom of the sign: 'Sex isn't everything.'"

Well Ann, last week one of the Toms got inside. It is easy to understand how. Our 15-year-old son was home alone and he hasn't learned how to shut doors yet. He is still working on how to turn out lights and how to pick up anything, anything at all.

Tom crawled into a crawl space off our laundry room. Why do builders leave crawl spaces where only animals can crawl, Ann? It's so they'll have a place to hide, and to die, isn't it? Something like the elephants' burial grounds. ("Do you smell what I smell?")

Tom leaves the crawl space regularly and roams the house. We know because he leaves toppled lamps behind him. Several times when it jumps onto your lap. You can't get up but it doesn't matter because you couldn't walk anyway. Your thighs are broken. The other cat is smaller and more subtle. It jumps into your ear and licks your brain.

U.S. Park System Grows As Open Space Dwindles

As open space in the United States has decreased, the country's national parks have expanded.

Slightly more than a century ago it appeared unnecessary to set aside public land for parks. America's supply of clear streams and lakes, unspoiled forests and beaches seemed inexhaustible, the National Geographic Society says.

Montana Territorial Judge Cornelius Hedges is credited with advancing the national park concept around a campfire on September 19, 1910. With 14 others, he had just spent three weeks surveying the scenic wonders of Yellowstone.

Several in the mapping party wanted to stake claims. Judge Hedges proposed the area be preserved for all to enjoy, and suggested asking the government to designate it as a public park.

His companions agreed, but Congress was skeptical. Congressmen felt there always would be sufficient space for Americans to hunt, hike, fish, or camp. It was a big country.

Nor were descriptions of Yellowstone's beauty always believed. One member of the survey group who told of the region's geysers, boiling springs, and cliffs of black volcanic glass was labeled "the champion liar of the West."

Hidicute stopped only when photographer William H. Jackson visited the area a year later and returned with pictures.

LAND SET ASIDE

One hundred years ago, in March 1872, President Ulysses S. Grant signed a bill setting aside more than 2 million acres in the Wyoming and Montana Territories "as a public park or pleasuring ground for the benefit and enjoyment of all the people."

Today the National Park Service oversees 38 parks and more than 240 historic sites and monuments. Its 30,012,074-acre domain embraces forested mountains and vast limestone caverns, geysers and glaciers, volcanoes and hot springs, famous buildings and battlefields.

Glacier Bay National Monument, covering 2,803,840 acres of Alaska, is the largest site in the national park system.

WHERE LINCOLN DIED

The smallest is an old brick house that occupies 1/20th of an acre of land in the center of Washington, D.C. The mortally wounded Abraham Lincoln was carried to a room in this house after being shot in Ford's Theatre across the street.

The theater, now restored and the scene of regular stage performances, also is administered by the National Park Service.

Americans paid some 380,000 visits to the nation's parks in 1916. By 1955 the number exceeded 20 million, and in 1955 it reached 50 million. Officials anticipate vacationers will pay more than 212 million visits to national parks and memorials this year.

Commenting recently on the centennial of the park program, Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton observed:

"What began at Yellowstone has developed into a system of national parks that has vastly improved the quality of life for many Americans and now plays a vital role in the effort to understand and sustain our environment."

No Party Speaks For Common Man

Dear Editor and Dad:

For once I agree with you-politics are dirty-consequently we don't vote for the best man but the lesser of two evils. It seems that one party is owned by big business and the other by unions.

No party speaks for the common man-young or old. Must we choose between the Far Right with their Despotic God and the Far Left and their Godliness. Most of my generation hate men who believe in wicked patriotism, wars and big business. A few of us realize that big Unions are equally corrupt. Everyone else gets a big raise-big business passes the cost onto the poor such as students and retired people etc. "A plague on both of their houses."

I admit that real estate tax is unfair to most groups especially the young and retired but I understand it is part of the overall plan to take over all vacant land by the government via high and excessive taxes. When the time is right some of the younger generation leaders-not necessarily young-will strive to take over the government and destroy Big Unions and Big Business in the name of the common man.

The politicians on their side, as you say, are ego Centric Humanists, who believe that luxury, love and lust is the real meaning of individual freedom. I admit that these leaders seem anxious to help the Communists to gain control in every area of our lives but they wink and imply that they are only using the communists to help us gain control and then they will take over and divide the power and wealth among people, (young). Frankly I'm not sure they know what they are doing or even if all of them are honest but what choice do we have this year?

May 15 Filing Deadline For School Brd. Seats

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at a special meeting Monday night, set Monday, June 12, as the date of the annual school election. The board also approved the appointment of an elections deputy, accepted a bid for a 1959 school bus and rejected bids for two passenger cars, approved the hiring of a teacher and a custodian, went on record as approving a resolution adopted by the Saginaw School District relating to teacher tenure, recommended a policy regarding the use of school facilities and heard reports on legislation and conventions attended by school personnel. The meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

June 12 was set as the date of annual school election at which two trustees will be elected to the school board and residents of the school district will be asked to vote on three millage issues. The terms of Jerrold Redeker and Burr Blanchard will expire June 30. Nominating petitions may be obtained at the office of the superintendent who asks that petitions, which must have 20 signatures, be submitted prior to the deadline of 4 p.m. May 15 so signatures may be checked.

Mrs. Jane Lieberman, secretary of the board, appointed Harold Kaufman as her deputy for the purpose of conducting school elections. He will post notices and handle the mechanics of the election. The board approved the appointment.

A bid in the amount of $275 for a 1959 Dodge school bus submitted by Chevrolet-Hastings of Boyne City was accepted. It was the highest of two bids received.

However, bids in the amount of $2,225 for a 1971 Chevrolet station wagon with air conditioning and $2,222.22 for a second 1971 Chevrolet wagon were rejected as too low. Earlier the board had set minimums they would accept for the two vehicles. Both bids were approximately $800 under the minimums. It was decided to let the vehicles through a dealer as was necessary last year.

Miss Martin L. Aneagon, a resident of Saginaw and a 1972 graduate of Western Michigan University with an elementary provisional certificate and a music major, was hired as elementary vocal music teacher.

The board approved the hiring of Walter Wingo of East Jordan as a custodian at a starting salary of $2.25 per hour. He will begin employment at once to fill a vacancy.

A copy of a resolution approved by the Saginaw Board of Education approving the elimination of the teacher tenure policy by legislation was read by the secretary, Mrs. Lieberman. After some discussion of teacher tenure, the board voted to adopt a similar policy at a future meeting after a resolution reflecting the Charlevoix board's feelings on the subject was written and presented for approval.

It was suggested that the board adopt a policy relating to the use of school facilities. Vance Smith, High School principal, said as long as organized groups had no problems, however, students who want to use the facilities for basketball are now requesting use of the gym. Such issues as liability and the use of keys and other problems have resulted. He requested a policy. The request was referred to the policy committee headed by Larry Warner.

Charles Elzinga, who was named to the negotiating team representing the Board of Education, asked to be replaced for business reasons. Larry Warner was named to replace him.

Supt. Robert Miller reported on the Fletcher vs. Township of Grose. He opinion which has been in the news recently. He said that the court decision did not alter existing limitations on borrowing monies through bonds.

He also reported at length on a recent Michigan School Business Officials convention he and Mr. Kaufman had attended in Grand Rapids.

Council Basin Study Wins OK

The Michigan State Waterways Commission has agreed to $500 with the city in an engineering study to determine the cost, design and feasibility of expanding the existing city yacht harbor.

Total cost of the study is $5,000, which will be shared equally by the commission and the city.

In announcing the grant, the commission said: "The facilities at Charlevoix have long been overtaxed and it now appears that certain innovations in dock design and construction may make expansion of this installation feasible."

Acting as the board of appeals, the council: -Told Bruce and Jim Withers that no waiver is needed to square off the southeast corner of the A&W restaurant on S. Bridge-st. -Waived yard limitations so that Ed Corradi can enlarge his garage at 704 Bridge-st. -Took under advisement a request by George Baldwin to construct an addition on his Great Lakes Cable TV building at 202 State-st. The proposed addition would be built nine feet of the Levinson backyard.

Music Series Ends Sunday

The final session of the "Treasure Hunt into the World of Music" for the season will be held Sunday, April 30 from 3 until 5 p.m. at this Old House in Conway.

Rayders Win

Charlevoix High School outscored Boyne City 77 to 46 last Thursday to win the first track meet of the season.

Tuesday, Charlevoix was to host Gaylord and Rogers City in the second meet.

First place slots in the Boyne meet were captured by C.T. Martin and Larry Potter in the 880-yard relay; Dave Marshall, one-mile run; Roger Crain, 440-yard dash; Martin, 100-yard dash; Potter and Bill Carey, 180-yard low hurdles; Crain and P. Klooster, one-mile relay; Clayton Jones, pole vault; Joe Jones, shot put; and Bill Carey, broad jump.

Perch Return May Make Headlines in City in '72

A comeback by the once-almost-extinct Lake Michigan perch-easily caught and one of the tastiest fresh-water fish-could rival the mighty salmon for fishing headlines this summer, according to Automobile Club of Michigan and the Department of Natural Resources.

While perch fishing was almost non-existent during the past decade, it should draw more participants than cold coho this year, the experts believe.

Major reason for the perch's popularity is that the green-sided, yellow-bellied fish can be caught by almost anyone from piers and breakwaters and small boats with no more equipment than a hook, sinker, drop line and a can of garden worms.

Lake Michigan's shore has numerous communities with breakwaters and piers from which good catches of perch are expected.

Jumbo perch have made a spectacular comeback, probably because of the salmon.

Perch fishing collapsed during the 1950's due to the sea lamprey invasion, intense commercial fishing and growth in the number of alewives.

"Alewives compete with perch for food, space and spawning territory, and perch eggs are high on the alewives' list of preferred snacks," according to Motor News, the Auto Club magazine. "Theory is that the perch simply could not withstand the alewife pressure and lost out in the survival fight."

Making Lake Michigan capable of supporting game fish like trout and salmon was not intended to restore the perch population. It was a happy by-product for shoreline and small-boat fishermen. This year, anglers are expected to fish calm, shallow water for perch from small boats and shore as they did 20 years ago.

It was the measures taken to insure success of the coho-lamprey control and light restrictions on commercial fishing-that helped the depleted perch stock bounce back.

While millions of salmon, lake trout and steelhead have been planted since 1965, not a single perch was planted.

This voracious predatory salmon and trout began to eat down the alewives to a level more nearly approaching normal numbers. Massive natural die-offs thinned the alewives further.

Signs of Lake Michigan's perch comeback were evident in 1969 when good catches of small fish were taken. The size improved during 1970. Last summer, buckets and stringers began to bulge with jumbos-some up to 14 inches long and weighing a pound or more.

"This year, unless all the signs are completely cockeyed, there should be more perch and jumbos, enough to make veterans compare the season favorably with those before the collapse," Motor News reported.

The Department of Natural Resources feels this will be the year of the perch comeback because 1969 was the best spawning year for Lake Michigan perch in more than a decade and perch reach good, catchable size in three years.

Perch can be caught year around, although spring is best. They are almost always hungry and when a school is located a catch is guaranteed.

The best fishermen has an advantage, however, since he can locate the schools while shore fishermen have to wait for the fish to appear.

These helpful hints can make taking home a full stringer easier:

+Fish close to shore, usually not over a mile out.

+Use shimmer, night eyes, wigglers or worms as bait.

+Fish close to bottom and don't move the line too much.

Atlantic Salmon Will Be Planted In Boyne River

Ten thousand Atlantic strain salmon will be planted in the Boyne River May 5, according to a spokesman for the Department of Natural Resources.

The salmon will be trucked to Michigan from Quebec Province, a distance of some 1,300 miles.

A similar plant in the Au Sable River is planned for the same day.

The young fish will be emptied into a holding pond below Kircher's dam, for later release in the river proper.

Gov. William Milliken has been invited to be on hand for the plant, the first introduction of Atlantic salmon into Michigan waters.

Because of the distance involved, the time of the plant is still uncertain, according to the DNR.

At maturity, the salmon should range between 20 and 25 pounds, a little smaller than the coho but considerably larger than the kokanee.

Food Stamps Go on Sale Wednesday

Department of Agriculture Food Stamps will go on sale in Charlevoix Wednesday, May 3, according to Richard Tilden, director of the county Social Welfare Department.

The Food Stamp program will replace the former surplus food program which has been phased out in Charlevoix County.

The new program is designed to assist low-income or public assistance families to upgrade their diets through the purchase of Food Stamps at reduced prices or, in some cases, at no cost whatsoever.

For example, a family of four earning less than $19.99 a month is entitled to Food Stamps worth $108 at no cost. The cost of the stamps increases in proportion to family income. The same family of four with a take-home pay of $350 a month may purchase $108 worth of Food Stamps for $84.

Tilden said that not all county families eligible for Food Stamps have been certified as yet, but he expects the total will come close to 400.

Food Stamps may be spent the same as cash for domestic foodstuffs at most major markets in the county. Imported foods are not included, except such staples as coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas. The stamps may not be used to purchase tobacco or household supplies.

For the present, Food Stamps may be purchased only at the Department of Social Services office on the ground floor of the County Building.

Tilden said it is possible that a mail distribution system may be worked out in the future, or that his employees will hold office hours on East Jordan or Boyne City on certain days of the month.

The stamps may be purchased by certified persons Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 to 2 p.m. The sales window will be closed the last two working days of every month to allow the staff time to prepare month-end reports.

Stores participating in the program must be certified by the Department of Agriculture. Merchants may redeem the stamps at local banks for their cash value.

Cohrs Leaving Medusa

Fred Cohrs, manager of the Medusa Cement Co. Plant at South Point since September, 1969, has resigned his position to become vice president of operations for the River Cement Co. in St. Louis, Mo.

Cohrs said he tendered his resignation from Medusa May 1. He expects to assume his new duties with River Cement before the end of the month. His family will stay in Charlevoix until their home is sold.

Cohrs immigrated from Germany 16 years ago and worked in cement plants in Canada before coming to the United States.

The family returned to Charlevoix last week after spending three weeks in Germany, Holland and Belgium.

Hurt in Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Levenhagen, former Charlevoix area residents now living in Manitowish, Wis., were seriously injured in an automobile accident in Wisconsin last week.

They are patients in Room 331 of St. Mary's Hospital in Rhinelander, Wis.

Levenhagen retired from the Medusa Cement Co. two years ago.

Beer Theft

Charlevoix Police are continuing their investigation into the theft of 20 cases of beer from the motor ship Beaver Island.

Police Chief Jack Mol says he believes one adult and several juveniles are involved.

Dashboard, Deer Carcass Found Among Road Litter

To dramatize America's litter problem, Charlevoix High School instructor Dale Burge and Bruce Morgan had their earth science classes pick up all trash along a measured mile of U.S. 31 north one day recently.

They put their pickings in plastic bags and turned it to the school where they counted items in various categories, including cigarette butts.

Following is a list of what they found along only one mile of roadway:

"Multiply it by every mile of highway in the state and you get some idea how badly we litter," Burge said.

Top item on the list was 2,190 miscellaneous pieces of paper and plastic items, including the plastic tops of six-packs.

Next on the list was 1,425 cigarette butts, most of them filter tips which apparently don't return to the soil too readily.

Pop and beer cans were next-402, followed by broken glass-281 pieces.

Last major item was pop and beer bottles, numbering 145.

The classes also picked up: one book of matches, one piece of pipe, two marbles, three Christmas trees, two paint cans, three T-shirts, one plastic bucket, one dashboard, one wastebulb, a glove, one lighter fluid can, a spoon and one sandpaper disk.

One pack of Camels, four pieces of tire, a complete tire, three hubcaps, 11 tab tops, two shot gun shells, a mirror, one headlamp bracket, a parking knife, four rotten oranges, one fair pen, one picture negative, one piece of steel cable, a tape measure, one deer carcass and two catlins.

Two flashlight batteries, one lighter, a pack of wood chips, 17 pieces of rubber, two pairs of eyeglasses, two handkerchiefs, two corn husks, a pencil, a bag of fertilizer, four cardboard boxes, four pieces of chrome molding, two windshield wipers, one running board, one highway road marker, 18 pieces of unidentifiable metal.

How much of it is yours?

City Sparkles After Earth Week Cleanup

SCOUTS Tom Fowler, Ken Paul and Ron Paul found plenty of trash to pick up on Lakeshore dr. Below, a lunch of hot dogs and potato chips was served to the hungry workers at the Middle School.

HELPING with the M-66 pickup were (from left) Cindy Richardson, Charlene Way, Penny Kane and Elizabeth. The girls worked in pairs and filled several plastic bags with rubbish.

Youngsters Pitch in To Pick Up Litter

An estimated 175 workers—mostly young people—turned out Saturday morning to help pick up a winter's accumulation of unsightly litter in and around Charlevoix.

They collected literally tons of debris—beer cans, pop bottles, discarded automobile tires, worn out clothing and thousands of other items that were disposed of carelessly by area residents and visitors.

The Garden Club sponsored the cleanup, but just about every organization in business in town contributed in one way or another, from supplying food for the mid-day lunch to donating pickup trucks to haul away the rubbish.

Thanks to their efforts, our town is "Charlevoix the Beautiful" once again.

WORKING ALONGSIDE M-66 were Cindy Sandahl and Danya Rothenberger. Below, Scott Egler and Don Davison did their share in the M. McSaubia area.

ALL HANDS took turns in bagging rubbish and piling it aboard trucks. Below, Amy Crow and Kathy Peterson worked alone on the Lake Michigan Beach.

CHS Kids Do Well In Forensics

The District Forensic Tournament was held at Charlevoix High School on Saturday, April 22.

Seven area schools attended the meet including Elk Rapids, Charlevoix, Gaylord, Central Lake, Cheboygan, Grayling, and Petoskey.

Contestants in the meet were required to compete in three rounds and, based on that performance, qualified for or were eliminated from the final round.

Two winners and an alternate were chosen from each category to compete in Regional competition to be held May 6 in Gaylord.

Winners from Charlevoix were Lisa Wasson, first place in Story Telling; LuAnn Wolschleger, second place in Story Telling; Jeanne Belfy, second place in Serious Interpretation; Debbie Rank, first place in Radio Broadcasting; Lauri Heeres, alternate in Girl's Original Oratory; Murphy Wallace tied for first in Girl's Extemporaneous Speaking; Sue Pettis was chosen as alternate for Girl's Extemporaneous; and Steve Kantola, first in Humorous Interpretation.

Other entrants in the tournament were Debby Powell, Humorous Interpretation; Mary Kayner, and Carol Pence, Declamation; Laurie Engstrom, Serious Interpretation and Marty Anders, Radio Broadcasting; Sally Keie, Ron Winchester, Charley Bertha, Vicki Skelton and Janet Begrow participated in a Multiple Reading entitled "Arsenic and Old Lace"; Carol Swartout entered in Girl's Oratory. Both Carol Pence and Laurie Engstrom qualified for the final round of competition.

Judges for the event were Maury Cohen, Robert Boldrey, Don Nelson and James Harris of North Central Michigan College; Mary Keiswetter of Petoskey, Jerry Stewart, Mrs. Robert Martin and Mrs. Joy Mudge, all of Charlevoix.

Uniforms Are Still Missing, Ford Reports

Many of the boys in town who played baseball last summer still haven't turned in their uniforms.

Larry Ford, coordinator of the program, reports that several Little League, Babe Ruth and Senior league uniforms are still missing with the start of the new season just around the corner.

Uniforms should be dropped off at Ford's home, 606 Park ave., after 6 p.m. If you have a uniform and are unable to drop it off, call Ford at 547-2787.

Students Hear Ferris Band

The Ferris State College Concert Band played a 30-minute concert for Middle School and High School students on April 26.

Under the direction of William Root, the band played such selections as "Paso Doble Sinfonico," "American Salute," "Panchino," and "Concerto for Drum Set."

The band offers the students of Ferris who have had previous band training and experience an opportunity to play in a well organized band.

After leaving Charlevoix, the band visited Gaylord and Grayling high schools.

MAY

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK

How many "really good cups of coffee" have you had in your lifetime? If you're honest, you'll probably be able to count them on one hand—with a few fingers left over.

I've had two—one in 1952 and one in 1956. I'm still waiting for No. 3.

My first cup of unforgettable coffee "happened" at the Grand Hotel in Charlevoix while I was a corporal in the U.S. Army.

Now corporals, as a rule, didn't spend much time at the imposing Grand Hotel. It was an officer's billet on the shores of Lake Michigan and was one of the first buildings in Japan taken over by American forces.

In fact, Gen. Douglas MacArthur stayed at the Grand Hotel the night before the historic signing of the peace treaty ending World War II. The actual signing took place aboard the Battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay, but the general had arrived in Yokohama a day early and made the Grand Hotel his first headquarters in Japan.

I became acquainted with the hotel when I was asked to take on the off-duty assignment of editing a newspaper for officers serving in the Yokohama area.

I didn't particularly like the idea of typing up any of my free evenings in such a swarming country, or Japan, but I couldn't turn down the salary they offered—$50 a month plus a desk at the Grand Hotel.

One evening when I was walking to the hotel from my own billet at Iwajima Camp, a thunderstorm of unbelievable proportions broke over the city. Before I could hall a pedicab (a bicycle powered rickshaw), I was soaked clean through to my GI underwear. And the pedicab which stopped to pick me up leaked like a minnow bucket.

When I arrived at the front door of the majestic Grand Hotel I looked as though I had just stepped out of Tokyo Bay. I dripped up the big front staircase and left puddles in the posh upstairs hall enroute to my little office.

The colonel who was in charge of the hotel spotted me and followed me inside.

"You look like you could use a cup of coffee," he said, as I dried myself on a stack of copy paper next to my typewriter.

I allowed as how a cup of coffee would hit the spot.

The colonel disappeared and within seconds a Japanese boyelove on the scene bearing a silver tray with a silver pot filled with steaming hot coffee and a china cup. There was also a tiny picture of cream, real cream, not the canned milk we were served at Camp Coe.

Up until that point in my life I didn't know what good coffee was. The dark brown fluid in the silver pot was as different from ordinary coffee as Haig and Haig Pinch Belle is from Dr. Pepper. I didn't believe mere coffee could taste so good.

Maybe it was because I was cold and tired and wet. Maybe the romance of being in the Grand Hotel had something to do with it. Maybe it was a com-

Modern merchandisers coming under legal scrutiny for deceptive display practices, such as the amount of bacon visible to the customer, could take lesson from Dirty Dugan whom I knew in my childhood. The nickname didn't stem from lack of physical cleanliness but from ethical untidiness in his business dealings.

I recall him selling merchandise for cash which the customer bought without ever seeing. He was in his ice house one Sunday morning when Jim Clark, who owned a small grocery and beverage store, drove up. He explained that lack of ice delivery threatened his holiday weekend sales volume.

"You know, Jim," began Dugan, "I've often wondered why you didn't buy ice from me, being neighbors like we are."

"Maybe I will next year," said Jim. "This building is 24 feet square and I'll sell you the whole bottom layer for ten dollars just as a favor to you," Dugan offered generously.

Outright suspicion was clearly reflected in the look Jim fixed on Dugan. Unperturbed, Dugan strode over and picked up a long handled chisel and stabbed a spot six feet to his left. A chip of crystal blue ice popped out of the wet sawdust. He retrieved the spud and tossed it six feet in another direction with the same result.

How could people say such evil things, mused Jim silently as he handed over ten dollars which Dugan carelessly stuffed into his pocket.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

Modern merchandisers coming under legal scrutiny for deceptive display practices, such as the amount of bacon visible to the customer, could take lesson from Dirty Dugan whom I knew in my childhood. The nickname didn't stem from lack of physical cleanliness but from ethical untidiness in his business dealings.

I recall him selling merchandise for cash which the customer bought without ever seeing. He was in his ice house one Sunday morning when Jim Clark, who owned a small grocery and beverage store, drove up. He explained that lack of ice delivery threatened his holiday weekend sales volume.

"You know, Jim," began Dugan, "I've often wondered why you didn't buy ice from me, being neighbors like we are."

"Maybe I will next year," said Jim. "This building is 24 feet square and I'll sell you the whole bottom layer for ten dollars just as a favor to you," Dugan offered generously.

Outright suspicion was clearly reflected in the look Jim fixed on Dugan. Unperturbed, Dugan strode over and picked up a long handled chisel and stabbed a spot six feet to his left. A chip of crystal blue ice popped out of the wet sawdust. He retrieved the spud and tossed it six feet in another direction with the same result.

How could people say such evil things, mused Jim silently as he handed over ten dollars which Dugan carelessly stuffed into his pocket.

"I'll come over with the truck and pick up a couple cakes to take me through the weekend and get the rest as I need it, if that's all right with you,"

Jim said, turning to leave.

"Fine. Fine. Glad to oblige," beamed Dugan.

Jim backed his pickup to the door as Dugan disappeared down the road in a cloud of dust. After hoisting two cakes into the box of his pickup Jim became painfully aware of the business concept that scarcity advertised price as he vigorously explored the area for more ice. There wasn't any.

After a judiciously determined cooling-off period, Dugan entered Jim's store for a loaf of bread.

"You dirty crook!" bellowed Jim shaking a clenched fist perilously close to Dugan's chin.

"Now Jim, better cool down. Bud for Subject: Charlevoix Hospital."

Very recently I spent 3 weeks of my life as a patient in the Charlevoix Hospital. During two weeks of this time, your paper carried many stories about this fine institution, one of which even commanded front page billing complete with pictures.

We are all aware of the high costs of products and services today, and if we could honestly say that Charlevoix Hospital prices were the highest of all hospitals in our area, then there would be legitimate cause for complaint.

This institution is in my opinion, one of the cleanest, the neatest, and the most orderly of any I have seen anywhere, and the efficiency of the staff members is unquestionable.

During my stay and because of the very nature of my troubles, I gave the heart!" advised Dugan soothingly. "I told you I'd sell you all that ice in the layer for an agreed price and that I did."

"I'll tell everyone I meet what a chiseling secondhand you are," raged the storekeeper pounding the counter.

"Do that if it makes you feel better," said Dugan softly. "Here's a dime for the bread."

He turned to remark as he reached the door.

"You know, Jim, a smart man would hardly advertise this kind of a business misunderstanding between friends."

After reflecting on this advice in a less hostile mood, Jim could not help but agree.

OSCAR STROUF (left), former GOP County chairman, received a plaque commending him on his work with the Republican party at the April meeting of the county committee last Thursday. With him are Sen. Robert W. Davis, who addressed the meeting; Mrs. Dale Boss, county secretary; and Robert Wise, county chairman.

Increased Welfare Costs Forcing State Cutbacks

State Sen. Robert W. Davis told Charlevoix County Republicans at their April meeting that an increasing welfare tax burden is resulting in other areas of government concern, including schools.

Sen. Davis said the number of welfare cases (ADC) has grown from 141,000 to 176,000 in the past year, which means something has to be cut from the state budget.

He said the State Constitution forbids deficit budgeting. Turning to reapportionment, Sen. Davis said a decision on new boundaries is still before the Supreme Court. However, he said the 37th Senatorial District probably will grow to embrace Escanaba and Munising in the Upper Peninsula and four counties southeast of the present district.

He said the House redistricting plan is still up in the air, although it appears that all of Emmet County will go with the Upper Peninsula. The Democrat's plan would divide Charlevoix County, with Boyne City and Boyne Falls merging with Rep. Joseph Swallow's district to the east. The remainder of the 10th would be a long "banana-shaped" district stretching from Charlevoix to

Planning Chief Explains Zoning Classifications

By William Mercer
County Planning Director
The Charlevoix County Planning Program has been introduced, discussed and analyzed in the pages of this newspaper. This discussion has included many of the reasons why planning is important, and why it is so necessary that it be implemented. One of the first tools chosen for this task by the County Planning Commission is a Countywide Zoning Program. It is important to understand what this zoning program is, and what it will do.

Zoning is the main tool by which the county can direct the daily changes into the most logical and beneficial areas. It is a means to an end, rather than an end in itself. This probably is the most important point of this entire series, since zoning can be successful only if it is based on an informed community and reflects the citizen's desires, needs, and concepts of what Charlevoix County should be. The Proposed Zoning Ordinance is a statute based on the thinking and input of not only Planning/Zoning Commission members, but innumerable other individuals throughout the county who have reviewed the ordinance.

The Charlevoix County Ordinance contains ten distinct zone districts. These districts have been created to insure "the proper use of land and natural resources" and to "regulate and restrict the location, erection, alteration or use of buildings, structures and land." Specifically, there are five residential zones, two commercial zones, and one zone each for industry, agriculture and conservation. The following paragraphs will briefly describe what is to be accomplished by this type of zoning program.

Residential zone categories are land areas where low, medium and high densities of persons can best be accommodated. The five districts in Charlevoix County's Ordinance are structured to distribute these uses into the portions of the County where problems related to items such as water availability, soil characteristics, transportation, and drainage patterns can be minimized.

The first residential zone (R1) is structured for a low density of development, with large lots and single family living units being the rule. This district is mainly found near those areas of the County that are already well developed.

Single family, two family and mobile home parks are found in residential three (R3), with all three structured into a medium-high density zone. This zone contains a number of restrictions which must be met prior to approval of a mobile home park.

The fourth residential zone (R4) is a high density land use zone. Uses permitted in this classification include multiple family developments and mobile home parks. Once again, a list of regulations are provided to insure that the development of a multiple family unit or a mobile home facility is of the highest quality.

Residential five (R5), the final residential zone, is intended "to encourage the proper development of land abutting lakes and waterways, (to) avoid pollution, and (to) preserve lakfront and other waterfront properties." Uses within this zone are limited to single family and seasonal dwellings, camps, clubs, and campgrounds, and related uses.

One particular point to be made in regards to the R5 zone district is the "greenbelt" provision found in the ordinance. This section calls for a setback of 50 feet from the waterline for all buildings and structures. In addition, trees and shrubs shall be maintained in a natural state within fifty feet of the waters edge (Trees and shrubs can be pruned, however.). Commercial lands are found in two basic classifications. On the whole these two zones are very similar, with the C1 district dedicated to resort oriented uses, and the C2 district to general commercial land areas.

The Industrial Zone District (I1), is structured to "accommodate the industrial needs of the entire county in such a manner that no unreasonable noise, dust, vibration or any other like nuisance shall exist to adversely affect any adjoining properties." Uses included in this zone are limited to light industries, which do little to harm the environment.

State owned and county owned lands are included in the Conservation Reserve District (CR). This district is set-up to "preserve state and county public park, forest, and recreation areas."

The final zone district is intended for uses such as agricultural, low density single family living units, and other special uses requiring large tracts of land. The vast majority (approximately 60 percent) of the county land area is included in this district.

Uses within this district include very low density residential units, farms, golf courses and riding stables, publicly owned recreation areas, ski areas, and other related uses. Special use permits can also be issued for a number of other land uses. A goal of the Planning Commission is to maintain the rural areas of the county for use by future generations. This zone district will help to accomplish that objective.

A map of the proposed zone districts may be viewed in the County Planning Department Office, located in the County Building in Charlevoix. Copies of the proposed Zoning Ordinance are also available on a loan basis.

The motorship Beaver Island made her first trip Thursday, April 20. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gallagher and Stanley Floyd who spent the winter months in Charlevoix were among the first arrivals on the ferry.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gallagher are their sons, Arthur, who was in Charlevoix for the winter, and Ronald, who has completed his four years with the Coast Guard service.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Gregg left for a week's visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore in Wyoming and from there they visited relatives in Royal Oak and elsewhere. Mrs. Sybil Larson accompanied them as far as Holland where she will visit her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sover and their family.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie LaFreniere were their daughters and son-in-law, Loretta LaFreniere and her friend and Mr. and Mrs. Pete LoDico and small daughter of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bonner returned home Saturday April 22. They spent the winter in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Purdie and their small daughter left today for California.

Mrs. Olive Bailey returned Monday, April 24 to her home. She spent the winter in Roscommon.

Islanders attending the funeral of George LaBlance were his uncle Joseph Sanderbergh, Donald Cole, Archie LaFreniere and Jewell Gillespie.

Mrs. Josie Martin spent a weekend in Ada and Petoskey where she visited her family.

Handicapped Kids Need Olympic Funds

Mentally handicapped children in area Special Education programs will compete in the Michigan Special Olympics again this year.

A local meet will be held in Charlevoix May 12 for children 12-years of age and older. Forty winners may go on to compete in the Top O' the Mitt Regional Special Olympics in Alpena May 19 and 20.

One thousand winners from the regional meets throughout the state will take part in the Michigan Special Olympics to be held at Adrian College June 12 and 17.

Competitive sports offer an area in which the mentally handicapped child can succeed and start building a positive self-image, gaining confidence and self-mastery as well as physical development, according to Mrs. Pat Taylor, teacher at the Ironton School.

Mrs. Eunice Kennedy Shriver has been active in promoting Special Olympics on the national level.

"Now they will have a chance to march in a parade, have speeches made about them be hailed as competitors and cheered as victors; in short, experience the excitement that comes with being a vital, successful, sought-after member of our society," Mrs. Shriver said. Interested area residents will have an opportunity to help finance these Special Olympics through the "Adopt-a-Champ" program. Some $127.50 is needed.

Persons wishing to "Adopt-a-Champ" should contact Mrs. Taylor at the Ironton School, 547-5446.

To Speak on Placement Of Retarded

Robert Pangborn, assistant executive director of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children (MARC), will speak at the next meeting of the Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children, scheduled Monday, May 8, at 8 p.m. at the Sheltered Workshop, 201 E. Garfield-st.

Pangborn will speak on the topic "Community Placement," explaining the reasons for returning retarded persons to community life from state institutions. All people interested in the problems of mental retardation or who have members of their families in state institutions are urged to attend the meeting to learn about "community placement."

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Levern, residents of Charlevoix since November, 1970, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently at the Spanish River Inn at Delray Beach, Fla., where they spend the winter months. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kenney, hosted the event. Also present were the couple's grandchildren, Richard, Cheryl and Kim Kenney. Levern is a member of the Masonic Lodge and Shrine. Mrs. Levern is a member and past matron of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Band Gets II Rating

The Charlevoix High School Symphony Band won a II rating in the annual State Band and Orchestra Festival held in the Flint area on Saturday, according to Clarence A. Odmark, director. The three concert judges all awarded the band a II rating, while the sight-reading judge gave the band a I.

The band's appearance in Flint marked the 25th time since 1947 that the band has been eligible to participate in the state festival. Judges were Helson Haverstein of the University of Michigan; Stan Bauman of Elkton, Mich.; Paul Harder of Michigan State University; and Leonard Meretta of Western Michigan University.

The 90-piece band stayed overnight at the Sheraton Motor Inn. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stutzman, Mrs. Barbara Wilson, Don Brown and Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Odmark.

Bus drivers were Mrs. Dale Boss, Gordon Wolgast and Bud Heeres.

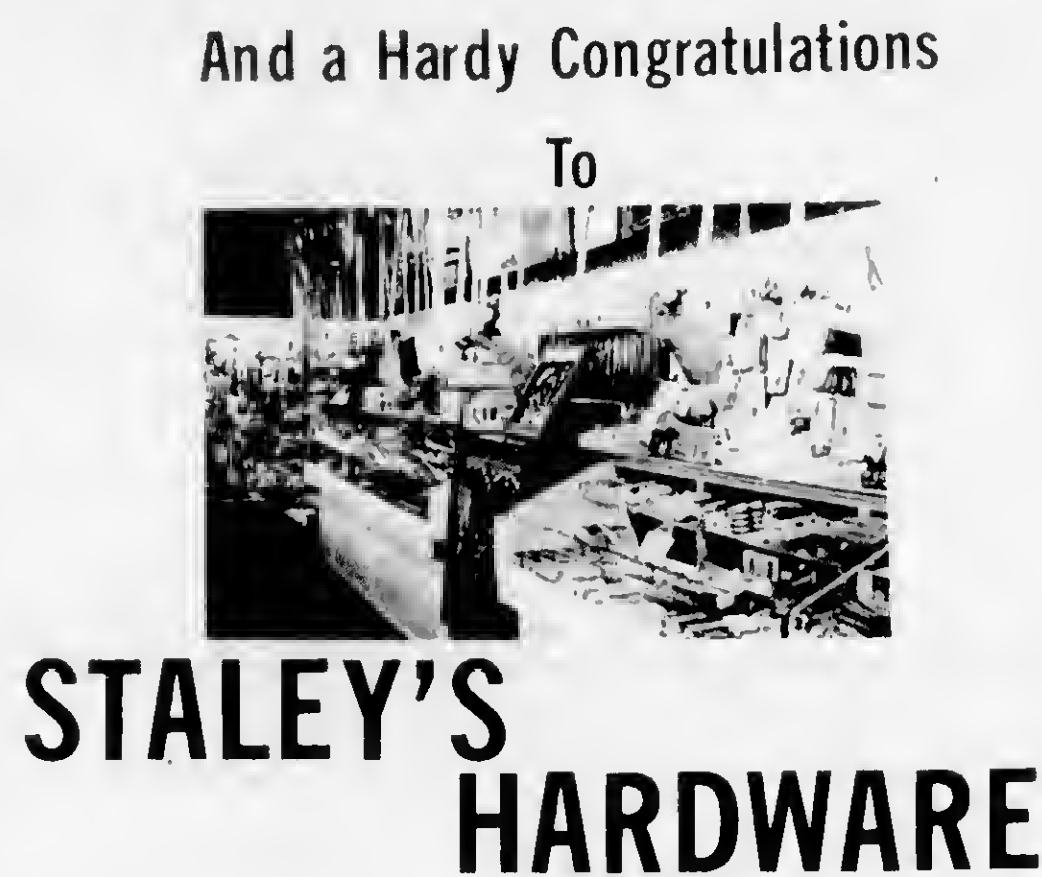

Kindergarten Registration This Friday

Parents of pre-schoolers are reminded that kindergarten registration for the 1972-73 school year will be held Friday, May 5, at the Elementary School. There will be no school for present kindergarteners on that day. To be eligible for kindergarten in the fall, a child must be five years of age by Dec. 1, 1972.

Parents of children whose last name begins with any letter from "A" through "K" are asked to register their pre-schooler between 9 a.m. and noon. The "L's" through "Z's" will be registered from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m.

Parents are asked to bring to school only the child to be registered and the child's birth certificate. Mrs. Marge Duvenport, school nurse, will be on hand to start the child's school health record and explain state requirements concerning immunization.

Run for Board Yourself, Donaldson Tells Key

Editor: Charlevoix Courier
April 29, 1972

This is an open letter to Roger Key.

You have expressed a number of complaints in print about the Charlevoix Schools, many of which I think are in error. I have forwarded this letter to the Charlevoix Board of Education, answer to your letter which the Courier printed on April 26, 1972. Here is my reply to some points that you raised:

1. You say it is time to vote again on millage renewal for school operations. NOT TRUE. It appears that the schools can operate next year on existing millage. The School Board has decided to place on the ballot three requests. One is for renewal of millage to operate the Charlevoix PUBLIC LIBRARY. Second is for renewal of millage which has been used to purchase equipment, books, supplies, etc., for the school material center. The request will be for only a fraction of a mill. The third is for a sinking fund whereby the district will set funds aside for future building needs. This is very forward thinking because as Charlevoix is growing and we most certainly will have to add some classrooms in the near future. It is better to plan ahead and save the money when necessary as contrasted with the normal procedure where a crash program is needed to provide
2. Last year the school board asked for millage to form an Auto Mechanics class. THIS IS NOT TRUE. The previous year the Board requested millage as to set up a building trades class in the 1970-71 year with the stipulation that we would then add a second VOC-Ed class, Auto Mechanics, in the 1971-72 year. This was all part of one proposal, and the Board followed through and did just what they told the public they would.
3. It would appear from Mr. Key's comment that the public should believe that CHS has only 7 students per course. Our class load average actually is about 20 students per class in the High School and a little higher in the K-4 and Middle School buildings. Our pupil-teacher ratio is lower than most in the state which generally is considered to be an advantage in the learning process. Is this bad? I think it is great that we are not over crowded and that we can offer a variety of subjects to our students. The new VOC-Ed courses such as Auto Mechanics and Building Trades are a big step in the right direction. Sounds like Mr. Key would like us to return to the old 3 R's which in today's ever changing world is really not good enough.
4. Mr. Key indicates that he doesn't like the general English courses now offered in the High School. This would lead me to believe that he wants only the courses that are designed for college bound students. I believe that the school board is doing the right thing by providing an education that is interesting and (I sure hope) rewarding for the students who won't be going on to college, in addition to the college bound kids.

As far as offering courses which have "the sole purpose of keeping a student from dropping out"..... I am not sure that we designed courses this way, but if they can keep students from dropping out I think it is great. Mr. Key, the schools are not for a gifted few, but rather they are meant to provide an education for all the kids.

Recent property evaluation adjustments are confusing to all. It does not mean that your taxes are going to increase, and certainly if they were to go up it would not be in proportion to the 46 percent (approx.) increase in valuations. The cost of operating City, County, and the schools has been going up higher each year, just like the cost of most everything else, but the Charlevoix School Board's preliminary budget for 1972-73 year is very close to this year's budget. I am a taxpayer myself and I am real concerned about the increases that have materialized during the past several years. You are blasting the schools when really the biggest tax increase that I have ever heard of in this area came last year when the City of Charlevoix increased the levy from 8 up to 14 mills..... all at one time. This represents a 43 percent increase.

You say that we can't all afford to drive a Cadillac and so maybe we can't or shouldn't afford the finest in school systems. This is your opinion. I personally believe that Charlevoix NOW offers one of the finest school programs in the whole State of Michigan for a school of our size. I think the community can be very proud of this. Maybe we can't afford Cadillacs, but we can and are affording a very fine school.

You have complained about board members and Administrators attending the two recent National Conventions in Atlantic City and San Francisco. I did not attend these meetings, but only because I had a conflict at the time as I was attending school. I am sure that you are really in your own business. When you can keep informed in any business, private or public, you have a better chance to keep on top of things and do the job right. In my business and in the schools I feel this is money well spent. As far as teachers possibly complaining about this at negotiation time, I think that you should have seen that when we sent to Atlantic City did not miss a day of school. Teachers and NO wives. I wish that you would have attended the School Board meeting on April 24 as you could have heard the lengthy reports on what was learned in S.F.

You have guessed at a cost of around $5,000.00 for the travel costs. You are wrong. The public has been because some people will read your letter and think your guess is the gospel truth. I do not know at this time what the costs are, but I am sure that the figure is not anywhere near the figure you quoted. If you don't know, why speak up? Also, my past experience has shown that spouses have to pay their own way when they do attend these conventions. For your information the April 27 edition of the ALPENA NEWS reports that the entire School Board from Alpena attended the San Francisco convention.

Your comment about the condition of the floors, windows and ceilings deserves attention. I will ask for improvements in these areas. I also think that you should know some particulars. First, we have been working short handed on the custodial staff during the past few weeks because one man was released, one person died suddenly, and a third person was involved in a very serious auto accident. This was difficult to keep up, but we shall improve. Second, the board did place on the ballot two years ago a request for millage to make repairs, including the major roof job. The millage failed at the polls. The cost of the roof repairs is too great for our regular budget, so we must get along as best we can.

You didn't visit the middle school, yet you indicated the conditions were bad? If you are going to talk about it, why not find out?

In closing, I appreciate a person's spunk when he will speak up. You have done so. I don't agree with your feeling and have so stated. If you feel so strongly about the schools I would highly suggest that you place your name on the ballot in the upcoming school board election. The job pays $150 per year. You will only have to attend 26 scheduled meetings which average 3 hours plus a number of committee meetings and if you are really interested in the job you will find yourself spending countless hours on research so that you can do the job better. You might have to attend a National Convention in some remote city in order to keep yourself up with what is going on in the school business. Then, if you are real lucky you can get appointed to the negotiating team so that you can meet every other week with the teacher team to discuss labor contracts.

We will have two vacancies on the board....so come on ahead and give it a try. TRY IT, YOU MIGHT LIKE IT!

Sincerely,
Dick Donaldson
Member, Board of Education

'Wives Pay Own Way at School Conventions'

Dear Fellow Citizens:

I just can't keep my mouth shut on this one! I have just finished reading Mr. Key's letter entitled "Should Board Travel on School $?" and someone is surely misinformed. I am not the family letter writer, but I feel I must take this opportunity to clarify a few points.

Last year I went to Atlantic City as a school board member. This, Mr. Key, was not at your expense, nor was it under your so-called "school $?"! Would you believe that the wives or husbands that wished to go on the trip were able to do so because each paid their own way?

Since Atlantic City is not usually too popular a resort area in mid-February, we found the beaches deserted, the Board Walk a cold and windy area to travel, on foot, between meeting places of the convention. One day was ice cold rain from morning to night, however this didn't put a damper on our business activities. All this to beside the points you were concerned with, however, so we shall get back to whether or not the "school $?" should pay for board members and schools' employees to attend these meetings. This is the way I feel about it.

You, Mr. Voter, elected seven members of your school district to represent your views at school board meetings. Each of these men hold down a full time job, but still make available time to study and work with school problems. These problems are, however, different from the profession each man or woman is involved in in their daily lives. These elected members of the Board of Education are asked to work with (to name a few) teacher salaries, administrative salaries, buildings, expansion, repair, new buildings, buying of school buses, cars, equipment, supplies, handling of students, drug problems, etc. These are the things mentioned are just a few of the things that came out of the Atlantic City convention that I attended. I feel an educated board member can better use the funds available to the schools. I am something about the subjects they are faced with.

Furthermore, since I'm too old to be a student of modern math, perhaps I just don't have my figures straight, but when I take 78 courses, 500 students and seven class hours a day I just can't find seven students per class, even on old fashioned one room school houses.

My next math problem involves taxes, since I am a property owner, both within the city and township (which increased in valuation nearly 50 percent). No matter how I figure I can't find a 45 to 50 percent increase in tax dollars. Perhaps here, the fact that millage will be readjusted according to valuation, is the problem. Just because your valuation has gone up it doesn't mean you will get an increase in tax dollars. Undoubtedly there will be some, however the city and township board did this without extra tax dollars, may be they deserve a little credit!

My husband and I were not able to attend the conventions this year due to the fact that we were in San Diego attending a national convention that took $3,000 of Charlevoix's state aid and set it aside in an unpaid amount until the government looked around to see if they would have enough money for everything they had budgeted for. Well, since they didn't have enough that $3,000 of educational monies went to another fund called welfare. The whole thing I'm sure glad that wasn't in my budget as I just couldn't have put up with it, however I haven't heard the school board mean too much about it. I can't really believe anyone would be against an auto mechanics and small engine repair class, if your child didn't learn any more than to fix a lawn mower or change spark plugs in his own car. And what's more if the school board did this without extra tax dollars, maybe they deserve a little credit!

I would encourage more people to take more interest in their schools. Attend the board meetings get first hand information. There is an old game that most have played called gossip. A short phrase is whispered from one person to another, the last person says the phrase aloud; and it is always changed. The same is true in school boards, city councils, etc. Second hand information is not reliable. It is interpreted many times to the liking of the individual giving the information. Go and learn first hand.

Duane Imig

Rev. Imig Answers Letter Critical of Schools

Fellow Citizens of the Charlevoix School District:

A letter appeared in last week's Charlevoix Courier which gave some mis-information and could be misleading. This is to answer some of the questions that were raised.

In regard to the millage question, I would like to clarify that there is NO operational millage to be voted on this year. In fact there is NO operational millage to be voted on at all.

One half mill is to be voted for the public library. The school system in Charlevoix happens to act as the collecting agency for the public library. This half mill if passed will assure that the public library, located at 109 Clinton-st. for your use, will remain open. If this half mill fails the library will no doubt close or a different means of funding will have to be found.

The second proposal is a 1/10 mill for the materials centers in the schools. This millage replaces the 1 mill that had run for three years and expires this year. This represents a reduction of 6/10 mill.

The third proposal you have voted on before and represents a "good business policy." This is a building and site sinking fund of two mill. The money collected for this would be invested and collect interest until such a time as it is needed for building purposes. The alternate route is in several years when remodeling and additions are needed the community would have to go and borrow the money and pay the interest. Good business would say planning ahead is better and earning interest would help defray cost.

So the millage issues facing the voters are these: The one-half mill will determine whether or not you want a public library. The reduced millage of 6/10 will determine whether or not you want to keep the materials centers up to date. The two-mill is just good business practice.

In regard to the number of students in the high school there are approximately 475. Perhaps we should look at the history of education. Education in the past has evolved into what it is today. Education today is for the rich. Only those that could afford private teachers, or private schools and colleges, were educated. The next step was the realization that students from "poor" incomes were intelligent and could be educated. The public educational system became important supported by taxes, but the catch was that only those that could academically cut the mustard were receiving an education. Those that were not bright were given a hard row to go and were failed. Then it was decided to pass a law keeping all in school until the age of 16 thus forcing education. Teaching personnel were faced with a problem—should they teach to the abilities of the less bright and fail to challenge the academic abilities of others, or should they teach the academically gifted and ignore the students not so gifted.

That brings us to the philosophy of education today. All students have the right to be educated to their ability. Those with academic ability to receive an education that can give us the modern technological society in which we live. Those students with less ability trained in some trade or purpose that he or she will be able to function better in society and be productive citizens. This philosophy I agree with. Who is to say that trends will be necessary in the future, school board conferences will help alert school board members to these future needs.

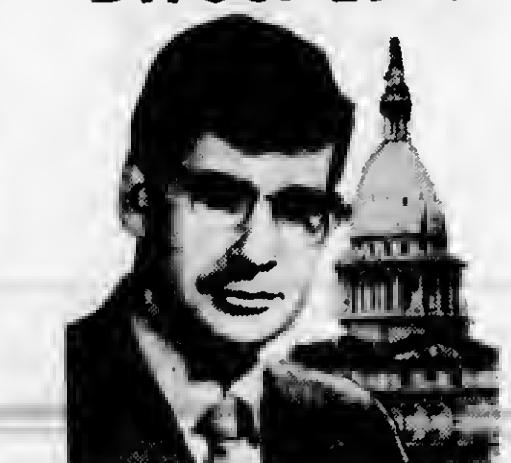

Taxation doesn't just hit the rich, or the intellectually gifted. It hits everyone. When you pay your rent you are helping the owner pay his taxes. When you purchase a product you are helping pay someone's taxes. In theory the idea that increased evaluation would increase money available would seem logical. But in practice increased local taxes usually mean that the state aid would be decreased accordingly and sometimes more, so that you would have the same money available or even less to operate the local schools.

As far as the cleaning is concerned the janitors are hired for work during the week; but many times other organizations use the building over the weekend. If the building is cleaned during the weekend this means overtime expense. This problem is being presently considered by the policy committee of the board. Some of the buildings have windows in them that are designed to be washed while hanging upside down from a pair of "sky hooks." Note the beautiful wall of glass at the high school with an equally beautiful dirt parking lot. How long would those windows stay clean?

Perhaps if more board members would have attended conferences the problem of the windows in places difficult to maintain no matter how beautiful would never have come about. A lot is learned from these conferences. It was my privilege to be at the board meeting when the participants gave their report. To find out for yourself ask those that participated what they learned. If I tried to cover everything poor Bob would have to add a couple more pages to his paper. I am in a profession that holds conferences regularly and requires attendance or excuses to those in higher authority for non-attendance. Many things can be learned for instance we held many conferences on modern counseling techniques. These conferences are designed to help get a job done. They must have a value because as dealers, business men and many others use this tool to help bring people better service." School board and teachers

Q. Should the rest of Michigan have to pull Detroit and the metropolitan area out of their self-inflicted financial mess? A. J. Monellina

A. In my opinion, "no." There is extremely strong opposition from myself and other outside legislators against this sort of thing and two Senators have moved to solve the problem by introducing legislation that would enable Detroit to pull itself up by its bootstraps.

There is particularly strong opposition to a proposal to raise the gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon and earmark a good chunk of it for mass transportation system, primarily in the Detroit area.

To meet this opposition, a bill has been introduced to permit any county to raise the tax on gasoline sold in its area and use the money for such purposes. Since auto traffic is extremely heavy in the Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, this would enable those counties to raise substantial sums of money with which to provide themselves with any kind of mass transportation system they want—without having people from the Upper Peninsula and other outside areas foot the bill for something they will never use.

Another "self-help" measure might be a proposal which has been introduced to permit Detroit to sponsor a 25 cent lottery which, it is estimated, could sweeten Detroit's coffers by

I thank God he had the courage to stick his neck out in an election year. I may be a little prejudiced in my viewpoint, for one of those men is mine. Sincerely, Mrs. J.A. Lovell

P.S. My minister preaches the Gospel message of God's love for us through our Lord Jesus Christ. Praise God! (Editor's note: By the time President Nixon was elected in 1968, the possibility of a military victory in Vietnam was out of the question, without risking World War III. He promised to end the war and bring American troops home. Yet four years later the war continues and Americans are still "numbered" among the casualties.

If Thieu and Co., after a decade of massive American assistance, are still unable to defend their own boundaries, then we believe the United States had best pull out completely—and let the Vietnamese people settle their own affairs. Certainly they have a better idea about the kind of government they want than all the diplomats and brass hats in Washington.

Did President Nixon stick his neck out in an election year? He certainly did. But he has had almost four years to avoid the kind of predicament he now has us embroiled in (Vietnam.)

circumstances. So how could Ioly do it?

I should quickly point out that I regard the Catholic attitude on divorce to be as silly as celibacy. To each his own, but a marriage kept intact by law alone, religious or civil, is no marriage at all. I would never presume to condemn McMahon, or to judge him at all. It's really none of my business.

McMahon is a Catholic. In fact, I've always regarded him as Pope of Channel 4. Whenever a Catholic university or the K of C needed a celebrity to pass the hat, McMahon was their boy. Some of his best friends are bishops.

But the newspapers report McMahon has left his wife of 27 years and their four children. He is seeking a legal separation. He was quoted as saying he was "trapped by success" and was never at home anyway.

Mrs. McMahon was described as "devoted." So, were a lot of TV viewers. The Catholic Church frowns mightily on "legal separations" and allows divorce only under rare cir-

Ski & Shore Adds 2 More Salesmen

Two new real estate salesmen have joined the staff at Ski & Shore. They are Jim Miller and John Georgi, both licensed real estate salesmen. A graduate of Adrian College, Miller owned and operated his own marina in Ludington before moving to Charlevoix two years ago. He was purchasing agent for Freeland Aircraft Engineering and project superintendent for the Irish Boat Shop before joining Ski and Shore.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have three daughters and live at Pine Point.

Georgi is a graduate of the University of Maryland and served as a captain in the Marine Corps. He presently is president of Trader Magazine in Chicago but plans to move north in May.

He and his wife, Betty, have three daughters. They have purchased the Tower Lodge on Park-ave, which they are remodeling into a year-round residence.

Kids to Get Fluoride Care

The summer topical fluoride program in the Charlevoix School District will be held May 23-31 in the basement of the Charlevoix Public Library.

Although fluoride applications can prevent cavities, it is still necessary for children to brush their teeth thoroughly, particularly after meals, avoid between meal sweet snacks, and visit their dentist regularly for professional care.

Brownies to Set Up Camp On Slopes Of Mt. McSaubia

By PAT DOYLE BEGROW
Last Wednesday was a foggy day but bad weather couldn't dampen the optimism of the Charlevoix Girl Scout leaders who gathered at Mt. McSaubia to formulate plans for the annual day camp which will be held from June 12 to 16, 1972.

Mr. McSaubia is a new site for the camp and Mrs. Marge Holland, Crooked Tree Day Camp Coordinator, came from Cadillac to supervise the selection of camp sites and activity areas.

This year the camp has been moved from the Scout campground on Marion Center rd. to Mt. McSaubia to give the girls a chance to be close to the water and hike along the beach. The Marion Center rd. campground, located in a deep hollow, also can become unbearably warm on sunny days.

"Your Charlevoix camp should be better than it ever was because of this new site. I just love the lakefront, the birch trees and the hilltop view. These offer such a variety of possible camping activities that you have a whole nature study right in one place."

Mrs. Holland will be back to direct the May 25 training session which will be a camp-out day. Three other training sessions for volunteer leaders will be held on May 11, May 12, and June 1.

This year the camp program will be centered on nature studies and several nature experts will donate their time to sharpen the girls' curiosity and to answer their questions about rocks, leaves or trees that they've discovered.

On Wednesday the camp will hold open house and invite parents, family and friends to walk through and to reminisce about their own camping days.

The camp director is Mrs. Andrewina Mathews who will be assisted by Mrs. Loretta Towles.

Hospital Drive Launched

Oldest Resident Is Dead

Funeral for Albert Balch, 97, Charlevoix County's oldest resident, was held Saturday, May 6, from the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Robert Rutledge officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Balch died May 3 at Grandview Medical Care Facility where he was transferred less than a week before from Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

Born July 31, 1877, Mr. Balch spent his entire life in the Charlevoix area, although in recent years he lived with a daughter, Mrs. Florence Jackson, of Ellsworth.

The last winter he stayed with relatives in the Detroit area. He was married June 20, 1897, to the former Mary Dixon, who died in 1960.

Survivors include two sons, Kenneth and Archie of Charlevoix; three daughters, Mrs. Jackson of Ellsworth, Mrs. Flossie Howell of Berkeley and Mrs. Harry (Rita) Dunn of Petoskey.

Also surviving are 12 grandchildren; 31 great-grandchildren; and 15 great-great grandchildren. A brother, Archie Balch of Mesick, also survives.

Mr. Balch was born on the site of the present Congregational Church, one of the oldest buildings in the community. He was one of the last persons in the area who remembered what northern Michigan was like before the timber barons moved in.

Last summer he told the Courier how the tall timbered forest stretched eastward from Lake Michigan and how eagles nested at the site of the present Charlevoix Hospital.

His father, Newton Balch, moved to Charlevoix from New Hampshire as a "pigeon catcher," a lucrative occupation in the days when passenger pigeons darkened the skies over northern Michigan during the annual migrations.

The senior Balch caught the birds in baited nets, plunked them, packed them in barrels and shipped them to large cities where they were served as squabs.

Because of his father's occupation, he was known among his friends as "Pidge."

$175,000 Is Goal For 2 Care Units

Charlevoix Hospital has launched a drive to raise $175,000 still needed toward construction of the Coronary Care and Intensive Care units and other improvements at the hospital, according to Administrator Richard Krueger.

Krueger said Monday that the fund-raising firm of Ward Jenks of Santa Barbara, Calif., has been contracted by the hospital to raise the needed monies within the next three months.

The firm will be represented in Charlevoix by Floyd McCarthy, who expects to set up offices in the basement of the First State Bank this week.

The cost of the two care units, plus a new ventilating system, modifications in the surgical suites, smoke doors and a new electric generator, will come to about $350,000, about half of which already has been raised through bequests and gifts, including $100,000 from the John Stewart estate and $50,000 from Nathan Cummings.

Krueger said the drive is being launched in conjunction with National Hospital Week, May 7 through 10.

"We live in an age of cynicism," Krueger said, "and hospitals certainly have been the target of their share. Hospital costs and how they've grown is a topic that has been a favorite target for the viewers-with-alarm among us, and the occasion for criticism will become even more frequent as the subject of national health insurance receives increasing national attention."

"No one — certainly not the hospital people themselves — denies that hospital costs have gone up at an unprecedented rate, as have the costs of all service-oriented businesses which must allocate the major portion of their budgets to wages and salaries," Krueger said.

He added that the theme of National Hospital Week is "We Want You In The Picture of Health," expressing not only the hospitals' traditional dedication to making sick people healthy but also their modern commitment to providing the framework for keeping all people healthy.

After an hour-long debate Monday night, the Charlevoix City Council agreed to OK a check for $1,000 for the Chamber of Commerce, as its contribution toward the Michigan Amateur Golf Association, in lieu of the city's regular payment to the chamber.

Board of Directors, who said that C of C officers were down to 14 since the city stopped making contributions two months ago.

Regular contributions to the chamber ceased after Howard Horton, 311 W. Hurlbut, elicited an opinion from Attorney General Frank Kelley that it is illegal for the city to make contributions to the chamber.

C-C Gets $1,000 for Golfers

Board of Directors, who said that C of C officers were down to 14 since the city stopped making contributions two months ago.

Regular contributions to the chamber ceased after Howard Horton, 311 W. Hurlbut, elicited an opinion from Attorney General Frank Kelley that it is illegal for the city to make contributions to the chamber.

In the interim, City Attorney Robert Hoffman has drawn up a contract which would allow the city to pay for specified advertising services provided by the chamber. But neither the council nor chamber members have had an opportunity to review the contract, submitted at the last council meeting.

Supernaw said the chamber was faced with the alternative of closing its doors unless money were forthcoming from the city.

He said that spring is traditionally the low-point in chamber finances.

In other business the council: Accepted a low bid by the Charlevoix Agency for Public and Institutional Property coverage on city buildings for a premium of $5,284 with $250 deductible. Only other bidder was Farm Bureau.

Sent to committee bids for constructing the new tennis courts on Elm-st. Hodgkiss and Douma's bid was $15,245.92 for two courts, with higher bids for three and four courts. Only other bidder was Peninsula Asphalt Corp. which bid $17,195 for two courts. Hodgkiss and Douma said it could start work within four weeks and complete the courts in 30 days.

Common Council

April 24, 1972
8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Timms, Gill, and Klooster. Absent: None.

The minutes of the April 10, 1972 meeting were approved as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Several citizens were present to express their support to the Council in the proposed building of tennis courts in Lindsay Park Addition. Some felt it should in no way be a disturbance to adjoining property owners as to noise, trespassing, or parking of cars. That it is considered a quiet game and expressed that they enjoyed living near a court.

Mrs. Kohler and Mrs. Loop spoke for the signers of a petition from Oak St. property owners opposing the building of the courts in this location. They expressed their fear of its devaluing their property and of the noise and disturbance from possible future fighting for night spectators. Mrs.
Kohler stated that her abstract restricts the property to one dwelling and garage with servants quarters-further stating that when they moved to this location it was because they fell through research it would remain a quiet residential area.

Mayor Hansen spoke for the Council that they had considered several areas and believed this to be the best location because of its being near the golf course facilities and could be managed by the golf club manager. It was decided to put the matter into Committee for further evaluation.

A letter was read from Dept. of Natural Resources Informing the City that the Charlevoix
City Park Site was placed on the National Register of Historic Places on March 16, 1972.

By proclamation Mayor Hansen proclaimed the week of May 8 through May 13, 1972 "Annual Cleanup Week" for the City of Charlevoix.

The Committee on Docks & Harbors was asked to report on the Commercial dock bids. Mr. Brooks has been contacted and will take Bertha & S. M.
Fornberg had not reported. Mr. Peterson accepted
Bertha "A" but questions if he can get the necessary insurance. It was again referred to Committee for further consideration.

The following Resolution was offered by Alderman Westenbroek and supported by Alderman Gill.

RESOLUTION
WHEREAS, the Attorney General for the State of Michigan has filed a law suit against General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Company and Chrysler Corporation for an alleged violation of federal anti-trust laws regarding the sale of motor vehicles pertaining to elimination of discounts previously granted government entities.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the City of Charlevoix notify H. Stuart Cunningham, Clerk of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, 219
S. Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois prior to May 22, 1972 by letter expressing its desire to be excluded from this and request for a waiver of the required 25' rear lot line set back was returned to Committee for further study.

On motion the Board of Appeals adjourned.

IDA A. HEISE, City Clerk

Alderman Sundberg authorizing the City Administrator to prepare documents with the United States Coast Guard to proceed with the Sewer pumping station and approve the preliminary conditions, as incorporated in their letter of April 19, 1972. The government to pay 95 percent of the total project and the City to assume 5 percent.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Aldermen Sundberg, Supernaw,
Westenbroek, Timms, Gill, and Klooster. Nays:
None. Absent: None.

Attorney Hoffman reported of his letter to the Russell Gulf Station regarding the old cars. Also, that nothing is yet settled on the Alice Street litigation. He expects to have the Chamber of Commerce Contract into Committee so that it will be ready by the next Council meeting, May 8, 1972.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $37,150.66 find them correct and recommend they be allowed. Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Sundberg that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Aldermen Sundberg, Supernaw,
Westenbroek, Timms, Gill, and Klooster. Nays:
None. Absent: None.

Alderman Supernaw presented a bill for trophies for the Independent Basketball Team from Bremmey-Bain in the amount of $117.51, asking the City to pay the bill. No action was taken and it was put into Committee.

On motion the Council adjourned.

BOARD OF APPEALS

The Board of Appeals met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Present:
Aldermen Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek,
Timms, Gill, and Klooster. Absent: None.

Bruce Withers, owner of the A & W Root Beer, presented his request and plan to construct the addition to his building. The Board of Appeals gave their permission based on the action taken August 8, 1971, found in Liber 20, page 247 of the Council Minutes Book. No further action was taken. He also inquired about erecting a sign and was told that a sign could be erected as long as the sign is no larger than thirty-six square feet, according to Ordinance
No. 203.

Moved by Alderman Supernaw and supported by Alderman Westenbroek to grant a permit to Edward Corradi of 704 Bridge St. to construct an addition to the existing garage of approximately 7' x 20' to be used for storage and to waive the required 25 ft. rear lot line set back to allow for the extension of the existing wall which is within two feet of the property line, according to the application for Building Permit. Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Aldermen Sundberg, Supernaw, Westenbroek, Timms, Gill, and Klooster. Nays: None. Absent: None.

G. E. Baldwin's application to construct a metal addition to the existing building approximately 30' x 20' at 202 State St. to be used for garage and storage and request for a waiver of the required required 25' rear lot line set back was returned to Committee for further study.

On motion the Board of Appeals adjourned.

MRS. JAMES DRIGGETT (center), president of the Charlevoix Women's Club, receives guest book from State Federation in recognition of club activities during the year. Making presentation are Mrs. William Brady (left) and Mrs. Richard Hodgson, delegates to the state convention. Mrs. Brady will serve as president during the coming year and Mrs. Hodgson is president-elect.

Women's Club Honored

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Charlevoix Women's Club, President Mrs. James Driggett was presented a guest book from the state Federation of Women's Clubs in recognition of accomplishments of the club during the past year.

The Charlevoix group placed second in the state on the basis of over-all programs. Areas in which the club worked were conservation, community improvement, membership, attendance, drug abuse, interest in Michigan's Indians, international affairs and the Girl Scout Foundation.

The guest book was presented to Mrs. Driggett by Mrs. William Brady and Mrs. Richard Hodgson who attended the state convention.

Mrs. Driggett hosted a tea at the home of Mrs. Edwin Loward at North Point for officers and their successors.

New Draft Regulations Bared by State Director

New draft registration procedures have been announced today by Arthur A. Holmes, state Selective Service director.

Under the new provisions, young men must register with a draft board or a draft registrar within the period 30 days before to 30 days after their 18th birthday. They must have some official identification when they register, such as birth certificate, Social Security account number card, drivers license, school or college activity card, or credit card.

The new registration procedures are designed to make registration more registrant-oriented and draft board operations more streamlined. Registration will consist of filling out a registration card. A new registration questionnaire must also be filled out, although the registrant can take the questionnaire with him, or it may be mailed to him. He must return it within 10 days.

The new registration questionnaire requires the names and addresses of three persons outside the registrant's immediate family.

After he has completed the registration card and questionnaire, the registrant will be issued or mailed his registration certificate and his notice of classification stating that he has been placed administratively into a new holding classification, Class 1-H.

Practically all new registrants will remain in Class 1-H until after their lottery drawing which will be held early in the calendar year in which they reach age 19. Those who receive low lottery numbers will then be considered for classification out of Class 1-H. Young men become draft eligible, provided they do not receive a deferment or exemption, during the calendar year in which they reach age 20.

Finally, every registrant must list a place of permanent residence, as well as a current mailing address. The draft board serving his permanent residence will be the registrant's permanent draft board, regardless of where he registers. Volunteer draft registrars are available at most high schools and public offices in addition to registration service offered at local draft boards.

After he has completed the registration card and questionnaire, the registrant will be issued or mailed his registration certificate and his notice of classification stating that he has been placed administratively into a new

Church Remembering Vets on Mom's Day

Bethany Evangelical Lutheran Church will celebrate Mother's Day next Sunday by remembering the young men and women in the armed services. The theme for the day will be "We Still Care". The special observance will be held during the regular service at 9 a.m. A unique and colorful Armistice Forces "Prayer Wristlet" is being provided this year for use in our Mother's Day service and regularly thereafter. It is a memento and reminder that if indeed "We Still Care" Americans should continue to remember these military members of our spiritual family, pray for them personally, especially the missing in action, prisoners of war, and hospitalized veterans, and support their ongoing spiritual ministry generously.

Besides the nearly 30,000 members engaged in active military service and about 400 new names being added to the rolls monthly this year the church will emphasize the continuing care for injured and handicapped veterans of past and recent warfare.

"These are the ones that are in VA and military hospitals around the country and world. Their needs, spiritual and otherwise, are as deep and varied as the situation and personalities of each and every one. Their needs continue and recur often for years and years." Rev. Duane Imig said.

"Our military chaplains, contact pastors, field service and hospital chaplains are unable to reach all personally.

Therefore a special offering will be taken for the mailing program. These mailings include initial and monthly devotional and informational materials," he added.

Vote 'Yes' on Lotteries; Vote 'No' on Proposal B

The Courier urges a "Yes" vote in next Tuesday's primary election on Proposal A which would permit the state Legislature to authorize lotteries and permit the sale of lottery tickets.

We urge a "no" vote on Proposal B which would permit members of the Legislature to be elected or appointed to another civil office during the term for which they were elected, but they would be required to resign from the Legislature.

A "yes" vote on the lottery issue makes sense because the state's present prohibition of lotteries is practically unenforceable.

Despite the present prohibition, charities, church groups and other highly respectable organizations have been conducting lotteries for years as a method of raising funds for their various activities.

The perpetrators of such lotteries are not lawbreakers in the ordinary sense of the word. It is simply that the present law is at odds with a very basic and a very human characteristic — the urge to gamble.

There is another very practical consideration. A "yes" vote will pave the way for a Michigan state lottery, patterned after very successful lotteries in New Hampshire,

The Schools Need More Custodians

To The Editor:

In regards to Mr. Key's, letter in the Courier of April 26, 1972:

Dear Mr. Key,

This is a very interesting article and a few of the questions to your letter.

You are quite right on some of your accounts about the way the money is spent and the way the schools are getting run down, mostly the Middle Schools. It wasn't always like this, at least not when Mary Sugden was head janitor.

But it is not that janitors are not doing their jobs, it is because they are not enough help. They do have a lot of applications in the business office but they will not hire anyone or pay them a decent wage. They do have a lot of applications in the business office but they will not hire anyone or pay them a decent wage. They do have a lot of applications in the business office but they will not hire anyone or pay them a decent wage.

The janitors at the Middle School are doing everything they can to try to keep the school in shape, from changing burned out light bulbs to repairing desks, wires, etc. Even the lady janitors are expected to do the same as the men but get paid less. There is one janitor who has been with the Middle School for 30 some years and only gets $2.35 an hour and he does all of the bulk work, so to speak.

They hired a new man, his name was in the paper, and he had some personal problems last Friday and couldn't make it to work and his house burned to the ground that same night. Saturday he called Mr. Kauffman, the Business Manager, and tried to explain his trouble, so I understand, and he was told that he had to leave the school grounds and that he had to leave the school grounds and that he had to leave the school grounds.

The janitors do not even have enough to clean with or the proper cleaning supplies. The janitors know what is best to clean with and what does the best job so why not let them all get together and decide on what to get instead of a lot of different stuff that is not any good.

We all know where to place the blame. Maybe the main offices need some house cleaning.

Please do not print my name, but I do know what I'm talking about.

Name withheld by request

Editor's Note: The Courier checked with Business Manager Harold Kauffman on the writer's charges. He reports that male and female school custodians receive the same hourly rate—$2.50 per hour—if they have worked from six months to a year. New employees receive $2.25 an hour and lead custodians receive $2.30 per hour. The 30-year employee referred to by the writer receives $2.50 an hour, not $2.35. Kauffman further reports that Wingo was fired because he had only worked three of the nine days he was eligible to work since being hired.

He further stated that the schools are short-handed when it comes to custodial help. He said some employees have been released for not doing their jobs and others have been let go for failure to report for work.

Dear Editor:

Being in complete agreement with your editorial on Mr. Nixon's bombing of Haiphong Harbor and Hanoi, I was shocked to read Mrs. J. A. Lovell's letter condemning your views on the grounds one of the Americans in Vietnam was hers.

It would seem to me she should be urging her minister to pray Mr. Nixon get out of Vietnam immediately, to bring her loved one home and stop this unbelievable slaughter in an "undeclared" war that will never be won on the battlefield.

If It Fits

By JIM FITZGERALD

This father was serious. He has two sons fighting in Vietnam and he wants to talk personally to President Nixon about getting them out alive. He thought maybe I could pull the strings to get him inside Nixon's office.

It is to laugh. I explained to the father that he was vastly over-rating the influence of a country editor-columnist. If he didn't mind coming in live, I told him, I might be able to get him into the mayor's office in the back of the hardware store. That is the extent of my clout.

The father shrugged and left, and now I'm feeling lousy for having laughed in his face. Sure, he should realize the President talks only to Kissinger and the TV cameras. But that father is a dad he'll never see his sons alive again. He wants to talk to the man who is risking their lives. Is that really so irrational?

I remember when I had a solution for ending the U.S. involvement in Vietnam (I love that word "involvement"). When you say it real quick, you don't get a bit of blood on your teeth. My suggestion was a constitutional amendment.

I then wrote another column

He Wants to See Nixon requiring the President to attend the funeral of every U.S. citizen killed in Vietnam. I figured I'd prefer bringing the boys home to sitting down with their parents and explaining how Junior died for the Gulf of Tonkin.

I expounded that brilliant idea many years ago. Egad, I should be a Democratic candidate for President. I guess a day or longer than Sen. McGovern. I was against this stupid war way back when the French thought it was a good idea. But, of course, I cheat. I'm even against fist fights.

Lyndon Johnson was chief honcho when my funeral column somehow leaked into the White House. The general in charge of screwball newspapermen immediately wrote me a stuffy letter explaining that the President didn't have time to attend all those funerals (the fatality count was about 30,000 then, with thousands more accurately penciled in by Pentagon prognosticators). But, the general assured me, the President was certainly concerned with the suffering of survivors. To prove it, he sends them all medals.

That'll be the day. That'll be the same day I get that father in to see Nixon.

As War Tempo Increases
Peace Watchers Ask 'Why'

In the past decade, the United States has lost 55,000 men in the Vietnam War. In addition, some 130,000 have been wounded, many of them maimed for life.

We have squandered the wealth of the nation on arms and munitions.

We have squandered the spirit of our people fighting a war that has little or no justification in the eyes of a growing number of Americans when testifying and attempting to explain our renewed and vigorous bombing of North Vietnam.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Secretary of Defense Richard Laird made it clear in appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee they were following President Nixon blindly in furthering any course (including bombing of ports and cities of North Vietnam.)

President Nixon has proven while he remains commander-in-chief that the United States will continue to be involved militarily in Vietnam.

Why are we fighting a war which has no direct bearing on the safety of our nation and our people?

Why must we insist that a democracy be established in Vietnam? Why? Why is not even a word for "democracy" in the Vietnamese language?

Why must we cast our lot with a leader like President Thieu, and Iron-fisted dictator who is the antithesis of the American ideal of political leadership?

Some 10 years, with thousands of American youth dead, plus astronomical monetary outlays we continue to be engaged in a war in Vietnam.

Four presidents representing both of the major political parties have failed to enlighten the American public just what we are doing in Vietnam and why we want in there in the first place.

If the renewed bombing is allowed to continue we stand an excellent chance of the war being escalated.

It's doubtful if Russia will allow any more damage to its maritime fleet in South Asian waters without retaliation. President Nixon is the only person who could call a halt to the bloodshed and destruction. But like the three presidents before him he's not that anxious for the United States to pull out and let the North and the Vietnamese settle their differences between themselves.

The American public has grown so weary of hearing the same "record played over and over again" in describing Vietnam and our involvement reasoning that they are turning to another man and voice on the horizon.

He's the plain talking, straight with an answer, Sen. George McGovern. President Nixon has proven one thing in his Vietnam policy. Either he can't or won't do anything about the mess that is today Vietnam.

If he has to go so far to resort to bombing in an election year what will happen to all of us if he should get another four-year term?

For every overseas American citizen are joining with the families who had, or still have, sons in seeing that Sen. McGovern receives an opportunity to get the boys back home.

For really, after 10 long, tragic years, this is the only sensible approach to take in our involvement in Vietnam.

That is - unless we are in Vietnam - for something other than we have been told by our statesmen.

Bruce Withers Taught A Lesson in Living

It was typical of Bruce Withers that he went fishing in Grand Traverse Bay last Wednesday morning before he entered the hospital for the last time.

His appearance at the last session of the Charlevoix City Council April 24 relative to new construction at the A & W restaurant was also in keeping with the "forward thinking" that was Mr. Withers' hallmark as both an educator and a businessman.

For the past two months, Mr. Withers' knew that his days were numbered. Leukemia was rapidly sapping strength and making it more and more difficult to perform everyday chores.

Although he was forced to drop his teaching duties on doctor's orders, he found plenty to keep him busy and useful until the end, from attending to the family business to fishing with his cronies.

Mr. Withers died Saturday evening at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City. He will be greatly missed by Charlevoixians, particularly the young people who were introduced to the business world under his tutelage at the A & W.

Although Mr. Withers taught for many years, we think he taught his finest lesson—a lesson in living—during the last two months of his life. It was a lesson that few people who knew him will ever forget.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

The thought of working a twelve hour day for a dollar horrifies people today but it was a godsend compared to the hardships of the Great Depression when the lumber camps were idle and the sawmills silent. May those days never return for it is doubtful if many would be able to feed, house and clothe themselves with two hands and no money as the only credit available.

Many older citizens irk developers by clinging to a weatherbeaten rundown home in choice residential districts. Pride in home ownership has long since succumbed to burdensome taxes but the indelible scars of past privation add the unseen value of security. To some an eyecore to another a refuge.

Farmers provided food but in a different fashion. They cultivated extra acres and allowed others to plant potatoes and vegetables, paying the ground rent by working for the owner during the harvest season. Two or three hundred quart jars of wild berries filled shelves at the east of rubber stool rings. Fish and venison, pressure cooked and canned, added variety to the rabbits snared in the wintertime.

Labor substituted for cash to provide warmth. One helped saw logs with a crosscut and load them on a trailer and realized every alternate load for his effort. Quite often the 15 cents a cord stumpage was obligingly overlooked. Fifteen or 20 cords provided split wood for the range and chunks for the heater.

Clothing was not only handed down but was also recycled. Knitted socks, no longer serviceable were unraveled to appear as mittens, scarves and sweaters. Material beyond further use became braided rugs and patch work quilts. One hundred pound flour bags incidental to the family bakery, or purchased at a nickel apiece, became sheets, pillow slips, dish towels, and diapers.

Clothing and shoes were often obtained by the exchange of domestic service for merchandise. Laundry tubs, outdoor clotheslines and curtain stretchers found use from sunrise to sunset. Children helped with school expenses by raking yards, shoveling snow or piling wood in basements. Girls often worked at summer cottages for five dollars a week. Adversity knitted the family ever closer and divorce was a rarity.

Those days were rewarding for the juvenile officer who found time to hunt and fish as did the village marshall whose police duties consisted mainly of trying doors as he walked his rounds. A dollar day, hardly an allowance today, meant the welfare of an entire family. A far cry from the meaning of ever escalating welfare in this age of affluence as different as an asset or a deficit in the world bank of human perseverance and pride.

The Old Timer

"Diplomacy is thinking twice before saying nothing."

Slum Population Growth Hurts U.S. - Friske

In a statement issued today rep. Richard Friske (R-Charlevoix) said that while many Americans may fault the President's population commission for its report presenting abortion as an "exercise of individual freedom" and recommending sex education in public schools, the truly serious error on the part of the commission is its emphasis upon curing American population growth.

Apparently no presidential panel has the understanding or "guts" to say that the United States needs more people of one type and fewer of another. Serious discussion of demographic realities is virtually taboo.

"The danger today is that educated, propertied Americans will limit their families while the ignorant, dependent elements will multiply," Friske said. "Bright young people in college are being persuaded that they shouldn't have more than two children because of a global 'population explosion.' The birth rate among this element in America already is beginning to decline. But the population growth in America's slums, where the welfare population resides, is explosive. Those who have to pay the taxes — and in many cases provide quality private schooling for their children — because public schools have been wrecked by political and sociological experiments — seem to be deciding that the middle class will have to limit the size of out of the public trough, who subsist on food stamps and welfare checks, are continuing to have big families. They are confident that Uncle Sam will pick up the tab for food, housing, medical care, education and even recreation."

According to Friske, this isn't the way population controls should work. He says the survival of our country and civilization depends on able, productive citizens reproducing their kind.

"At the same time," Friske continued, "there is need for curbing the growth of the drone population that weakens our society. Educated, propertied Americans need, but the tax pressures on the middle class all but forbid this outlook."

"It's time that able young Americans pay attention to the demographic factors in history. One of the principal reasons for the breakdown of the Roman world was the failure of sturdy, self-reliant Romans to reproduce in sufficient numbers, while emancipated slaves from the provinces multiplied rapidly."

He cited the great historian of Rome, Theodore Mommsen, who repeatedly stressed the biological decline of the old Romans, saying "Childlessness was common, and among the upper classes families of more than one or two children were rarely found." Friske also referred to Dr. G. M. McCleary, who, writing in "The Hiltbert Journal" in England, said that "the bearing of children was unfashionable." Some Romans were conscious that sterility would finally deliver Rome into the hands of the barbarians — and so it did.

"Americans likewise choose to ignore the different biological processes in the world," Friske stated, "in much of unwilling to do their own fighting and prefer to rely on hired troops."

In conclusion, the Charlevoix Republican said that Dr. Elmer Bendel discussed these and related matters in his book, "The Next Civilization." "It is tragic that Americans aren't willing to consider the truths which underlie the struggles among nations, peoples and civilizations. Until Americans face up to these truths, there is little hope for the renewal of the United States or its endurance as a nation in a world where its population is vastly outnumbered. Our hope in the long run is for qualitative improvement in our population. But the recommendations of the President's population commission indicate that concern is with such trivia as sex education and the right to abortion. As a people, we have yet to learn from history."

Withers Rites Tuesday

Funeral for Bruce W. Withers, 32, who was taught in the Traverse City school system for the past eight years and operated the A & W here since 1969, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Tuesday, May 9. The Rev. Warren Burgess of Faith Reformed church of Traverse City officiated. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Withers died late Saturday at Munson Memorial Center in Traverse City where he had been a patient for three days. He had been in failing health since February.

Born in Charlevoix June 14, 1945, he was graduated from Charlevoix High School and Western Michigan University and served with the U.S. Air Force during World War II.

He taught Industrial Arts and coached tennis at Hastings for 16 years prior to joining the Traverse City school system in 1964.

In 1959 he built an A & W restaurant which was operated on a seasonal basis until this January when it was enlarged and operated on a full-time basis. He was a member of Faith Reformed Church in Traverse City and the Michigan Education Association.

Surviving are his wife, the former Dorothy Kortes whom he married at Plainwell in 1941; three sons, James B. of Charlevoix who manages the restaurant here, Jon F. of Charlevoix and Robert H. at home; three grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Mont Withers of Charlevoix; two brothers, Charles F. of Charlevoix and William J. (Jack) of Flint and two sisters, Mrs. James Bolton of Flint and Mrs. Lyle King of Charlevoix.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor Mr. Withers' memory may do so by contributing to the American Cancer Society.

AFTER 30 YEARS with the Charlevoix Post Office, letter-carrier Pat Moran will hang up his mailbag for good May 12. In addition to his daily hikes over the South Side, Moran delivers parcel post in the afternoon. Here he loads mail truck behind the Charlevoix Post Office.

Pat Moran Retires From Post Office

Pat Moran, the South Side's affable letter carrier, is calling it quits Friday May 12. Moran joined the Charlevoix Post Office in 1937 as a summer substitute and became a regular on May 7, 1942.

During his 30 years of postal service he has delivered more than 1,500 editions of the Charlevoix Courier to South Side residents.

A native of Detroit, Moran moved to Charlevoix with his parents when he was seven years old. The family lived in a winterized cottage at Pine Point.

He graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1931 and from Charlevoix County Normal in 1932. He taught in the Greentown School on Beaver Island and at the Chandler Hill and Hilton School in Charlevoix County before joining the post office.

Since then he has served under four postmasters: Joe Foster, Pete Timmer, Dan Genett and Rex Davis.

If Attack Comes, City Shelters Offer Radiation Protection

Although Russia and Red China have reacted with inexplicable restraint over the blockade and mining of North Vietnam ordered by President Nixon last week, the move only serves to remind Americans that they are living in perilous times and that global nuclear warfare remains a grim alternative to global peace.

If the United States is attacked by nuclear missiles, what are the chances of survival in Charlevoix?

Although it is unlikely that any community in the county would be a target for enemy weapons, radiation fallout could pose a serious problem, according to Mrs. Alice Tunison, Civil Defense director.

If Chicago were bombed, and winds were from the south, Charlevoixians would have to take cover. The same is true if the targets were in Wisconsin or Minnesota and the winds were from the west or northwest.

Winds from the southeast are so rare that it is unlikely that radiation from an attack on Detroit would ever reach Charlevoix County.

However, the county has only 4,858 licensed shelter spaces for 16,000 plus population—a situation which gives Mrs. Tunison some sleepless nights.

In the City of Charlevoix, some 870 spaces are available, including 735 that are stocked with emergency rations.

Mrs. Tunison said that only those shelters that will accommodate 50 or more persons are stocked with food—if you can call it that. The rations, now ten years old, consist of vitamin enriched crackers that taste like cardboard and candies.

"Eat a few of those crackers and drink a glass of water and you'll feel as though you've eaten a full meal," Mrs. Tunison said.

The largest shelter in the city is the City Hall which will accommodate 409 persons. The second largest is the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. office on State-st. which will accommodate 206 persons. The only hitch is that only authorized Michigan Bell personnel will be allowed inside.

Oleson's Shopping Center is OK'd for 64 persons and the basement of Schroeder's Drug Store and Harbor Hardware 56 persons.

All of these shelters presently are stocked with crackers and candy. Shelters not stocked are the old jailhouse on Antrim-st., 29 spaces; the former First State Bank Building on Bridge-st., 13; the Hess Furniture warehouse between Clinton and Park, 36; the Weather-vane Terrace, 32; and the County Building, 25.

In East Jordan, the High School could accommodate 196 and the former Jordan Valley Co-Op Creamery could shelter 46.

Boysie City isn't much better off. The Dilworth Hotel has spaces for 111 persons, the Post Office, 50; and Boysie Mountain, 23.

Of course, even those Charlevoix County residents lucky enough to find shelter space won't be totally protected from radiation.

"But they'll be from 20 to 80 percent safer in the shelter than out of it," Mrs. Tunison said.

She added that some people might find adequate shelters in their own homes. The best shelters are those that place the most "weight" between the victims and outside radiation. Basements are usually best, providing that windows can be snugged or otherwise blocked. If the house has poured concrete floors, so much the better. If not, seek a location directly under a tiled bathroom floor.

"If you have a workbench and crawl under the bench," Mrs. Tunison said.

"Remember, it's weight that counts when it comes to shielding yourself and members of your family from radiation."

She said some families have planned their shelters directly under rooms large enough to accommodate the kids' backyard wading pool.

can be used in emergencies. It also is possible to secure drinking water from toilet tanks.

"Unless power is knocked out, our water systems should still be working, although the water will have to be monitored for contamination," she said.

She added that well water should be perfectly potable since it has been shielded by the earth.

Furthermore, water itself cannot become contaminated

"If Charlevoix is threatened with radiation contamination, the sheriff will have to turn all of his prisoners loose since he cannot provide for their protection," Mrs. Tunison said.

How will the people of Charlevoix know when to run for cover?

Mrs. Tunison said the warning will come from the city's fire siren which can be modified for "Air Raid Alert" warnings and "Air Raid Take Cover" warnings.

The "Alert" warning is a single tone, three minutes in duration, which Mrs. Tunison described as being "deeper and more ominous" than the fire siren.

The "Take Cover" warning is two tones, wailing up and down, also three minutes in duration.

By contrast, she said the fire siren is an "off and on" warble.

If you do have to seek shelter, what should you take with you?

Mrs. Tunison suggests that you take sleeping bags or bedding for every member of your family, since none are provided at the shelters.

She also suggests that you strip your refrigerator of perishables and bring them along.

"You might have to give them up at the door for later distribution to the group as a whole, but even that's better than letting them go to waste," she said.

She added that she hopes grocers would also distribute their perishables to the shelters where they would be put to good use.

How long should you remain in the shelter?

The recommended period is two weeks, or until all danger of radiation poisoning is past, according to Mrs. Tunison.

She said that all of the large shelters are equipped with radiation monitoring equipment which can be used to determine when it is safe to go outside again.

What about pets?

"Turn them loose and let them fend for themselves," Mrs. Tunison suggests. "After all, we don't have room enough in our shelters for the human population."

MRS. ALICE TUNISON, County Civil Defense director, examines emergency food supplies stored in the basement of the Charlevoix City Hall.

"If the pool is filled with water, and you are underneath it in the basement, you will have a pretty good margin of safety," she said.

By the same token, if your shelter is under the bathroom, fill the tub with water before taking refuge.

Although few of the authorized shelters are stocked with water, Mrs. Tunison said that water shouldn't be a problem since most of the buildings have unlimited quantities of "trapped water in heating and hot water systems that by radiation, but particles in the water may be contaminated. Suspect water should be carefully filtered before drinking.

Mrs. Tunison regrets that none of Charlevoix's school buildings will provide any adequate protection from radiation. She said she tried, as Civil Defense director, to have shelter areas provided in the High School and the Elementary School but her suggestions were ignored.

She also says the new County Jail offers no protection whatsoever.

CHS Trackmen Capture Class C Regional Title

The Charlevoix Rayders, coached by Gary Stutzman, captured the Class C regional track and field title at the Pine River high school, a consolidated school in the Leroy-Tustin area.

This Rayders rolled up an impressive 65 points to capture their first regional title since 1965. Benzie Central placed second with 35 points followed by Evert with 32; Traverse City St. Francis with 26; Boysie City, 23; Pine River, 16; Onaway, 12; Mason Central, 8; Roscommon, 6; Houghton Lake, 4; Harbor Springs and East Jordan, 3 each; Kalkaska, 2; Elk Rapids and Manistee Catholic Central 2 each and Manistee, 0.

Charlevoix captured three first places in the meet. Joe Jones threw the shot 48' 10 1/2" to take a first in the shot; Kevin Martin with a jump of 19' 9 1/2" in the long jump and Tom Moore with a time of 10:29.1 took the two mile run to account for the other blue ribbons.

Other point winners for Charlevoix were Tim Carey, fifth in the shot put; Bill Carey, second in the long jump; Charlevoix (C.T. Martin, Larry Potter, Hill Carey and Kevin Martin) in third in the 880 yd. relay; Bill Carey, second and Larry Potter, third in the 120 yd. high hurdles; Kevin Martin, second in the 100 yd. dash; Roger Crain, fifth in the 440 yd. dash; Charlevoix (Ned Henley, Jeff Lachman, Dennis Crain and Roger Crain), third in the Mile Relay and Charlevoix (C.T. Martin, Ed Bouma, Mike Streeter and Kevin Martin) second in the 440 yd. relay.

All Rayder participants who placed and the top three winners on all other teams in the meet will go to Mt. Pleasant Saturday for the State Class C finals.

Charlevoix was also scheduled to participate Tuesday in Charlevoix and the week of May 20 to 27 as Michigan Week.

CHARLEVOIX trackmen pose with the Regional Class C trophy which they won Saturday at Pine River High School. They will compete in State Class C Finals at Mt. Pleasant this Saturday. Bottom row (from left) are Larry Potter, Tim Carey, Roger Crain, C. T. Martin, Joe Jones, Coach Gary Stutzman, Tom Moore, Ned Henley, Kalkaska, and Ed Bouma. Second row, Dan MAYOR David G. Fisher of Ludington will visit Charlevoix Monday, May 23, on Mayor's Exchange Day. He will be accompanied by City Attorney John Claire and their wives. Mayor Hansen will visit Ludington the same day.

Allocators Penalize Charlevoix Schools For Voted Millage

In an unusual move Monday, the Charlevoix County Tax Allocation Board decided to give the Charlevoix School District 2.4 mills less than other school districts in the county on grounds that Charlevoix has enough voted millage (13 mills) to see it through the next school year.

In the tentative allocation, Charlevoix schools would receive 6.6 mills of the 15 mill allocation, compared to 9 mills for Twin Valley, Boyne Falls and Beaver Island

School District. Attorney Harvey Varnum told the board that such a split was not legal, but the board approved it anyway by a vote 10 to 2.

If the allocation sticks presumably only 12.6 mills of the 15 mill allocation would be spent on property owners in the Charlevoix School District.

Under the tentative allocation, the county would receive 1.8 mills, townships one mill and the Charlevoix

Enmet Intermediate School District, 20 of a mill. Last year, the county received 6 mills, schools 7.8 mills, townships one mill and the C-E District 20 of a mill.

The final allocation will be set by the board Wednesday, May 24.

The move to offer Charlevoix schools a smaller slice of the tax pie was made by Sherman Thomas of East Jordan and seconded by Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township supervisor.

TAKING PART in ground-breaking ceremonies last Wednesday for the new coronary care and intensive care units at Charlevoix Hospital were this group of hospital employees, board members and city officials. In the front row, from left, are Jerry Stachlin, board chairman; Dr. Harry Custer, chief of staff; Diane Novotny, Alice Strickland, Julius Gilbert, board member; Esther Carey and Mayor Edward P. Hansen. In background are Richard Krueger, hospital administrator; Robert Egler, lab technician; Mike Jaroma, Bertha Faciak, Pat Bernard, Evelyn Vandervall and Claude Pearsall. A drive is underway to raise $350,000 for the two new units.

Also facing charges in the murder are David Louis Shaw, 18, Donald J. Bentley, 17; and Floyd Richman, 17. Two other juveniles have turned themselves over to authorities for treatment at state institutions.

The young people are members of an organization called the "Satanical Angels" (which they pronounce Angela). They are accused of taking Miss Gilbert to a log cabin in a wilderness area of Livingston County, torturing her, killing her and leaving her body in a swamp.

Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rabach says he has been asked to call 150 prospective jurors for the trial. He estimates that jury challenges alone will take up to three days.

His main concern is where to put so many jurors while the challenging is in progress.

It's Official

Mayor Edward Hansen has declared the week of May 14 to May 20 as Small Business Week in Charlevoix and the week of May 20 to 27 as Michigan Week.

Richards, using enrollment figures made available explained the various methods that can be used to project future enrollments in a school district. He explained the straight line, percentage and survival methods of determining the enrollment growth in the school district during the next five and ten year periods. He advised that the survival method was the most accurate and, on this basis, projected the enrollment from 1986 for the 1972 school year to 1986 for the 1977-78 school year. He then projected room and teacher needs to care for the increase. The report also touched briefly on when additional rooms and teacher stations would be needed.

At a future date, the pair will return with additional information regarding their long range planning proposal. In other action, the board voted to offer a probationary contract on the sixth step on the M.A. plus 15 hours to Hope E. Ashbury as a counselor in the High School and Middle School on a half-time basis in each school. She holds a Bachelor's degree, a Master's degree in library science and a Master's degree in Guidance and Counseling, all from the University of Michigan. She holds a secondary permanent certificate.

She has been employed in Flint as a high school librarian for four years, at Traverse City high school as a librarian and media specialist for two years and is currently a graduate assistant in the guidance and counseling department at the University of Michigan.

Election inspectors named for the June 12 election were Ellen Copeland, chairman; Leona Sugdon, Irene Celler, Vivian Trimble, Edna Miller, Audrey Warner, Bertha Potter and Billie Smith. A ninth member will be named to replace Edna LaBlance who has advised the school she will not be interested in serving at this time.

Last PTO Meeting Slated Wednesday

Dr. James Snoddy, a professor of education at Michigan State University, will speak at the final meeting of the Charlevoix Parent-Teacher Organization Wednesday May 17, at 8 p.m. at the Elementary School.

Dr. Snoddy will speak on the topic: "What's New in Education and Where Do We Go From Here?"

Because of lack of interest, PTO officers are seriously considering abandoning the organization with the final meeting.

However to sound out public opinion, parents are being asked to vote on whether the PTO should be continued.

OBLIVIOUS to the thunder of U.S. 31 traffic a scant 10 yards away, these swans are nesting in a Grand Traverse Bay backwater just north of Traverse City. The nest, occupied by the female, was constructed of reeds plucked from the shore of the pond. The pair are more effective than patrol cars in slowing down traffic.

Cathleen Terrill Wed In Double Ring Rites

Cathleen E. Terrill became the bride of Ray G. Fuller in double-ring ceremonies May 6 at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert R. Terrill sr. of Charlevoix. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Zephariah J. Fuller of Atlanta, Ga.

The Rev. Gordon Mitchenson performed the ceremony in the presence of 100 guests before an altar decorated with white and pink snapdragons and carnations, huckleberry greens and brass candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white linen dress with long sleeves embroidered with pink hearts and roses and green foliage. She wore a Juliet cap and a chapel train of illusion and carried a colonial bouquet of white miniature roses, white gardenias and stephanotis. Miss Linda Ross, of Charlevoix was maid of honor and Mrs. Jan Hauser of Springfield, Ill., was matron of honor. They wore rose colored tulle and polyester gowns and white picture hats and carried single Dutchess red roses.

Organist was Mrs. Charles Lehman who played "Ave Maria." "The Summer Knows," "Fragment of an Etude" by Chopin, "Because," "I Will Wait for You," "Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet," "One Hand, One Heart," "People," "Yet Shall Go Out With Joy" and the "Recessional" from "The Redemption."

Best man was Stuart Fuller, a brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Charles Terrill of Lansing and Charlevoix and Lt. Delbert R. Terrill jr.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Terrill wore a Pontil floor-length crepe gown of caramel and bone and a corsage of white gardenias and miniature roses.

Mrs. Fuller wore a soft pink floor-length gown of peau de sole and a corsage of white gardenias and miniature roses.

The bride's parents hosted a reception at the Weatherly Inn. Following a wedding trip to California, the Fullers will make their home in San Diego.

THE PARALLEL BARS at the Middle School playground provide an ideal place to relax in warm spring sunshine during recess.

Businessman-of-the-Week

Pipe Organ Co. Gave Don Seelye His Start

(This is the first in a series of articles on Charlevoix businessmen — who they are, what they sell and why they make Charlevoix a good place to shop.)

Donald Seelye, 32, is in his fifth year as a Charlevoix businessman. He is proprietor of Seelye Equipment Specialists, located in a newly remodeled building on U.S. 31 south, across the highway from the Charlevoix Airport.

Seelye specializes in small engine repair and carries a wide variety of tractors, lawnmowers, and power tools, along with "dune buggies" and camper trailers.

Seelye carries Homelite chain saws and pumps, G.E. lawnmowers, and other items.

Needless to say, Seelye also carries all of the products he sells and others besides.

A native of Monroe, Mich., Seelye was graduated from Monroe High School in 1958 and moved to Boyne City shortly after.

He worked as a builder, installer and repairman of pipe organs for the Kilgen Organ Co. of Boyne City until the firm shut down in the early 1960's.

After a stint as draftsman for Courier Products at Boyne City, he moved to Charlevoix where he was manager of Hal Forbrier's Stover Creek Marina (now the Irish Boat Shop) for two and one-half years.

Five years ago, Seelye went into business for himself, operating out of a small building behind his home at 913 State St. Three years ago he moved to his present location on U.S. 31 south.

Living and working close to the airport has not been wasted on Seelye. He studied flying under Joe McPhillips and Ray Wood and now has his pilot's license and a Lake Amphibian plane which he owns jointly with Chuck Scherping.

He was married in 1961 to the former Carol Miller. They have three children, David, 5; Debra, 6; and Eric, 3.

WORK IS progressing on schedule on the gigantic hydro-electric project at Ludington, sponsored jointly by Consumers Power Co. and Detroit Edison Co. Water will be pumped into a huge man-made lake during periods of low electric demand. During periods of peak demand, water from the lake will be released, turning power-generating turbines on the lake shore. The project is scheduled for completion in 1973.

VARSITY SINGERS from the Michigan Technological University at Houghton will appear at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium Friday, May 19, will all proceeds going to the Charlevoix Association for the Retarded Children. There will be a nominal charge per person. The singe's will perform under the direction of John M. Clark, MTU music director.

TC Attorney Files For Circuit Judge

William R. Brown today announced that he is a candidate for Circuit Court Judge in the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit, composed of Leelanau, Grand Traverse, Antrim and Charlevoix Counties.

He, his wife Bea, and their four children reside at 411 North Elmwood in Traverse City.

He has practiced law for 19 years. In announcing his candidacy, Brown said: "Our circuit court will be faced with many problems resulting from the population growth we are experiencing. The court is responsible to the people of the circuit to grow with the needs, to avoid some of the troubles common to large metropolitan areas."

"My wife and I are natives of northern Michigan and we are convinced that this is the right environment to raise a family. As parents, we appreciate the need for a stable and reliable system of courts and laws that can protect our rights and yet be able to progress as society changes."

"Many of my acquaintances have urged me to become a candidate for circuit judge. I am honored that they consider me qualified for this important position. I consider this to be a great challenge and a real opportunity for public service."

Brown was born in Sault Ste. Marie in 1929. His parents were in the grocery business, and he grew up in Sault Ste. Marie and Charlevoix. He received his B.A. from the University of Michigan, and graduated from the U. of M. Law School—J.D. degree with distinction. Brown served two years in the U.S. Air Force as a contracting officer stationed in Detroit, immediately prior to moving to Traverse City in 1955.

Brown has an extensive record of community service. He currently serves as board member and vice president of the Michigan Children's Aid and Family Services; board member and lay leader of the Asbury United Methodist Church; board member and past president of Traverse City Lions Club; former board member of the Community Chest, former director of the Grand Traverse County Board of Laid-off; past president of Willow Hill P.T.A. and currently working with Cub Scouts. He has served on the Chamber of Commerce, was named "Boss" of the Year, 1971, by the Legal Secretaries Association and serves as a member of the Traverse City Civil Service Commission and as a director of the Traverse City State Bank. He currently serves as Arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association.

WILLIAM R. BROWN

In 1951 he married Beatrice Chadwick of Sault Ste. Marie. Their children are: Jill, 18, a student at Northwestern Michigan College; Mike, 17, a junior at Traverse City Sr. High School; Beth, 13, a 7th grader at the Traverse City Jr. High School and 11-year old Bob, a 5th grader at Willow Hill School.

Claims McGovern Can End Threat to Country

To the Editor:

Our government is showing all the symptoms of the sickness which has been exposed in the press of every country but the United States. The only item on which Hanoi has refused to compromise is on the retention of Thieu, whom no one seriously defends against charges that he is corrupt and unwelcome, even in South Vietnam.

President Nixon has used the Prisoners of War problem to cover up the administration's failure to end the war. It is a phony issue. Everyone knows that the POWs will not be released until there has been some kind of agreement to end the war.

The real task we have now is to clear out of Washington these people who constitute a real threat to our democratic way of life. The question is who is the candidate who is most able to do this? I think it is George McGovern.

The consistency of his stand on the issues is unmatched by any other candidate. His position on the war, on the power of the Pentagon, on the urgency of the problems of poverty, education, health, the decay of the cities, is well known and goes back a long way.

Don't let anyone tell you it can't be done.

Why Defend Communists Who Killed GI's in War?

To the Editor:

Why the audacity of President Nixon for bombing and mining Haiphong and bombing the rest of North Vietnam? He should know by now that the Communists don't like being attacked. They like to invade a country without any opposition. The President's action should have been taken by another president in the beginning of the war. Here's a few "why" questions for writer who signs himself Northern Michigan Peace Watch.

1. Why have we been fighting a war of patty cake with an enemy that seeks to enslave 17 million people under communism?

2. Why must we insist that a Communist government be established in South Vietnam, when there is not even a word for Communist in the Vietnamese language?

3. Why must we cast our lot with Communist leaders who are so cowardly that they seek domination over a man's mind, body, and soul?

4. Why do you attack the President when he is North Vietnam's invasion of the South that brought retaliation against the North?

5. Why, after we have lost 55,000 men killed and 130,000 wounded and maimed, do you persist in defending the

Viewpoint! Tells Why Beauty is Important

By BOB CLOCK

Do you want to go to college and let everybody else pick up the tab? You can do it thanks to federal Food Stamps.

Or do you want a nice, long summer holiday, free from the obligation of punching a time clock or putting in an eight-hour day? You can do it, even if you camp out, thanks again to the largesse of the U.S. government and its liberal Food Stamp program.

As you know, Charlevoix County residents become eligible to purchase Food Stamps May 3. At first glance the Food Stamp program seemed a sensible, logical means of allowing low-income, or no-income, families to maintain an adequate diet while the breadwinner either looks for work or casts about for a better job.

But now it appears that the Food Stamp program is a boon to anyone who wants a free ride for a few years.

The other day I heard about a young couple, the children of a substantial, well-heeled northern Michigan parents, who intend to marry this summer and continue their education in the fall at one of Michigan's largest downstate universities.

"How in the world can you do it?" I asked the father of one of them, remembering how difficult it was for my family to put me through school. Money is no longer a problem, I was told. This particular young man intends to borrow their tuition money from the federal government, interest free, and subsidize for as many years as it takes them to get their degrees on Food Stamps.

I could scarcely believe that my government would use my tax dollars to put free-loaders through college, particularly when I have four youngsters to educate myself at my own expense, so I checked with Richard Tilden, director of Charlevoix County's Social Welfare Department.

Tilden said that this, indeed, is the case. Charlevoix County has four or five such cases, all ADC mothers who want to continue their education. One of them even gave up a good-paying job to go back to school.

Around the major universities, however, Food Stamps have become a

You seem to be backing George McGovern for President. I would like to know how he would deal with the Communist aggression around the world. Would he agree to the surrender of country after country to the communists with the self righteous proclamation that the leaders of these countries were no good anyway so they would be better off under communism? Where does he stand on marijuana, abortion, and amnesty as Humphrey backers in California are asking him?

Thank You,
Robert L. Olson

Clockwise

Food Stamps

way of life for many students, Tilden said.

Furthermore, Tilden introduced me to a pamphlet called "The New Food Stamp Bill of Rights," published by the Food Research and Action Center (123 West 118th St., New York, N.Y. 10027) which spells out in detail how recipients of Food Stamps can maintain and prolong their eligibility for stamps almost indefinitely.

The pamphlet, incidentally, is being used by the Northeast Community Action Office in Boyne City as a guide in the counseling of Food Stamp recipients in the area. If their parents continue to declare them as a federal income tax exemption.

Now, how can you camp out all summer and still continue to receive Food Stamps?

If you meet income and asset eligibility requirements, simply state on a campsite and build a campfire. The government says that families are entitled to Food Stamps only if the household has "separate living quarters and cooking facilities."

Therefore, the beach bum is equally eligible for Food Stamps as the little old lady on a Civil War pension.

One of the most galling sections of the Food Stamp "Bill of Rights" is the section dealing with job refusals. Here is what it says:

"If the Welfare Department is threatening to cut you off Food Stamps because you refused a job, immediately request a hearing. This will stop the Welfare Department from cutting you off Food Stamps. The Welfare Department cannot cut you off Food Stamps if you request your hearing within 15 days from the date you are told you must take the job. If you win the fair hearing you will not have to accept that job. If you lose, the process may have taken long enough so that the job will no longer be open. Then they will have to come up with another suitable job before they can threaten to cut you off Food Stamps again. You can then go through the whole fair hearing process again. In this way you may be able to keep getting Food Stamps while refusing jobs you do not like or find unsuitable, but that you will be willing to take if you lose the fair hearing. Otherwise, this tactic will not work and you will be cut off stamps if you lose. Since your family can be cut from Food Stamps only if you refuse to take a suitable job, you would be indicating to the Welfare Department that you are willing to take the job if the job is suitable, but you want a hearing to determine whether the job is in fact suitable."

And, remember, this garbage is being used to counsel recipients of Food Stamps in Charlevoix County via the Northeast Michigan Community Action Program.

I object.

I feel that even the name of the pamphlet is a misnomer. Food Stamps should in no way be considered a right or associated in any way with the "Bill of Rights." Food Stamps are simply an emergency measure to assure underprivileged Americans a living diet while they are seeking to better themselves and nothing more.

Furthermore, what has become of old-fashioned "pride," for want of a better word? In years past, persons accepted public assistance only as a last resort, only when there was no place else to turn. And many families which did accept public aid made efforts to pay back what they had received after their particular emergency had passed.

I am confident that the drafters of the Food Stamp program never intended it as a means of putting free-loaders through college or financing summer holidays for neer-do-wells. At this point, it appears that they had better change the ground rules before the whole blame country is on the dole.

If It Fitz

By JIM FITZGERALD

It is good to see another spring has arrived and will apparently stay even if I don't get down on my knees and kiss its dew.

Most writers say lyrical when first they spy the crocus. I don't know what a crocus is.

A good example is this spring salute written by syndicated columnist James Kilpatrick:

"The animals awake. Suddenly there are chipmunks moving in the old stone fences. High in a bare-limbed oak, a squirrel's chattering. We inspect the newly-boxed plots where our vegetables will go. Monstrous! A groundhog has had the impudence to start his hole squarely beneath the zucchini bed!"

Zucchini? Somebody's going to put out a contract on that dumb chipmunk. I mean, I like spring fine. But different strokes for different folks. I don't see spring in the heart of a dogwood bud. I see spring in the bill from the gas company. But who is going to write a poem about the beauty of owing $15.32 as compared to $42.36?

Kilpatrick is about "a sergeant-major of a blackbird with crimson chevrons on his sleeve." Beautiful.

I know it's spring when 2 dirty sparrows return to nest in my carport and decorate the hood of my car in a white motif.

It is spring when my wife spends long hours at the window, giving me a play-by-play description of all the marvelous things our neighbor is doing in his lawn.

It is spring when I hold the annual memorial service for our neighborhood handyman who died 10 years ago. He could put up our screen porch in 30 minutes for $2. It takes me a full day and costs me my sweet disposition which doesn't return until December just in time to be scared away again by Christmas lights.

It is spring when I pull the cord on the lawn mower 1,543 times and nothing happens except my vocabulary somehow expands to meet the occasion. Then I stomp into the house and see this TV huckster who is cutting the lawn in his Sunday suit. He pulls the lawn mower cord with his pinkie and the marvelous thing starts the first time, every time. He's even got a scoreboard upon which to record his incredible feats.

"That's my trouble. I can't start that lousy mower because I don't have a scoreboard," I told my wife. "I will make a scoreboard and nail it to the side of the shed."

"You'll probably need a second scoreboard to keep score on how many times you hit and miss the nail while putting up the first scoreboard," she said.

It is spring when my wife sings that old familiar song that goes like this: "If you won't take any pride in how the yard looks we should sell the house and move into an apartment, tra la la." And I sing right back: "But where would I put my pool table, zippy do de?"

Then she is liable to tell me where to put my pool table. And I threaten to hire Zucchini to put a horse's head in her bed. And she says she is already sleeping with the other half.

How can you expect me to write a spring poem about that? My only rhyme for daffodil is gotakill.

Onward and Upward.

Even Lobsters Enjoy Feasting on Lobsters

One reason lobster is so expensive is that even lobsters appreciate the taste of fresh lobster.

The crustaceans' penchant for cannibalism hinders efforts to raise them commercially at a time when dwindling lobster catches are causing prices to soar.

Some seafood restaurants have begun removing lobster dishes from their menus rather than pay $12 or more a pound for the meat.

It's a far cry from earlier days, when American colonists found lobsters so abundant they plowed them under to fertilize wheat and corn fields, the National Geographic Society says.

PAUPERED DINING Lobsters then were considered a poor man's dish, since anyone could wade into shallow water and pluck them from hiding places under rocks and seaweed. Indians resorted to lobster cookouts when game proved elusive.

The first recorded European encounter with the northern lobster, Homarus americanus, occurred when Captain George Weymouth explored Maine's coastline in 1605.

In a journal of the voyage, ne expedition member reported: "And towards night we drew with a small net of twenty fathoms very high the shore; we got about thirty very good and great lobsters... which I omit not to report, because it sheweth how great a profit the fishing would be."

EASY PREY Two centuries later, fishermen were filling rowboats just by hooking lobsters from the sea floor with long-handled puffs. Sold for a penny apiece, many were used as bait to catch New England cod.

Massachusetts decreed in 1812 that only residents could land lobsters, unless given permission. By 1840 every law enacted setting minimum sizes for lobsters that could be taken. Lobsters five feet long had been found in New York Bay in colonial times, and giants weighing more than 40 pounds have been caught in this century. Their claws could snap off a man's arm.

SIZE DECREASING Though 10-pound lobsters once were common, by the 1870's catches were averaging 2½ to 3 pounds — and most lobsters landed today are less than half that size.

As lobsters become scarce, lobstermen are forced to go farther offshore. Lobster catches are causing prices to soar.

Few lobsters reach such an advanced size and age. While a female may lay up to 124,000 eggs a year, at least 99 percent of the larvae swiftly become food for fishes and for each other.

Armored and equipped with oversized claws for crushing and cutting, a five- or seven-year-old lobster can defeat most of its foes. But periodically it sheds its shell as it grows, and if caught before a new one forms it is an easy meal for any passing fish — or lobster.

"Kept long enough together, a group of 100 lobsters would eventually become one large lobster," observes Dr. Clarence P. Idyll, a marine biologist. Scientists continue to seek a safe, economical way to raise the combative crustaceans in large quantities.

"Money can't buy happiness—unless you spend it on somebody else."

State Sticks

Charlevoix County is worth more than the Board of County Commissioners says it is, according to Mrs. Joan Blanchard, equalization director.

Mrs. Blanchard said the State Tax Commission on May 8 tentatively pegged the county's State Equalized Valuation (SEV) at $145,800,000.

At its April meeting, the county commissioners agreed to equalize the county at $134,074,075—still a hefty jump from last year's $99 million SEV.

A State Tax Commission team surveyed the county last year and came up with the $145 million figure.

Film Strip To Be Shown On Viet War

A film strip, "Anticipation in Vietnam," will be shown at the Community Room of the City Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 17, followed by a discussion of the war.

The film strip, which depicts how American automated weapons have taken over the ground fighting, is sponsored by the Northern Michigan Peace Watch. Refreshments will be served.

Lester Essenberg Claims Bride in Atwood Rites

Cheryl Lynn McDowell became the bride of Lester Essenberg at the Atwood Reformed Church May 13. The Rev. Larry Brisset officiated at the double-ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Logan McDowell of Central Lake. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Essenberg of Atwood.

The couple repeated their vows before an altar decorated with candelabra and a vase arrangement of white daisies and pink majestic daisies.

Organist Mrs. Hans DeYoung accompanied soloist Marvin Shooks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire style floor length gown of white organza-over-taffeta trimmed with Venice lace. The gown featured a high neckline, bishop sleeves and a detachable chapel train. Her bouquet of white daisies and pink majestic daisies was carried by a Juliette bouquet.

Mrs. Victor Bloom of Central Lake, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Wilson, another sister of the bride, and Miss Peggie Tessmer of Central Lake.

They wore floor-length Empire style gowns of pink chiffon-over-taffeta, trimmed with contrasting Venice lace. Like the bride's gown, they had high necklines and bishop sleeves. They wore bows and streamers in their hair and carried cascade bouquets of pink and white daisies with pink streamers.

Tammie Baker of Otseville, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl and Scott Kelly of Charlevoix, a cousin of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer.

Mark Essenberg was his brother's best man and brother Steven and Scott Essenberg were groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McDowell wore a lavender and white tailored dress and white accessories, with a lavender carnation corsage.

Mrs. Essenberg chose an aqua sheath dress with white accessories and a rose colored carnation corsage.

Honored guests at the wedding were Mrs. Doyle Morse of Central Lake, the bride's grandmother; Mrs. Jennie Essenberg of Elk Rapids, the bridegroom's grandmother; and Mrs. Nick DeYoung of Charlevoix, a great aunt of the bridegroom. They all wore white carnation corsages.

Serving as ushers and candle lighters were Paul Burt, Doctor of Grand Rapids, and Gary Drenth of Ellsworth. Following the ceremony, the bride and groom were married by the Rev. Larry Brisset.

After a wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., the Essenbergs will make their home in Central Lake.

A rehearsal dinner for the wedding party was held at the Village Chateau in Bellaire Friday evening.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from California, Birmingham, Clawson, Howell, Pontiac, Grand Rapids, Otseville, Lansing, Marquette, Elk Rapids, Charlevoix and other area communities. (Smith Photo)

Vickie Lou Woods Wed At Congregational Church

Vickie Lou Woods became the bride of Robert Sandow in ceremonies May 20 at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. Gordon Mitchinson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Woods of Charlevoix. The bridegroom is the son of Albert Sandow of Frankfort and the late Mrs. Sandow.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with white gladiol and yellow painted Shasta daisies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire styled gown of crepe with an overskirt of Bertronic chiffon. The bodice was of Emil Katz lace.

Mrs. Charles Bellinger was organist and soloist were Vicent Chew and Mrs. Wayne Woods, the bride's mother.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Charles Mott, a sister of the bride, from Bradenton, Fla. She wore an orange and white checked gingham gown, topped with a white eyelet embroidered pinafore.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jacqueline Warner of Charlevoix and Miss Mary Cadeux, a classmate of the bride's from Traverse City. They wore yellow and white check gingham gowns, topped with white pinafores.

Flower girl was Miss Michelle Lynn Mott, a niece of the bride's from Bradenton, Fla., who wore a similar costume.

Best man was Kerry Kjerfjord of Frankfort, a cousin of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Dan Tupper of Lowry AFB, Denver, and Robert Van Lieshout, stationed at Traverse City with the Coast Guard.

Randy Woods, a brother of the bride, and Scott Kittleson of Frankfort were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Woods wore a coral spring pullover knit coat.

Zoning Also Regulates Signs, Parking, Permits

By Bill Mercer

County Planning Director Zone districts included in the proposed Zoning Ordinance comprise one portion of that ordinance. The remaining sections cover sign regulations, parking and loading space requirements, special use permits, general provisions, and administrative considerations.

The section on administration and enforcement calls for the County Board of Commissioners to "employ a Zoning Administrator to act as its officer...to administer and enforce" the ordinance. This includes receiving and processing zoning permits, certificates of occupancy, and Board of Appeals and Zoning Commission matters.

It also includes inspection of premises to insure compliance with the ordinance.

Application for a zoning permit is a simple procedure. The application must be filed in writing with the Zoning Administrator. It must be accompanied by two copies of a plot plan (a scale drawing or a rough sketch) and any other necessary certificates of approval (septic tank permit, water well permit, etc.).

A zoning permit will be issued prior to "excavation for any building or structure" or before commencement of any "erection, addition, alteration or repair of any building, structure or parking area." To obtain this permit, the use must comply with the zoning ordinance or must be granted through the Board of Appeals.

Certificates of occupancy are issued following an on-site inspection of the finished unit to insure full compliance with the zoning ordinance. Compliance with this requirement is assured if the unit is constructed to meet the minimum requirements of the zoning ordinance.

Special use permits are issued following a determination by the Zoning Commission that the use makes provisions to "ensure the protection of the public health, safety and general welfare. A special use hearing can be called by the application to the Zoning Administrator for a specific use.

The issuance of sign permits also falls under the jurisdiction of the Zoning Administrator. The purpose for this section of the ordinance is to regulate the placement of signs within the county, and to avoid problems such as sign "pollution," visibility interference and situations related to lighted signs.

Variances requests and zoning amendments also are initiated through the Zoning Administrator. These two situations represent the major means by which local people can modify the ordinance. It is this aspect of the proposed zoning program which truly makes it a program for the people and by the people.

Even when a zoning ordinance is made effective, it is not inflexible, rigid law. It can, and will, be amended and altered to meet the ever changing land use situation within the county. The Charlevoix County Zoning Program was prepared by and for local people, to control and regulate local situations. This type of "grassroots" legislation is, by far, the best method of insuring that the county develops in a sane and logical manner, and that today's problems do not get out of hand and tomorrow's potential problems are avoided.

County Planning Director Zone districts included in the proposed Zoning Ordinance comprise one portion of that ordinance. The remaining sections cover sign regulations, parking and loading space requirements, special use permits, general provisions, and administrative considerations.

The section on administration and enforcement calls for the County Board of Commissioners to "employ a Zoning Administrator to act as its officer...to administer and enforce" the ordinance. This includes receiving and processing zoning permits, certificates of occupancy, and Board of Appeals and Zoning Commission matters.

It also includes inspection of premises to insure compliance with the ordinance.

Application for a zoning permit is a simple procedure. The application must be filed in writing with the Zoning Administrator. It must be accompanied by two copies of a plot plan (a scale drawing or a rough sketch) and any other necessary certificates of approval (septic tank permit, water well permit, etc.).

A zoning permit will be issued prior to "excavation for any building or structure" or before commencement of any "erection, addition, alteration or repair of any building, structure or parking area." To obtain this permit, the use must comply with the zoning ordinance or must be granted through the Board of Appeals.

Certificates of occupancy are issued following an on-site inspection of the finished unit to insure full compliance with the zoning ordinance. Compliance with this requirement is assured if the unit is constructed to meet the minimum requirements of the zoning ordinance.

Special use permits are issued following a determination by the Zoning Commission that the use makes provisions to "ensure the protection of the public health, safety and general welfare. A special use hearing can be called by the application to the Zoning Administrator for a specific use.

The issuance of sign permits also falls under the jurisdiction of the Zoning Administrator. The purpose for this section of the ordinance is to regulate the placement of signs within the county, and to avoid problems such as sign "pollution," visibility interference and situations related to lighted signs.

Variances requests and zoning amendments also are initiated through the Zoning Administrator. These two situations represent the major means by which local people can modify the ordinance. It is this aspect of the proposed zoning program which truly makes it a program for the people and by the people.

Even when a zoning ordinance is made effective, it is not inflexible, rigid law. It can, and will, be amended and altered to meet the ever changing land use situation within the county. The Charlevoix County Zoning Program was prepared by and for local people, to control and regulate local situations. This type of "grassroots" legislation is, by far, the best method of insuring that the county develops in a sane and logical manner, and that today's problems do not get out of hand and tomorrow's potential problems are avoided.

Health Council Planned for Area

The North Central Michigan Comprehensive Health Planning Council is being organized to provide health services for residents of 18 counties in northern lower Michigan.
The council, funded by HEW, will co-ordinate the activities of participating doctors, nurses, hospital administrators, and pharmacists. It will strive to improve area health care while keeping health costs down, and to make more efficient use of existing medical facilities.
Local people will compose the council and its committees. These people are to insure the area's true needs are met, not those determined by a bureaucracy in Washington.
Persons from the Charlevoix area interested in the council may contact Dr. Ian Wilson, Little Traverse Hospital, in Petoskey. Nominations for council positions will be screened by a committee to develop the agency in accordance with federal guidelines. Nominations must be received by June 1. The council's first meeting will be on June 15, 7:30 p.m., at the Gaylord High School gym.

District Court

The following cases were heard in District Court in Charlevoix last week by Judge W. Richard Smith:

Abernathy Graham, 50, Charlevoix, changed his plea to guilty on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was assessed $125 and his driver's license was suspended for 90 days.

Richard Napont, 29, Boyne City, was assessed $50 and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Patrick J. Murray, 19, East Jordan, was assessed $50 and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He also was placed on one year's probation.

Houston L. VanHooser, 25, Charlevoix, was assessed $50 and ordered to pay $80 restitution on a charge of malicious destruction of property. He also was placed on one year's probation.

Thomas Robert Kulawski, 30, Boyne City, was assessed $25 and placed on one year's probation on a charge of being a disorderly person.

Stephen G. Hawkins, 18, Boyne City, changed his plea to guilty on two charges of breaking and entering (unintentional). Case was continued to a later date.

David B. Lamb, 23, Charlevoix, was bound over to the June term of Circuit Court on a charge of felonious assault. A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was dismissed at the request of the prosecuting attorney.

Merritt Ray Clark, 28, Charlevoix, was found guilty of impaired driving by a jury and assessed $100. He was charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor, but was found guilty of the lesser. Members of the jury were Irma DeWitt, Donna Artgesinger, Dorothy Ward, David Cherne, John Rosche and Helen Dawson. Clark was defended by Art Reibel.

County Democrats Lay Plans for Convention

Charlevoix County Democrats will meet at the County Building in Charlevoix at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 2, for their convention. Clement J. Wagner, county chairman, announced at the May meeting of the organization held Wednesday at the R.E.A. building in Boyne City.

May Best Month to List Home

"Existing homes can be expected to sell readily in the immediate months ahead," Realtor J. Hilliard Schofield, president of the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors, said in commenting on information discussed during the May directors meeting of the National Association of Real Estate Boards (NAREB).

More than 1,500 Realtors from across the nation attended the annual gathering in Chicago from May 3-9.

June, July and August rank above all other months in volume of transactions, according to Realtor Schofield. "May, in consequence, is an excellent month to list a home on the market."

"In addition, mortgage credit is expected to be readily available, with a variety of terms to match borrower needs. There is some possibility that mortgage interest rates may move up in the fall," he continued.

made aware of the injunction and did not return the names to the lists.

Robert Mitchell, former deputy chairman of the Michigan Democratic Party and now a resident of Charlevoix County, suggested that all township and city clerks be made aware of the injunction before the August primary. He also suggested that pressure be brought on clerks to deputize clerks, as needed, to facilitate registration of voters for an election. He said one person can be deputized by several clerks to accept registrations for a group of townships. The deputy need not be a resident of the place he is serving as deputy but must be a qualified elector. He added that seven of 10 unregistered voters in Michigan are Democrats so Democrats have a special interest in promoting registration drives.

Robert Wasoski reported on the Voter Information Committee and said that by working with Republicans the party can obtain funds from the county for printing and mailing voter information on all issues that will appear on the ballot. This information will be mailed to all registered voters in the county. Wasoski, Heath and Mrs. William Dietrich were named to a committee to look into this bipartisan effort.

Tony Dwert of Charlevoix outlined the re-districted area of which the western section of Charlevoix county will be a part. The city of Boyne City and Evargline, Melrose, Chandler, Hudson and Boyne Valley township will become a part of the new 10th district.

The cities of East Jordan and Charlevoix and the remaining townships will be in the new 10th district which also includes Antrim, Kalkaska, Crawford, Missaukee, the major portions of Benoni, Oshtemo and Clare counties.

Diocese Hires Community Service Chief

The Most Reverend Edmund C. Szoka, Bishop of Gaylord, today announced that Richard L. Beachnau has been engaged for the position of Diocesan Director for the Community Services Department of the Diocese of Gaylord.

He has been hired with the advice and consent of the Diocesan Vicars, the Board of Traverse City Catholic Social Services and the Board of Alpena Catholic Social Service.

Charlevoix is a part of the Gaylord Diocese.

Beachnau has B.A. and M.S.W. degrees in social work and has done extensive graduate work in related fields. In the past, he has been employed as a caseworker in Lansing and East Ann Arbor.

Executive Director of the Catholic Family Service Office in Alpena. He also served as Diocesan Coordinator of Agency Services for the Diocese of Saginaw. For the past three years, Beachnau has been employed by the Michigan Catholic Conference in Lansing as Assistant Director of the Conference for Community Affairs and Social Services.

Besides Social Service work and Community Affairs, Beachnau's experience also extends to Office of Economic Opportunity, Big Brothers, Alcoholism, Drug Abuse, Family Life Education, Minority Problems and Welfare.

As Diocesan Director of the Gaylord Community Services

Department, Beachnau will supervise and coordinate the work of the two Catholic Social Service Offices in Traverse City and Alpena, as well as the branch offices in Potoskey, Cheboygan, Manistee and Oscoda. He will also help development programs to assist the poor and minority groups.

Bishop Szoka stated: "We also look forward to the development of volunteer programs for the retired and elderly. In a word, we are looking to a Department which will help our Diocese work for the good of the people in our midst in all their needs. Our department is small and the development of programs takes time. With Mr. Beachnau, however, we can expect to be of greater help to our people over the years in their human needs as well as their spiritual needs." Beachnau's office will be in the Chancery Building in Gaylord. He begins officially on June 1. He, his wife and seven children will reside in Gaylord.

Phone Books Are Due on June 1

"Please look in the book first" says Michigan Bell as it begins delivery of its 1972 telephone directories Thursday June 1.

Kenneth T. Harrold, local Michigan Bell manager, said the new directories will be delivered in Potoskey, Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Pellston and Walloon.

"Every customer will receive one or more copies of this new directory," Harrold said. "It contains all the new numbers and any changes in listings up to April 7. Therefore, we urge telephone users to use the new directory for looking up numbers instead of dialing our 'New Number Information' operators."

That service, he said, is for those customers who wish to reach a telephone installed since April 7 which has a new number. In addition, he said, the service is also for those located where no directory is available, where one simply can't find a certain listing in the book and/or for the physically handicapped.

If anyone wants an extra directory for a telephone location in his home or business which doesn't have one now, that customer may call Michigan Bell's business office and an extra copy will be sent to him.

Harrold said the company ordered 27,500 directories for customers in this area. "That's enough to last us for the entire year—for new customers and for our present ones who might lose or misplace theirs."

Spring Festival of Music Is Underway This Week

Charlevoix Public Schools is presenting a series of three programs in its annual Spring Festival of Music this week.

On Tuesday, May 23, the Middle School Bands and the Charlevoix City Band, all directed by Gary Stutzman, are scheduled. On Wednesday, May 24, the High School Concert and Symphony Bands, directed by C.A. Oelmark, will play. And on Thursday, May 25, the Fifth Grade operetta will be presented, directed by Miss Evelyn Peters.

The first two programs will be complimentary concerts at the High School gymnasium, beginning at 8 p.m. The Thursday night operetta will be presented at the Middle School Gym and will begin at 7:30 p.m. An admission is being charged for this presentation, with tickets available at the door or from any fifth grader.

The Tuesday concert will mark the first formal appearance of the newly organized Seventh Grade band, composed of over 70 young musicians who began their musical studies last summer. They will play several concert selections plus material from their instruction books.

The Eighth Grade band will present a series of concert numbers, many of which have been performed in the past by high school groups.

The City Band, composed of volunteer area adults and advanced High School students will close the program with interesting band literature. This is a prelude to the coming series of concerts in the park, presented by the City Band each summer.

The Wednesday Concert will present the Ninth Grade Concert Band doing a short program featuring some numbers not heard in Charlevoix before—"Chant and Jubilo", "McBeth", and "La Banda di Crentore" by Cna. The Symphony Band will include old favorites in its portion of the program, including "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral", "The Sound of Music," and "Man of La Mancha," concluding with "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The Thursday night operetta is the first of what is hoped to be an annual event. The operetta "The White Gypsy" has been prepared by a cast of more than 70 Fifth Graders, who have done most of the preparation before and after school.

Lead parts in the operetta will be taken by Brando Boss, Greg Leyman, Andrea Brown, Debbie Tollas, Mark Lignell, Sheri Mol, Mike Bourke, Mike Cohrs and Craig Boss.

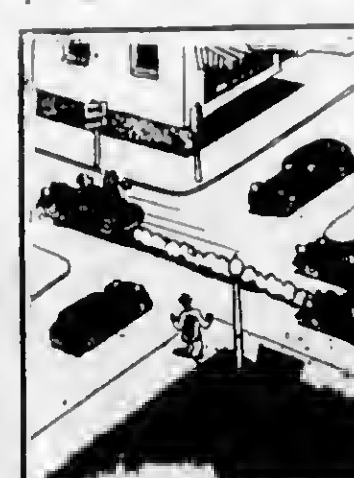

Two matinees open to the public will also be given on Wednesday and Thursday, May 24 and 25, beginning at 1 p.m.

Mackinaw Readies Pageant

Honorary grand marshals for the 10th annual Fort Michilimackinac Pageant on Saturday, May 27, will be Automobile Club of Michigan's "Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Travel," the Carl Krieger family of Flint. The Kriegers, who have five children, will lead the 40-mile parade through Mackinaw City to the pageant site, where a cast of 200 residents portraying Indians, French and British soldiers, trappers, trappers and settlers will stage a free-hour long spectacle.

The parade begins at 2 p.m. with the pageant scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. at Fort Michilimackinac. Approximately 7,000 persons are expected to view the parade and the historical pageant which follows.

"Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Travel" are attending the pageant as part of their state tour, which will promote Michigan Vacation opportunities and stress the importance of travel safety. The Fort Michilimackinac Pageant, which runs May 27-29, is the first of five scheduled attractions the Kriegers will visit. The others include: Muzzle Loaders Festival, June 17-18, at Dearborn's Greenfield Village; National Cherry Festival, July 10-15, Traverse City; Grayling Area Centennial, Aug. 6-13; Michigan State Fair, Aug. 25 to Sept. 10, Detroit, State Fairgrounds.

"We are looking forward to attending the Mackinaw City pageant since it is annually one of Michigan's best and most popular attractions," state the Kriegers, who are avid Michigan travelers and campers.

The Kriegers remind motorists that holiday travel is a safe activity for the entire family since most fatal accidents happen to motorists within 25 miles of home who are not on holiday, occur on

Straits Parade, Pageant Set for Saturday

The Krieger's five children are: Karla, 14; Jennifer, 11; Kurt, 9; twins Kristie and Karen, 8. The family lives at 402 West Court Street, Flint. Mr. and Mrs. Krieger were selected as "Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Travel" through Auto Club's state-wide contest last summer.

The colorful historical pageant, which will be held each of the three days of the holiday event, shows the French occupation of the fort beginning in 1715, and its takeover by the British in 1760. The climax of the free, hour-long spectacle is the famous bagatway (lacrosse) game used in 1763 as a ruse by the Indians to enter the fort and overcome the British garrison.

Also included during the parade are a mule loader rifle competition and participation by the Boy Scouts of America dance groups.

Fort Michilimackinac was opened for the 1972 season on May 13. Also opening on that date were the Indian Dormitory and the Benjamin Blacksmith Shop on Mackinac Island plus the new Mackinac Maritime Park at Mackinaw City.

"Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Travel" are attending the pageant through the courtesy of Auto Club's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" program, plus these local organizations and businesses: The Fort Michilimackinac Pageant Committee, Sands Motel, Teyson's and the Pancake Chef. The Buick Division of General Motors is furnishing transportation for the family.

Memorial Day Traffic To Increase Five Pct.

Auto Club states travel will peak between these times:

-Friday, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
-Saturday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.
-Monday, 2 p.m. to 10 p.m.
"Monday will be the biggest problem as travelers travel home," Ratke points out. "This will be especially true if the day is sunny and warm since most Michiganders will extend their stays to take advantage of the weather and then all crowd the highways at once."

At least one out of every three vehicles on the road at peak travel periods will be some type of recreational vehicle, predicts Auto Club, which suggests campers have alternate sites picked out since many state and private parks will fill over the holiday. Ratke says that most weekend travelers will confine trips to a 250-mile radius of home. However, several hundred thousand motorists will travel the maximum safe distance of 1,500 miles over the 3 1/2 days.

Approximately 300,000 cars will enter Michigan from other border cities and Canada.

"To avoid unnecessary delays, travelers should plan their trips to avoid peak traffic periods," reminds Ratke. "This is why it is so important to begin trips either before or after the rush periods."

Free coffee will be provided through the cooperation of the Michigan Jaycees and Auto Club on Monday or Friday at five rest areas around the state. These rest areas include: Westbound 156, Lake Chemung exit, to be manned Friday by Howell Jaycees; Eastbound 196, near Highland exit, manned Monday by Fowerville Jaycees; Southbound US-27, north of Alma, manned Monday by Alma Jaycees; Westbound 194, 10 miles east of Jackson, and 194 at 194 at the Michigan-Indiana line as the famous "cornfield carbock" slows cars.

Also available at the six rest areas will be Auto Club's Highway Emergency Guide, which lists the telephone numbers of all State Police and county sheriff's departments plus accident and safety information, and "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" bumper stickers.

Cherries in Bloom

The Traverse City area Chamber of Commerce reports the annual blossoming of the sweet cherry trees in northwestern lower Michigan is now underway and should reach its peak within the next few days.

This is followed by the beautiful blossoming of the area's red tart cherry trees, the largest such concentration in the world.

The Traverse City area known as "The Cherry Capital of the World" produces over 100 million pounds of red tart and sweet cherries annually - approximately a third of the world's supply.

A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce also reported that more mushroom hunters are reporting outstanding finds in the area's backwoods. The Traverse City area received over an inch of rain early in the week followed by 70 and 80 degree temperatures and cool evenings - a prerequisite for successful mushroom hunting.

Biggest jams of the holiday will occur at peak travel times

Probate Court Plays Medical Role in State

By ATTORNEY GENERAL FRANK J. KELLEY

This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.

The majority of our citizens are under the impression that the probate court is a place where the terms of a last will and testament are enforced, or where the worldly goods of a decedent are distributed to the living, or where problems relating to juveniles are resolved. We seldom, if ever, associate the probate court with the practice of medicine.

Now by enactment of the legislature, the judge of probate may permit a person 18 years of age or more who is under guardianship as a mentally incompetent or committed to a mental institution to give one of his two kidneys to a father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister for a transplantation needed, under certain prescribed hearing procedures.

The role of the probate court in the practice of medicine is constantly developing.

Ask The Governor

QUESTION: The other day I read that you were supporting some kind of a statewide building code for houses in Michigan. Why is that kind of a law needed?

ANSWER: House Bill 5252, the Uniform Construction Code, would, if adopted, be beneficial in several ways to the people of the state. Over the course of many years, we have witnessed a tremendous proliferation of differing housing codes in Michigan. This proliferation has, I believe, acted to greatly retard badly-needed construction of new houses to meet the needs of our expanding population.

Presently in Michigan, more than 1,200 subdivisions of government are responsible for establishing and enforcing very technical construction standards. It is obvious that this fragmentation leads to a wide disparity in the standards imposed. As a matter of fact, in terms of geographic area, the majority of our state is not even covered by a construction code of any type. I firmly believe that every resident of Michigan is entitled to know that the house he purchases has been constructed in accordance with some kind of recognized standards, a guarantee that is not possible under present procedures.

Finally, I believe that the adoption of one, strong construction code for all of Michigan would result in lower housing costs for consumers, since the present system discourages innovation and the introduction of new techniques that in the long run can cut costs substantially.

QUESTION: I am doing a paper for my high school English class on high school sports. Did you participate in athletics when you were in high school?

ANSWER: At Traverse City High School, I earned letters in tennis, basketball, and track, high jumping being probably my least outstanding sport. I was a member of the basketball team, and I was able to clear the bar at six feet. On the basketball court, I was known as the fastest and least accurate shooter on the team, but still possess fond memories of the day in 1940 when we won the Class B State Championship by beating St. Theresa, 26 to 23.

The Safety Valve

QUESTION: How far back from a stop sign can you make a complete stop and still be within the letter of the law?

C.L.S., Dearborn

ANSWER: The "What Every Driver Must Know" handbook, published by the Michigan Department of State, says, "At a stop sign, your car must be halted."

Behind a marked crosswalk - Behind an unmarked crosswalk - Behind a stop line."

The Michigan Vehicle Code says, "After having stopped, the driver shall yield the right of way to any vehicle which has entered the intersection from another highway or which is approaching so closely on the highway as to constitute an immediate hazard during the time when the driver would be moving across or within the intersection." A good driver will position his car in a spot affording him the best view of the road he is crossing or entering.

QUESTION: If I want to make a complaint about my auto dealer because he won't make the mechanical correction to my car that the manufacturer told me he would, where do I write? I.L.T., Minden City

ANSWER: A letter to the safety division of the home office of the manufacturing company would probably get the desired result if a franchised dealer continues to ignore your plea.

If you find other safety related defects in your car, about which you have not been informed, you should relay that information to the Office of Defects Investigation, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

QUESTION: I just finished driver education and went down and got my permit which lets me drive while there's a licensed adult driver with me for 30 to 150 days. I'm a good student, yet dad says I can't have my own car. He says I'm not ready. What can I do?

ANSWER: I don't know. I'm a good student, yet dad says I'm not ready. What can I do?

Clockwise The Wallace Vote

more than twice as many as his runner-up, George C. McGovern, who tallied 766.

And even McGovern's total was more than double that of the old Democratic horseman Hubert H. Humphrey, who came in with a paltry 334.

But here's the real kicker: Gov. Wallace polled more votes in Charlevoix County than Republican President Richard M. Nixon, whose 977 votes were more than a third under Wallace's total.

And Charlevoix County, you'll recall, is and always has been a Republican stronghold.

Of course, several factors must be considered in assessing the Wallace vote.

How much of Wallace's support was an expression of sympathy for a man who was heartlessly gunned down the day before the election while campaigning at a Maryland shopping plaza?

How many card-carrying Republicans moved over into the Democratic column in the primary just to get in on a little of the action?

How many Republicans didn't vote last Tuesday, simply because there was no contest on the GOP ticket?

Furthermore, how many otherwise stable, clear-thinking citizens voted for Wallace as a warning to party big-wigs, knowing full well that the tough little Alabamian would never win the Democratic nomination?

We'll never know the answers to these questions, of course, but the large Wallace vote in Michigan, Maryland, Florida, Wisconsin and elsewhere is a good indication that many Americans aren't the least bit happy with the way things are going in the United States.

They are fed up with crime in the streets and the pervasive lawlessness of big cities and hamlets alike.

They object to astronomical welfare payrolls in every state in the union, including Michigan.

They are hopping mad about skyrocketing taxes.

They have lost respect for courts which molly-coddle lawbreakers at the expense of their victims.

They are chagrined at judges who can see no further than the yellow "but" but when asked to do something about educational inequality.

These are the problems that Gov. Wallace has promised to do something about, although I shudder to contemplate the Alabama governor's high-minded social goals.

None-the-less, the message of the primaries is becoming abundantly clear. Conservative Republicans and Democrats had better clean house, or sure as Wallace will move in and do it for them. It's as simple as that.

Oddly enough, Michigan voters don't seem particularly concerned about the war in Vietnam. How else can you explain the fact that Gov. McGovern came in a poor second?

If It Fit

By JIM FITZGERALD

I wonder what I would have said? Probably something deeply profound, such as: "Continue your education. It is better to matriculate in Ann Arbor than interdict in Haliphong harbor."

Marlette College seniors invited me to give their commencement address this June. With my usual graciousness, I said no thanks. I gave the usual explanation: I won't listen to speeches so I don't have the gall to give them. And besides, talking in front of more than 50 people makes my stomach hurt. I keep thinking of the many readers who tell me they use this column for training their puppies. They know how many women at commencement exercises might have puppies in their purses?

(It probably should be noted here that someone told me I was buying no speech. Alas! The last time I used it, I received an unsigned note saying: "Who are you trying to kid? You don't give speeches because you don't know how. I know because I was in your speech class in college." Geez. If there's anything I hate, it's old schoolmates with good memories. The next thing you know I'll probably be arrested for that rubber galosh I stole from Dick Devereaux in the 8th grade. I used it for shopping for goldfish from the dime store.)

I never heard a commencement speech that fit any of these. But this, can probably be blamed on the occasion as much as the speakers. These kids are sitting in college, their education from homework and quizzes. They don't want to hear a dumb speech. They know there's a dumb speech waiting out there. But they'd just as soon wait and conquer it tomorrow. For there are all sorts of good things they are itching to do, some of them legal and none of them requiring a diploma.

So I would make my speech shorter than my introduction.

I'd tell them to shun violence but to protest, protest, protest. A lot of things need changing badly. Carry a sign but never hit anyone with it. Ignore the stuffed shirts who tell you to go home and scrub a floor. They are the bigshots who think the way to attain peace is to negotiate in Paris for 10 years while the little guys bleed in Vietnam.

I'd tell them to work hard at becoming color blind. At first, it takes a conscious effort. After a while, it comes naturally. It is more than wrong to judge the worth of a man by the color of his skin, the length of his hair, the place of his shopping or the cut of his clothes. It is also stupid and wasteful and cruel.

I'd tell them to be nice to the police; they always say what everyone wants to hear. One example: It is sometimes easier to jump off a bus than it is to stay aboard and steer a sane route around a school. I'd passengers get off at a decent stop.

"I'd tell them a college education is right for some, wrong for others. I never met a plumber on a college campus. I'd tell them to be nice to the police; they always say what everyone wants to hear. One example: It is sometimes easier to jump off a bus than it is to stay aboard and steer a sane route around a school. I'd passengers get off at a decent stop.

That's what I would have said in Marlette. It would have been about 5 minutes. And my goodbye would have been: Have a good time. Onward and Upward.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

Although modern politics is like a three ring circus, it is a far cry from the campaigning of yesteryear type and exciting. The village bandstand was the contestants arena and crowds gathered from miles around with their lunch baskets, providing a colorful scene to a picnic atmosphere. The premises had to be a bit more specific and were sharply questioned by the audience.

Local politics was a year round affair for the incumbent rather than concentrated handshaking prior to the election. Tactics were a bit different too. When I read the character assassination by candidates today I think back to the probate judge in our small community. In more than 30 years of public service he was challenged only once and he conducted his campaign by setting his opponent on a pedestal.

"Folks," he began, "I know everyone of you by your first names just as I do your children. Don't misunderstand me when I say maybe I should be put out to pasture. I can still help widows get their pensions and help orphans find homes."

"This young man running against me is not my opponent; he is like an adopted son. I well remember the times he came to borrow my dog Smokey to go hunting and I threw in some shells because money was hard to come by."

"I know he is well educated because I helped him get a scholarship. He is a hard worker. That is why I always gave him an extra dollar for raking the yard. When he went fishing I always bought some from him. Come to think of it I bought him his pole and reel."

He pulled out a worn tobacco pouch and stuffed his blackened cornucopia. Pointing at the audience with the stem he continued:

"I must make a confession. All these years in office I have not been 100 percent honest and it bothers my conscience. This is what you are voting on - should a dishonest person be in office? All of you recall times when you couldn't afford the fees the law required you and you would give me apples, vegetables meat or eggs and I paid the fee. When you asked me later how they tasted I said they were fine. I wasn't really a big lie to my thinking because it must have tasted fine to the poor people I gave them to. You see they were poorer than you were. You had food and they had none. Then I told another lie. These people had a lot of pride so I told them the food came from the county, which in a way of speaking it did. If you think a lying, conniving old reprobate like me should not be in office, say so when you vote. Thank you."

He passed away in his late 70's still in office.

Musk oxen need no bears and little fodder. Though what males measure up to five feet at the shoulder and weigh an average of 800 pounds, they eat a sixth of what cattle do.

The animals can forage for themselves, and delight in the leaves and tender shoots of willows. In winter they use their broad front hooves to break through deep snow to stump grasses. When thirsty, they "drink" snow.

Intelligent and curious, the Vermont musk oxen always watched intently when Teal fastened the coral gate with a chain and unlocked padlock.

One day an ox ambled up and looked at the gate for a moment. Then he yanked the chain till the lock fell off and pushed the gate open.

"Domestic musk oxen enjoy sharing human activities," Teal writes. "One summer day at our Vermont station, my wife and children were swimming in our pond when they heard splashes and shouts. Suddenly they were surrounded by musk oxen, paddling and frisking around them like outsize dogs."

Jim's Journal It Takes All Kinds

By JIM REUS

The man looked worried. Deep wrinkles of concern were on his face. He had a dark complexion, worn to a sandpaper texture by exposure to the sun. A bushy but well-trimmed crop of black hair sprang from a head which seemed too big for his 5'8" frame.

Although middle-aged, he was wearing bell-bottom jeans and a wet style parka. The clothes, like his skin, were wrinkled and worn. His sneakers made no sound as he crossed the vacant lot of Los Angeles County Airport to talk to me.

It was 2 a.m. in the morning. I had been up for 24 hours straight, and had just arrived at gate 48 aboard American Airlines Flight 48. With a 10 inch Michigan button proudly pinned to my shirt and three bags of luggage under my arms. I had come to California to see Michigan defeat Stanford in the Rose Bowl.

We stood alone in the airport's corridor. He put his hand on my shoulder. It was difficult for him to speak.

"I realize I'm a total stranger, but I have to ask you a favor," he said. He then proceeded to tell me his wife was having a baby, that he had left his wallet at home and had no money, and that he needed $10 to take a taxi home so he could drive his wife to the hospital.

He told me he was a night watchman for the overnight parking lot across the street. But the cash box was locked up, so he couldn't take the money from there. He would, however, give me his gold wedding ring (with a diamond in it) as collateral for the $10.

I was to take the ring over to a ticket man named Ralph at gate 19. Ralph, I was assured, would give me my $10 if I gave him the ring and said it was Lenny Martin's.

Well I knew the man was in a hurry, and he sure looked concerned. So I gave him the $10 and he was out the door.

Being a frugal college student, I wasn't about to spend 25 cents on a locker for my luggage so I walked about a half mile down to where he told me gate 19 would be. I found gate 20, but there was no gate 19. I looked around the empty corridor, and finally found a night maintenance man. I gave the janitor a quick rundown of what had happened, and asked him if he knew of Ralph or where gate 19 was.

A weird, sick looking smile came over the janitor's face. "Was the man about 35, 5'8", with curly black hair and a rough sun-burned face?" he asked.

"Yes, I said as I dropped my luggage to the floor.

"Well, you don't have to worry about getting your $10 back. That guy works the airport every night. You're lucky he only got $10 from you," the janitor informed me.

Disgusted, I slammed my hand against the wall. The "diamond" in the ring on my middle finger didn't seem to be worth the trouble. The half mile walk with three heavy luggage bags and no sleep in 24 hrs. wasn't all that bad. Even the thought of spending the night in a chair at the airport for lack of the $10 for lodging didn't upset me.

What really bothered me was that I had been such a fool. A college education is nice, but I guess there are certain things you can't learn in a classroom. And that night, though $10 poorer, I became immeasurably wiser in the workings of the world.

ICE AGE RELIC
This powerful relic of the Ice Age, remarkably intelligent and adaptable, and now living in the most remote regions of the Far North, is not really an ox and has no musk glands, despite early misconceptions. Its nearest living relatives are goats and, possibly, antelopes. Musk oxen were hunted to extinction in Eurasia in prehistoric times and of near extinction in North America in recent times. Today their natural ranges is only northern Canada, which has 10,000 animals, and Greenland, with 6,000.

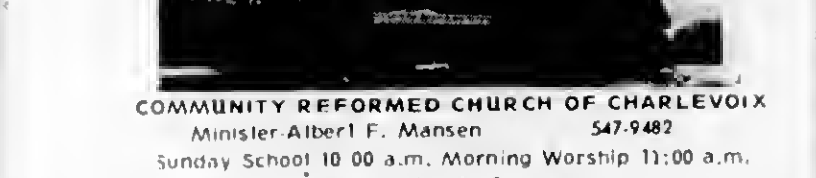

After 10 years of studying captive musk oxen in Vermont, Teal set up breeding stations in Alaska and northern Quebec. He hopes to make selectively bred musk oxen an important addition to Eskimo economy, chiefly through utilization of their silky underwool, called "qivuit."

Shed in great sheets in May or June, qivuit possesses the fine qualities of cashmere. After cleaning, one pound can be spun into a strand of yarn 10 miles long. Four ounces of the gossamer-light material is

TIN Needs Kids' Clothes

Clean, wearable children's summer clothing is needed by those in need (TIN). Children's shoes also are needed.

Donations should be dropped off at the basement of the City Hall between 1:30 and 3 p.m. Mondays.

Recipients may pick up clothing from 7 until 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays. Donations will be accepted at the same time.

TIN officers report that no adult shoes, winter clothing, blankets or draperies are needed at this time.

Recipients should have a letter of referral from the Social Welfare Department, the school nurse or their minister.

TOPS Plans A.M. Meet

Persons interested in forming a morning meeting group of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) is asked to contact Mary Towles, 547-4325, or Helen Johnson, 547-6625. An evening program is already in progress.

Members of the group are making plans to attend the Area Recognition Day in Alpena June 3.

Hearing Is May 25 On Jordan

A special public hearing on including the Jordan River in the state's wild and scenic river system will be held at the Charlevoix County Building at 1:30 p.m. Thursday under the sponsorship of the Department of Natural Resources.

A second is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the same day at the Antrim County Building at Bellaire.

DNR officials will conduct the hearing to discuss the desirability of designating the Jordan River for protection and the acceptance among the public for its preliminary management plan.

Under the proposed plan, a 200-foot-wide green belt area would be established on both sides of the river and no campgrounds, subdivisions, residential buildings or commercial structures would be allowed. ATV's, trail bikes and other off-road vehicles would be barred also.

Delegates to the hearing will be:

Bay Township: Carl Skornia and Kristine Skornia.

Charlevoix Township: Nancy Joann Gebuski.

Evangeline Township: Warren Ballard and Jans Detrich.

Hayes Township: Thomas Damman.

Marion Township: Robert J. Wasson and Dennis Spence.

Melrose Township: Jean A. Rosewig and John W. Franklin.

Pease Township: Patrick J. Premier.

Wilson Township: Earl Rhodes and Peter Johnson.

Boyer City: Martin L. Paul and R. Bruce Pierce.

Charlevoix Ward 1: Charles A. Duerr Jr., Margaret Duerr and Frances A. Martin.

Charlevoix Ward II: Robert Morgridge, Howard Horton, Ivan Whitney and Susan L. Dugan.

Garden Plaques Are Awarded

The Charlevoix Garden Club once again is presenting plaques to outstanding north and south side gardens.

First winner of the south side plaque is Delora Richardson, 103 W. Garfield, who was cited for her display of tulips, hyacinths and daffodils, accented by a Sauer Magnolia tree in blossom.

Judges were Nancy Fowler and Benona Kohler.

North side plaque went to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sheppard for their terraced garden at 303 W. Clinton St. Judges were Marge Saunders and Jeanne Michael.

Plaques will be awarded periodically throughout the summer and fall.

CHS Gals Do Well In Track and Field

Charlevoix High School's Girls' Track and Field Team has come in second in the first two meets of the season, according to Coach Marie Osterberg.

Five schools participated in the meets held May 8 in Petoskey and May 10 in Cheboygan—Petoskey, Cheboygan, Rogers City, St. Ignace and Charlevoix.

A third meet was held in Charlevoix May 15 and the conference meet will be held in Petoskey May 25.

In the Petoskey meet, Charlevoix's Elaine Carr took a first in the running long jump, covering 14 ft., 10 1/2 inches.

Second place slots were captured by Elaine Carr, 50 yard low hurdles, 8.5; Gayle Boss, 50-yard dash, 7.3; Elaine Carr, 100-yard dash, 11.2; Vicki Murray, shot put, 27 ft., 1 inch; Kim Blanchard, high jump, 4 ft., 6 inches; and the 440 relay, 58.2.

Placing third were Gayle Boss, 100-yard dash, 11.5; and Cheryl Pence, high jump (tie).

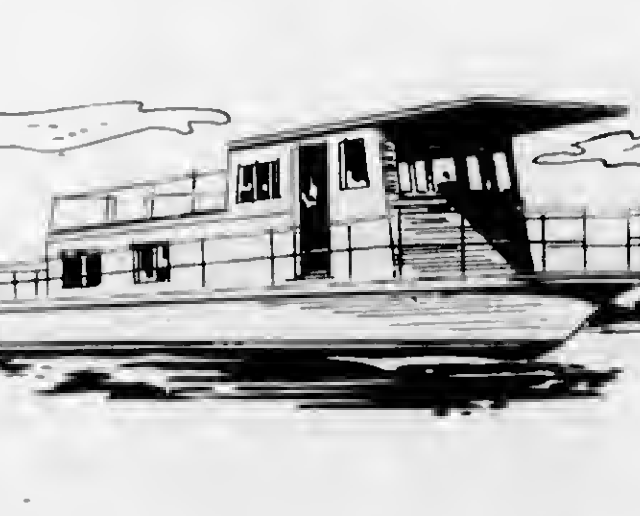

Monday, the Charlevoix girls placed second in a meet at Petoskey with Rogers City (40); Charlevoix (32 1/2); Harbor Springs (29) Gaylord (23); Petoskey (21 1/2); St. Ignace (18); Boyne City (16); Cheboygan (5); and Kalkaska (2 1/2).

Pacing the Charlevoix girls was Elaine Carr, who took a first in the 50-yard hurdles and a second in the 100-yard dash. Gayle Boss took a first in the 50-yard dash.

Charlevoix also placed third in the 440 and 880 relays.

May 25 the girls will compete at 2 p.m. at Petoskey in the Michigan-Huron States Girls' Conference Meet. Also competing will be Cheboygan, Petoskey, Rogers City, St. Ignace, Boyne City and Gaylord.

WANT IT?

School Millage Restored

Charlevoix schools came out better than expected in the final allocation of the county's 15-mill levy.

All school districts now will receive 9.5 mills, the county 4.5 mills, townships one mill and the Charlevoix-Ennet Intermediate School District 2 of a mill.

In the preliminary allocation, all schools were to receive 9 mills, except the Charlevoix School District, which was allocated 6.6 mills because of voted millage.

However, in the final allocation, all school districts were moved up to 9.5 and the county was cut back one-half mill.

Presumably, some of the Charlevoix School District's voted millage will not be spread since it will not be needed to meet the school budget.

The only possibly change now in the 2 of a mill for the C-E District. If Emmet County decides on another figure, Charlevoix will have to go along, since the larger county determines the allocation.

Monroe Creek Final Slated

Final arguments in the Monroe Creek lawsuit will be heard by Circuit Judge Charles Brown at the Antrim County Court House in Bellaire Wednesday, June 7, starting at 2 p.m., according to Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Hubach.

The suit was brought by Dr. John Tanton of Petoskey against the Department of Natural Resources, DNR Director Dr. Ralph MacMullan, and developer Frank Sheldon of Detroit on grounds that Sheldon's proposed impoundment of Monroe Creek will cause environmental damage.

The final arguments have been moved to Bellaire because of a conflict with a murder trial which has been moved to Charlevoix County from Livingston County. That trial starts June 5.

Weekend Mail Change Posted

Charlevoix has switched over to "meter pickup" of out-of-town mail Saturday afternoons and Sundays, according to Postmaster Rex Davis.

Mail leaving the city should be placed in the out-of-town box on Mason St. in front of the post office before 4:30 p.m. for pickup. Out-of-town mail should not be left in drop boxes inside the post office since no personnel will be on duty.

GOP to Meet

Charlevoix County Republicans will hold their spring convention Wednesday, May 31, at 8 p.m. at the County Building in Charlevoix for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention.

AN AMERICAN Legion VFW color guard led Charlevoix's Memorial Day marchers from the downtown section to Brookside Cemetery Monday morning. Speaker at the cemetery service was Sen. Robert W. Davis, who said America must stand ready to protect her freedoms. He predicted that "good things" will come out of President Nixon's recent visits to China and Russia.

OPEN HOUSE at Charlevoix High School's Second Building Trades Project on Hampton rd. will be held Friday, June 2, from 4 until 8 p.m. and Saturday, June 3, from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Built from the ground up by Building Trades students, the house will be sold to the highest bidder. It is the second such home built by CHS students.

MAYOR DAVID G. Fisher of Ludington was guest of honor in Charlevoix May 22 during the annual Mayor's Exchange Day, a part of Michigan Week. Charlevoix Mayor Edward P. Hansen visited Ludington. Above from left are Mayor Fisher and Mrs. Fisher, Kit Carson, official Charlevoix host; Ludington City Attorney and Mrs. John Clair and Mrs. Kit Carson. The visitors were taken to the Consumers Power Plant, Greensky Hill, Charlevoix Hospital and the Medusa Plant among other points of interest in the area.

Council Adopts Record General Fund Budget

At the conclusion of a five-hour meeting Tuesday night, the City Council adopted a record general fund budget for 1972-73 of $403,900 and set the city levy at 10 mills to pay for that portion of the budget that must be raised through taxes.

The meeting, which ended at 1:15 a.m. and was followed by a board of review meeting, was one of the longest on record in the city.

Mayor Edward P. Hansen objected strenuously that the budget is 25 percent over last year's budget of $319,387.

However, City Superintendent Thomas G. Hanna explained that the city for the first time is operating under a "Uniform Chart of Accounts for Local Units of Government" and that many items in the general fund budget, this year were included in other funds—such as street funds—in years past.

"There is no way to make a real comparison," he said.

Hansen answered by saying: "We are buying things we don't need, with money we don't have to impress people we don't like," but in the end the budget was approved virtually intact.

The 10-mill levy is down one mill from last year, but it is based on a SEV of $16,138,085 compared to last year's SEV of $12,240,000.

The council also set the debt retirement levy at 2.5 mills instead of 6 mills to meet payments on the city's sewer plant bonds due in October ($42,700) and April, 1973 ($18,400).

The city has $20,000 on hand and needs to raise only $38,300.

Once again, the lower millage rate was made possible by the city's vastly increased SEV.

To city levy this year will be 12.5 mills, compared to 17 mills last year.

To meet the general fund budget, the city will use $194,300 in cash on hand and estimated revenues from other sources in addition to the 10-mill levy and a transfer of $36,000 from the electric fund.

Major items in the budget are: City administrator's office, $19,400; cemetery, $26,100; city hall and grounds, $10,000; police, $74,000; fire, $35,000; street lighting (not Act 51), $15,000; airport, $12,100; golf course, $20,300; marina, $13,100; parks and recreation, $56,500; transfers to the local street fund, $30,000; and transfers to other funds, $18,000.

At one point during the five-hour meeting, Mayor Hansen suggested that it dip into it's $240,000 electric fund reserve to meet current city expenses, pointing out that the city is in the banking business and should not keep such huge sums of money invested.

The council told him that $200,000 of the $240,000 must be held in reserve for the sewage plant project.

Budgets for other city funds follow: Mayor's office, $70,300; to be met with $55,000 in state shared funds, cash on hand and other contributions; $12,100; golf course, $20,300; marina, $13,100; parks and recreation, $56,500; transfers to the local street fund, $30,000; and transfers to other funds, $18,000.

local street fund, $53,000; $17,800 from state funds and $35,200 from other contributions; electric fund, $342,000 in anticipated revenue against expenditures of $495,400, leaving a balance of $153,400, most of which will be transferred to the general fund; water, $65,300; sewage, revenue, $62,500; expenses, $69,000, leaving a deficit of $6,500 which will have to be made up through transfers from other funds.

Hanna also pointed out that sewage rates will have to be doubled for the next nine months to pay for the start up of the new sewage plant in November and the hiring of two additional sewage plant employees, as required by the state. The double rates were taken into account in drawing up the deficit budget.

In other business, the council:

—Heard an appeal by Patrick Wimmer that the city extend the May-St. sewer from Garfield St. south. He was told to get his neighbors to sign a petition. He was also informed that two sewer lines will be needed, an extension of the interceptor in addition to the regular sewer line.

Apparently residents would have to pay for both.

—Signed a contract agreeing to pay $2,000 of the $40,000 sewage pumping station at the Coast Guard Station. The federal government will pay $38,000. Some Chicago Club homes will be hooked onto the new line.

—Heard a complaint by William Haggard that location of a carnival in the waterfront parking lot during the Venetian Festival will create a traffic problem.

—Gave the Recreation Committee power to act on a contract with the Little League for establishment of a Little League field near the airport, contingent upon approval of the Federal Aviation Agency.

—Awarded gasoline contracts to Standard Oil (premium, 15¢, regular, 15¢) and fuel oil contracts to Charlevoix Oil (No. 1, 14¢ and No. 2, 13¢).

—Learned that there will be a delay until July in awarding of a contract for tennis courts, pending decision on a request by the city for state funds for two additional courts.

—Awarded Public and Institutional Property Insurance to the Charlevoix Agency, $6,092.

—Agreed to an extension of the M-66 water main under the highway to the new Kit Carson Lumber Co. building, under construction. Cost will be borne by the company.

—Authorized Hanna to sign for new police radio equipment.

Meeting as the Board of Review, the council heard Jim Craig discuss plans to build a condominium, Le Havre, at the site of the present Hamilton Boat Yard. Craig and a partner are buying the property, but ownership of the foot of Alice St., which crosses the property, is still in litigation.

94 Seniors to Get Diplomas June 7

Charlevoix High School's 94th annual commencement exercises will be held Wednesday, June 7, at the High School gymnasium, beginning at 8 p.m.

Ninety-four seniors and four foreign exchange students will receive diplomas.

The baccalaureate service also will be held at the high school Sunday, June 4, at 8 p.m.

Speaker at the commencement exercises will be Rabbi Samuel E. Karff of Chicago's Sinai Congregation, a summer resident of Charlevoix.

Speaker at the baccalaureate will be Rev. John Long, pastor of the Community Church of God.

The baccalaureate will begin with the processional "Pomp and Circumstance" by the High School Band, followed by a call to worship by the Rev. Robert Rutledge, pastor of the Assembly of God.

Rev. Elmer Faust of the First Methodist Church will offer a Scripture reading and Rev. John Call of the First Baptist Church will offer the pastoral prayer.

The band will play Mascagni's "Intermezzo" from "Cavalleria Rusticana" before Rev. Long's address, entitled "How to Be Really 'Turned Out'."

The audience will then sing "Holy, Holy, Holy" and the benediction will be offered by Rev. Thomas Rash of the Church of the Nazarene.

Commencement also will begin with "Pomp and Circumstance," followed by the invocation by Rev. Hewitt V. Johnston, vicar of Christ Episcopal Church.

Sara Ann Sweet will deliver the Salutatory and Jeanne Marie Belfy the Valedictory.

The band will play music from "Prince Igor" before Supt. Robert L. Miller introduces Rabbi Karff. Title of the commencement address will be "Inheriting the Future."

Awards will be presented by Jerald H. Redeker, president of the Charlevoix Board of Education, and the Class of '72 will be presented by Vane H. Smith, principal.

Conferring honors of graduation will be Richard E. Donaldson, vice president of the Board of Education.

After singing of the Alma Mater and the National Anthem, Rev. Albert Mansen, pastor of the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix, will offer the benediction.

Direct Dial System Starts Here Sunday

Direct long distance dialing goes into effect in Charlevoix and other area communities Sunday, June 4, according to Ken Harrold, manager of the Michigan Bell office in Petoskey.

This means that telephone users will be able to dial station-to-station long distance calls without the assistance of an operator.

Simply dial the numeral "1" first and then the area code, if different from your own, then the telephone number.

Michigan Bell says subscribers will save from 20 percent to 40 percent on every long distance call they make within Michigan under the direct dial system.

Savings amount to 20 percent from 7 p.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sundays.

Forty percent savings are realized on direct dial calls placed from 5 p.m. to 7 a.m. weekdays, all day Saturday and most of Sunday, except for the evening hours.

Other communities switching to direct dial Sunday are Boyne City, Cheboygan, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Indian River, Mackinaw City, Mancelona, Pellston, Petoskey, Wailon Lake and Wolverine.

New U.S. 31 Won't Cross South Arm

Although a decision on the new route of U.S. 31 and U.S. 131 apparently is still some time away, state Highway Department experts appear to favor a merging of the two highways southeast of Traverse City.

The new road would then swing northeast through Mancelona, follow the present route of U.S. 131 through Boyne Falls and Wailon Lake, bypass Petoskey to the east and then parallel I-75 to the Straits.

The route—known as Alternate E—was one of several discussed last Thursday night at a public hearing on the new road held by the State Highway Department.

Although the exact route is undecided, Alternate E would solve more traffic problems than any other route, according to Bob Adams, the department's public hearing engineer.

Adams said the department has never considered bridging the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix at Ironton for the new highway, although armchair highway experts predicted that is where the road would go during discussion of the proposed Woodland Indian Memorial south of Charlevoix last fall.

However, the team of road experts said that all communities served by the new route would have "spurs" leading to their business districts from the new highway. Location of the spurs, however, won't be decided until the route of the highway is established.

Taking part in the hearing at Petoskey's Junior High School were Adams, Bill Rowden, director of the Northwest Regional Planning Office, John Oudekirk, team leader; Ted Becker, environment specialist; Stan Bakita, project planner; Dick Esch, traffic specialist; and Charles Whitmore, a member of the hearing team.

Adams said that planning of highways is done on a regional basis in order to best serve the

Steven L. Ross Claims Bride in Arboretum Rites

Dale Lee Ruth of Lansing became the bride of Steven L. Ross of Kalamazoo in ceremonies May 27 at the Ferner Arboretum, Lansing. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale C. Ruth, 14645 Airport-rd., Lansing. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ross of Boyne City. His grandmother is Mrs. P.H. Ross of Charlevoix.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Don Crawford, associated with the University Church, East Lansing.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long-sleeved floor-length gown of brown with a pattern of yellow, orange and red flowers, accented by a gold belt and a wide-brimmed white hat with a gold velvet bow. She carried a nosegay of yellow and orange daisies tied with a green ribbon.

Miss Kim Ruth of Lansing, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length long-sleeved gown of green with a chiffon-over-the-shoulder and carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose with a matching ribbon.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at the Knights of Columbus hall in Lansing. Mrs. Robert (Mary) LeFever of Lansing was hostess, assisted by Diane Driggs, Ann Arbor, guest book; Mrs. Don (Bea) Pung, Lansing, gifts; and Miss Ellie VanDeVise, Grand Rapids, Mrs. Toni Brown, Kalamazoo, Mrs. M. and Miss Nancy Gellan, St. Clair Shores, servers.

After a wedding trip through northern Ontario, the couple will live in Kalamazoo for two weeks before moving to Houston, Texas, where Ross is enrolled in school.

The bride received her BS degree from Central Michigan University in 1970 and works for the Upjohn Co. in Kalamazoo. He is affiliated with the American Chemical Society.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Ann Arbor, Detroit, Los Angeles, Palo, Pa., and Helena, Ohio.

WHILE A CHILL mist off Lake Michigan kept Charlevoixians wrapped up in sweaters May 21, it was a different story at the other end of the lake. Donny Wingo, Walter Wingo Jr., Joe Robec and Tim Farmer spent the afternoon swimming in the almost tepid waters of the South Arm. It was their third day of swimming this spring.

Unemployed Vets Eligible for Tests, Vocational Advice

A higher percentage of veterans returning to Northern Michigan cannot find worthwhile employment due to the current high unemployment rate, the downturn in hiring among area industries, the influx of employable persons and the large number of veterans returning to their Northern Michigan homes according to Miss Jan Sunette of the Northeast Michigan Community Action office in Boyne City.

In a special effort to the situation, Northeast Michigan Community Action Agency, in cooperation with other Northern Michigan Community Action Agencies and Ferris State College at Big Rapids, have undertaken a special Veterans Vocational Orientation and Counseling Program.

William Nagy Attends Meet-

William P. Nagy, secretary of Builder's Outlet, Eastport, was among 40 dealers and distributors of Reda Pump. Products from all areas east of the Mississippi attended the company's second 1972 Sales and Service School, May 8 and 9, 1972.

The two-day work session was conducted at the Holiday

TOTAL IS HERE

Hello, Michigan TOTAL, the international gasoline has come to Leonard. TOTAL, one of the largest international petroleum companies in the world.

The three blends of gasoline we sell are the result of over 46 years of experience in 54 countries.

Grand TOTAL, for premium performance, TOTAL Regular, for maximum mileage and economy; and TOTAL Low-Lead, priced lower than Regular to encourage more drivers to curb pollution.

TOTAL, the international gasoline. Now at our TOTAL/Leonard station.

54 countries of the world were the proving grounds for the gasoline we formulated for America.

MRS. EDITH Gilbert, author of "All About Parties" invited local 4-H Girls to her Michigan ave. home May 21 for a lesson on how to prepare and serve a formal dinner. With the help of Mrs. Emma Wells, the girls cooked a chicken dinner and then took turns dining and serving. From left are 4-H leader Mrs. Rose Hamberger, "hostess" Susie Potter, Mrs. Gilbert, server Debbie Powell, Kim Reibel and Tammy Wieland.

DEBBIE POWELL learns that there's a right way and a wrong way to fill water glasses at 4-H supper party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gilbert. Correct placement of china, silver and table napkins was included in the short course in party etiquette.

State Ranks Third In Sport Licenses

Michigan's license-buying army of hunters and fishermen numbered more than two million sportsmen during the 1971 fiscal year to rank No. 3 in the nation, according to figures recently released by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Only California with over three million licensed sportsmen and Texas with about 2.3 million outdistanced this state in hunting and fishing popularity during that period.

Nationwide, 25.7 million fishermen and nearly 16 million hunters purchased licenses, tags, permits, and stamps last fiscal year at a collective cost of more than $208 million.

For that same period, Michigan drew the second largest number of hunters in

Cherry Ooo-la-la On Campers' Menu

By PAT DOYLE BEGROW Cherry Ooo-la-la and walking salad were just two of the gourmet treats that Charlevoix Girl Scout leaders cooked up during their experimental camp-out last Wednesday at Mt. McSaub.

Girl Scouts and their leaders are doing the planning now so that their week long camp out from June 12-17 will be a success.

On Wednesday Mrs. Marge Holland who is Day Camp Coordinator of the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council led the all day training session.

Among those adults attending were Brownie unit leaders Mrs. Dennis Spence and Mrs. Robert Miller. Junior unit leader Mrs. John Lignell and Cadet unit leader Mrs. Harold Gibbs.

Many area adults are backing the camp by contributing their special expertise for a richer camp program. Mrs. Carl Rothenberger and Mrs. Jo Helms will be coordinating a camp craft program using birch wood and rocks. Mrs. Robert Sooy will teach the girls to identify local birds. Mrs. Harold Wilson will be directing a nature study program. Mrs. William Ratigan will describe the history of the area.

Music will be an important part of the program. Mrs. Paul Donnelly and Mrs. Robert Tollas will teach Girl Scout camp songs. At the Wednesday night camp out Janet Begrow and Nina Lamtungan with her guitar will lead the cadets in a special song fest. During the afternoons Dan Tollas will be playing the guitar and singing with the Juniors and Brownies.

Mrs. Judy Belfy will direct the Kiddy Keep for the second summer and she is counting on Murphy Wallace a forensics team member to keep the youngsters happy by telling children's stories.

On the first morning of camp out Boy Scouts will demonstrate lashing techniques.

This 1972 summer camp will be nature oriented and the directors are inviting Indian speakers to tell the girls the special ways in which their people have used the woods around Mt. McSaub.

On Wednesday Mrs. Marge Holland who is Day Camp Coordinator of the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council led the all day training session.

Among those adults attending were Brownie unit leaders Mrs. Dennis Spence and Mrs. Robert Miller. Junior unit leader Mrs. John Lignell and Cadet unit leader Mrs. Harold Gibbs.

Many area adults are backing the camp by contributing their special expertise for a richer camp program. Mrs. Carl Rothenberger and Mrs. Jo Helms will be coordinating a camp craft program using birch wood and rocks. Mrs. Robert Sooy will teach the girls to identify local birds. Mrs. Harold Wilson will be directing a nature study program. Mrs. William Ratigan will describe the history of the area.

Music will be an important part of the program. Mrs. Paul Donnelly and Mrs. Robert Tollas will teach Girl Scout camp songs. At the Wednesday night camp out Janet Begrow and Nina Lamtungan with her guitar will lead the cadets in a special song fest. During the afternoons Dan Tollas will be playing the guitar and singing with the Juniors and Brownies.

Mrs. Judy Belfy will direct the Kiddy Keep for the second summer and she is counting on Murphy Wallace a forensics team member to keep the youngsters happy by telling children's stories.

On the first morning of camp out Boy Scouts will demonstrate lashing techniques.

This 1972 summer camp will be nature oriented and the directors are inviting Indian speakers to tell the girls the special ways in which their people have used the woods around Mt. McSaub.

Sherrill Salisbury
Ex-Student To Graduate

Sherrill Salisbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Salisbury and a former Charlevoix High School student here, will be graduated from Mineral County High School in Hawthorne, Nev., in June.

She lived here when her father was a civilian employee with the U.S. Air Force.

She has been active in forensics competition, the Art Club, editor of the school newspaper and has exhibited in area art shows.

She has been awarded an art scholarship to the university in Lawrence, Kans. She also has received a full scholarship at the Sierra Beauty School in Reno which she plans to accept before going to college at Las Vegas to study art. She was also a contestant in the Miss Mineral County Beauty Pageant.

More Jobs Open

State Rep. Richard Friske (R-Charlevoix) has been informed by the Michigan Department of Civil Service that there are job opportunities open with the state for qualified applicants. Applications for the job openings must be obtained and returned no later than 5 p.m. on July 12, 1972.

Following the submission of applications the applicants are subject to a written and oral test. Applicants in the field of homelife supervisors would have their written test on July 15, 1972, while those interested in state police trooper openings would be subject to a trooper written and oral test along with meeting physical qualifications.

Applications and further information about the jobs can be obtained at all Michigan Employment Security Commission offices; the Michigan Department of Civil Service Office, 330 South Walnut, or the Detroit office, 1601 Cadillac Square Building, or from the office of most county clerks. Additional information of the state police trooper jobs can be obtained by contacting any state police post in the state.

Listed below are the jobs and their corresponding salaries: State Police Trooper 07, beginning annual salary $9,688.32; Homelife supervisor 07, annual salary $8,247.50 to $10,314.72.

Louis Edwards was busy for several days getting his Jiffy Market ready for business for holiday weekend and we will all welcome this convenience.

Mrs. William Harrison of Middletown Ohio has been spending several days in her local summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury were called to their home in Swartz Creek due to the arrival of their first grandson. We extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard "Doc" White of Lowell came Monday to spend the summer in their trailer summer home.

Paye Simon, granddaughter of Rev. Guy Simon of Pittsburgh has been spending several days at the former's summer cottage at Chula Vista in meditation and study to prepare for summer service with the Ananda Marga Yoga Society in the inner city.

Mrs. Rose Gilbert of Detroit is spending the summer in her local home.

Everyone was too busy cleaning their yards, homes, and summer homes, also painting their boats, and looking for mushrooms, to make local news this past week. Sorry.

This sudden burst of early summer the past week with temperatures in the 70's and 80's has forced the spring flowers and flowering shrubs and fruit trees in full bloom for this memorial day weekend.

Lawrence McLanaghan is doing some repair work on the well at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Vanderwall.

Several parents have attended the final school band concert in Charlevoix this week. Local band members are Diane Alexander, Mary Carol Nielsen and Mark Kroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroll and small children spent last weekend in Lansing and Roncoo with their older children.

Word has been received of the death May 4 of Mrs. Margaret Hittenberger, a resident of Charlevoix from 1946 until 1953.

Mrs. Hittenberger died at the home of her daughter and son-in-law in Canoga Park, Calif. Funeral was May 8 at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home in Detroit, with burial in Gethsemane Cemetery in Detroit.

Mrs. Hittenberger was born in Austria Aug. 10, 1887, and was married to Philip Hittenberger in 1906. They moved to Detroit in 1908, settling in Detroit.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Margaret Gengle, a former Charlevoix resident now living in Ulica; Mrs. Dorothy Burkhardt of Warren; Mrs. Ann Percy of Canoga Park, Calif.; and Mrs.

Ruth Mohrman of Fresno, Calif.; four sons, Phillip of Tucson, Ariz.; Otto of Fraser, Mich.; Joseph of Warren; and Arthur of Detroit; 23 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Each year, the University selects Regents-Alumni Scholars for their "superior academic achievement and their potential contribution to the scholarly community of The University of Michigan."

University alumni play an active part in the selection procedure. Finalists, chosen from all applicants for freshman admission, are referred to local alumni for interviews and recommendations. Nearly 300 Michigan alumni took part this year.

Regents-Alumni Scholars receive a certificate and $50 honorarium. Financial need is not a consideration in the selection.

News from Ellsworth

Mrs. Anne Osterbaan,
Phone 588-2433

The senior class of the Community School left Sunday morning on their class trip to Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gebolt went with them.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kirby and son Leonard spent Saturday with Bill's sister in Owasco and were overnight guests of Victor Mowat. On Sunday, they attended commencement exercises at the Wesleyan Church in which their daughter Louise was a member of the graduating class with a B.A. degree.

Louise majored in history and plans to stay in Owasco planning to become a social worker. Also attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McPherson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ted and Edna McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Essenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Daugherty, and Mrs. Sandra Vincent and two children from East Jordan.

The family and some school friends of Louise enjoyed a picnic supper before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Aardena and children of Palos Heights Ill., visited in the community last week.

The Mitchell school reunion will be held on July 1, 1972.

The East Jordan and Ellsworth firemen were called out Friday afternoon to extinguish a fire at Shooks Economy Market. The fire began after burning rubbish at the back wall of the store. The freezer was damaged and slight damage was done to Merchandise in the back room. For a brief time it was burning fiercely.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Van Stedum were married Saturday May 20, 1972 by their children with open house at their home in the afternoon and evening.

Fred and Theresa were married May 18, 1947. Fred's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Van Stedum and Theresa's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Jansen. Many relatives and friends, about 75 came to call and wish them well.

Out-of-town callers were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Jansen and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bergsma, also an army buddy. Merwin Baas and wife of McBain. Their children are Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Judith) Kooyer of Kansas City, Mo., Grace and fiance, Tim Charbonneau, Rick and fiance Barbara Vanden Berg, Jean, Jerry and Toni.

Miss Annie Kruis of Grand Rapids is a house guest of her cousin Anne Osterbaan for a few days. Anne who has been visiting her children in the Grand Rapids for 2 1/2 weeks returned with Miss Kruis on Saturday.

Arts Council to Foster Cultural Events in Area

Formation of the Crooked Tree Arts Council was completed at the May 23 meeting at the home of Mrs. Bret Riley in East Jordan. A membership drive is now in progress.

The Crooked Tree Arts Council, with members in Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Petoskey and Conway, was started in March as a non-profit corporation. This new council is one of 71 Art Councils now affiliated with the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Purpose of the group is to develop programs and projects that will make music, painting, literature, cinema, photography, dance, sculpture, crafts and architecture—all of the arts—available to the people of Michigan and particularly to our area.

Special Projects, such as artists or writers in residence; consultant services; mini-grants and other special projects are also offered.

In addition, the group also wishes to encourage and stimulate local artists who live and work in northern Michigan as well as coordinate and publicize some of the established cultural activities.

Officers are: Jack Perry, Petoskey; Mrs. Jack Rader, Charlevoix, vice president; Mrs. Edwina Koon, Harbor Springs; secretary; and Lawrence A. Schumaker, East Jordan, treasurer.

Other Council board members are: Mrs. John S. Clark and Mrs. Albert

Schaller, Petoskey; Mrs. Julius Gilbert, and Mrs. Paul J. Olsen, Charlevoix; Mrs. John McChalm, Boyne City; Mrs. Philip Marco and Mrs. Frank Pierce, Harbor Springs; Mrs. Bret Riley, East Jordan and Mr. George T. Stewart, Conway, Mich.

To bring to the local community the many services of the Michigan Council of the Arts, the Crooked Tree Arts Council needs your involvement, encouragement and support. Membership cards are available from members or the secretary whose mailing address is P.O. Box 515 Harbor Springs, Mich. 49740 (Mrs. Edward Kozak) and the telephone number is 528-5792.

The next meeting of the Council will be June 6, at 1:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schaller, 2517 Graham-rd, Conway.

Homes, Families Needed For Exchange Students

Would your family like to become one of the United States' "Ambassadors"?

Would you like to know more about a country of Europe, Asia, Africa or South America?

Would you like to make a very real and meaningful contribution to world peace and understanding?

There is an opportunity to do all of these things without leaving your home. You can become a member of that ever growing world-wide family of Youth for Understanding.

The purpose of YFU is to develop understanding among people of the world through a family living experience for the youth of today, the leaders of tomorrow. International students have the opportunity to develop an appreciation of the American way of life through participation in family, church, school and community activities.

Communities of Northern Michigan have been involved in this exchange program since its beginning over 20 years ago and have proven to be some of the very best placements in the nation.

Communities and schools are enriched by the opportunity to know these young people of another culture at the same time they are learning to know us.

Lifetime friendships develop between friends and families all over the world. The value of the program has been recognized by foreign governments and by our own Congress.

The program is non-denominational and is a non-profit organization recognized by the United States Department of State as a program devoted to the exchange of teenage students for the purpose of promoting world peace and friendship through understanding.

Hundreds of high school students, boys and girls 16 to 18 years old, will arrive during the month of August from over 40 countries and will be placed in 44 States, all as a part of Youth for Understanding's - International Teenage Exchange program.

They will become members of local families and will attend area high schools. They are to be treated as one of the host family, subject to the household rules and are expected to share in the household chores. They are fully insured, have their own spending money and clothes. They are not allowed to drive a car while on program or to take driver education. They are expected to attend school and are placed in classes recommended by the local school administration.

Papers which include pictures, family and school background and a personal statement are now available on these students for the host family. The host family's examination and selection. A host family must be approved by the local school administration. It is not required that a student have a room of his own, just a bed of his own.

Placements are made with both families who do have teenagers and those who do not. A family must have a genuine interest in young people and the desire to open their hearts and homes to these young people.

Families who are interested in living a daily adventure in promoting world peace through understanding should contact High School Principal Vane Smith, and the area Youth for Understanding staff representative, Mrs. Charles Doe, 1654 Center Road, R-4, Traverse City, Michigan, 49684-618-946-7993.

Selection and placement should be made shortly to enable a relationship to be established by correspondence before the student leaves his own home.

The students are anxiously waiting to hear where they will be called home for the next year. The students will arrive by charter plane in Detroit and can be met there or will be flown to Traverse City by the program according to the host parents' wishes.

Arrival dates vary according to the country but are scheduled throughout August. The following countries are represented by the student papers now available: German, Finland, Sweden, Denmark, Netherlands, Yugoslavia, Ghana, Liberia, Japan and the Philippines.

Fr. Baraga Statue To Rise at L'Anse

A magnificent copper-sculpted statue of Bishop Frederic Baraga will be erected about June 1 near L'Anse, site of his last large mission, in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

The 35 foot statue will stand on a cloud of brass coated with a silver overlay, supported by five laminated wood beams rising from concrete tepees representing Baraga's five major missions. The overall Shrine of The Snowshoe Priest will rise 60 feet above the Red Rock Bluffs, overlooking visitors to indulge in a moment of quiet meditation, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Frederic Baraga was more than a missionary. He was a pioneer, educator, a man of peace and his role in Michigan's history was indeed a significant one. Realizing that communication was vital to understanding, in 1832 he wrote a prayerbook and catechism in the Ottawa language, followed by a 576 page dictionary and 682 page grammar of the Chippewa language and a number of other works of paramount importance.

Jim's Journal

By JIM RECUS

An unwitting law, but one which is religiously followed by most college students, is that you never, never begin a term paper more than two days before it is due. The origin of this law is found in the Student's Creed, which states, "A student must never let his studies get in the way of his college education."

Being a hard working student, I have tried to uphold these rules throughout my college years. Thus, it was not surprising this term that I waited until a Monday evening to begin a 20-page paper which was due the next Wednesday morning.

The topic of my paper was "Decision Making Influences of the Mass Media in Environmental Conflicts." To write that monstrosity, I had to do research in the U-M libraries. Now locating a desired book among the four million volumes is a lot like the needle in the haystack story—except you stand a better chance of finding the needle.

But undaunted, I set out to conquer the educational bureaucracy. So at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, April 24, this student entered the ten story General Library. (There are 17 other libraries on campus, and by the end of the evening I had seen many of them.) I was looking for an article in a journal my professor had told me about.

After spending an unsuccessful 20 minutes in the three rooms devoted to card catalogs, I consulted the receptionist. She told me the journal I wanted, called "Journal of Environment and Behavior," didn't exist. But I knew better. I had seen an issue in my professor's office.

So after another 10 minutes of looking, she was able to assure me that the journal did exist. She also discovered that it was somewhere in the U-M library complex, but she couldn't tell me just where it was. I left her then, and following her suggestion went to the UGL (Undergraduate Library).

After a similar 30 minutes at the UGL, I was referred to the Natural Resources Library in the Natural Resources Building. Once there I was told the NR Library was located in the Natural Science Building. So off I went.

Of course no one there had heard of the journal. The receptionist, however, suggested I try the Sociology Library since the journal did concern behavior. In the soc. library I still couldn't find the elusive journal. But the receptionist did tell me the journal sounded interesting. She suggested I try the UGL. I smiled.

About this time our student was a bit depressed. I thought the bureaucratic wheels might just roll over me this

Warning: Logic at Work

On the way home I stopped at the Education Library just in case—no luck. In a last ditch effort I decided to recheck the General Library. Again things were looking bad when a fellow student overheard my conversation with the head night librarian. He told me the journal I was talking about was kept in the Architecture Library—no smile from ear to ear came over my face; I would beat the bureaucracy after all. I thanked the student, and was on my way.

It was 9:59 p.m. when I passed the clock on the Ann Arbor Bank. I couldn't help feeling stupid. After all, anyone should know that the logical place for an environmental journal is the Architecture Library.

I'm sure there is a very good reason for keeping the "Journal of Environment and Behavior" in the Architecture Library. It's all very logical.

Who's to Blame?

(The following poem was submitted to the Courier for reprint by Miss Edith Harris. She says its places responsibility for the problems of the nation today directly where it belongs—on the shoulders of the adult population. The poem first appeared in the Anglican Digest.)

WHO'S TO BLAME?
We read in the papers and hear on the air
Of killing and stealing and crime everywhere.
We sigh and say, as we note the trend,
"This young generation—where will it all end?"
But we be sure that it's their fault alone,
Are we less guilty, who place in their way
Too many things that lead us astray?
Too much money, too much idle time,
Too many movies of passion and crime;
Too many books not fit to be read,
Too much evil in what they hear said;
Too many children encouraged to roam,
Too many parents who won't stay home.
Kids don't make the movies, they don't write the books;
They don't paint pictures of gangsters and crooks;
They don't make the liquor, they don't run the bars;
They don't make the laws and they don't sell the cars;
They don't peddle the drugs that addle the brain—
That's all done by older folks, greedy for gain.
Delinquent teenagers! Oh, how we condemn
The sins of the nation and blame it on them;
By the laws of the blameless the Savior made known—
Who is there among us to cast the first stone?
For in so many eyes, it's read, but it's true,
The title "Delinquency" fits older folks, too!

Clockwise

By BOB CLOCK

I guess I spent too much time in Japan, because even after an absence of 20 years from that fabled land I can still fall asleep quicker on the floor than any other spot in town—including the barber's chair.

In fact, I am such an inveterate floor-sleeper that I am passing the practice on to my children. They don't see anything wrong with curling up on the living room rug for a nap.

Jenny and Allison are the worst offenders. Five nights out of seven they fall asleep on the floor watching television and the old man has to carry them upstairs to bed. And if there's anything heavier than a sleeping kid it's a sleepy 40-pound dog who has to be carried into the house from her tether in the backyard because you can't remember where you put her leash. I also find myself in that untenable predicament several times a week.

I keep asking myself why it's so easy for me to fall asleep on the floor, but I can't come up with any good answers. To be truthful, this hasn't been television's best year, but the programming hasn't been all that bad. But whenever I stretch out on the rug to watch a TV program I don't last more than five minutes. The kids are the same way. We have all slept clear through Walt Disney specials that we have waited weeks to see.

In recent weeks I have slept through a Walter Cronkite documentary on the mining of Vietnam harbors that I wouldn't have missed on a bet. President Nixon might have visited China, but you couldn't prove it by me. I fell asleep right after his plane landed. The same goes for his trip to Russia. I fell asleep on the floor while he was still in Austria.

I am beginning to think that our living room carpet has been steeped in some kind of narcotic that knocks out anyone who comes too close to it. If I can find an unemployed chemist I am going to invite him over to run some tests, if he can stay awake long enough.

You might wonder how I get down on the floor in the first place. It's very simple. We only have one davenport in the living room and it is a wee bit small for six people. We also have an overstuffed rocker, which is invariably occupied by an overstuffed dog who gets feisty if you ask her to leave.

There is one other rocker with a broken arm which is used mostly for show. No one has sat in it for years.

Watch Out for Detour: It Could Mean Trouble

Watch out for that detour between Charlevoix and Petoskey on U.S. 31! It could mean a peck of trouble this summer.

The temporary route directs northbound drivers down Lake Grove-rd. to Intertown, east to Eppler-rd. and north back to U.S. 31 just west of the Emmet County Fairgrounds.

The detour, of course, is necessary because of the major reconstruction underway along the main route.

But some of the turns, particularly at the junction of Lake Grove and Intertown, could be killers.

The route is marked for 45 miles per hour, with speeds posted at 20 mph at the turns.

However, Lake Grove and Intertown meet on a hillside, with drivers coming from both directions cresting hills just before the turn.

Furthermore, trucks and cars hauling boats and trailers simply will not be able to make the sharp 45-degree angle turn without swinging over into the other lane.

So when you are traveling to or from Petoskey, be extra careful on the detour. Obey the speed limits and then some.

Our summer visitors won't be familiar with the road. It's going to be our job to watch out for them, as well as ourselves. Have a safe summer!

Such conditions are tailor-made for rear-end collisions.

Charles A. Duerr Jr. of 209 E. Dixon Ave., Charlevoix, has announced that he will seek election as state representative from the newly formed 11th district. Duerr, a Democrat, is 28 years old. He is a 1962 graduate of Charlevoix High School and a 1966 graduate of the University of Michigan where he majored in political science. While an undergraduate he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and served as treasurer and vice president of the Ann Arbor chapter. In May of 1967 Duerr entered the Navy and received his commission as an Ensign upon graduation from Officer Candidate School. He served as first lieutenant and later as communications officer on the USS Glover, an escort research ship based in Newport, R.I. He was released from active duty in Oct. 1969 and now holds the rank of lieutenant in the Naval Reserve.

Duerr attends the University of Michigan Law School and will graduate in December of this year. He has also been employed as a legal clerk by Jackson and Lamb, attorneys in Ypsilanti, for the past two years. Duerr states that his campaign will seek to emphasize "a rational, pragmatic approach to issues before the legislature. I am convinced," he said, "that a legislator should lead, and not merely wait for his constituents to speak, before taking a position."

GOP Faction Routs Regulars

New Republicans Usurp Convention

A group of "new Republicans", most of whom never before attended a meeting of the Charlevoix County GOP, seized control of the Republican Convention in the County Courthouse Wednesday night, electing their own chairman and vice chairman.

However, Old Guard Republicans called in absent delegates during an early caucus, mustering enough support to elect their own slate of delegates to the State Convention.

The new group, all duly elected as delegates on the GOP ballot in the May 16 primary, arrived at the meeting with a carefully prepared strategy on how to take control of the convention.

The document was complete down to the names of alternate delegates from the various precincts who were to be on hand to fill vacancies in the floor.

The group reportedly had met the evening before the convention and decided beforehand to nominate County GOP Chairman Robert W. Wise as chairman.

The "right-wing" group selected Gary Gray of Boyne Valley Township as its candidate.

During the first roll-call, members were instructed to name their choice for chairman. Gray was elected by a vote of 28-23 and took over the chairmanship from Wise.

Delegates were then seated separately from visitors and voting continued for other officers. Gray was elected chairman, another member of the new group, was elected vice chairman over Mrs. Arthur House of Boyne City, vice chairman of the county.

The vote was 28-23.

On the vote for secretary (County Secretary Marilyn Bess of Charlevoix Township) and Lorraine Hoffman of East Jordan, a member of the new group, was elected secretary.

County Chairman Wise declared fraud and asserted that members of the new group were supporters of Gov. George C. Wallace for president and not true Republicans.

The convention was called to a halt and started over again, beginning with the election of a convention chairman. This time Gray defeated Wise by a vote of 26 to 24, and Mary Browe defeated Mrs. Rouse by the vice chairmanship.

R.D. Duerr of Boyne City then moved that all delegates pledge their support to the Republican Party and Republican candidates.

John P. Zell, Jr., of Evangeline Township objected strenuously, pointing out that he was an uncommitted delegate. He rose to his feet and said he was leaving the convention.

"Let him go," Cooper said, charging Zell with being a "Wallaceite and Birchite."

Zell invited Cooper to step outside to settle the argument but was booed down by the Old Guard. Zell's motion also was objected to by David Rosenthal of Marlon Township and died aborning in the confusion. However, a similar motion was made by Duerr later in the meeting and passed.

After Gray appointed Dick Cote of Boyne City and Maurice Seaton of Charlevoix Township as sergeants at arms; Tim McArt of Hayes Township and Terri Jackson of Charlevoix as tellers and Karl Waldner of Wilson Township as parliamentarian, a 15-minute caucus was called.

During the caucus, Old Guard Republicans summoned Linda Toton of Boyne City and Francis Thenn of Norwood Township to the convention by telephone. Both were elected delegates but had failed to show up.

Some of the new Republicans also apparently underwent a change of heart during the caucus, because when the convention reconvened the Old Guard had a slim but safe majority of votes.

Gray suggested that Mrs. Boss be retained as secretary and the delegates approved. He then insisted that delegates be certified by the yellow credential slips they had received by mail from County Clerk Clarence Rubach. All of the new Republicans had their slips; few of the Old Guards had theirs since they have never been required to present them in the past.

The Old Guard contended that the delegates were officially seated at the first roll-call and the issue of the yellow slips was dropped.

Chairman Gray then enumerated the number of vacancies in the various precincts and wards to be filled from the floor, but Delegate Harvey Varnum of Boyne City made a motion that only duly elected delegates be allowed to vote. The motion passed and no additional delegates were seated.

The convention then proceeded to the business of electing delegates to the state convention, to be held at Cobo Hall in Detroit June 16 and 17.

The new Republicans nominated Mr. and Mrs. Gray of Boyne Valley Township and Lyle H. Barber of East Jordan. The Old Guard nominated Arthur Rouse of Boyne City and Robert Wise, Del Terrill, Ken Wigan and Bill Cooper of Charlevoix.

Runners up were Gray with 27 and Barber and Mrs. Gray with 26 each.

The Old Guard also took all five alternate delegate seats: Mrs. Arthur Rouse of Boyne City and Sam Supernaw of Charlevoix, 28 each; Oscar Stroud of Charlevoix Township and Mrs. Robert Wise of Charlevoix, 27 each; and Charlevoix Mayor Edward Hansen, 25.

Losers in the new Republican group were Mrs. Gray, 24; Charles Hanson of South Arm Township, 23; and Mrs. Rosa Rosenthal of Marlon Township, 20.

At the conclusion of the convention, County Chairman Wise charged that the new Republicans had attempted to "overthrow" the County GOP.

Members of the new group objected, saying they were not trying to overthrow anything.

"We are only interested in good government," one member asserted.

Wise then made an appeal for party unity and former GOP Chairman Oscar Stroud, asked the newcomers to pay party dues and become committed members of the party organization. Few of them did.

A GROUP of new Republicans, most of them strangers to GOP meetings, took over the Charlevoix County convention last week. Seated at table (from left) are Vice Chairman Mary Browe of Charlevoix, Chairman Gary Gray of Boyne Valley Township and Secretary Mrs. Dale Boss of Charlevoix, the only member of the Old Guard who kept her seat.

In 1970, Rev. Imig served as president of the Charlevoix Parent-Teacher Organization.

He and his wife, the former Carol Krestik, have three children, Duane, 10; Lois, 9; and David, 3.

ROBERT WASOSKI
A native of South Bend, Ind., Robert Wasoski moved to northern Michigan as a boy and was graduated from Petoskey High School in 1947.

He served in the U.S. Air Force for 15 years before suffering a disabling injury in an automobile accident.

Wasoski studied sociology at Hayward State College in Hayward, Calif., before returning to northern Michigan in 1960.

He presently is employed as Charlevoix County—Vancouver.

He and his wife, the former Lois Tanner, have five children, Lisa, 17; Denise, 14; Rita, 13; Tammy, 12; and Robert Jr., 8.

He has served on the Parks and Recreation Commission in Pleasanton, Calif., and was chairman of that community's master planning organization for schools and recreation. He presently is Marlon Township zoning administrator and a member of the Board of Education.

Murder Trial Starts

A slight, mustachioed young man and a pretty blonde teenage mother appeared at the Charlevoix County Courthouse Monday morning to stand trial in the torture-slaying of Cathleen Ann Gilbert, 17, last Oct. 19 in Livingston County.

The trial was moved to Charlevoix County because of the publicity the case has received in southern Michigan.

Defendants are Raymond L. Humbel, 23, an unemployed Vietnam war veteran, and Mrs. Janet Lee Musser, 17, mother of a 20-month-old infant. Both are residents of Flint.

They and six other Flint young people, all members of a gang called the Satanical Angels, are accused of killing Miss Gilbert in an abandoned Livingston County cabin and leaving her body in a marsh.

The case is being heard by Livingston County Circuit Judge Paul R. Mahanske who brought his court staff north with him.

Some 150 prospective jurors have been empaneled by Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rubach.

On the opening day Monday, 31 jurors were examined and 17 were excused. Jury selection was expected to take two days and possibly longer.

Attorneys appear particularly interested in the jurors' attitudes toward insanity and psychiatry.

DNK Suit Moved Again

Final arguments in the Monroe Creek Impoundment lawsuit will be heard Friday, June 9, at 2 p.m. in the Grand Traverse County courthouse in Traverse City, according to Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rubach.

The arguments had been scheduled for the Antrim County Courthouse on Wednesday, June 7, but a conflict necessitated a change of time and location. The case is being heard by Circuit Judge Charles Brown.

Dr. John Tanton of Petoskey, the plaintiff, has charged that the proposed impoundment of Monroe Creek southeast of Charlevoix will harm the environment.

R.D. Duerr of Boyne City then moved that all delegates pledge their support to the Republican Party and Republican candidates.

John P. Zell, Jr., of Evangeline Township objected strenuously, pointing out that he was an uncommitted delegate. He rose to his feet and said he was leaving the convention.

Rabbi Karff Won't Be Here

Because of a death in the family, Rabbi Samuel Karff of Chicago will be unable to speak at commencement exercises Wednesday evening in Charlevoix, according to principal Vane Smith.

Speaking in his place will be Austin Buchanan, director of admissions at Central Michigan University.

94 Seniors to Receive Diplomas Wednesday

Ninety-four Charlevoix High School seniors will receive diplomas in commencement exercises at the High School at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 7.

Jeane Marie Bolly will be salutatorian and Sara Ann Sweet will deliver the salutatory address.

James J. Chanda Jr., 24, East Jordan, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was assessed $125 and sentenced to 30 days in jail as a probation violator. He also surrendered his driver's license for 90 days.

David E. Holborn, 21, Charlevoix, pleaded guilty to charges of being a disorderly person and using marijuana. He will be sentenced later.

Alfred C. Dempsey, 23, Chestonia, was found guilty at trial of charges of non-support and entering a building without permission. He will be sentenced later.

Job Office Seeks Enrollees in Area

The Northern Michigan Concentrated Employment Program is seeking enrollees in the Charlevoix area.

The Concentrated Employment Program is a coordinated effort of manpower, social, education and other community organizations to provide intensive manpower and supportive services to disadvantaged residents.

The objective is to assist them in obtaining suitable and satisfying employment. CEP is funded, in part, by federal grant administered through the U.S. Department of Labor. The Michigan Employment Security Commission is the Prime Sponsor for Northern Michigan. CEP and is responsible for administering the federally funded portions of the program and serves as the overall coordinating agency.

Residents who are unemployed or underemployed, whose family income is at or below the poverty level, and who are considered to be disadvantaged under criteria established by the U.S. Department of Labor, are invited to participate in CEP. Application can be made at the Petoskey CEP Center at 455 Bay Street from 8:15 a.m. through 4:15 p.m. every week day.

Inquiry at the Charlevoix Department of Social Services or a visit to the DSS on Tuesday of each week will result in possible enrollment without a trip to Petoskey.

Mrs. Gladys Harrell of the Petoskey CEP Center staff is in Charlevoix each Tuesday.
